Andrew Luck Scouting Report

Andrew Luck – Stanford (HT: 6-4 – WT: 234)

Positives -- Prototypical height and frame for the position... Can make every throw at the next level, shows good zip on deep outs and corner routes... Extremely efficient, averaged between 8.7 and 9.0 yards per attempt every season at Stanford... No wasted motion, effortless release... Very good at selling the play action... Almost flawless footwork, does a great job in his drop steps... Tremendous accuracy; has completed 70 percent of his throws each of the past two years... Incredibly cerebral, understands what the defense is giving him and is constantly making adjustments at the line... Puts his team in the correct play almost seamlessly at the line of scrimmage... Great decision maker, does a good job reading the defense... Great feet within the pocket and a terrific overall athlete, his combine numbers were very similar to Cam Newton's from a year earlier... Good scrambler; was second on the team in rushing in each of his first two years but has learned to run less as a junior to preserve his health... Very smart kid, top student, a leader on and off the field... Played in a pro-style offense, was coached by former NFL quarterback Jim Harbaugh for first two years at Stanford... Father Oliver Luck was an NFL quarterback for the Houston Oilers... The complete package, the best quarterback prospect since John Elway in 1983.

Negatives -- Might be receiving too much hype, has already been hailed as a future Hall of Famer by many people around the NFL... Good at resetting his feet after scrambling but isn't all that accurate when he's throwing while on the run... Has some problems with his trajectory on his deep throws, will put too much loft on the ball... Struggled a bit towards the end of 2011, threw seven interceptions in his final six games... Suffered a broken index finger in 2009 which caused him to miss the Sun Bowl.

At Stanford -- One of the top quarterbacks ever to play at Stanford... two-time Pac-12 Offensive Player of the Year and was twice a runner-up for the Heisman Trophy... concluded his career ranked first all-time in touchdown passes (82), completion percentage (.687; 713-1064), passing efficiency (162.76) and total offense (10,387)... ranked second to Steve Stenstrom (10,531; 1991-94) in career passing yardage (9,430)... helped turn around a program that had suffered seven straight losing seasons before taking the reins of the offense in 2009... quarterbacked Stanford to a cumulative 31-7 record in his 38 career starts (.816), including a 24-5 conference record and a 8-3 mark against Top 25 competition... ranks first among all-time Stanford signal-callers in career wins and winning percentage... has the highest winning percentage (.837) among Stanford quarterbacks in school history... helped Stanford to three bowl appearances as a starter, including the 2009 Sun Bowl (DNP-injury), 2011 Orange Bowl and 2012 Fiesta Bowl... team spent 29 consecutive weeks in the AP poll, including 22 straight weeks ranked in the Top 10, with Luck under center... presided over three of the most prolific offensive teams in school history, helping Stanford to school scoring records in 2009 (461), 2010 (524) and 2011 (561)... threw three or more touchdown passes 15 times in 38 career games, including a career-high four TD strikes on seven occasions... Stanford's offense scored 40 or more points 17 times in his 38 career starts... dual threat quarterback rushed for 957 career yards on 163 carries (5.9 avg.) with seven rushing touchdowns... his career rushing total ranks first all-time among Stanford quarterbacks... had three career runs over 50 yards (58 at Cal; 52 TD vs. Wake Forest; 51 TD at Washington). 2011: Completed 288 of 404 (.713) passes for 3,517 yards and 37 touchdowns... ranked first in the Pac-12 in passing efficiency (167.5) and fifth in passing yards per game (270.5)... broke his own single-season record for touchdown passes... tossed three or more touchdowns in eight games and 15 times in 38 career starts... catalyst to a Cardinal offense that averaged 43.2 points a game, which ranked second in the Pac-12 and fifth nationally.

Robert Griffin Scouting Report

Robert Griffin – Baylor (HT: 6-2<sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 223)

Positives -- Has a very strong arm, can make every NFL throw... Throws a tremendous deep ball, very accurate and gets good loft... Puts his receivers in a position to get yards after the catch, does a good job of putting the ball on the numbers... Throws well on the run... Solid throwing mechanics, has a quick release... Off the chart intangibles, already working on his master's degree... Very well spoken and intelligent... Makes good decisions on the field, rarely forces throws... Threw an interception once every 70 pass attempts for his career at Baylor... Stays composed in high pressure situations, led a game-winning touchdown drive in under a minute against Oklahoma... Great athletic ability, is the most athletic quarterback in this class... Good runner in the open field, has enough speed to outrun defenders to the corner when flushed out of the pocket... Lit up the combine in the athletic drills, ran a 4.41-40, the fastest quarterback since Michael Vick in 2001, and had a 39" vertical, best at the position... Has adequate size for an NFL quarterback and has enough bulk to take some hits... Great production, threw for 37 touchdowns this year... Completion percentage has increased every season... Won the 2011 Heisman Trophy.

Negatives -- Throws off his back foot at times and will have throws sail on him... Footwork can get sloppy... Played mostly out of the shotgun and will have to learn how to work under center, hasn't had much experience with drop steps... Will hold onto the football too long and take some bad sacks... Most of his college reads were from the spread offense where he didn't have to go through a natural progression... Quarterback play typically drives a win/loss record, but Baylor is only 23-18 with him as a starter (10-3 in 2011)... Doesn't make many adjustments at the line of scrimmage or make many pre-snap reads to take advantage of defensive assignments... Carries the ball away from his body when he's scrambling, doesn't tuck and run... Has adequate size, but isn't prototypical... His running style combined with his frame may make him prone to injury (see: Michael Vick)... Already has an injury history, missed most of the 2009 season (was granted a medical redshirt) after suffering a torn ACL in the third game of the season.

At Baylor -- Fourth-year junior, athletic, play-making dual-threat quarterback made successful comeback from season-ending knee surgery (ended 2009 season in third game, hardship waiver resulted in redshirt season) to earn 2010 All-Big 12 honors... Record-setting sophomore season resulted in Heisman Award mention as well as comeback player of year talk... Semifinalist for Maxwell Award, Walter Camp Player of Year and O'Brien Award... Owns or shares 30 Baylor records... BU career leader in 14 categories: passing yards (6,073), total offense (7,628), passing efficiency (143.3), passing TDs (41), completion percentage (64.4), TD-to-interception ratio (3.73), interception percentage (.0139), TD responsibility (64), rushing TDs by QB (23), total offense per-play (6.70), total offensive plays (1,139), consecutive attempts without an interception (209), 200-yard passing games (17) and 300-yard passing games (4)... 1,555 career rushing yards ranks 12th in school history... One of five returning FBS quarterbacks with 5,500 career passing and 1,500 career rushing yards... Career TDs-to-interceptions ratio is 41-11 (3.73, best in school history)... 27 career starts, second-most on team... Made headlines during 2008 season when earned freshman All-America and Big 12 top freshman honors (as 18-year-old)... Has been referred to as fastest quarterback in college football history... Broad jump measured at 10'1.5"... World-class hurdler... Earned All-America status in outdoor track and field during spring 2008 (early enrollee) before freshman season of football... Selected to Texas UIL All-Century Boys Track and Field prep team in May 2010... Six-time member of Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll and two-time Dean's List honoree... Graduated from Baylor in December 2010 with a degree in political science three years after enrolling at Baylor.

Ryan Tannehill Scouting Report

Ryan Tannehill – Texas A&M (HT: 6-3 $\frac{7}{8}$  - WT: 221)

Positives -- Ideal height for an NFL quarterback... Throws well on the run, does a good job of resetting his feet to make a strong, accurate throw... Quick release, mechanics look fine... Good scrambling ability, has great top end speed for a quarterback... A converted wide receiver, so he has some elusiveness and natural running ability... Is comfortable and has extensive experience working under center... Played under former NFL head coach Mike Sherman... Has a strong arm, gets great zip on his deep out... Very high upside, has all the athletic ability and tools that teams covet... Will rise in post-season workouts due to his athleticism, arm strength, and overall physical tools... Intelligent and a good leader, a high intangibles guy who will impress in interviews... Gets great rotation on his throws, throws a very nice, tight spiral.

Negatives -- Has some accuracy issues, makes his receivers adjust to the ball too frequently... A bit on the skinny side, could benefit bulking up 10-15 pounds... Has serious fumbling problems, fumbled 10 times in his career at Texas A&M, had the smallest hands of any quarterback at the combine at nine inches... Doesn't have a ton of experience, has only a year and a half of quarterback experience... Will try to force throws that he shouldn't, trusts his arm too much... Struggled towards the end of 2011, threw nine interceptions in his final six games, and Texas A&M ended the year losing four of their last five... Some of his interceptions came at crucial moments in games... Will need time to develop, is not ready to step in and start at the NFL level, will take a year or two of coaching to be ready... More of a good prospect with great potential at this point than finished product... Inconsistent production, had some huge games and some very bad ones... Appears similar to Blaine Gabbert, who has had a rough transition to the NFL.

At Texas A&M -- 2010: Playing almost exclusively at wide receiver for the first 30 games of his career, Tannehill won the starting quarterback job at midseason and started the final six games of 2010... completed 152 of 234 passes (65.0 percent) for 1,638 yards and 13 touchdowns... his 65.0 completion percentage easily broke the school record of 62.0 percent by Stephen McGee in 2006... in his first career start at QB, Tannehill torched Texas Tech for a school-record 449 yards and four touchdowns on 36-of-50 passing... set the tone early in A&M's win over Oklahoma with a 48-yard gain on a zone read play... 64-yard TD connection with Ryan Swope against OU was his career high... completed over 70 percent of his passes in three of the Aggies' last seven games... won the first five starts of his career... Tannehill's five wins at a starting QB have come against teams with a cumulative record of 40-22 (40-17 in games not involving Texas A&M)... earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors at quarterback on the coaches All-Big 12 team... carrying a 3.60 GPA in biology, Tannehill was named the ESPN Academic All-District team and the Academic All-Big 12 football team. 2009: An honorable mention All-Big 12 selection by the league's head coaches... appeared in all 13 games at wide receiver, and saw action in three (UAB, Oklahoma, Baylor) as quarterback... was not only A&M's backup QB but is the Aggies' top active career receiver (1,453 yards, ranks seventh all-time)... 36 of 46 catches (78 percent) were good for a first down or a touchdown... caught two passes for 35 yards against Georgia in Independence Bowl (12/28)... hauled in four balls for a team-high 40 yards and a score in win over Baylor (11/21)... had second 100-yard receiving game of year and fourth of career at Colorado (11/7), reeling in nine balls for 100 yards... caught six passes for 66 yards and a touchdown against Arkansas (10/3).

Brandon Weeden Scouting Report

Brandon Weeden – Oklahoma State (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 221)

Positives -- Has a good arm, is not elite, but strong enough to make all the throws he'll need... Put up huge numbers at Oklahoma State, throwing for over 4,000 yards in each of the past two seasons in the Big 12... Completed over 72 percent of his passes as a senior... Great size, looks like an NFL quarterback... Good intangibles, is a leader on and off the field, teammates react well to him... Although not a threat to run, is good at moving in the pocket and avoiding pressure... Throws a nice deep ball, gets good trajectory on his throws and is accurate down the field... Does a good job with pre-snap reads, will make adjustments at the line and put his team into the correct play... Keeps his eyes downfield and will step into pressure to deliver throws... Despite his age he was the best quarterback at the Senior Bowl and if one team really likes him and thinks he can contribute immediately then he could go higher than anybody expects... He'd be a top ten lock if he were five years younger.

Negatives -- Misses some easy throws, often sails the ball over receiver's heads but is the beneficiary of having a very good set of receivers who will bail him out at times... Has a little bit of an elongated throwing motion, needs some coaching... Trusts his arm too much, will make throws that he shouldn't, tries to fit the ball into tight windows and is prone to some bad interceptions... Footwork breaks down at times, throws off balance too often... Turnover prone... 28-years-old, spent five years playing Minor League Baseball as a pitcher, will turn 29 as a rookie... There are currently 15 NFL starters who are younger than Weeden... Not much of an athlete, is not a threat to take off and run with the football... Oklahoma State quarterbacks have not panned out in the NFL in recent years... Stats may be inflated a bit due to the spread system that Oklahoma State plays... Is not asked to go through a natural progression, may be a bit of the product of the system... Locks onto receivers, most of his routes are timing routes and he'll stare down his target rather than baiting corners with his eyes.

At Oklahoma State -- 2010: A former professional baseball player who joined the Cowboys in 2007... Had a record-breaking junior season in his first year as a starting quarterback since 2001... The All-Big 12 first-team quarterback as selected by the Big 12 coaches and Associated Press... Already owns a nice collection of school records, including single-season records for passing yards (4,277), total offense (4,209), touchdown passes (34), completed passes (342), pass attempts (511) and the completion percentage (66.9)... He holds the single-game records for completions (34 vs. Baylor) and passing yards (435 vs. Baylor)... He owns four of the top seven single-game passing totals in school history... Ended the season third nationally in passing yards (4,277), No. 16 in points responsible for at 15.7, No. 16 nationally and tops in the Big 12 with an efficiency rating of 154.10... Was sixth nationally with 32 touchdown passes... Enters his senior season with a career passing efficiency mark of 155.42 to rank fourth in the country among active players, trailing only Kellen Moore, Andrew Luck and Case Keenum... Named as OSU's male student-athlete of the year for 2010-2011 for his work in the classroom and on the field... Had seven 300-yard passing games and three 400-yard games... He also had at least one touchdown pass in every game, at least two TD passes in 11 games and he had three TD passes against Washington State, Tulsa, Louisiana, Baylor and Kansas... Against Tulsa, he had six touchdown passes to go with 409 yards... Had a completion of at least 38 yards in every game... His single-game yardage totals that rank in OSU's all-time top 10 include a school-record 435 against Baylor... He had the fourth highest total twice with 409 yards against Tulsa and Texas... He had the school's seventh best game when he had 389 vs. Kansas... His 356-yard effort vs. Texas Tech is No. 10 all-time... Completed more than 70 percent of his passes five times.

Kirk Cousins Scouting Report

Kirk Cousins – Michigan State (HT: 6-2<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub>– WT: 214)

Positives -- Has good height for a quarterback... Good with his touch passes... Good accuracy between the hash marks, works the middle of the field very well... Steady contributor on a good Michigan State team, was a three year starter and improved his yardage and touchdown totals in each season... Mechanically fine, doesn't have the quickest release, but it will not be a hindrance... Strong intangibles, a leader on the field and was voted a three-year team captain... Has played well in clutch situations... Michigan State quarterbacks have found a place in the NFL in recent years... Plays in a pro-style offense that has given him the opportunity to work under center and in the shotgun, should have a small learning curve in the NFL... Experience against Big Ten competition will bode well for him heading to the next level.

Negatives -- Has a below-average arm, lacks velocity on his intermediate and deep throws, gives defenders too much time to react... Numbers fell off a bit as a senior, yards and touchdowns went up but his overall efficiency fell, both his completion percentage and yards per attempt fell from his junior year... Gets too much loft on his deep throws... Doesn't always set his feet and will throw off balance resulting in some bad throws... Struggles when under pressure, his footwork falls apart and he'll force throws... Would like to see him throw the ball away more, tries to make too many plays by himself... Not a threat to take off and run, is a below-average runner with marginal top end speed for a quarterback... A bit on the thin side, needs to bulk up... Struggled against top defenses, had ugly performances as a senior against Michigan and Nebraska... MSU is known more for their running attack and defense rather than their passing attack and Cousins has operated more as a game manager than anything else during his three year stint as a starter.

At Michigan State -- Is MSU's career record holder in passing touchdowns (66), passing yards (9,131), completions (723), passing efficiency (146.1 rating), total offense (9,004 yards) and 200-yard passing games (26)... ranks among the Big Ten's all-time top ten in completion percentage (tied for sixth at .641), passing efficiency rating (seventh), passing yards (10th) and touchdown passes (tied for 10th)... only the second three-time captain in Michigan State history (Robert McCurry, 1946-48)... is the winningest quarterback in Spartan history (27 victories)... compiled a 27-12 record (.692) as the starting quarterback, including a 22-5 mark his final two seasons... his 202.9 yards per game passing ranks third in MSU history... tied a school record by throwing a TD pass in 16 consecutive games, spanning from the 2009 Northwestern game to the 2010 Iowa game. 2011: Earned second-team All-Big Ten accolades by the coaches... set a single-season MSU record with 26 TD passes and tied a school record with 11 200-yard passing games (Drew Stanton, 2005)... also ranked among MSU's single-season leaders in pass completions (second with 267), passing yards (second with 3,316), pass attempts (second with 419), passing yards per game (third with 236.9 ypg.), total offense (third with 3,227 yards), passing efficiency (seventh at 145.1) and completion percentage (eighth at 63.7)... threw at least one TD pass in 13 of 14 games... ranked among the Big Ten leaders in passing (second with 236.9 ypg.), TD passes (tied for second with 25), passing efficiency (third with 145.1 rating) and total offense (fifth with 234.1 ypg.).

Russell Wilson Scouting Report

Russell Wilson – Wisconsin (HT: 5-10½ – WT: 204)

Positives -- Above-average arm strength, gets good velocity on his throws... Has a nice, tight spiral... Good accuracy, completes a very high percentage of his passes and he does throw down the field... Tremendous accuracy when throwing on the run, makes some of the toughest throws appear routine... Good feet within the pocket... Makes great decisions, worked under center in a pro-style offense that should give him a short learning curve in the NFL... Only threw four interceptions in 309 pass attempts as a senior... Great scrambling ability, can pick up first downs with his feet on a routine basis and can even break big plays with his feet... Has a strong, athletic build and he can break his share of tackles while on the run... Amazing leadership qualities, came to Wisconsin in July and was elected team captain before the season started... Motivates his teammates and is a winner, always talking to teammates and pumping guys up on the field... Known as a film junkie who studies the game, Wisconsin coaches raved about his ability to pick up the offense so quickly... Terrific athlete, a former baseball player who was drafted in the fourth round of the 2010 MLB June Amateur Draft by the Colorado Rockies.

Negatives -- Very undersized, would be one of the shortest quarterbacks in the NFL, stands up at under six feet... Short quarterbacks historically have not fared well transitions from college football to the pros... Will turn 24 during his rookie season... Gets comparisons to Drew Brees for being a short, accurate passer, but is closer to former Ohio State quarterback Troy Smith, a great college quarterback but limited upside as an NFL passer... Was a beneficiary of playing behind one of the best offensive lines in college football, had gobs of time in the pocket and was able to exploit mismatches all the time due to Wisconsin's potent run game which drew defenders close to the line of scrimmage, will not have that luxury in the NFL.

At Wisconsin -- 2011: Holds school record for single-season passing yards (3,175), touchdown passes (33), completions (225), pass efficiency rating (191.8 - min. 200 attempts) and yards of total offense (3,513)... responsible for 40 touchdowns, which ties the school record... completion percentage of .728 (min. 100 attempts) in one season ranks second-best at UW... 309 passing attempts ranks eighth-best at UW... completed 19-of-25 passes for 296 yards and tied UW bowl record with 2 touchdowns and ran for 18 yards and another score on six carries against Oregon in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 2... earned Grange-Griffin Big Ten Championship Game MVP honors after throwing three touchdown passes on 17-of-24 passing for 187 yards and catching two passes for 31 yards in the Big Ten Championship game against Michigan State on Dec. 3... passed for 186 yards and two touchdowns on 19 of 29 passing, also ran for 36 yards on seven carries, against Penn State on Oct. 26... ran for a touchdown and completed 10-of-13 passes for 90 yards and another score at Illinois on Nov. 19... named Big Ten Offensive Player of the Week after season-high four touchdown passes and 178 yards on 16-of-17 passing at Minnesota on Nov. 12, .941 completion percentage second-best in school history (min. 10 attempts) and 259.7 pass efficiency fourth-best... threw for 205 yards on 15-of-20 passing with two touchdowns and ran season-high 10 times for 76 yards and one score against Purdue on Nov. 5... three touchdown passes on 20-of-32 passing for 253 yards... transferred to Wisconsin after spending first four seasons at North Carolina State.

Nick Foles Scouting Report

Nick Foles – Arizona (HT: 6-5 – WT: 243)

Positives -- Has prototypical size for an NFL quarterback, looks the part... Has an above-average arm and is capable of making every throw, gets good velocity on his intermediate throws... Deadly accurate with his short to intermediate throws; completes a high percentage of his passes, including 69.1 percent of his throws as a senior... Posted huge passing numbers, extremely productive at Arizona... Best attribute is his ability to throw underneath routes by placing the ball where receivers can make plays after the catch... Had 350+ yards passing in nine of 12 games as a senior... Has massive 10 $\frac{1}{2}$  inch hands... Smart player, understands what the defense is giving him, makes a lot of smart decisions at the line of scrimmage... When he's hot, he's incredibly difficult to stop and has the potential to be a decent starter at the next level.

Negatives -- Plays in a spread aerial attack that focuses on short throws over the middle, which has padded his statistics... Elongated release that will be picked apart by NFL scouts during post-season workouts... Feet look slow, has a tough time setting his feet when he gets out of position... Has just average accuracy on his deep ball... Improved decision maker who fits well in the spread offense but may have trouble in the NFL when asked to set up under center and go through a natural progression... Not a scrambler by any means necessary, slow and will be prone to taking sacks... Suffered a sprained knee in week seven last year, forcing him to miss two games... Looks like more of a system guy rather than an elite quarterback prospect... Struggles when under duress, forces throws and has no athletic ability to escape... Put up huge numbers as a senior but went 4-8 as a starter.

At Arizona -- 2L... Likely Arizona's passing-records holder in many categories with a solid senior year... Team Offensive co-MVP... Honorable mention All-Pac-10 first two years... Threw for 3,191 yards despite missing two games in 2010... Hooked up for 20 touchdown tosses, third-best in UA history... Pac-10 POW in Iowa victory, completing 28 of 39 throws for 303 yards and two scores... Three TD passes each in OSU, USC, Oregon and ASU games... Career-high 448 yards against OSU, No. 3 in UA history... Also had 440 against OSU, No. 6... Career-long 85-yard TD throw to Juron Criner against Oregon... Missed UW, UCLA starts with sprained knee... Pac-10 leader in yards and completions per game... Yards were third-most in UA history, completions No. 2... Followed solid debut in 2009... Emerged in third week of season with performance at Iowa that earned him the starting role the following week... Finished the year with 2,486 passing yards, a completion percentage of 63.4, threw 19 touchdowns against nine interceptions and an efficiency rating of 125.25... Yards were then sixth most in school annals, TD throws fourth best, completion percentage in top 10... His 260 completions and 410 attempts were then No. 2 in school history... Earned Pac-10 offensive Player of the Week honors after a then career-best 415-yard, three-touchdown game against Stanford, which earned national QB of the week citation from College Football Performance Awards... Threw career-high four TD passes against Oregon, one of his three 300-plus yardage games... Completed career-high 40 of career-high 51 tosses against the Cardinal for a school-record 78.4 percent and the 415 yards... Then career-long 71-yard pass (Juron Criner) against Oregon... Joined team for fall camp 2008 as a transfer from Michigan State... Spent redshirt year at times emulating opponents' quarterbacks with scout teams, also in drills with top units.

Brock Osweiler Scouting Report

Brock Osweiler – Arizona State (HT: 6-6 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 242)

Positives -- Massive size, is by far the largest quarterback of this class and draws comparisons to guys like Derek Anderson and Ryan Mallet for his size and arm strength... Huge arm, can make every throw at the next level, gets terrific zip on his intermediate throws... Can fit the ball into tight windows and really sling the ball down the field... Put up big numbers during his only season as a starter, threw for over 4,000 yards and 26 touchdowns... Good footwork, moves well in the pocket and sets his feet before throwing... Will step into pressure, rarely throws off balance... Surprising athlete for his size, can scramble outside of the pocket, had previously committed to Gonzaga to play basketball... Osweiler's combination of size and mobility is rare and should intrigue NFL teams, needs to be coached up but could develop and be an effective NFL quarterback if given time.

Negatives -- Tries to throw the ball as hard as he can for some throws that should be simple touch passes... Doesn't do a good job of throwing his receiver open, has some serious ball placement issues where he doesn't give his receiver a chance to even make a play... Struggles with his accuracy down the field, regularly over throws his receivers... Misses some of the easiest throws and then will complete one of the toughest... Ended 2011 by throwing five interceptions in his final three games... Will force throws into traffic, looks like he could be prone to interceptions in the NFL... Quarterbacks with his height have not performed well historically at the NFL level... Despite his tall stature, he releases the ball low and he has a ton of balls batted down at the line of scrimmage... Only has one season under his belt as a starter, so he's fairly inexperienced for a guy coming into the NFL... Played primarily out of the shotgun and will have to adjust to playing under center... Would have benefited by returning for his senior year, raw and still an unfinished product... Has all the physical tools but lacks refinement... Arizona State's offense is tailor made to help out quarterbacks, predicated on short passes which has helped pad his statistics... High bust potential.

At Arizona State -- A three-year letterman, including the 2011 season, his first as the starter... brings incredible size and tremendous athleticism to the position... a playmaking threat in and out of the pocket, is more mobile than his size would indicate... has played in 25 career games, including 15 as the starter... has thrown for 5,082 yards and 33 touchdowns in his ASU career... MVP of the 2010 Territorial Cup game, a win in Tucson... has seven 300-yard games... became the first Sun Devil true freshman to start a game at quarterback since Jake Plummer in 1993... graduated high school early to join the team for spring practice in 2009. 2011: In his first season as the starter, Osweiler re-wrote the Arizona State record book for passing... became the first quarterback in the history of Sun Devil football to throw for over 4,000 yards, finishing the season with 4,036... set new school records for completions (326) and attempts (516) and threw for 26 touchdowns, the fourth most in school history... completed 63.2% of his passing, setting a new school record for completion percentage... threw for a career high 487 yards against Arizona, tying a school record with his 63 pass attempts... had six 300-yard passing games on the season, including four over 350 yards... three times threw for three touchdowns (Missouri, at Utah and Cal)... was the tallest quarterback in the nation. 2010: Did not throw an interception all season... appeared in six games... went 6-10 for 60 yards vs. Portland State... came on in relief of an injured Steven Threet to help lead ASU back from 17-0 deficit to win vs. UCLA 55-17... had best passing performance on Frank Kush Field since 2007 in the game by throwing for 380 passing yards, four touchdowns and one rushing touchdown... the 55 points scored was the second-highest total against a Pac-10 school in ASU history... named ASU athlete of the week due to his performance... first start of the season in Territorial Cup... finished the game 22 of 49 for 267 yards, one touchdown in overtime thriller win to bring Cup back to Tempe... earned Hard Hat player recognition for his work in ASU's offseason strength and conditioning program.

B.J. Coleman Scouting Report

B.J. Coleman – Chattanooga (HT: 6-3 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 233)

Positives -- Throws a great deep ball, gets a lot of rotation on his throws and makes some terrific throws down the field... Throws a very catchable ball... Good arm strength, can make every throw... Good over-the-top throwing motion, smooth and doesn't have any hitches... A hard worker, really committed to improving himself and his teammates, does all of the things off the field that you want your quarterback to do... High football IQ, very smart and understands the X's and O's aspect of the game... Possesses ideal height and frame for an NFL quarterback... Has huge hands which helps him grip the ball and throw a nice spiral... Has experience working under center and out of the shotgun... Drew rave reviews for his performance during Shrine week, has been moving up draft boards and has a lot of post-season momentum.

Negatives -- Poor production for a draftable prospect, only threw for 1,527 yards in seven games in 2011 while completing 61 percent of his passes at the FCS level... Has a tendency to throw off his back foot when pressured... Makes some poor decisions, was able to get away with it in college, but will not at the NFL level... Needs some work with his drop steps, doesn't get great depth and his footwork appears awkward at times... Very much an unfinished product... Level of competition will be seriously questioned while playing at Tennessee-Chattanooga... Struggled in his one game last year against FBS competition throwing for 174 yards, one touchdown, one interception against Nebraska... Had a five interception game against Elon in 2010... Transferred from Tennessee, will be a 24-year-old rookie... Missed three full games in 2011 with a shoulder injury.

Ryan Lindley Scouting Report

Ryan Lindley – San Diego State (HT: 6-3¾ – WT: 229)

Positives -- Has a great arm, can make every throw and gets good zip on his deep out... Ball explodes off his hand and he can really sling it downfield... Works well within the pocket, doesn't take many sacks... Ideal height and frame for an NFL quarterback, tall enough to see the passing lanes and big enough to withstand hits... Does a good job of going through his progressions and making reads at the line of scrimmage... Good intangibles with plenty of experience, was a four year starter at San Diego State... Put up huge numbers as a junior with over 3,800 yards and 28 touchdowns... Ended his career on a high note, throwing for over 400 yards and three touchdowns in the New Orleans Bowl, had put the Aztecs in a position to win prior to a final-second Louisiana-Lafayette field goal.

Negatives -- Inconsistent accuracy, will make a spectacular throw then a terrible one... Doesn't always put the ball on the money, makes receivers adjust to his throws too often... Has a tendency to overthrow his passes, tries to throw every ball as hard as he can rather than utilizing touch passes... Numbers regressed as a senior after losing his top two targets in Vincent Brown and DeMarco Sampson... Has never completed 60 percent of his passes... Needs to work on his mechanics... Throws off his back foot too often, doesn't always step into his throws which results in some errant throws... Makes some really poor decisions, will force the ball into tight windows and will be prone to interceptions in the NFL if he doesn't improve in this area... Poor overall athletic ability, is not a threat to take off and run with the football... Struggles outside the pocket, isn't great at throwing on the run... Gets rattled when under pressure, will force the ball out.

At San Diego State -- 2010: Started every game behind center... Named a second-team all-MWC selection and team co-offensive player of the year... Ranked seventh nationally in passing average (294.6/game) and 14th in total offense (292.2/game), both No. 1 in MWC... His 3,830 yards passing are third in school history and most by an Aztec since 1990... Tossed 28 TDs, which are third in the SDSU season record book... Started his 24th career game at quarterback for the Aztecs in the opener, completing 17 of his 26 pass attempts for 303 yards, no INTs and two scores... Reached the 6,000-yard mark in career passing yardage vs. Nicholls, becoming just the fifth Aztec to reach that milestone... Did not throw a pick for the second contest in a row at New Mexico State, completing 20 passes on a season-high 42 attempts for 319 yards and a touchdown... Saw his streak of consecutive pass attempts without an INT broken at 116 against No. 25 Missouri... Connected on over 70 percent of his throws against Utah State, passing for 362 yards and three touchdowns... His 82-yard TD pass to Vincent Brown in the second half is the longest of his career and was No. 11 nationally in 2010... Threw three TD passes for the second consecutive outing with a trio at BYU... Logged 247 passing yards and a touchdown in the upset of No. 23 Air Force... Threw two touchdowns in the victory at New Mexico, posting 249 yards through the air... Had a season-high 365 yards passing, including three touchdowns, in the victory at Wyoming... Threw for 171 yards and a touchdown against Colorado State... ## Chandler Harnish Scouting Report

Chandler Harnish – Northern Illinois (HT: 6-1 $\frac{5}{8}$  – WT: 219)

Positives -- Has a strong build and good bulk for a quarterback... Great accuracy between the hash marks, does a good job of throwing his receivers open in the middle of the field and giving receivers a chance to get extra yards after the catch... Good decision maker, rarely turns the ball over, only threw five interceptions as a senior... Terrific athletic ability, ran for 1,382 yards as a senior, averaged 7.5 yards per carry... Elusive when on the run, does a good job of avoiding the big hit and has some creative moves... Can break tackles, does a good job of shedding tacklers and getting the tough yards... Will manipulate and bait defenses with his legs to pull defenders off his receivers... A great competitor and motivator... First-class intangibles, leads by example... Does a lot of community service work and is active within his community... Already earned his degree and is pursuing his master's degree in business... Extremely productive, a four year starter who broke multiple Northern Illinois records.

Negatives -- Has a below-average arm, struggles when asked to push the ball downfield... Loses his accuracy when throwing down the field, misses some throws he shouldn't... Needs to improve his mechanics, doesn't have a consistent throwing motion and will get sloppy with his footwork... Lacks ideal height for an NFL quarterback... MAC quarterbacks haven't translated to the NFL since Roethlisberger came out of Miami (OH) in 2004, there's been a long trail of highly touted MAC QBs who put up big numbers, but none have found success in the NFL... Played in a gimmicky offense, worked primarily out of the shotgun with zone read plays, designed runs, and a lot of short passes... Wasn't asked to make many of the plays and reads that he'll need to at the NFL level... Many of the things he does well aren't things that are necessary to succeed in the NFL, has a low ceiling due to his lack of size and arm strength.

At Northern Illinois -- 2011: Earned the Vern Smith Leadership Award as MAC MVP from league coaches... Also named the MAC Offensive Player of the Year... Currently owns 23 NIU career and single season passing and total offense records... Only two players in the country (Robert Griffin of Baylor and Case Keenum of Houston) have more total offense yards this season than Harnish's 4,324... Honored in New York City on Dec. 6 as one of 16 National Football Foundation Scholar-Athletes for 2011... Named to the semifinalist list for the Walter Camp Player of the Year Award... First quarterback to lead NIU to four straight bowl games... Named first team All-MAC for second time and was the league player of the year by Rivals.com... Ranks eighth in the nation in total offense, averaging 332.6 yards a game... Only the 10th player all-time to surpass 1,000 rushing and 2,000 passing yards in a season and has fourth-highest rushing total of that group... Needs 15 rushing yards to become only the third quarterback in FBS history to rush for 3,000 yards and pass for 8,000 in a career... Ranks 13th in the nation in passing efficiency with a 155.7 rating... Fourth in the MAC and 18th nationally in rushing, with 106.3 yards per game... Top rushing quarterback in the country in 2011... Responsible for a career high and school record 37 TDs in 2011 (26 passing and 11 rushing)... Has six 100-yard rushing and three 300-yard passing games in 2011 and 11 and six, respectively, for his career... Threw three second-half touchdown passes - of 39, 32 and 22 yards - to lead NIU to come-from-behind 23-20 win in MAC Championship game... Also led Huskies on game-winning field goal drive in final 1:18... Completed 16-of-26 passes for 250 yards... Tallied a career-high and Northern Illinois school-record 519 yards of total offense against Ball State (11-15) with 338 yards passing on 26-of-36 completions and 181 yards rushing on 28 carries... Scored on a 49-yard touchdown run and threw a pair of TD passes... Named MAC West Offensive Player of the Week and MAC Player of the Week for the fourth time.

Aaron Corp Scouting Report

Aaron Corp – Richmond (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 215)

Positives -- A great athlete, ran a 4.72-40 at the combine and a 4.65-40 at the Richmond pro day... Has the ability to take off and run with the football, a good scrambler outside of the pocket... Uses good footwork, does a good job in his drop steps and has solid overall mechanics... Good height; a natural thrower with no hitches in his motion, has a quick and fluid release... Has experience working under center... A hard worker, his broken leg was very serious and he worked very hard to get his strength back and appears to have his athleticism back... Stayed healthy during his senior season... He did beat out Matt Barkley, a sure-fire top ten pick for the 2013 NFL Draft, prior to the 2009 season at Southern Cal... A post-season riser who has done well with his pre-draft work outs.

Negatives -- Below-average arm strength, struggles to drive the ball down field... Didn't exactly light up FCS competition, threw for 20 touchdowns and 17 interceptions in 16 games over the past two years at Richmond... Struggles with his ball placement, doesn't have the accuracy to throw guys open and will miss throws he shouldn't... Threw too many interceptions, forces some throws... When pressured he loses his footwork, seems to panic... Had some really bad games, threw for one touchdown and four interceptions against UMass and one touchdown, three interceptions against Delaware... Although he's put on some weight, still a little on the thin side and has major injury questions... Suffered a season-ending knee injury during the fifth game of the 2010 season and cracked his left fibula in 2009 fall camp while at USC... Spent the past two years playing against FCS defenses, will need time to adjust to the pro game, should sit on the bench his first few years.

At Richmond -- 2010: Started Richmond's first five games before suffering a season-ending knee injury on the first series at New Hampshire (October 9)... Completed 67 passes for 645 yards and three touchdowns in the four full games before his injury... Showed his mobility in and out of the pocket by rushing 19 times for 87 yards... Opened his Richmond career with 183 yards on 18-for-32 passing at Virginia... In the Spiders' home-opener versus Elon, Corp was 19-for-32 passing for 207 yards and a TD... His five-yard TD pass to Kevin Grayson versus Elon tied the game at 7-7 and was Richmond's first-ever score at Robins Stadium... In the Coastal Carolina win, Corp connected with WR Ben Edwards for a 47-yard TD pass as the Spiders' opened up a 27-6 lead in the second quarter en route to a 41-19 win. At USC -- Corp, USC's most mobile quarterback, emerged as the starter as a sophomore in 2009 following a consistent, productive showing in 2009 spring practice. But he cracked the top of his left fibula in 2009 fall camp, which allowed Matt Barkley to win the starting job. Corp then served as a backup the rest of the season, although he started at Washington when Barkley was injured. Overall in 2009 while appearing in 3 games (San Jose State, Washington, Washington State), he was 17-of-26 (65.4%) for 155 yards with 1 TD and 1 interception. He came off the bench to complete all 4 of his passes for 45 yards with a TD (13 yards) against San Jose State. He completed 13-of-22 passes for 110 yards with an interception at Washington in his first career start. He played the final 2 series against Washington State, but did not throw a pass.

Case Keenum Scouting Report

Case Keenum – Houston (HT: 6-0 $\frac{5}{8}$  – WT: 208)

Positives -- Very accurate on his short to intermediate throws, completes a high percentage of his passes and puts his receivers in a position to get yards after the catch... Unbelievable production, set multiple NCAA records over the course of his career at Houston... Has three 5,000 yard passing seasons, including back to back 5,600+ yard seasons... Does a good job of buying time in the pocket with his feet, isn't fast, but moves well within the pocket... Throws a very catchable ball, very good with his touch throws... Good decision maker who rarely turns the ball over... Only threw five interceptions this year in 603 pass attempts, had 10 games as a senior where he threw at least two touchdowns and no interceptions... True leader of the Houston Cougars offense and commands respect from his teammates.

Negatives -- Below-average arm strength, doesn't have a cannon and lacks zip on his throws... Has an awkward three-quarters throwing motion that will need some tweaking... Overall mechanics with his motion and feet are not very good and will need to be coached up... Is not much of a threat to run with the ball, below-average athleticism... Has a rather weak frame and is far too short to play quarterback at the NFL level... Plays in a spread offense where he operates out of the shotgun almost at all times, has little to no experience working under center... The Houston offense is tailor-made for quarterbacks to succeed, similar to the way Mike Leach's offenses operated at Texas Tech for years... Appears to be a product of the system more than legit NFL prospect... His college offense required him to make one read on most occasions and didn't ask him to go through many progressions... Has some injury concerns, received a sixth year of eligibility after tearing his ACL in 2010... Will be a 24-year-old rookie.

At Houston -- 2011: Passed for 310 yards, two touchdowns on 30-of-40 passing against UCLA... Rushed for 30 yards, picking up two first downs on seven carries in the season opener... Named C-USA Offensive Player of the Week by the league office (9-5-11)... Rivals.com and C-USA Player of the Week (9-5-11)... Ranks No. 9 in total offense (340.0), No. 30 in passing efficiency (156.60). 2010: Threw for 274 yards and five touchdowns on 17-of-22 passing against Texas State during the season opener... Finished with 279 yards on 15-of-24 passing against UTEP... Was lost for the remainder of the season after tearing his ACL at UCLA. 2009: Joined Texas Tech's Graham Harrell as the only players in NCAA Division I history to record multiple 5,000-yard passing seasons... Set a school single-season record with 5,671 passing yards, the third-highest passing total in NCAA Division I-FBS single-season history... Leader of the nation's No. 1 team in total offense, scoring offense and passing yards per game... National leader in total offense and passing yards per game... One of 10 players to start all 14 games... Threw for 359 yards on 23-of-30 passing with four touchdowns in just more than a half against Northwestern State during the season opener... Also added a 7-yard touchdown run late in the second quarter against the Demons... Recorded 366 yards and three touchdowns on 32-of-46 passing at No. 5/6 Oklahoma State... Scored the first points against the Cowboys with a 16-yard touchdown run early in the first quarter... Finished with 435 yards and a touchdown on 38-of-58 passing against Texas Tech.

Austin Davis Scouting Report

Austin Davis – Southern Mississippi (HT: 6-1 $\frac{5}{8}$  – WT: 219)

Positives -- Had the best year of his career as a senior, threw for nearly 3,500 yards and 30 touchdowns... Has a quick, compact, over the top delivery, won't need to alter his throwing motion in the NFL... Throws a very catchable ball, a nice spiral... Does a good job looking off receivers... Good footwork in the pocket, very active feet... Good scrambling ability, is able to run for first downs when he gets flushed out of the pocket... A good decision maker who doesn't force many throws and doesn't appear to be prone to turnovers... An experienced four year starter, good game manager... A hard worker, good intangibles, will put in the work to get better... Has a solid frame at nearly 220 pounds and one would expect him to be able to continue to add mass and arm strength once he gets to the pros.

Negatives -- Has a weak arm by NFL standards, struggles when having to push the ball downfield and lacks zip on his deep outs... Very low ceiling due to his limited physical gifts, likely a career backup... Marginal accuracy, can hit the short throws but anything past fifteen yards is tough for him to hit on the money... Struggled in his bowl game to end his career, completing only 18 of 41 passes for 165 yards... Only played five full games as a redshirt sophomore due to a season-ending foot injury at UAB... A bit short to play quarterback in the NFL... Works primarily out of the shotgun and will have to learn how to work under center and take proper drop steps.

At Southern Mississippi -- 2010: Earned second team All-Conference USA honors and was a C-USA All-Academic Team member for his successful season both on the field and in the classroom... Graduated earlier this month in business administration... Started in all 12 games and has started in all 30 games he has played in his career, missing eight contests in 2009 with a foot injury... Posted an 18-12 record as a starter... Thrown for 2,898 yards on 259-of-410 passing attempts (63.2) with 18 touchdowns and just six interceptions... Has thrown for a touchdown pass in each of the last nine games and in 27 of 30 games in his career... Has 51 career TD passes, just one behind school leaders Lee Roberts (1995-98) and Brett Favre (1987-90)... Ranks third on the school's career passing charts with 7,191 yards... Has five multi-TD throwing games, including each of the last three contests... Tied a career-best for TD throws with four in knocking off nationally ranked UCF (11/13)... Threw 41 passes of 20 or more yards during the season, including a season-long 67-yard strike to Quentin Pierce against Tulsa (11/26) for a touchdown... Needs 102 yards to throw for over 3,000 yards for the season (the only QB to accomplish that feat; he tallied 3,128 yards in 2008) and 231 yards to become the school's all-time leader for passing yards... Has posted 10 rushing touchdowns to give him 21 for his career, trailing Reggie Collier's 26 (1979-82) for the most by a Southern Miss QB... Ranks third on the team in rushing with 436 yards on 132 carries... Notched second 100-yard rushing game with 111 on 17 carries and four rushing scores against Houston (11/20)... Added two TD passes to give him six total touchdowns for the contest... Named C-USA Offensive Player of the Week (11/22) for his exploits against Houston... Was Rivals.com's C-USA's Player of the Week following both the UCF and Houston games... A C-USA Commissioner's List honoree for the 2009-10 academic year... ## Kellen Moore Scouting Report

Kellen Moore – Boise State (HT: 6-0 – WT: 208)

Positives -- Very accurate on his short throws, picks apart defenses within 15 yards... Does a great job of hitting receivers in stride... Works the middle of the field extremely well... Put up huge numbers at Boise State, a four year starter who threw for nearly 3500 yards in every season... Good decision maker who doesn't turn the ball over, has thrown one interception for every 69 pass attempts over the past three seasons... Completes a high percentage of his passes, 74.3 percent as a senior and 69.8 percent for his career... Good awareness in the pocket, eludes defenders and will step into pressure to deliver throws... A winner, compiled a 50-3 record at Boise State, the three losses were by three points or less... Good intangibles, already earned his bachelor's degree, is currently working on his master's in kinesiology... A natural leader, teammates respond well to him.

Negatives -- Weak arm by NFL standards, really struggles pushing the ball downfield and his sideline throws often look like lobs... Lack of velocity is his biggest weakness, simply doesn't get enough on his throws to be effective in the NFL... Holds the ball a bit too low and has a slow throwing motion... Footwork is all over the place, needs to be coached on many of the fundamentals of the position... Very small, both short and thin, does not bode well for his transition to the NFL, seriously looks like a high school player without pads on... Poor athlete, had the second slowest 40-time of all participating quarterbacks at the combine and also had the shortest broad jump, slowest shuttle, and second slowest cone time... Played in a spread attack at Boise that relies on him to make short accurate throws to open receivers, doesn't have to throw his receivers open and the Boise offense doesn't ask him to go through a natural progression or work under center... Is likely to join the long list of tremendous collegiate quarterbacks who struggle to make it at the next level (think Colt Brennan, Jason White, Chase Daniel, etc.).

At Boise State -- 2010: Started each of the Broncos' 13 games... one of four finalists for the Heisman Trophy, becoming the first Bronco to be invited to the ceremony in New York... was also a finalist for both the Davey O'Brien and Maxwell Awards... named the nation's top quarterback by The Touchdown Club of Columbus (Ohio)... FWAA All-American... Western Athletic Conference Co-Offensive Player of the Year... second-straight year he garnered POY honors from the WAC... first-team All-WAC for the second-straight year... third-straight All-WAC accolade... completed 273-of-383 passes for 3,845 yards, 35 touchdowns and just six interceptions... pass efficiency of 182.63 led the nation, and his career rating of 166.74 leads all active quarterbacks nationally... 293.31 yards of total offense per game ranked 13th-nationally... caught a seven-yard touchdown pass against Louisiana Tech (Oct.26) and ran for a score against Utah State (Dec. 4)... named WAC Offensive Player of the Week following his performances against No. 10 Virginia Tech (Sept. 6), No. 24 Oregon State (Sept. 25) and Hawai'i (Nov. 6)... was also named O'Brien National Quarterback of the Week following the game against the Hokies... hit wide receiver Austin Pettis for a 13-yard touchdown pass with 1:09 remaining in the game for the game-winning score... completed a season-high 30-of-37 passes against the Warriors en route to the third-highest passing yardage total in school history (507)... only the second Bronco to throw for more than 500 yards in a single game... threw for more than 200 yards in 12 games, giving him 33 for his career, the most in school history.

Dominique Davis Scouting Report

Dominique Davis – East Carolina (HT: 6-2 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 218)

Positives -- Very accurate passer who makes precise throws within 15 yards of the line of scrimmage and works the middle of the field well... Set an NCAA single game record with 26 consecutive completions against Navy this year and completed 36 in a row total by completing his final ten passes in his previous game, also an NCAA record... Has a quick throwing motion that compensates a bit for his lack of arm strength... Above average athlete who can maneuver outside the pocket and throw while on the run... Has shown the ability to pick up the first down with his feet... Has NFL bloodlines, his brother is former Bears tight end Desmond Clark... Has some intriguing physical tools and could develop into a decent backup over time if he lands in a system best fit for his abilities.

Negatives -- Sub-par arm strength, doesn't get much velocity on his throws... Will struggle with his deep outs and anything down the field... Seems to float some of his deep passes, just doesn't have the arm to chuck the ball down field... Overall production fell off as a senior as his yards and touchdowns decreased and his interceptions increased... Struggled in big games, threw for a combined two touchdowns and six interceptions against North Carolina, Virginia Tech, and Houston this year... Mechanics will fall apart when he's under pressure, footwork gets sloppy and doesn't set his feet... Terrible decision maker who will force throws and doesn't seem to understand that his arm isn't a howitzer... A bit on the thin side, looks frail and could get crushed by NFL defenders... Played in a spread offense which definitely helped pad his stats a bit... East Carolina's offense relies on receivers to get a lot of yards after the catch, most of his throws weren't for more than ten yards down the field... Throws a lot of check down passes and screens which aided in his high completion percentage.

At East Carolina -- Made his highly-anticipated East Carolina debut last fall and didn't disappoint, immediately earning a reputation as one of the nation's top quarterbacks from a statistical, productivity and impact standpoint... A 2011 Consensus Draft Services Preseason All-America selection after a record-setting first year... Named to the 2011 Maxwell Award and Davey O'Brien Award Watch Lists... Originally inked with the Pirates as a mid-year signee in December, 2009 (from Fort Scott Community College)... Remained committed to ECU after meeting head coach Ruffin McNeill for the first time immediately after his hire, but missed the start of the academic semester (which prevented participation in spring drills)... Loyalty to the Pirate program was evidenced by self-funded move to Greenville and attendance at all 15 spring workouts to absorb as much knowledge as possible about new offensive scheme... Competition in Atlantic Coast Conference wars while at Boston College brought a much-needed battle-tested, big-game mindset to a program which had lost a six-year signal-caller the previous season... Vision, mobility, quickness, passing touch, poise, mental preparation and competitive instincts have all been lauded by coaching staff, but work ethic and leadership skills are most respected by teammates who voted him to serve as team captain on 10 of 13 occasions last season... Enjoyed a productive spring, fine-tuning his responsibilities in the spread scheme... Completed 13-of-18 passes for 131 yards and two touchdowns during the first scrimmage April 2... Found Danny Webster (five yards) and Justin Jones (13) with scoring tosses in the opener, before hooking up with Dayon Arrington on a 17-yarder in the second contest on the way to a 10-of-16, 120-yard effort April 9... Finished drills with limited action in the Purple-Gold Game April 16, completing all four attempts for 29 yards and a touchdown - a three-yard throw to Joe Womack to open the scoring... A 2011 Preseason All-Conference selection (fourth-team) by Phil Steele Magazine... Labeled as the "6th-best NFL talent" in C-USA and "Coolest In The Clutch" by Lindy's Magazine.

G.J. Kinne Scouting Report

G.J. Kinne – Tulsa (HT: 6-2 – WT: 215)

Positives -- Has a good but not great arm, can make most of the throws... Good short to intermediate accuracy... Has a very quick throwing motion, really gets the ball out in a hurry and doesn't give defenders much time to react to his throws... Good scrambling ability outside of the pocket, is very athletic, and can pick up the first down... Solid bulk and frame, has the ability to withstand the pounding of the NFL... Was a true dual threat quarterback at Tulsa with the ability to make plays with his arm and legs... Extremely mature, dealt with the death of his father at a young age and has developed into a leader both on and off of the field... Experienced starter, started 38 consecutive games for the Golden Hurricane... Originally committed to Texas out of high school over offers from Florida and Oklahoma, among others.

Negatives -- Considering his height and learning curve, he doesn't possess the other qualities (arm strength, accuracy) to stand out above other prospects... Deep accuracy is questionable, has trouble throwing down the field... Production tailed off a bit as a senior, his yards and touchdown numbers fell, though his efficiency did marginally improve... Considering the offense he played in, completing roughly 60 percent of his passes for his career doesn't look all that impressive... Struggled against top level competitions, threw for a combined four touchdowns, seven interceptions against Oklahoma, Oklahoma State, Boise State, and Houston as a senior... When on the run, he too often takes off to run rather than keeping his eyes down field for bigger opportunities... Rather short, does not have the ideal measurables of an NFL signal caller... Transferred from Texas after he realized he wasn't going to get playing time behind Colt McCoy, will turn 24 during his rookie season... Tulsa quarterbacks haven't translated well to the NFL, his predecessor Paul Smith had similar credentials coming out of college but is now out of the NFL... Played in a spread offense that helped disguise most of his flaws.

At Tulsa -- A two-year letterwinner and starter... transferred to Tulsa from the University of Texas prior to the 2008 season... was named to the C-USA Academic Honor Roll in each of his three seasons... has started all 25 games in which he has played... has 6,382 passing yards and 53 touchdowns in his career to rank third on both the school's career passing list and touchdown passes chart... also ranks third for career total offensive yards with 7,336 yards... has nine career 300+ passing games... became the first quarterback in school history to pass for 300 yards and rush for 100 yards in the same game when he threw for 334 yards and rushed for 100 yards against #13 Houston in the 2009 season... 2010 - Played and started all 13 games... named the Conference USA Offensive Player of the Year... earned first-team all-C-USA honors as well as all-Academic team accolades... completed 60 percent of his passes for 3,650 yards and 31 TDs in 2010 to rank third on the school's single-season passing chart... named to the Davey O'Brien and Manning Award Watch Lists for 2010... became the fifth Tulsa quarterback to pass for 30+ TDs in a season... had six 300-yard passing games... had his first career 400+ passing game and eighth career game over 300 passing yards with 406 yards and four touchdowns against Southern Miss, thus earning C-USA Player of the Week honors... a week earlier, had 325 yards and two touchdowns against UTEP... had a career-best 190 rushing yards and one touchdown and threw for 154 yards and two TDs in a win over Houston... was named the C-USA Offensive Player of the Week for that performance... his 190 yards is the third-best rushing performance for a Tulsa quarterback... threw for 371 yards and four touchdowns against Rice... threw 194 passes before throwing an interception against Houston, while going five games without an interception... had 399 yards and a career-best five TDs against East Carolina in the season opener.

Darron Thomas Scouting Report

Darron Thomas – Oregon (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 220)

Positives -- Athletic quarterback prospect who is extremely dangerous outside of the pocket... Has good speed to pick up the first down... Good arm strength, gets good velocity on his deep passes... Has good size and can withstand a pounding... Although a running quarterback, does a good job of not tucking to run too early... Managed one of the fastest and most efficient offenses in college football... Good decision maker, rarely turned the ball over; seven interceptions in 339 pass attempts as a junior in 2011... Played well in big games, threw for 268 yards, three touchdowns and one interception in Oregon's Rose Bowl win over Wisconsin... Has some good upside due to his intriguing physical tools and could be a solid developmental prospect for some team as an undrafted free agent.

Negatives -- Operated out of Oregon's spread option offense and is not used to going through a natural progression or taking snaps from under center... Extremely raw, a huge project who should have returned to school, was never likely to be drafted and the decision to declare should raise some concerns over maturity... Players with Thomas' skill set have not translated to the NFL in recent years... Numbers are inflated due to Oregon's offense, he was surrounded by playmakers and ran a lot of read option plays which brought linebackers and safeties closer to the line of scrimmage and left receivers open... Rarely looked off his first read, when flushed out of the pocket he'll stare down one receiver... Long throwing motion, dips the ball and tips his passes a bit... Lacks accuracy at all levels, can hit a moving target but does not have the ability to throw receivers open... Disappointed at the combine by running a 4.80-40 so he may struggle if asked to switch positions.

At Oregon -- 2011: Was one of 16 finalists for the 2011 Davey O'Brien Award... Ranks No. 11 nationally in passing efficiency rating (158.66)... Ranks first all-time at UO in touchdown passes (66), seventh in passing yards (5,910) and sixth in total offense (6,633)... Third player in Pac-12 history (USC's Matt Leinart 2003-04, Stanford's Andrew Luck 2010-11) with two seasons of 30 or more touchdown passes... 17 of 23 for 268 yards with three touchdowns and one interception in win over Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl... Was 20 of 36 for 219 yards with three touchdowns and one interception in Pac-12 Championship Game win vs. UCLA... Also had a season-high 60 yards rushing on five attempts with a score vs. the Bruins... Season-high 305 yards passing (27 of 40) with four TDs in win vs. Oregon State... 23 of 35 for 265 yards and a touchdown in loss vs. USC... 155 passing yards (11 of 17) and three TDs in win at Stanford... 13 of 25 for 169 yards and one score in win at Washington... Played the first half vs. Washington State, passing for 153 yards (8 of 13) with a touchdown and two interceptions after being sidelined at Colorado... Was 13 of 17 for 187 yards, two touchdowns and one interception before leaving with an apparent leg injury in the third quarter of UO's win vs. Arizona State... Completed 13 of 25 pass attempts for 198 yards, three touchdowns and an interception in win vs. Cal... Was 5 of 6 with all three scores after halftime against the Golden Bears... Accounted for four TDs (2 pass, 2 rush) in win at Arizona, completing 11 of 20 passes for 101 yards and rushing 10 times for 52 yards... Went 11 of 15 for 206 yards and three scores in win vs. Missouri State... Honorable mention Davey O'Brien quarterback of the week after tying the school record with six touchdown passes vs. Nevada, while amassing 295 passing yards on just 19 attempts (13 completions)... Set career marks with 31 completions and 54 attempts (240 yards, TD, INT) in loss vs. LSU.

Trent Richardson Scouting Report

Trent Richardson – Alabama (HT: 5-9¼ – WT: 228)

Positives -- Amazing combination of size and speed, his measurables are off the charts... Is both one of the fastest and strongest backs in this class; great blend of strength, speed, and explosiveness... Has a very quick first step to explode through the hole, gets his first ten yards in a hurry... Does a good job of always heading up the field, doesn't dance much... Breaks a ton of tackles, will run through arm tackles as if they aren't even there, he just continues moving and seems to always pick up that extra half yard... Relishes contact, often lowers his shoulder and bulls through defenders... Impressive leg drive, doesn't give up... Thick lower body, huge thighs and is very tough to bring down... Great vision, does a good job of finding the hole and finds his cut back lanes... Great ball security, had just one career fumble at Alabama... Good ability as a pass blocker, played in a pro-style offense at Alabama that prepared him well for blitz pickups... Good hands and runs good routes out of the backfield, will be able to contribute on all three downs at the next level... His workout numbers should be similar to those of Adrian Peterson to give you an idea of how much of a freak athlete he is... No major injuries during his time in college... Played at the highest level of competition in the SEC... Doesn't have much tread on his tires, he was able to play behind Mark Ingram for his first two years... Put up huge numbers as a junior with 1,679 yards and 21 touchdowns on the ground... Incredible work ethic; known as a gym rat and a workout warrior, constantly in the weight room... Reportedly has a 600 pound squat and can bench 475 pounds while only weighing 228 pounds... Extremely high upside, best running back prospect since Peterson in 2007, has all the makings of a future Pro Bowler.

Negatives -- Doesn't have a ton of open field moves, relies more on sheer strength and power... Has great initial quickness but doesn't have elite long-speed, can get chased from behind at the second level... Underwent ankle surgery in high school.

At Alabama -- 2011: Trent Richardson won the Doak Walker Award as the nation's top running back... a finalist for the Heisman Trophy, finishing third in the voting... a finalist for the Maxwell Award and the Walter Camp Player of the Year... a first-team All-American the AFCA, FWAA, Walter Camp, Associated Press, Sporting News, ESPN.com, SI.com, CBSsports.com, Rivals.com and Pro Football Weekly... SEC Offensive Player of the Year by the league coaches and the Associated Press...

unanimous first-team All-SEC... averaging 131.9 yards per game to rank fifth nationally and first in the SEC... his 1,583 rushing yards is fifth nationally and the second most in Alabama history... fifth nationally and first in the SEC in scoring at 11.5 points per game... has a school-record 20 rushing touchdowns and three receiving... equaled his previous season high in rushing touchdowns in the first four games... 20 rushing touchdowns is tied for the second most in SEC history (Tim Tebow, 23; Cam Newton, 20)... his 23 total touchdowns is the second-most in school and SEC history and more than Mark Ingram had in the 2009 season when he won his Heisman Trophy... has carried the ball 263 times for an average of 6.0 yards per carry... his 1,976 yards from scrimmage accounts for 36.7 percent of the Alabama offense in 2011... gets strong in the second half where he has accounted for 59.3 percent of his rushing yards (938 yards)... 90 of his carries have gone for a first down or a touchdown while 14 receptions have converted first downs with two receiving touchdown... has 34 rushes of 12 yards or more, including touchdown bursts of 76, 71, 57 and 58 yards... has 12 receptions of 12 yards or more... has nine 100-yard rushing games on the season, which equals Mark Ingram's school record (2009)... has 13 in his career, which is the second most in UA history... had six straight 100-yard rushing games this year that equaled Shaun Alexander's school record.

Doug Martin Scouting Report

Doug Martin – Boise State (HT: 5-9¼ – WT: 223)

Positives -- Has an NFL body, very compact and stout... Big lower body, tough to wrap up... Great upper body strength, 28 reps of 225 lbs. tied for the most among running backs at the combine... Good short area burst, accelerates quickly and is tough to contain due to his lateral quickness... Quick feet through the hole, very shifty, slips underneath tacklers and is able to elude defenders with ease with hesitation moves... Had the second fastest three cone time at the combine... Runs with a low center of gravity and a good base, will lower his shoulder and drive into contact to get the extra yards... Does a good job in pass protection, rarely misses his assignment... Would do great in a zone blocking scheme... Great receiving ability out of the backfield, had 56 receptions over the past two years, shows soft hands and ability to pluck the ball on the run... Solid production, consecutive 1,200+ yard seasons and scored 43 touchdowns on the ground over the past three years... Durable runner who hasn't endured any serious injuries yet in his career... Strong character, has proven that he'll do whatever it takes to get on the football field, even played a bit on the defensive side earlier in his career at Boise State... Runs with a purpose, really seems determined and never gives up... Has the ability to be an every-down back in the NFL with his combination of size, quickness, and versatility.

Negatives -- Has just average long speed, doesn't have the top gear you look for in a feature back... Needs to be more patient, will run into his own blockers and doesn't always let plays develop in front of him... Level of competition will be questioned after playing at Boise State... Struggled in Boise's marquee matchup of the year at Georgia when he ran 24 times for 57 yards and he did not play against TCU this year... Is not a game breaker, is more of a grind-it-out type of running back who will churn out yards, wouldn't expect him to break many long runs in the NFL.

At Boise State -- 2010: Started each of the Broncos' 13 games... named first-team All-Western Athletic Conference... set career highs in carries (201) and yards (1,260)... yardage total is the sixth-highest in a single season in school history... 6.26 yards-per-carry average ranks fifth all-time in Boise State single-season history... scored 12 touchdowns on the ground, tied for 10th-most in a single season in school history... also set season highs through the air, catching 28 passes for 338 yards and two TDs... became the 11th different Bronco to record a 1,000-yard season on the ground... turned in the 16th 1,000-yard rushing season in school history, surpassing the plateau against No. 19 Nevada (Nov. 26)... averaged 96.92 yards per game, ranking 24th-nationally... 122.92 all-purpose yards per game ranked 44th-nationally... 2,132 career rushing yards ranks ninth all-time... just the 10th Bronco in school history to surpass 2,000 career rushing yards... 27 career rushing touchdowns ranks eighth all-time... had six 100-yard games in 2010, increasing his career total to 10, a mark that ranks tied for seventh all-time at Boise State... had 105 yards and a TD on 17 carries against Wyoming (Sept. 18)... 19 carries for 138 yards against No. 24 Oregon State (Sept. 25) gave him 100-plus in back-to-back games... 150 yards and two scores on 21 carries against Louisiana Tech (Oct. 26)... 16 rushes for 117 yards and two touchdowns at Idaho (Nov. 12)... 24 carries for a career-high 152 yards and two touchdowns at No. 19 Nevada (Nov. 26)... 17 carries for 147 yards against Utah in MAACO Bowl Las Vegas (Dec. 22)... 84-yard touchdown run against the Utes was a career-long and the second-longest run from scrimmage in school history... received the team's Iron Bronco Award for strength at the season-ending banquet.

David Wilson Scouting Report

David Wilson – Virginia Tech (HT: 5-9½ - WT: 206)

Positives -- Great speed, one of the faster running backs in this class, was an All-American track athlete... Has an amazing first step, as soon as he makes his cut he instantly is five or six yards down the field which makes him very tough to contain... Long strider who runs faster than he looks... Terrific overall athlete, registered a 41" vertical, highest of all running backs and second highest of any player at the combine; also registered the longest broad jump by a running back at 11 feet... Has some suddenness to him, can juke defenders in the open field... Has good balance through the hole, runs with a low center of gravity and it's hard to knock him off balance... Slippery, doesn't absorb many big hits, is able to protect himself from injury well... Good leg drive, always trying to move forward... Fights through arm tackles in the hole... Led the NCAA in yards after contact last year, according to National Football Post's Dan Pompei; 990 total, 267 more than Trent Richardson... Good vision, sees running lanes... Great potential as a receiver out of the backfield, shows soft hands and is at his best in open spaces... There is a long lineage of Frank Beamer running backs in the NFL... Coming off a huge junior season, put up 1,709 yards and nine touchdowns on 290 carries... Consistent, had ten 100-yard games this year... Has a knack for breaking the big play, had runs of 30 yards or more in nine games in 2011... Doesn't have a ton of tread on his tires, only has one year as a featured back... Has experience returning kicks.

Negatives -- Carries the ball high at times and the ball can get knocked out of his arms... Sometimes gets caught trying to cut plays back to the other side of the field and will take his fair share of negative plays... Gets away with dancing behind the line in college, won't have that luxury in the NFL... Poor blocker who can be engulfed by linebackers and doesn't play with great technique... Too often fails to anchor and ends up lunging at defenders in pass protection.

At Virginia Tech -- 2011: A second-team All-American as selected by The Associated Press... The ACC Overall and Offensive Player of the Year... A unanimous first-team All-ACC selection at running back... Won the Dudley Award, given to the state's top Division I football player... Started all 14 games... Posted a streak seven straight 100-plus yard rushing games (the most under Frank Beamer) and had 10 total 100-plus yard rushing games on the season... The 10 100-plus yard rushing games tied the ACC single season record set by Tech's Ryan Williams in 2009... Also caught 21 passes for 126 yards and a score... Led team with 22 kickoff returns for 415 yards... Totaled 2,253 all-purpose yards... Started the season with a bang, rushing for 162 yards and three touchdowns in the win over Appalachian State... ## Lamar Miller Scouting Report

Lamar Miller – Miami (FL) (HT: 5-10¾ – WT: 212)

Positives -- Top end acceleration, gets to top speed in a hurry, very tough to contain in short areas... Was clocked at the combine as the fastest running back in this class... Ideal size for an NFL running back, has enough bulk to run between the tackles, but is light enough to utilize his terrific speed... Has good top speed, can outrun defenders and beat linebackers to the corner... True home run threat, gets a lot of comparisons to LeSean McCoy for his size, shiftiness, and overall style of play... Great moves in the open field, will break some ankles... Does a good job of avoiding big hits, very elusive, slips under tacklers...

Great between-the-tackles runner for his size, has a good base and keeps his balance through arm tackles... Smooth runner with nice long strides, looks like a natural... Above-average leg drive, will keep churning his legs after contact to get extra yards... Terrific vision, has a bit of a third eye, sees things develop before they're there... Finds the cut back lane easily... Has soft hands out of the backfield... Runs good routes and catches the ball on the run, doesn't have to gear down to adjust to the ball... Should be able to contribute on all three downs with his ability to run between the tackles and contribute in the passing game... Does not have much tread on his tires, left after his redshirt sophomore season and only had 227 carries last year... Consistent production, had 90+ yards in nine of Miami's 12 games last year... Has some experience in the return game which should help him get on the field early.

Negatives -- While he does a good job of trying to get extra yards, he doesn't have the size or strength to push defenders back, struggles to get off of linebackers... Marginal pass blocker, needs to improve in this area, will grab and tear at times... Suffered a minor shoulder injury in 2010 and had some lingering injuries in 2011... Needs to be more decisive, if the hole isn't there, he won't cut up field as quickly as coaches would like to see... When he gets out of the hole and into the second level he raises his pad level and runs upright... Injured his left shoulder in late September and played through the injury for most of the season, will undergo shoulder surgery following the draft.

At Miami (FL) -- 2011: Earned starts in all 12 games as the team's feature back... Recorded the third-best single-season total in program history with 1,272 rushing yards... ## Chris Polk Scouting Report

Chris Polk – Washington (HT: 5-10½ – WT: 215)

Positives -- Tough physical runner who is a load to bring down, always keeps his legs moving... Terrific between the tackles, doesn't dance in the hole and is always moving up the field... Fights for the extra yards, falls forward... Has a strong stiff arm to shed tacklers... Has all the makings of a terrific power-back at the NFL level... Simply runs through arm tackles, defenders have to wrap him up to take him down... Displays good balance for a guy who has a tendency to run high... Holds the ball high and tight, secures the ball well and rarely fumbles... Great vision, picks his spots well and does a good job of finding the hole...

does not dance in the backfield... Good blocker who anchors well and picks up his assignments... Solid receiver out of the backfield, displays soft hands and an ability to run good routes... Prolific runner at Washington where he had three 1,000 yard rushing seasons and back to back years of 1,400 yards or more... Consistent, had ten 100-yard outings this year... Ended his career on a strong note with 147 yards against Baylor in the Alamo Bowl... Good intangibles, has worked hard to come back and improve after numerous injuries... Has some experience returning kicks... Does a lot of things well, but nothing spectacular, an overall solid player.

Negatives -- Does not have elite top-speed, it's good enough to be effective, but he's not a burner by any means... Runs high which has exposed him to some big hits, needs to lower his pad level... Has a bit of a choppy running style, looks awkward... Is almost too patient at times and doesn't explode up field the way you'd like to see... Suffered a serious shoulder injury in 2008 and has had two shoulder surgeries... His physical running style will continue to make him prone to injuries... Limited upside due to his lack of long speed and will always be an injury risk due to his style of play.

Has a lot of post-season momentum, ended his career with 149 rushing yards in the Liberty Bowl and had a strong showing during Senior Bowl week, earned Most Valuable Player honors for the game in large part due to two punt returns for a combined 98 yards.

Negatives -- Small at under 200 pounds and doesn't have a strong build, would like to see him add some bulk to his frame... More quick than fast, has above-average speed, but at his size, he doesn't have the break-away speed you would like to see... Doesn't have a great leg drive and will get pushed backwards... Tries to break the long run every time he gets the ball and will break plays outside too much resulting in some negative runs... Struggles in pass protection, can get engulfed at the point of attack... Has a reputation as being immature... Missed two games in 2010 due to a bruised left knee.

At Cincinnati -- 2010: Carried 10 times for 36 yards, including no negative yardage, in the season opener at Fresno State... also had a career best four receptions for 25 yards. 2009: Saw action in all 13 games, making three starts... his 6.7 yards per carry average led all Big East Conference players... gained 806 yards on 121 carries with nine touchdowns... posted four games of 75 yards rushing or more... reached double-digit carries six times... also added 20 receptions for 201 yards and two touchdowns... opened up the season with eight carries for 47 yards and a touchdown at Rutgers... also had a pair of catches for 52 yards and a score... carried the ball 11 times for 45 yards against Southeast Missouri State... tallied 46 yards on 11 carries and a touchdown at Oregon State... also tied a season high with three receptions for 39 yards... finished with four carries for 27 yards and a touchdown against Fresno State... tied a season best with three catches for 40 yards at Miami (OH)... also carried the ball five times for 60 yards... had 12 carries for 55 yards at USF along with three catches for 30 yards... gained 88 yards on six carries and scored a pair of touchdowns against Louisville... also tallied a season and career long 67-yard run vs. the Cardinals... also added two receptions for 14 yards and a touchdown... carried 16 times for 77 yards at Syracuse... scored two touchdowns, including the game winner in the fourth quarter, and had 67 yards on 10 carries against Connecticut... tallied season and career highs with 18 carries for 175 yards against West Virginia... also scored a rushing TD and added a pair of catches for 13 yards... finished with nine carries for 76 yards and a touchdown at Pitt... carried the ball seven times for 48 yards at the Allstate Sugar Bowl.

Positives -- Has good size for a feature back, will be able to withstand the pounding of the NFL... Does a good job of holding on to the football, doesn't appear to be fumble prone... Good power runner who keeps his pad level low and his feet moving... Surprising athletic ability, ran well at the combine and performed well in the agility drills... Is at his best running between the tackles where he can use his excellent vision and cutback ability... Does not dance in the backfield, is always headed up the field... Great balance, is able to absorb hits and keep moving... Ideal fit in a zone blocking scheme... Very decisive, isn't hesitant at all and knows where he is headed... Possesses quick feet, makes nice cuts through the hole... Patient runner who lets his blockers set up in front of him, picks his spots well... Has a nose for the end zone, compiled 54 career touchdowns including 27 as a junior, a new school record, and five at Maryland, also a school record... Had seven multi-touchdown games and eight 100-yard games in 2011.

Negatives -- Lacks a second gear, can get run down from behind... Below-average open field runner... Wasn't utilized in the passing game very often, only had 19 career catches... Will need to be coached up on pass protection and running routes out of the backfield... Comes with serious durability concerns, had injuries each of his three years at Temple... Has some tread on his tires with 663 career carries already... Level of competition will be questioned after dominating the MAC for three years... Likely just a two-down back, doesn't have the ability to contribute on third down and should be substituted out in passing situations.

MAC's and Owls' leading rusher with 1,481 yards and a school record 27 touchdowns on 273 carries on the season... finished ranked nationally at No. 2 in scoring (13.50 ppg), No. 2 in rushing TDs (27), and No. 6 in rushing (123.42 ypg)... had 100 yards and two touchdowns on 25 carries in the bowl win over Wyoming in his final game... led the Owls with 189 yards and three touchdowns, including a career-long 69-yard TD run, in the win over Kent State... returned to action in the win over Army, leading the Owls with 157 yards and three touchdowns on 21 carries... teamed with Matt Brown as the only duo to each reach 100 yards in the same game five times and helped TU set the school record for rushing touchdowns in a season... ran for 84 yards and a 20-yard touchdown on 22 carries at Ohio before leaving the game with a head injury... surpassed Paul Palmer (1983-86) to take over as career points leader outright with a touchdown and 107 yards on 17 carries at Bowling Green... set five school records in the shutout of Buffalo with his 152-yard, two-TD performance... became Temple's career leader in rushing touchdowns with three TDs and 121 yards on 30 carries in the shutout of Ball State... had a record-breaking game in the win at Maryland while recording the 12th 100-yard performance of his career... rushed for 149 yards on 32 carries for a school record and MAC record-tying five rushing touchdowns... led the Owls with 50 yards and a touchdown on 17 carries against Penn State... recorded the 11th 100-yard performance of his career in the win at Akron... rushed 18 times for 150 yards and a career-high three touchdowns in the first half... finished with 20 carries for 147 yards and a career-high three touchdowns... became just the third player in Temple history to record 10 games of 100 yards rushing.

Robert Turbin Scouting Report

Robert Turbin – Utah State (HT: 5-10 – WT: 222)

Positives -- Huge running back with good build up speed... Combination of size and speed will be very appealing... Physically looks like an NFL feature back... Strong build, has a large upper body, a load to bring down, is tough to bring down when tackling him high because of his superior upper body strength... Looks like a good fit for a zone blocking scheme... Is very patient and is more of a one-cut runner than he is elusive... Runs with a low center of gravity and has good balance through the hole... A between the tackles type runner who can grind out yards... Good feet, doesn't have much shake-and-bake to his game, but his feet allow him to make nice cuts within the hole... Good vision, finds the cut back lanes quickly... Does a good job in the screen game, catches the ball well and waits for the play to develop... Put up huge numbers the past two years, including close to 1,700 yards from scrimmage and 23 touchdowns in 2011... Consistent player who never had less than 60 yards in a game this past year... Strong character, has been praised for his work ethic... Has a nose for the end zone, had a touchdown in ten consecutive games to start the 2011 season, set a school record with 23 total TDs (19 rushing, four receiving).

Negatives -- A stiff runner, there really is no smoothness to his game, is very aggressive and has to gear down when making cuts... Doesn't look like a natural runner... Has a tendency to carry the ball away from his body when he's not running through trash... More of an inside runner than outside, struggles to get outside and will extend plays too far to the sideline... Suffered a bad knee injury in 2010 which forced him to miss the entire season... In Utah State's marquee matchup of the 2011 season against Auburn, he was held to 70 yards on 22 carries, a 3.2 yard average, his lowest of the season... Level of competition will be called into question after playing at Utah State.

At Utah State -- 2010: Missed the season due to injury. 2009: Played in all 12 games, starting 11... Ranked third in the WAC and 20th in FBS in rushing with 108.0 ypg, as well as third in the league and 32nd in the nation in all-purpose yards with 142.8 ypg... Had 207 total carries (6.3 ypc) with 13 rushing TD's and a school-record long of 96-yards... Also led the conference's running backs in receiving yards with 34.8 ypg, totalling 418 yards on 30 receptions (13.9 ypc) with five TD catches... Scored a WAC-leading and USU single-season record 18 TD's, finishing with 110 points, the most for an offensive player in the WAC and the second-most overall on the season... Posted a 9.2 ppg average, which ranked second in the WAC and 13th in the FBS... Tied a school-record by scoring five total TD's with three rushing and two receiving scores in the Aggies' season-finale win over Idaho on Nov. 28... The five TD's was the most in a conference game since 2007... It also tied a USU single-game record last done in 1956 by Jack Hill with five rushing TD's... Totalled 110 points scored, setting a new school record as it topped the previous mark of 105 scored by Jack Hill in 1956, and only the second 100-point scorer... Set another school record with 18 total TD's, breaking the previous mark of 16 done three times, by White in 2001, Abu Wilson in 1996 and Roy Shivers in 1965... With 13 rushing TD's, tied for No. 7 on USU's single-season rushing TD list with two marks by White, with 13 TD's in both 2001 and 2000, as well as Tom Larscheid in 1960... Posted a 6.3 ypc average.

Ronnie Hillman Scouting Report

Ronnie Hillman – San Diego State (HT: 5-8<sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 200)

Positives -- Compact runner who can get really small through the hole and explode up field... Utilizes a strong stiff arm to shed tacklers... Accelerates quickly and is tough to contain in short spaces... Short legs and a quick twitch athlete, allows him to cut on a dime and use hesitation moves to fake out the defense... Good open field runner, elusive; tough to track down with his combination of speed and moves... Has big play ability, had multiple 90+ yard runs in college... Runs with authority, and although small, he does pack a bit of a punch... Runs with good forward lean, very low to the ground and as a result has good balance... Does a good job catching the ball out of the backfield, runs good routes, and can be used on third downs... Despite his small stature, was used in goal line situations, does a good job of finding running lanes and is patient... Put up huge numbers during his two years at San Diego State, amassed over 3,200 rushing yards and 36 rushing touchdowns the past two years... Had nine games with over 100 rushing yards in 2011... Led the Mountain West Conference in rushing in both his freshman and sophomore seasons and ranked fourth nationally with 1,711 rushing yards in 2011.

Negatives -- Undersized scat back who can get overwhelmed at the point of attack, really has a hard time pushing larger defenders back and struggled against elite defenses... Struggles in pass protection, simply isn't big enough to anchor against NFL sized linebackers... Made the surprising choice to declare after his redshirt sophomore season, should have returned to add bulk to his frame... Has limited upside, likely nothing more than a situational back who will contribute most on passing downs... Struggled in big games, had only 55 yards against TCU, eight yards against Boise State, and 55 yards in the New Orleans Bowl against Louisiana-Lafayette... Production will be brought into question for playing at San Diego State.

At San Diego State -- 2010: Played in all 13 games, starting eight times... First-team freshman All-American by the FWAA and PhilSteele.com and tabbed a second-team pick by Rivals.com... 2010 Mountain West Conference Freshman of the Year and a first-team all-MWC selection... His 1,532 yards are an MWC and SDSU freshman record... Beat the old freshman school record held by Marshall Faulk (1,429 - 1991)... MWC Offensive Player of the Week after scoring four, second-half touchdowns and running for 150 yards on 22 carries in the win over New Mexico State... Four TDs are a MWC freshman record, are the most by an Aztec since 2001 and tied for fifth in school single-game history... Spectacular outing at No. 25 Missouri, carrying 23 times for 228 yards and two scores... First Aztec to run for 200 yards in a game since 2003... Set a MWC single-game record for rushing yards by a freshman (No. 20 nationally in 2010)... Scored against the Tigers on runs of 75 and 93 yards... ## Cyrus Gray Scouting Report

Cyrus Gray – Texas A&M (HT: 5-10<sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 206)

Positives -- Good speed and acceleration, can get to the corner... Has a strong lower body, tough to wrap up at the knees... Shifty, has quick feet, can make the first guy miss in the hole... Good outside runner, follows his blockers... Great short area quickness, tough to contain... Runs low to the ground... Ideal fit in a zone blocking scheme with his patience and ability to make one cut... Solid vision, was the beneficiary of good blocking at Texas A&M but does a good job of finding the hole and letting things open up for him... Strong pass blocker, really anchors well and will attack his assignment... Good receiving ability, catches the ball away from his body and can pluck on the run, should be able to contribute heavily on passing downs... Does not have much tread on his tires after splitting the backfield with Christine Michael the past couple years... Has some added value as a kick returner... His versatility will appeal to teams looking for a guy who can play on any down.

Negatives -- More quick than fast, doesn't have an elite top speed, he's fast enough, but doesn't have that second gear to make him dangerous... Extends plays too far to the sideline, needs to cut up field quicker, will get trapped at the corner... Will dance a little too much behind the line of scrimmage, takes some negative yardage plays... Doesn't always fight for the extra yard, legs will go dead on contact at times... Is rather small, struggles to push larger defenders backwards at the point of attack... After ending his junior campaign with a string of seven consecutive 100-yard outings, he really fell off as a senior and didn't look like the same player, production and draft stock both fell as a result... Suffered a stress fracture in his left shoulder in 2011 which forced him to miss the final two games of his collegiate career.

At Texas A&M -- 2010: Earned honorable mention All-Big 12 accolades for the second consecutive season... Selected to the watch list for the Doak Walker Award... finished with 1,133 yards on 200 carries to become the first A&M player since 2003 to reach the millennium mark... after splitting time during the first six games of the regular season stepped up after an injury to Christine Michael to be one of the country's best running backs in the second half of the season... started the final seven games of the season, averaging 134.0 yards per game during the stretch with seven consecutive 100+ yard rushing games... clinched a fourth quarter comeback win over FIU with a 40-yard TD run... topped the century mark for the first time on the year at Kansas with 117 yards... scored two touchdowns with 102 yards against Texas Tech... followed up with a 122-yard performance with a touchdown in the upset win over Oklahoma... ran for 137 yards and set a season high with four rushing touchdowns on 28 carries at Baylor... helped the Aggies defeat No. 8 Nebraska with 137 yards on 26 carries... in the regular season finale at Texas, ran for a season-best 223 yards and a pair of touchdowns... Following the Texas win, honored as Big 12 Offensive Player of the Week and honorable mention Running Back of the Week honors from College Football Performance Awards... gained 100 yards on 20 carries against LSU in the Cotton Bowl.

A threat to take it the distance any time the ball touches his hands, had six runs of 40 or more yards as a senior in only 114 carries... Great leaping ability, posted a 40.5" vertical at his pro day... Former track and field star in high school... Strong blocker, really attacks and anchors well... Has very little tread on his tires after splitting the Utah State backfield with Robert Turbin... Runs through arm tackles... Secures the football well, doesn't expose the ball when he's running and doesn't appear to have any security issues... Very tough to track, can dip behind offensive linemen and explode up field and is a slippery runner... Highly productive when he gets carries, averaged 7.6 yards per carry as a senior... Good receiving ability, caught 38 career passes in limited playing time at Utah State... Smith's best football may still be in front of him.

Negatives -- Has a rather thin lower body and can get stood upright, struggles to push the pile forward, holds most of his strength in his upper body... Never carried the load and is better suited as a change of pace back... Has very short arms... Was never able to beat out Turbin for the starting gig at Utah State... Will extend plays too far to the outside and can get caught for negative yardage... Gets upright after he gets through the hole and takes some big hits... More fast than quick, doesn't have many ankle breaking moves, rather he prefers to lower his head and run straight ahead... Missed all but three games in the 2010 campaign after suffering a season ending foot injury... Will turn 24 before his rookie season after transferring from Eastern Arizona Junior College.

At Utah State -- 2010: Appeared in three games and made two starts before suffering season-ending foot injury in third game of season... Carried the ball 24 times for 153 yards and two TD's (51 ypg)... Also caught three passes for 23 yards... Posted season-highs in carries and rushing yards versus Idaho State with 12 rushing attempts for 86 yards. 2009: Played in all 12 games, starting six... Had 46 carries for 304 yards (6.3 ypc)... The 6.3 ypc average would have ranked tied for third on USU's single-season list but did not have the minimum 100 carries to qualify... Had 19 catches for 220 yards (11.6 ypc)... Scored four rushing TD's to go with two receiving TD's... Also added five kick returns for 109 yards (21.8 ypr) with a long of 29 yards... Top outing was eight carries for 100 yards (12.5 ypc) with two TD's against Southern Utah, adding two catches for 60 yards with a 54-yard TD catch, which came in the first quarter for his first USU TD and was his longest catch of season... The two rushing TD's were a 20-yard scamper and a 40-yard run, which was his longest of the season... The 100 rushing yards teamed with Robert Turbin's 104 rushing yards for USU's first running back tandem to both rush for 100 yards since 1989... Added two rushing TD's against Boise State... Other TD catch was against Hawai'i... Season-long 29-yard kick return came at New Mexico State... Signed with USU in December, 2008 and participated in spring drills.

Tauren Poole Scouting Report

Tauren Poole – Tennessee (HT: 5-10 – WT: 205)

Positives -- Runs with great pad level, makes him tough to bring down, seems to bounce off a lot of would-be tacklers and runs right through arm tackles... Good outside runner, cuts close to his blockers and has speed to outrun defenders at the next level... Solid inside runner who likes to initiate contact, finishes his runs well... Decisive, doesn't get caught behind the line much... Good vision, finds his running lane quickly and is able to make sharp cuts within the hole... Anchors well in pass protection and hits his assignments... Good receiving ability out of the backfield, shows the versatility to contribute on all three downs... Tennessee running backs have historically transitioned well to the NFL... A jack-of-all-trades type who doesn't do anything spectacular but is solid at almost everything... Had a great Shrine Week, looked like the best running back in attendance.

Negatives -- Not a great open field runner, doesn't have many moves at the second level and is more of a straight-line runner... Has just average speed and isn't very big, a below average athlete for an NFL running back... Has a hard time making the first man miss... Has a tendency to try to bounce everything to the outside, doesn't dance, but will try to get to the edge too often rather than heading up field... Battled through a hamstring injury this past year... Significantly reduced production as a senior, numbers fell across the board, only had 693 yards on the season and averaged 3.7 yards per carry after averaging 5.1 yards per carry as a junior... Not a game breaker, didn't have a single carry in 2011 over 30 yards... Struggled against premier competition, had rushing outputs of 18, 7, 70, 67, and 41 yards against Florida, Georgia, LSU, Alabama and Arkansas this year.

Ran for 70 yards vs. #1 LSU (10/15), most rushing yards vs. the top-ranked Tigers all season... Eighth-career 100-yard game, second of 2011 with 101 vs. Buffalo (10/1) on 17 carries, also made a 32-yard reception... Seventh-career 100-yard rushing game with 101 vs. Cincinnati (9/10) on 21 carries... Ran for 98 yards including 8-yd. TD vs. Montana (9/3) on career-high tying 24 carries. 2010: Earned AP All-SEC honorable mention accolades while starting all 13 games at tailback... ## Daniel Herron Scouting Report

Daniel Herron – Ohio State (HT: 5-9¾ – WT: 213)

Positives -- Compact power runner who lives up to his nickname "Boom," he really packs a punch... Slippery runner who gets through a lot of tacklers, has very good balance and is tough to knock off center... Runs low to the ground... Has some shiftiness to him... Strong upper body, sheds a lot of arm tackles with a good stiff arm... Does a good job of staying tight to his blockers when he cuts... Although he's not very fast, has good acceleration and gets to his top speed fairly quickly... Tough to contain in short areas... A willing pass blocker who takes on his assignments... Good finisher, always fighting for the extra yard...

Great receiving ability out of the backfield, displays soft hands and is a natural at setting up the screen... Split carries for his first few years at Ohio State so he hasn't been banged up much... Has no durability concerns... Despite the suspension last year, by all accounts is a hard worker and a good locker room guy with good intangibles.

Negatives -- A one-speed runner who lacks a second gear and has trouble getting to the corner at times... Will shuffle his feet too much at times rather than just planting and going up the field... Was always a power runner in college, but at his size he will struggle to run that way in the NFL, will not be able to run through linebackers at the next level... Missed the first six games of 2011 after being suspended as part of the Ohio State scandal, found the end zone just three times in seven games coming back from suspension compared to 16 TDs in 13 games as a junior... A bit of a 'tweener, will have hard finding a niche as an NFL runner... Has small nine inch hands which make it harder to hold onto the football.

At Ohio State -- Nicknamed "Boom," Dan Herron spent five seasons with the Buckeyes and was a four-year letterman (2008-11). He was named a team captain for the 2011 season by a vote of his peers even though he competed in only seven games. But that's a testament to Boom. The fact that he was named the team's most valuable player after playing in only seven games is further proof that he was not only a good guy, but a great player. He finishes his career with 2,869 career rushing yards to rank 10th all-time at Ohio State. His 33 touchdowns scored rank eighth all-time at Ohio State and he also caught 44 passes during his career. A 2010 first-team all-Big Ten Conference performer, Boom was twice honored as the Buckeyes' Rex Kern Award winner as the team's top offensive back (2009 and 2010). He topped 100 yards rushing six times. Ohio State was 22-4 in the 26 games Boom scored a rushing touchdown. He graduated in December 2011 with a degree in African-American studies. 2011: Boom sparked the Buckeyes with his return in the seventh game the 2011 season, topping 100 yards in each of his first three games back - all Ohio State wins - with a high of 160 in the win over Wisconsin. He finished the season with 675 yards rushing and three touchdowns. Also rushed for 100 or more yards against Illinois (114) and Indiana (141). He was named honorable mention all-Big Ten. 2010: Rushed for 1,155 yards and scored 16 touchdowns to earn his first-team all-Big Ten accolade. He rushed for a career high 190 yards in the win over Penn State, and he also rushed for 175 yards, including a school-record tying 89-yard rush, in the win over Michigan. He scored at least one touchdown in the final 12 games of the season, a streak that would end up reaching 13 consecutive games with a TD when he scored in his first game of 2011.

Terrence Ganaway Scouting Report

Terrence Ganaway – Baylor (HT: 5-11½ – WT: 239)

Positives -- Strong runner in short yardage situations, gets really low and has a strong build to push defenders backward... Huge body, really tough to tackle when he gets a head of steam going, becomes like a bowling ball... Has good build up speed considering his size... Can break the long run, does a good job of breaking tackles and when he gets to top speed and he is tough to chase down from behind... Great power back who will run right through arm tackles... Runs with good balance... Doesn't have a lot of miles on him, only has one year as a full-time starter so his best football should be ahead of him... Came out of nowhere to explode onto the scene as a senior, had just 114 career carries at Baylor prior to this year; in his senior season, had 1,547 yards and 21 touchdowns on the ground... Had some monster performances, including four games of over 180 yards on the ground and six multi-touchdown games... Ended his career on a strong note running for 200 yards and five touchdowns in the Alamo Bowl against Washington... High character, soft spoken off the field, but a true competitor on it, known as a hard worker... Has some NFL bloodlines, is the nephew of Jeremiah Trotter... Would be a great complementary back in a thunder and lightning situation.

Negatives -- Weight could be an issue in the NFL, needs to stay in shape... Lacks acceleration, takes him awhile to get to full speed... Has little to no suddenness to his game, is very much a straight line runner, has to gear down to change direction and doesn't make many people miss in the open field... Barely contributes in the passing game, is not versatile and should only be used on first and second downs... Just a marginal pass blocker, has the size, but not the technique... Played in a bit of a gimmicky offense at Baylor, took most of his handoffs out of the shotgun and defenses were often more concerned with stopping Robert Griffin than Ganaway which may have padded his statistics a little, often had huge holes to run through, a similar situation to the breakout year Alex Green had for Hawaii a year earlier.

At Baylor -- 2010: Played all 13 games as reserve junior running back... Totaled 295 yards and two touchdowns, along with four receptions for 44 yards and one kickoff return for 38 yards and TD... 295 rushing yards third on team, 6.4 yards-per-rush average tops among those with 30 or more carries... Earned first-team Academic All-District VI honors from ESPN/CoSIDA... Honored as first-team Academic All-Big 12 member... Named to Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll in fall 2010... Turned in one of most memorable plays of year with onside kick return for TD vs. Texas Tech (online clip on YouTube has more than 4.3 million views)... Ran for 42 yards on seven carries and had two receptions for 24 yards in season-opening win vs. Sam Houston State... Rushed for Baylor career-high 79 yards on eight rushes in win at Rice in fourth game... Returned onside kick 38 yards for touchdown in first quarter vs. Texas Tech in sixth game... Totaled 60 yards and two touchdowns in six carries at No. 19 Oklahoma State in 10th game. 2009: Played in all 12 games and earned one start in first season at Baylor in 2009... Sophomore transfer from Houston, totaled 200 yards rushing and team-high five rushing TDs on season... Added 37 yards receiving on two catches... Earned first Baylor letter... Selected to Baylor Dean's List for fall 2009 and spring 2010 and Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll for fall 2009 and spring 2010... Scored career-high three TDs on ground and had season-high 43 yards rushing in win over Northwestern State in third game... Ran for 35 yards on four carries (8.8 average) at Iowa State in sixth game... Also had 35 rushing yards and game-clinching TD in season-high 14 attempts in upset at Missouri in ninth game... Had season-long 22-yard rush in Missouri win... Started vs. No. 2 Texas in 10th game, ran for five yards and had one TD.

Chris Rainey Scouting Report

Chris Rainey – Florida (HT: 5-8<sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 180)

Positives -- Explosive speed, ran the second fastest 40-yard dash of all running backs at the combine and was a world-class sprinter for Florida's track and field team; 2008 All-American 4x100 meter relay sprinter... Has a lethal combination of moves at the second level that make him incredibly tough to track down and contain in short areas... Runs low, does a good job of dipping his pads while running into contact... Very smooth runner with good hip movement... Has experience returning punts and kicks and even returned a punt for a touchdown this past year... Spent his first three years as a hybrid wide receiver-running back and is adept at running routes out of the backfield or lined up in the slot... A versatile weapon in the mold of former Ole Miss and current Kansas City Chiefs running back Dexter McCluster.

Negatives -- Very small, can get swallowed up by larger defenders... A poor inside runner, really has little to no power and cannot push a pile... Thin frame, doesn't have much bulk... Gets impatient at times and will outrun his blockers... Likely nothing more than a situational back who will contribute on passing downs and as a big-play weapon out of the backfield... Has some character questions, allegedly sent threatening text messages to his ex-girlfriend which became public and was arrested in September 2010 for stalking... Small frame will make him susceptible to injuries... Can get taken down by simple arm tackles... Poor pass blocker, doesn't have the size nor strength to anchor and was typically asked to run routes in passing situations rather than block... Breaks everything to the outside, was able to get to the edge at the college level, but will be much more difficult in the NFL and will likely take a lot of negative yardage plays as a result... Never posted great numbers at Florida, only had 13 career rushing TDs despite seeing extended playing time for four years.

At Florida -- 2011: Appeared in 12 games, starting ten... Finished the season with 171 carries, 861 rushing yards, two rushing touchdowns, 31 receptions, 381 yards and two receiving touchdowns... First player in school history to lead the team in rushing yards, receptions, punt return yards and all-purpose yards... Joins Emmitt Smith as only Gators to lead team in rushing and receptions... Had three 100-yard rushing games in a row (119 vs. UAB, 108 vs. Tennessee, 105 at Kentucky)... He was the first UF running back to have three-consecutive 100-yard games since Fred Taylor did it in the final three games of the 1997 season... Blocked his school and SEC record sixth punt against OSU in the Gator Bowl... Had 16 carries for 71 yards and three catches for 31 yards in the Gator Bowl vs. OSU... Collected 90 rushing yards on 15 carries in a victory of Furman... Had a career-high rushing performance against the Gamecocks with 17 attempts for 132 yards with a long of 47 yards... Rushed for 105 yards on 15 carries in the Gators win over Kentucky... Against Kentucky, Jeff Demps (157 yds) and Chris Rainey (105 yards) became the first running back duo to surpass 100 yards in the same game since Rainey (142 yds) and Emmanuel Moody (116 yds) did so against The Citadel in 2008... Against Tennessee, he rushed for 108 yards and caught two passes for 104 yards with an 83-yard TD pass from John Brantley... Rushed 16 times for 119 yards and one TD and had three receptions for 43 yards with a long of 21 yards in the win over UAB... Had 11 carries for 79 yards and a TD off a 14-yard rush in the season opener win over FAU... He also compiled 67 receiving yards off six receptions and a touchdown off a 14-yard pass... He scored a 14-yard rushing TD, had a 14-yard TD reception and returned a blocked punt 22 yards for a TD against FAU and became the first Florida player in school history to score a rushing, receiving and return TD in a single game.

Vick Ballard Scouting Report

Vick Ballard – Mississippi State (HT: 5-10¼ – WT: 219)

Positives -- Good bulk, has a strong build... His speed seems to sneak up on people, isn't the fastest guy but he can outrun linebackers... Runs very low to the ground, keeps a low center of gravity and is tough to wrap up... Quick feet through the hole, shuffles his feet well... Wraps up the ball well when initiating contact... Does a good job of changing speeds when he's running... Good burst through the hole, gets his first ten yards quickly... Should be a better NFL runner than he was in college, is more of a between the tackles type back who was asked to run outside a lot in college due to Mississippi State running an option-style offense... Finishes his runs well, explodes into defenders and attacks for the first down... Keeps his legs moving on contact... Good vision, finds the hole well and should be a solid contributor near the goal line... Does a good job of catching with his hands and should be able to contribute on passing downs... Great production competing in the toughest conference in college football, ran for over 2,000 yards and 29 touchdowns combined over the past two years.

Negatives -- Dances too much before heading up the field, will get caught behind the line of scrimmage... Needs to be more decisive, seems to hesitate before hitting the hole... Struggles in the open field and is more of a straight line runner; he will often try to leap over defenders or he'll initiate contact, which works at the collegiate level but likely won't in the NFL... Poor in pass protection, will lunge at defenders and doesn't always attack his assignments... A bit of a late bloomer, signed with Jackson State before ending up at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College for two years and then played his final two years at Mississippi State... Number of rushing touchdowns were almost cut in half from his junior to senior year (19 to 10).

At Mississippi State -- 2010: Set a new school record with 20 total touchdowns and 19 rushing touchdowns... Posted 968 rushing yards on only 186 attempts, an average of 5.2 yards per carry... Also caught 10 passes for 106 yards and a score... Opened the season with 12 touchdowns in the first six games... Earned his first start in Week 3 at LSU... Had a breakout game with eight carries for 119 yards and three touchdowns against Alcorn State... Rushed 14 times for 134 yards and three more scores at Houston the following week... Carried 20 times for 98 yards against Florida... Suffered a leg injury against the Gators which held him out the following week... Returned to action with 14 carries for 103 yards against Kentucky... Set career highs with 33 rushes for 150 yards and three touchdowns against Arkansas... Carried 20 times and scored three touchdowns in the Gator Bowl victory over Michigan. Junior College: Named first-team junior college All-America by National Junior College Athletic Association... Rushed for 1,728 yards and 22 touchdowns during his sophomore season... Finished season fourth nationally with 144.0 yard-per-game average... Also named to the 2009 MACJC South All-State First Team Offense and named the 2009 MACJC Most Valuable back... Helped lead Gulf Coast to a 9-3 record and a No. 8 national ranking in 2009... Rushed 84 times for 555 yards (6.6 ypc) and 12 touchdowns as a freshman in 2008.

Edwin Baker Scouting Report

Edwin Baker – Michigan State (HT: 5-8 – WT: 204)

Positives -- Short compact runner with a strong lower body... In the same mold as former Michigan State and current Tennessee Titans running back Javon Ringer... Shifty runner who can elude tacklers in the hole, has some shake and bake ability... Has enough speed to outrun linebackers and get to the corner... Strong and is capable of running through arm tackles, gets very low and pushes through defenders... Good balance through the hole, tough to knock off center... Looked like a top talent during his sophomore season... Great inside runner, runs with good forward lean and keeps his legs moving on contact... Strong character, a workout warrior and a leader... No significant injury history, hasn't missed a game in either of the previous two seasons.

Negatives -- Production severely dropped off as a junior, saw his rushing yards decrease from 1,201 in 2010 down to 665 in 2011... Touchdowns fell from 13 to five from 2010 to 2011... Averaged under four yards per carry last year, a huge drop off from the past two years... Declared for the draft early with the reasoning that he didn't want to get hurt and could have a worse year, not exactly the type of confidence NFL teams want to see coming off his worst year of his career to date... Lost most of his playing time to Leveon Bell, seems like a similar situation to John Clay declaring last year after losing most of his carries to Montee Ball... An indecisive runner who chops his feet and doesn't head up field as quickly as you would like... Not a game breaker, didn't have a single run over 25 yards this past season... Rarely used in the passing game... Not a great pass blocker despite having the strength to be above-average... A one-dimensional back who should only be used in short yardage situations and as a between-the-tackles runner.

At Michigan State -- 2011: Ranked second on the team in rushing with 665 yards on 170 carries (47.5 ypg.) and five touchdowns... also had five receptions for 60 yards (12.0 avg.) and one receiving touchdown... compiled 31 rushing yards on nine carries against Wisconsin in the Big Ten Championship Game, including an 8-yard touchdown run in the first quarter... scored two rushing touchdowns and collected 34 yards on the ground on 10 carries against Indiana... had his first career touchdown reception with a diving 17-yard grab in the first quarter at Iowa that put MSU up 14-0 in the eventual 37-21 victory over the Hawkeyes; also rushed for 51 yards on 13 carries (3.9 avg.)... recorded his first 100-yard rushing game of the season and sixth of his career, with 26 carries for 167 yards and a touchdown against Michigan; in two career games against U-M, Baker rushed 48 times for 314 yards (157.0 yards per game) and two TDs... collected 49 yards on 16 carries (3.1 avg.) vs. Central Michigan... had nine carries for 50 yards (5.6 avg.), including a 9-yard touchdown run, against Florida Atlantic... rushed for 91 yards on 15 carries (6.1 avg.) in season opener against Youngstown State... had 10 yards on six carries in the win over No. 18 Georgia in the 2012 Outback Bowl... three-year letterwinner finished his Spartan career with 2,293 rushing yards on 462 carries (5.0 avg.; 65.5 ypg.)... played in 35 games, including 21 starts... rushed for 19 career touchdowns... had six career 100-yard rushing games.

Brandon Bolden Scouting Report

Brandon Bolden – Mississippi (HT: 5-10 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 222)

Positives -- Smooth runner, looks like a natural and as if things come easy for him... Great size and strength at the point of attack, really tough to tackle... Runs with good forward lean, keeps his balance... Good lower body explosion, had a 38" vertical at the combine, second best of all running backs in attendance... Has a large upper body and a strong stiff arm to shake off tacklers... Looks like he could be a better NFL runner than college runner... Good fit for a zone blocking scheme as a cut back runner... Finishes his runs really well, keeps his legs moving on contact and fights for extra yardage... Appears to have soft hands and the ability to catch swing passes out of the backfield... Doesn't have much tread on his tires... Averaged six yards per carry as a junior playing a grueling SEC schedule... Should be a good complementary back who can carry the ball near the goal line.

Negatives -- Has put up only marginal production at Ole Miss, never had a 1,000 yard season and his numbers significantly regressed as a senior, only ran for 472 yards this year... Lacks a second gear and doesn't have any sort of breakaway speed, ran poorly at the combine... A straight line runner, doesn't have much shake and bake ability... Struggles in pass protection, takes poor angles and doesn't attack his assignment... Lacks patience and will outrun his blockers... Extends plays to the sideline too far... Never had to carry the load at Mississippi and may not be tailored to be an NFL bell cow... Comes with character concerns, was suspended in the past.

At Mississippi -- 2011: Named Jackson Touchdown Club Ole Miss Most Valuable Senior... Team captain... Played in 10 games with four starts... Finished second on the team with 96 carries for 462 yards and four rushing touchdowns... Earned fourth letter... Slightly fractured his ankle in the season opener and missed the Southern Illinois game... vs. BYU (9/3): Carried the ball four times for 21 yards before being injured... at Vanderbilt (9/17): Returned from injury to rush for 39 yards on eight carries and catch two passes for 20 yards... Also recorded a pair of tackles... vs. Georgia (9/24): Rushed five times for two yards, caught a pass for 13 yards and made one tackle... at Fresno State (10/1): Carried the ball six times for 43 yards and two touchdowns... Also completed one pass for five yards... at Kentucky (11/5): Rushed for a team-high 66 yards on 13 carries while catching four passes for 29 yards... vs. Louisiana Tech (11/12): Carried the ball 14 times for 46 yards, while catching two passes for 66 yards, including a season-long 34-yard touchdown catch in second start of the season... vs. LSU (11/19): Carried the ball 13 times for 58 yards in start... at Mississippi State (11/26): Rushed for 15 yards on six carries in start... Preseason: Named to the preseason Doak Walker Award Watch List... Chosen preseason All-SEC third team by Athlon and Phil Steele... Named the SEC's Best Blocking Back by Birmingham News (SEC SIDs)... ## Lennon Creer Scouting Report

Lennon Creer – Louisiana Tech (HT: 5-11 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 219)

Positives -- Good frame, has a strong upper body and huge legs which make him tough to bring down, really fights through arm tackles... Utilizes a strong stiff arm to get off defenders... Great balance, has an uncanny ability to stay upright while absorbing contact... Quick feet through the hole, cuts very well; is a natural runner, looks smooth... A good fit for a zone blocking scheme... Good receiving ability, should be able to contribute in passing situations... A willing pass blocker... Was named Most Valuable Player of the Shrine Game, ran 15 times for 80 yards including a nine yard touchdown run with 47 seconds left, lifting the West to a 24-17 victory... Was later invited to the Senior Bowl, had a great All-Star circuit and moved up a lot of draft boards in the process.

Negatives -- Lacks a second gear, has just average speed, looks faster on film mostly because of the level of competition he's playing against, will have a hard time out-running NFL defenders... Would like to see him shift speeds, always seems to be running at the same pace which makes him somewhat predictable... Runs a bit upright which makes him susceptible to big hits and he may have some fumbling problems in the NFL... Lacks burst and explosion at the second level, doesn't have any suddenness to make him dangerous in the open field... Would like to see him run between the tackles more, tries to break too many runs to the outside... Doesn't always get good forward push when being tackled, can get knocked backwards... Suffered an injury in a November game against Mississippi and was forced to miss Louisiana Tech's final three games, including the Poinsettia Bowl... Production should seriously be brought into question, failed to dominate even WAC competition... Known for being a bit immature... Tennessee transfer who had to sit out the 2009 season, will turn 24 years old during his rookie season.

At Louisiana Tech -- 2011: Ran for 838 yards on 198 carries and nine touchdowns during the 2011 season, averaging 4.2 yards per carry and 83.8 yards per game... Also caught 18 passes for 93 yards and one touchdown... Recorded two solo tackles at Southern Miss (9/3) while intercepting a pass and returning it three yards and breaking up a pass... Tied a career-high three rushing touchdowns, including the game-winner in OT, as he ground out 177 yards on 32 carries and caught four passes for five yards in Tech's 48-42 overtime win over Central Arkansas (9/10)... Ran for 99 yards and a touchdown on 25 attempts and caught three passes for 13 yards while missing about a quarter of play due to an injury against Houston (9/17)... Ran the ball 24 times for 82 yards and a touchdown in a 26-20 overtime loss at Mississippi State (9/24)... Recorded his first career touchdown pass as he caught six passes for 34 yards and rushed 16 times for 63 yards against Hawai'i (10/1)... Ran the ball 12 times for 54 yards at Idaho (10/8) before leaving the game with an injury... Ran 17 times for 62 yards and his first touchdown in a month while also catching two passes for 17 yards at Utah State (10/22)... Registered his seventh career 100-plus yard rushing day with 112 yards on 31 carries and one touchdown while catching two passes for 17 yards against San Jose State (10/29)... Ran 17 times for 113 yards and one touchdown, including a season-long 53 yard TD run, in a 41-21 win at Fresno State (11/5)... Ran for 23 yards on seven carries at Ole Miss (11/12).

Davin Meggett Scouting Report

Davin Meggett – Maryland (HT: 5-8 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 211)

Positives -- Short and compact, very strong build, built like a bowling ball... Gets extremely low to the ground when he's running which makes him tough to tackle... Has NFL bloodlines, his father is former NFL running back and return specialist Dave Meggett... Short strider with quick feet, tough to contain in short areas... Doesn't have a ton of miles on him, never had 200 touches in a season... Does a good job of running through arm tackles... Strong character... Versatile back who can contribute as a receiver and is a strong pass blocker... Good open field runner who can change direction without gearing down which makes him tough to track down... Height and short legs will be a strength because it allows him to get so low to the ground... No durability issues, played in all 50 career games since his freshmen season at Maryland.

Negatives -- Never put up staggering numbers despite his physical gifts, only scored eight rushing touchdowns over the past two years and never had 1,000 yards... Surprisingly gets knocked backwards a lot despite his strong frame, doesn't seem to run with as much power as one would expect, perhaps because he tries to move laterally more often than he does vertically... An indecisive runner who doesn't always cut up the field... Has a great build and solid strength, but too often relies on his feet to get out of tackles, would like to see him lower his shoulder more and finish his runs... Dances too much behind the line of scrimmage... For a guy who is likely a situational back he does not have great speed, it's merely average which limits his potential.

At Maryland -- 2010: Led the team with a career-high 720 rushing yards on a career-best 5.7 yards-per-carry... second on the team with four rushing touchdowns... did not start, but joined Da'Rel Scott atop the depth chart at tailback all season... had eight offensive plays (six rushes/two receptions) of 20 or more yards, which was second on the team behind Torrey Smith's 15... earned the team's most improved offensive player award at the end of year banquet... averaged 13.1 ypr on eight carries against Navy (9/6) for a total of 105 yards, marking the first 100-yard game of his career... had a then career-long 67-yard run and had one touchdown against the Midshipmen... ran for 50 yards on eight carries against Morgan State (9/11)... had a team-high 30 yards on nine carries against West Virginia (9/18)... broke a career-long 76-yard run for a touchdown against FIU (9/25)... combined with Da'Rel Scott's 56-yard touchdown run, it was the first time the Terps had two 50-plus yard TD runs in the same season since 2001... went over the 1,000 career rushing-yards mark against FIU... led the team with 57 yards rushing, with a career-high tying 18 attempts, and added a 3-yd TD run against Duke (10/2)... had eight rushes for 29 yards against Clemson (10/16)... had a team-high 15 rushes for 39 yards against Boston College (10/23), the top-rated run defense in the ACC at the time... carried the ball 16 times for 94 yards against Wake Forest (10/30), including a 14-yard touchdown run, as the Terps totaled 261 yards on the ground... led the team with 70 rushing yards on just nine carries, a 7.8 ypr average, against Miami (11/6)... had a 37-yard run against the Hurricanes... posted 72 yards on 11 carries vs. FSU (11/20)... posted a career-high tying 114 all-purpose yards (team-high 52 receiving and 62 rushing) vs. East Carolina in the Military Bowl (12/29).

Alfred Morris Scouting Report

Alfred Morris – Florida Atlantic (HT: 5-9 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 219)

Positives -- Tough runner, has good size and strength... Runs well between the tackles, fights through contact and keeps his legs moving... Keeps a low center of gravity, very balanced through the hole and is tough to bring down... Natural grind-it-out runner who will get the tough yards... Terrific blocker, will be able to contribute on passing downs as both a receiver and a blocker, actually replaced a fullback at the Senior Bowl and might see some time there in the NFL... Legs are like tree trunks and he's tough to tackle low... Highly productive back who has ran for over 900 yards in each of the past three years including over 1,100 in two of the past three years... Ended his career with a string of five 100+ rushing games... Was impressive at the Shrine Game and then was invited and attended the Senior Bowl the next week as an injury replacement.

Negatives -- Lacks an extra gear and is limited by his lack of physical gifts... Not a home run threat... Struggled against BCS competition, only had 122 rushing yards on 39 carries in three games against BCS opponents as a senior... Not very quick, lacks suddenness and open field moves, tries to run over opponents rather than juking them which was effective in college but will be tougher in the NFL... Will struggle on the outside at the next level, simply doesn't have the speed to consistently get to the edge... Appears to be nothing more than a solid situational back up running back in the NFL... Rather undersized to convert to fullback which may be his best position.

At Florida Atlantic -- 2010: Ran for 103 yards in his first game... was held below the 100-yard mark the following three games... ran for 153 at ULM for the second time in five games and had a season high two scores... flirted with the mark versus FIU with 96 yards... tallied 143 yards when Florida Atlantic hosted Louisiana... added catching ability to resume with eight catches for 47 yards and a score... USF held him to a career low as a starter... scored a touchdown in seven of his last 11 games... sits in second place on the all-time career rushing list... moved into the spot at WKU... ## Bobby Rainey Scouting Report

Bobby Rainey – Western Kentucky (HT: 5-7 – WT: 207)

Positives -- Very short running back who runs well between the tackles... A workhorse, carried the ball 709 times over the past two years with 774 touches over that span... Tough to contain in space, has great quickness and change of direction ability... Good cutback ability, a decisive runner who can plant and head up field... Good patience, waits for his blockers... Great lateral agility, makes some ankle breaking moves in space... Above-average speed, can run away from linebackers... Put up ridiculous numbers over the past two years with back-to-back seasons of over 1,850 yards from scrimmage, broke Lerron

Moore's school record of 4,396 career rushing yards... Literally was the Western Kentucky offense the past two years... Versatile back who can contribute as both a runner and receiver... Good character guy... Runs angry, does a good job of initiating contact and even at his size has the ability to drive defenders backwards... Has some added value as a return specialist.

Negatives -- Small frame really limits his ability to contribute in the NFL... Doesn't have the bulk to be an every down back and is likely to be relegated to a reserve role... More quick than fast, doesn't have the elite speed to be a great scat back, but doesn't have the size to pound it in at the goal line makes him a bit of an unknown as far as how he'll be utilized at the NFL level... Might have too many miles on him, could be susceptible to injuries with the pounding he's already taken at the collegiate level... Level of competition will be questioned after dominating in the Sun Belt... Will struggle in pass protection at the NFL level when faced with having to chip linebackers and defensive ends, simply isn't big enough to anchor and will get pushed backwards.

At Western Kentucky -- 2010: Earned honorable-mention All-America honors from SI.com after finishing the year third in the nation in rushing, averaging 137.4 yards per game... Only Oregon's LaMichael James (144.3 ypg) and Connecticut's Jordan Todman (141.3 ypg) averaged more rushing yards... His efforts also earned him Sun Belt Conference Offensive Player-of-the-Year honors, and a selection to the all-league first team... Led the nation in carries, setting a new WKU record with 340 rushing attempts... Also finished second on the WKU single-season rushing list with 1,649 yards... Scored 15 rushing TDs - four shy of the school record... Rushed for over 100 yards in nine games, tying for the most 100-yard efforts ever by a Hilltopper runner... Also set a new school record with seven games of 150 or more rushing yards... Ran for a career-high 248 yards on a school-record 45 carries against Middle Tennessee... Had no fewer than 21 carries in a game all season, and ran the ball 30 or more times in four contests... Went for over 100 yards in each of the last six games, which puts him second in school history for consecutive 100-yard rushing games, two behind Antwan Floyd entering the 2010 season... Scored two touchdowns in six games, including each of the last four... In addition to leading the Sun Belt in rushing, he also ranked third in scoring (7.5 ppg), fourth in all-purpose yards (156.6 per game), and eighth in total offense (137.8 ypg)... All-purpose average also ranked 11th nationally... Enters his senior season ranked sixth on the WKU career rushing list with 2,847 yards.

Darrell Scott Scouting Report

Darrell Scott – South Florida (HT: 6-0½ – WT: 231)

Positives -- Big, bruising runner; a former top recruit who has a ton of untapped potential... Decent athleticism for his size, has some solid lateral agility to get around defenders... Displays good vision, finds his running lanes... Good playmaker who can break the long run, has deceptive build up speed... Good leg drive and push at the point of attack... Should be a good short-yardage back at the next level... Has some nice agility in the open field, can make a man miss... Finishes his runs well, really lowers his head and tries to get the extra yard... Consistent production, had between 11 and 19 carries in every game he played in last season as a junior for South Florida... Has fresh legs, never had 200 touches in a season, had 153 rushes in 2011 and 263 for his career.

Negatives -- Never dominated Big East play, only had two 100 yard outputs at South Florida... Old for his class, transferred from Colorado after the 2009 season and will turn 23 before the draft... Timed very poorly at the combine, did not appear explosive and was one of the slowest running backs in attendance... Gained weight in college and staying in shape may be an issue, would be good for him to shed some of his current weight to become more explosive... Struggled with nagging injuries throughout his college career... More of a two down back, hasn't been utilized as a receiver much with only 28 career receptions in three seasons... Just an average pass blocker, doesn't anchor well and can get pushed backwards despite his strong frame... Will lunge at linebackers rather than attacking... Struggles to break tackles, he'll fall forward, but when he gets wrapped up, he rarely gets out of it.

At South Florida -- 2011: Appeared in 11 games, starting eight, at running back... earned second-team All-Big East honors... rushed for 814 yards and five TDs on 153 carries (5.3 ypc)... averaged 74.0 yards per game, which ranked 64th nationally and fifth in the Big East... his 5.3 ypc average ranked second among Big East backs and 42nd nationally... added 15 receptions for 169 yards and a TD... posted five games with at least 80 yards, including two 100-yard games, despite never having more than 19 carries... posted 82 yards and a TD against Ball St... notched 146 yards and three TDs rushing and and 84-yard receiving TD against FAMU... tallied 87 yards and a TD against UTEP... rushed for 100 yards at Rutgers... added 94 yards rushing versus West Virginia. 2010: Sat out the 2010 season and has two years of eligibility remaining. At Colorado: Played in five games at Colorado during the 2009 season with 95 yards rushing, 35 yards receiving and 564 yards in kick returns... saw action in 11 games, including one start (Iowa State), in 2008... missed the Oklahoma State game with an ankle sprain... finished second on the team in rushing with 343 yards, picking those up on 87 carries for a 3.9 average per rush... scored one touchdown, the final points in CU's season-opening win over Colorado State... the 343 yards were the seventh-most by a freshman in school history for a single season... top games included Iowa State (19 rushes, 87 yards), Texas A&M (10-66) and CSU (11-54)... in the A&M game, had his season long rush of 42 yards... earned 18 first downs (14 rush, four receiving)... also hauled in nine catches for 105 yards (11.7 per), with a long grab of 38 yards on a trick play from Scotty McKnight.

Marc Tyler Scouting Report

Marc Tyler – USC (HT: 5-10<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 219)

Positives -- Big running back with deceptive speed... Was the top running back recruit in the country coming out of high school so you know he has tools... Has a strong build with a big upper body, sheds arm tacklers fairly easy... Will lower his shoulder when approaching contact... Good feet within the hole, chops his feet well and has some wiggle to him to shake the first defender... Does a great job of heading up field, doesn't dance too much... Has NFL bloodlines, father is former Rams/49ers running back Wendell Tyler... Has the ability to contribute on every down if he puts it all together... Good vision, finds the hole well... Patient runner who doesn't outrun his blockers... Displays good hands out of the backfield, wasn't utilized much as a receiver, but appears to have the ability to be a factor in the passing game.

Negatives -- Former top recruit who completely underwhelmed while at USC, never had a 1,000 yard season and struggled to hold the starting tailback job throughout his career... Lost weight prior to the combine and ran very poorly, reminiscent of John Clay from the 2011 draft who lost weight in hopes of increasing his speed but ran poorly and saw his stock plummet... Lost most of his carries at the end of his senior season in favor of Curtis McNeal... Has big character concerns, was suspended a game this season for making a joke in public about being paid by USC... Long strider and a one speed runner, doesn't have an extra gear, always seems to run at the same pace... Poor open field runner... Struggled with injuries throughout his career at USC, broke his leg in high school... Dislocated his left shoulder this past October in a game against California... A rugged runner who isn't very smooth... Will be a 24 year old rookie... Statistics may be a bit misleading considering he played behind perhaps the best offensive line in the country the past two years.

At Southern California -- 2010: Tyler made quite an impact as a junior in 2010 while starting 8 games at tailback. Overall in 2010 while appearing in all 13 games, he led USC in rushing with 913 yards on 171 carries (5.3 avg.) with 9 TDs, plus he had 17 receptions for 127 yards (7.5 avg.) with 1 TD and was 0-of-1 passing. His 10 total touchdowns were the most by a Trojan in 2010. He had 3 100-yard games in 2010. He rushed for a then-personal-best 154 yards on 17 carries (9.1 average) with a 44-yard TD against Hawaii in his first career start. He led USC with 67 yards on 18 carries against Virginia and he also caught 2 passes for 18 yards. He then had 33 yards on 9 tries with a short TD at Minnesota and 34 yards on 7 rushes with a short TD at Washington State. He added 60 yards on 14 carries (mostly out of the Wildcat formation) with 2 short touchdowns and he also had 2 receptions for 13 yards against Washington, then had 11 yards on 3 carries, plus caught a 10-yard pass and just missed completing a long bomb out of the Wildcat formation at Stanford. He ran for a game-best 79 yards on 7 carries (with an 11-yard TD out of the Wildcat formation) and caught a 24-yard pass against California. He led USC with 69 rushing yards on 17 carries with 2 short TDs against Oregon and he also caught 3 passes for 16 yards. He had a game-best 119 yards on 12 carries (9.9 avg.) and also led USC with 5 receptions for 32 yards (with a 15-yard TD) against Arizona State. He had a career-high and game-leading 160 yards on 31 carries (the most rushes by a Trojan since Sultan McCullough had 39 against California in 2002) with a short TD against Arizona (he also had a 16-yard reception). He had 34 yards on 11 carries along with a catch for -1 yard before spraining his ankle in the second quarter at Oregon State. He had 48 yards on 17 carries against Notre Dame, then added 45 yards on 8 rushes at UCLA.

Evan Rodriguez Scouting Report

Evan Rodriguez – Temple (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 239)

Positives -- Versatile player who can line up at fullback, H-Back and tight end... A natural receiver who catches the ball with his hands and doesn't let the ball get into his body... Solid speed and athleticism; great weapon in the passing game when lined up at H-Back, will chip a defender and run nice routes... Good blocker who attacks his assignment... Good role player potential, the type of guy who can contribute in a variety of ways and will be valuable to a team... Good overall athlete, ran a 4.58-40 at the combine, the fastest of all participating tight ends, and had a 36" vertical leap.

Negatives -- Strictly a blocker and receiver, was not utilized at all as a runner, only has one career carry for one yard... A tweener fullback-tight end who doesn't have the height that teams look for in a traditional tight end or the functional strength that teams look for in a traditional lead blocker... Played mostly in the backfield in college but will likely move to tight end at the next level.

At Temple -- 2011: Played in all 13 games with 12 starts... also played on the punt return and field goal units... Owls' top receiver with 35 catches for 479 yards and two touchdowns on the season... had two receptions for 52 yards in the bowl win over Wyoming... had 39 yards on two receptions in the win over Army... led the Owls with six receptions for 74 yards in the win over Miami... had three receptions for 26 yards and a touchdown at Ohio... had 64 yards and a career-long 55-yard touchdown reception against Toledo... led the Owls with five receptions for a career-high 96 yards in the win at Maryland... had two receptions for 14 yards against Penn State... top Owl with 37 yards on three receptions in the win at Akron... led the Owls with six receptions for 68 yards in the win over Villanova. 2010: Played in 11 games with nine starts... also played on the field goal, punt return, and kickoff return units... top tight end in receiving and third overall with 247 yards and two touchdowns on 21 receptions... made a 16-yard reception at Miami... had two receptions against Ohio... had three receptions for 28 yards in the win at Kent State... led the Owls with 41 yards on three receptions in the win at Buffalo... had a 46-yard touchdown reception in the win over Bowling Green... had a career-high 43 yards on three receptions, including a 31-yard touchdown reception, at Northern Illinois... had two receptions for 17 yards in the win at Army... had two receptions for 7 yards at No. 23/20 Penn State... had two receptions for 27 yards in the win over Connecticut... had two receptions for 14 yards in the win over Villanova. 2009: Played in all 13 games with seven starts... also played on the kickoff return unit... finished the season third in receptions with 145 yards and three touchdowns on 13 catches... led TU with two catches for 44 yards and a touchdown in the win over Kent State... made a 14-yard touchdown reception in the win at Eastern Michigan... scored his first touchdown -- a five-yard reception - in the win over Buffalo... had a 20-yard reception against Villanova in collegiate debut.

Emil Igwenagu Scouting Report

Emil Igwenagu – Massachusetts (HT: 6-1¼ – WT: 249)

Positives -- Big body, has a very strong build and massive arms... Decent speed and a solid athlete, had a 34.5" vertical at the combine... Good receiver, runs good routes out of the backfield; natural hands, doesn't drop many balls and adjusts well to poorly thrown balls... Long arms help him as a blocker and gives him a large catch radius... Still learning the position, so he has room to grow... Versatile, has played fullback, H-Back, linebacker and tight end over the past three years... Good intangibles, was a team captain for UMass.

Negatives -- Was not utilized much as a rushing threat, only had four carries for seven yards as a senior... Undersized for a tight end at 6'1", likely an H-Back candidate in the NFL... Needs to be used correctly; won't fit in every offense as he's not a great lead blocker and doesn't have the physical tools to line up consistently at tight end... Has small hands for his size... Didn't exactly dominate FCS competition.

At Massachusetts -- 2010: Team captain with with Tyler Holmes... Switched to No. 83 this season after wearing No. 24 as a redshirt freshman... Bradie Ewing – Wisconsin (HT: 5-11<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> - WT: 239)

Positives -- Good lead blocker, has great strength at the point of attack and will punish defenders... Does a good job in pass protection, will pick up his assignments and does a good job of anchoring... Solid receiver out of the backfield, caught 20 passes as a senior in a run dominant offense at Wisconsin... Strong intangibles, was a former walk-on who developed into a starter and is a leader in the locker room... Was the Badgers' Special Teams Player of the Year and an Academic All-Big Ten selection as a senior... Was the only true fullback at the Senior Bowl.

Negatives -- Just a B-athlete, doesn't have great speed or lateral quickness... Was never used much as a ball carrier and is nothing more than a short yardage specialist at the next level... Disappointed at the combine with only 14 reps of 225 lbs. on the bench press.

Chad Diehl – Clemson (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 257)

Positives -- Big body, very strong build, classic lead blocker type fullback who punishes his assignments... Has a great deal of strength and can simply push and shove linebackers out of the way... Does a good job in pass protection where he is able to find his assignment and anchors well... Contributes on special teams and can serve on coverage units in the NFL... Great short yardage blocker for goal line and I-form sets.

Negatives -- Simply wasn't used as a runner or a receiver, only had six career carries for eight yards and seven career receptions for 39 yards and never scored a touchdown in his four seasons at Clemson... Very one dimensional, strictly a blocker... Lacks lateral movement skills and is best in a lead blocking role up the middle... Has some injury concerns, broke his leg in 2007 and was granted a medical redshirt.

At Clemson -- 2010: Hustle Award (offense) winner... Dedication Award winner... had two carries for four yards, four catches for 13 yards, and 13 yards on one kickoff return in 322 snaps over 13 games (10 starts)... had 34 knockdowns... had a carry against Presbyterian College and a carry against Maryland... had two catches for eight yards against Georgia Tech and one catch for four yards at Florida State... had a catch against #17 South Carolina... had five knockdowns at #15 Auburn... had five knockdowns against #16 Miami (FL)... had six knockdowns at Boston College... had four knockdowns against #23 N.C. State... won the Dedication Award for offensive players for his work in the weight room. 2009: Played 184 snaps and had three carries and two receptions... had 17 snaps and five knockdown blocks in the win over Kentucky in the Music City Bowl, he received great attention for his blocking in that game from the ESPN announcers... had three kickoff returns in 2009 on short kicks as opponents tried to avoid first-team All-America return specialist C.J. Spiller... had two rushes for five yards against Wake Forest... consistently received film grades in the 80s from his coaches for his blocking. 2008: Played 162 snaps, but did not carry the ball on a running play; he was a lead blocker for many first downs gained by James Davis and C.J. Spiller... touched the ball three times; he had a six-yard catch against The Citadel, an 11-yard kickoff return against N.C. State, and a 13-yard kickoff return against #24 Florida State... had 18 knockdown blocks, including a season-high five against S.C. State... a key to Clemson's running-game success against South Carolina when he played 33 snaps... had four starts, all away from home... played 12 snaps as a reserve against Nebraska in the Gator Bowl. 2007: Red-shirted... his year was cut short by a broken leg suffered against Furman, as he received a medical red-shirt... played just eight snaps on offense in three games, but he was a valuable special teams player.

Drake Dunsmore Scouting Report

Drake Dunsmore – Northwestern (HT: 6-2 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 241)

Positives -- Terrific receiving threat, played more tight end in college than fullback; can be a weapon running routes out of the backfield, has enough speed to be a mismatch against linebackers... Looks like an oversized wide receiver, can make the acrobatic catch... Very strong build, has a large upper body... Led the Big Ten in receiving amongst tight ends and was a semifinalist for the John Mackey Award... Good athlete, ran a 4.64-40 at the combine and had a 35.5" vertical.

Negatives -- Too small to play tight end at the NFL level, is more of an H-Back type who can run routes out of the backfield... Below average blocker for someone who will earn time in the backfield in the NFL, isn't a lead blocking type... Lacks lower body strength and doesn't appear to have the necessary strength to anchor against larger linebackers... Comes with injury concerns; was hurt a lot in college, had a season ending knee injury in 2008.

At Northwestern -- 2011: Starting superback who played in 50 career games with 29 starts... Tabbed the Big Ten's Kwalick-Clark Tight End of the Year... Consensus first-team All-Big Ten selection (coaches and media)... Named a John Mackey Award semifinalist (one of eight) on Nov. 14... Also named to the Pony Express Award watch list (honors nation's top top two- or three-player tandems)... Closed career with 14 TD receptions, which ranks fourth on NU's career receiving TD list, and 1,425 receiving yards... Team's second-leading receiver with 45 catches and 522 yards... Ranked among the nation's top tight ends with six TD receptions... Had one of his top career performances at Indiana: seven catches for 112 yards and a school-record four TD receptions... Also tied IU's Memorial Stadium record with his four TD catches... Named the John Mackey Tight End of the Week and the Big Ten's Offensive Player of the Week, as well as NU's offensive player of the week, for his Indiana performance... In that game, became NU's receiving yardage leader for a tight end (he secured the record on his 10-yard TD grab in the second quarter)... Caught two passes (for 10 yards) at Boston College, which gave him an even 100 receptions for his career... ## Cody Johnson Scouting Report

Cody Johnson – Texas (HT: 5-11 – WT: 250)

Positives -- Hybrid RB-fullback who can run the ball between the tackles effectively; a grinder who gets the tough yardage... Can be utilized as a short yardage specialist in the NFL... Has solid speed for a man of his size... Runs low to the ground, has a nice center of gravity... Huge body, has a lot of strength and can push people backwards; gives good effort in pass protection, needs some technique work but has the frame to improve as a blocker.

Negatives -- Very much a straight line runner with limited lateral movement skills; simply tries to run through defenders... Has a limited role in the NFL due to his lack of athleticism and polish... Hasn't been utilized much as a receiver and hasn't shown consistent hands... Below average lead blocker, has mostly been used as a runner... Production fell off as a senior, led the Longhorns in rushing with 592 yards on 134 carries as a junior but had only 200 yards on the ground as a senior, the lowest output of his career.

At Texas -- 2011: Started in 10 contests and played in all 13 games... received honorable mention All-Big 12 honors... earned UT's D.X. Bible Most Team Spirited (Offense), and D. ## Brad Smelley Scouting Report

Brad Smelley – Alabama (HT: 6-1 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 233)

Positives -- Reliable receiver, the type of guy that quarterbacks look for rolling out on third down... Has nice soft hands, doesn't drop the ball... A versatile player who is likely to settle in as an H-Back at the next level... A converted high school quarterback, has played H-Back and tight end at Alabama; he has a strong understanding of offensive systems and has experience in different roles... Good blocker, a committed player who gives 100 percent on every play and his effort compensates for his lack of overall strength... Good role player potential.

Negatives -- A B-athlete, doesn't have the speed or lateral quickness to stand out at the next level... Lacks suddenness and will struggle to create separation when running routes... Doesn't have the ideal size teams look for out of a tight end or a fullback, is a bit of a tweener... Can get overpowered, doesn't have the strongest frame to consistently hold up as a blocker.

At Alabama -- 2011: Brad Smelley has taken over at H-Back for Alabama as a senior... has been productive with 27 catches for 317 yards and four touchdowns... 21 of his 27 catches (77.8 percent) have helped the Crimson Tide offense convert a first down... tied for second on the Tide squad with 27 receptions... also has one rushing first down on a fake punt... has started nine games while playing in all 12... averaging 11.7 yards per reception... also helps the Tide on special teams, starting on the kickoff team and the field goal and extra point teams... has 10 receptions for 144 yards and three touchdowns in the last two games. Penn State: Executed a fake punt for a critical first down early in the Tide's 27-11 win at the No. 23 Nittany Lions... also caught two passes for 18 yards. Ryan Houston – North Carolina (HT: 6-2 – WT: 245)

Positives -- Converted tailback with great natural running instincts, does a great job of running between the tackles; a patient runner who will let the play develop... Big body with great lower body strength, will lower his pad level and simply run through defenders... Will be a solid short yardage option in the NFL; good finisher, really punishes defenders trying to bring him down... At North Carolina -- A bruising runner who led the team in yards as a junior in 2009... Returns for his senior season after redshirting last year... Was cleared in the NCAA/UNC investigation after five games, but elected to redshirt to have a full year of eligibility in 2011. 2009: Started the final four games of the season, including the Meineke Car Care Bowl vs. Pitt, after Shaun Draughn was lost for the season to a shoulder injury... Posted career highs of 164 yards rushing on 37 carries and added 15 yards receiving on three catches against Duke... The 164 yards were the most by a Tar Heel since Chad Scott went for 175 against Miami in 2004... The 37 carries were the most for Carolina since 1990... Ran for 55 yards on the fourth-quarter touchdown drive that sealed the win... Matched a then-career high with 18 carries and ran for a then-season-best 66 yards at Virginia Tech... Carried four times for six yards against Florida State... Ran for a then-season-best 56 yards and a career-high three touchdowns (1, 7 and 1 yards) against Georgia Southern... ## Justin Blackmon Scouting Report

Justin Blackmon – Oklahoma State (HT: 6-0 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 207)

Positives -- Strong player, is able to shield defenders with his arms... Great hands, catches everything thrown to him... Very tough, will work the middle of the field and fights for the football... Runs well after the catch... Good body control when he's in the air, adjusts to the ball very well... Has a good vertical jump, makes a lot of acrobatic catches... A natural catcher who can pluck the ball on the run and effortlessly catches the ball away from his body... Unreal production, 232 catches for 3,304 yards and 38 touchdowns over the past two years... Nobody has proven capable of slowing him down, never gets shut down, had at least six catches in every game in 2011... Ended his career on a high note with eight catches for 186 yards and three touchdowns in the Fiesta Bowl against Stanford... Compares to current Baltimore Ravens receiver Anquan Boldin, has put up bigger numbers than former Oklahoma State wideout Dez Bryant, who transitioned well to the NFL... Gives 100 percent on the field, a great competitor... Ran a 4.46-40 with a 35" vertical and 10'4" broad jump at his pro day, and solidified his status as the top wide receiver in this draft.

Negatives -- Not a great route runner, needs to work on making sharper cuts to get separation in man coverage... Game speed doesn't equate to pro day speed, has just average speed and may struggle getting deep separation, can physically dominate defensive backs but doesn't beat them with speed... Although he catches everything, he does have rather small hands at 9 $\frac{1}{4}$ " inches... Played in Oklahoma State's spread offense which focused on getting him the ball and inflated his statistics... Received a DUI in October, 2010 which resulted in a one game suspension.

At Oklahoma State -- 2010: Had at least a 29-yard reception in every game and at least 105 receiving yards in every game with a touchdown catch in every game as well... Along with 20 touchdown receptions, he also scored on a blocked punt return (vs. Washington State) and on a 69-yard run vs. Baylor (OSU's longest run from scrimmage in 2010)... Averaged 16.1 yards per reception... Had three touchdown catches against Washington State and Tulsa... Had two TD grabs vs. Troy, Louisiana, Nebraska and Arizona... His receiving yardage totals included 125 vs. Washington State, 132 against Troy, 174 against Tulsa, 127 against Texas A&M, 190 vs. Louisiana (ninth-best total in OSU history), 207 vs. Texas Tech (eighth-best total in OSU history), 157 vs. Nebraska, 173 vs. Baylor, 145 at Texas, 130 vs. Kansas, 105 against OU (despite playing while injured) and 117 vs. Arizona... Had 24 catches of at least 20 yards and 10 of 40 yards or more .. His NCAA-best 148.5 receiving yards per game was 14 yards better than anyone else in the country...

Michael Floyd Scouting Report

Michael Floyd – Notre Dame (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 220)

Positives -- Has a good mix of size and build up speed... A legit deep threat who can get behind the secondary... Good initial burst off the line of scrimmage... Gets into his routes quickly... Solid runner in the open field, strong and can shed tacklers and also has some wiggle to him... Put up big numbers as a senior with 100 catches for 1,147 yards and nine touchdowns... Willing to make catches in the middle of the field... Catches the ball at its highest point... Good red zone target, big frame and can out jump smaller defenders in the end zone... Has knowledge of how pro-style offenses work after playing for Charlie Weis his first two seasons... Regarded higher than former teammate Golden Tate who was a 2010 second round pick... Graduated from famed Cretin-Derham Hall in St. Paul, Minn. which has put out multiple sports stars (Joe Mauer, Paul Moliter, Matt Birk, Chris Weinke).

Negatives -- Has had some fumbling issues in the past, carries the ball too far away from his body after he catches it... Not very explosive, is more of a slow-twitch athlete... May carry too much weight for his frame, lacks some flexibility and big play ability... Will be more of a possession receiver at the next level, had only three receptions over the past two years that went for over 35 yards... Had some leg issues during his freshman season... Missed time in 2009 due to a broken collarbone... In March, 2011, was charged with drunken driving after failing three field sobriety tests and a breathalyzer test indicated he had a blood-alcohol level more than twice the legal driving limit... It was his third alcohol related offense since 2009 and second in 14 months.

At Notre Dame -- 2010: Started 12 games for the Irish (did not play against Navy)... registered 13 catches of 20 yards or more... 55 of 79 catches resulted in a touchdown or first down... 17 of 20 receptions on third down plays resulted in a touchdown or first down... totaled 1,025 yards receiving on 79 receptions... registered 12 receiving touchdowns... the 79 catches ranked second in single-season school history, while his 12 touchdowns tied for fourth most in a season and his 1,025 receiving yards ranked seventh... despite sitting out much of the third and fourth quarters versus both Western Michigan and Miami (Fla.), totaled 44 receptions for 558 yards and nine touchdowns in the final six games of 2010... ranked 15th in the FBS in receptions per game (6.58), 21st in the FBS in receiving yards per game (85.42) and 29th in the FBS in total receiving yards (1,025)... hauled in five receptions for 82 yards, including a 34-yard grab in the victory over Purdue in the season opener... totaled 66 yards on five catches against Michigan... recorded his first two touchdown catches of the season at Michigan State, grabbing seven and 24-yard passes from Dayne Crist... added 110 yards on eight receptions against Stanford... registered four receptions for 69 yards, including a 35-yard grab in the victory at Boston College... caught seven passes for 59 yards and one touchdown in the triumph over Pittsburgh... hauled in three touchdown passes against Western Michigan, one of which was on Notre Dame's first offensive play from scrimmage... finished with nine catches for 157 yards against the Broncos... collected 11 catches for 104 yards and two touchdowns against Tulsa... registered a touchdown catch in the second quarter of the win over Utah... posted a touchdown catch in four straight games (Pittsburgh, Western Michigan, Tulsa and Utah) and totaled seven touchdown grabs in the stretch... recorded four receptions for 39 yards against the Utes... registered three catches for 63 yards, including a 33-yard grab and a nine-yard run (his only rush of the season) versus Army... collected 11 receptions for 86 yards in the victory at USC... recorded six catches for 109 yards and two touchdowns in the Hyundai Sun Bowl victory over Miami (Fla.)... named C.M. ## Kendall Wright Scouting Report

Kendall Wright – Baylor (HT: 5-10¼ - WT: 188)

Positives -- Game breaking speed, in the same mold as Eagles WR Desean Jackson... Gets to full speed almost instantaneously... Great runner after the catch, has elite speed and lateral quickness to get away from would-be tacklers... Has an uncanny ability to get behind the defense, makes a lot of plays down the field... Has the ability to turn the ten yard cross into a 50 yard touchdown, explosive play maker... Good body control, adjusts well to the ball when it's in the air and plays the boundaries well... Great leaping ability, can go up and high point the ball... Works the middle of the field extremely well, makes him a dangerous weapon out of the slot position... Has good hands, doesn't drop many balls... Can lineup outside or in the slot, and has experience taking handoffs... Completely blew up his senior year, had 108 catches for 1,663 yards and 14 touchdowns which were by far career highs... Had catches of 40 or more yards in six games as a senior... Can return punts.

Negatives -- Undersized receiver who lacks bulk, struggles as a run blocker... Benefitted by having one of the best quarterbacks in the country throwing to him, in a spread offense, so his numbers may be inflated a bit... Ran poorly at the combine and his stock will likely drop as a result, but he does appear faster than his timed speed on tape... Receivers his size usually fall out of the first round... A bit raw as a route runner, has the quickness and lateral agility to be a great route runner, but isn't there yet... Didn't deal much with press coverage in the Big 12, could be an issue when transitioning to the NFL, his small frame will make it easier for corners to jam him off his route.

At Baylor -- 2011: Played all 13 games, started 12 at inside receiver and earned All-America and All-Big 12 honors... Ranked third nationally and led Big 12 with 1,663 (127.9 ypg) receiving yards... Ranked seventh nationally and second in Big 12 with 8.3 receptions-per-game... Totaled nine 100-yard games... Set or tied 16 school records: [six career - receptions (302), receiving yards (4,004), receiving TDs (30), 100-yard games (19), 200-yard games (2), all-purpose yards (4,479), consecutive games with reception (50); seven single-season - receptions (108), receiving yards (1,663), receiving TDs (14), 100-yard games (9), all-purpose yards (1,772), consecutive games with reception (13); three single-game - receptions (12, tied), receiving yards (208) and receiving TDs (3, tied)]... In addition to 108 receptions and 1,663 yards (15.4 yards-per-catch), rushed 10 times for 72 yards (7.2 yards-per-rush), had five punt returns for 37 yards... Also completed 2-of-3 passes for 55 yards and one touchdown... Tied school record with 12 receptions for 189 yards and two touchdowns in season-opening win over No. 14 TCU... Also completed 2-of-2 passes for 55 yards, including 40-yard TD and 15-yard pass on 3rd-and-10 to extend eventual game-winning drive... Had eight catches for 123 yards and one touchdown in win over SFA in second game... Hauled in 11 catches for 108 yards and one TD in win over Rice... Broke school record with 201 receiving yards on nine catches and school-record tying three TDs at No. 14 Kansas State... K-State game was sixth straight 100-yard receiving game, dating back to 2010... Caught eight passes for 69 yards and one TD in win over Iowa State... ## Alshon Jeffery Scouting Report

Alshon Jeffery – South Carolina (HT: 6-2 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 216)

Positives -- Big body, is capable of shielding even the biggest corners from the ball... A great red zone target due to his size and leaping ability... Smooth athlete who makes some of the toughest catches look routine... Special player down the field, has great body control and a terrific vertical leap... Has a huge catch radius, throw the ball anywhere around him and he'll make a play on it... A load to bring down when he gets to full speed, has some run after the catch ability... Has the size and strength to be a good run blocker, should continue to develop in this area in the NFL... Has massive 10 $\frac{1}{4}$ " hands, can make the circus catch and one handed grabs... Ended his career on a high note by putting up 148 yards in three quarters against Nebraska in the Capital One Bowl, including a 51-yard Hail Mary catch for a touchdown at the end of the first half... Came to the combine in better shape than expected, appears willing to work hard to stay in shape... Drop off in production as a junior may not be a full reflection on him, South Carolina had some atrocious quarterback play all season and their star running back Marcus Lattimore went out for the season with a left knee injury so teams were more focused on stopping Jeffery.

Negatives -- At South Carolina was mostly asked to run vertical routes and doesn't have a developed route tree... Fails to gain separation at the collegiate level on underneath routes and with double moves... Has some problems with press coverage, doesn't have quick feet off the line and will let corners get into his body which will knock him off his routes... A long strider with good build up speed but lacks initial quickness... Will let the ball get into his body, doesn't always attack the football with his hands... Production fell off completely from his sophomore to junior season, went from 88 receptions, 1,517 yards and nine touchdowns down to 49, 762, and eight and he did play in every single game as a junior... Still very raw, tough to tell if he's the next Calvin Johnson or if he'll be the next Mike/Reggie Williams, will be very dependent on his work ethic and the offense he falls into... Considering how talented he is, he should have stood out more during his junior season, failed to make an impact in most of South Carolina's games... Was ejected in South Carolina's bowl game vs. Nebraska for retaliating after Alfonzo Dennard threw a punch during a scuffle.

At South Carolina -- 2010: One of three finalists for the Biletnikoff Award, presented to nation's top receiver... first-team All-America as selected by AFCA, FWAA, Phil Steele and ESPN.com... unanimous first-team All-SEC selection... set the single-season school records in both receptions (88) and receiving yards (1,517)... led the SEC in receiving yards per game (108.4) and was second in receptions per game (6.29)... had eight games with 100+ yards receiving... Had seven catches for 106 yards vs. Southern Miss... posted an almost identical line vs. Georgia with seven grabs for 103 yards... just missed a third-straight 100-yard game with 97 on five catches vs. Furman... had the fourth-best receiving game in Carolina history with 192 yards and two touchdowns on eight receptions at Auburn, including a 69-yard reception... logged a seven-catch, 127-yard performance against Alabama, including a highlight-reel one-handed grab on the sideline with a defender grabbing his jersey... hauled in a career-high nine passes for 158 yards at Vanderbilt, including a season-long 72-yard touchdown reception in the fourth quarter to seal the win... had three catches for 87 yards vs. Tennessee, including a 70-yard touchdown... missed another 100-yard game by one with seven catches for 99 yards vs. Arkansas... caught five passes for 123 yards in the first half vs. Troy... had a touchdown catch among five grabs for 141 yards in win over Clemson... tied his career high with nine catches for 130 yards in the Chick-fil-A Bowl loss to Florida State. 2009: Played in all 13 games, starting the final seven... led the squad with 46 catches for 763 yards, 16.6 yards per catch... second on the team with six touchdowns... averaged 58.7 yards and 3.54 catches per game, the eighth and 10th best marks respectively in the SEC... had 41 catches (5.1/game) for 707 yards (88.4/game) over the final eight contests.

Rueben Randle Scouting Report

Rueben Randle – LSU (HT: 6-2 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 210)

Positives -- Solid combination of size and speed, has an ideal frame for an NFL receiver... Smooth runner who glides across the field... Natural instincts as a pass catcher, does a good job of tracking the deep ball and has great body control to adjust to the ball in the air... At his best when running vertical routes, elite down the field receiver... Has some wiggle to him in the open field, can make a man miss... Does a good job of catching the ball with his hands, rarely lets the ball get into his frame so he's a reliable target who doesn't drop many balls... Played against elite competition in the SEC, battled against some of the top cornerbacks in the country... Solid run blocker who was asked to block a lot in LSU's run heavy offense... Great big play ability, had eight games with receptions of 30 yards or more... Overall production is misleading because LSU lacked consistent quarterback play and relied more on their running game, he's better than his stats would indicate... Has a high ceiling, his combination of size, speed, and hands are all things that should translate well and has real potential to be a number one target in the NFL.

Negatives -- Needs to refine some his route running, he's not bad, but he's mostly been utilized down the field and he could improve his underneath routes... For a guy who can go get the deep ball, he disappointed at the combine with only a 31" vertical... Long strider, can get behind the defense, but it takes him a bit to get up to full speed... The long strides also make him a step slow off the line of scrimmage and he may have some trouble with press coverage... Can disappear in games, had five receptions for 31 yards in LSU's two games against Alabama combined and had seven games with three or less receptions as a junior... There were seven of his 39 games in his collegiate career where he failed to record a reception.

At Louisiana State -- 2011: Played in 13 games with 11 starts... Has produced four 100-yard receiving games this season, the most since Michael Clayton had four in 2003... Ranks third in the SEC in receiving yards per game at 69.5 and fifth in receptions per game at 3.8... One of the top deep threats in the SEC with an average of 18.1 yards a catch, second among all SEC receivers who are ranked in the top 10 in receiving yards a game... Set career highs in receptions (9) and receiving yards (134) against Arkansas... Caught three passes for 76 yards and a 59-yard touchdown catch against Western Kentucky... The 59-yard TD ranks as the longest offensive play of the season for LSU... Earned his third 100-yard receiving game of the season with five catches for 106 yards and a career-high tying two TDs against Auburn... Produced another solid game with five catches for 86 yards and a TD at Tennessee... Set a career high for receiving yards with 127 on four catches and a TD against Florida... Led LSU's receivers with six catches for 53 yards and one touchdown at West Virginia... Had another productive game at Mississippi State as he caught six passes for 98 yards and the game's only touchdown on a 19-yard pass from Jarrett Lee... Led LSU's receivers with five catches for 121 yards against Northwestern State, the second time in his career he eclipsed the 100-yard receiving mark... Made one catch for 10 yards and a touchdown in the season opener against Oregon.

Stephen Hill Scouting Report

Stephen Hill – Georgia Tech (HT: 6-4 – WT: 215)

Positives -- A huge target, one of the tallest receivers in this class with long arms so he has a massive catch radius, throw the ball anywhere near him and he can make a play on it... Has a great frame, looks strong and utilizes a good stiff arm to get off defenders... The most impressive receiver at the combine, ran a 4.36-40, fastest among receivers, and had a ten yard split of 1.48 seconds... Had the best broad jump of all receivers at the combine at 11'1", an explosive athlete... Has long legs but gets a clean release off the line of scrimmage, doesn't take many wasted steps and gets down field in a hurry... Great boundary receiver, has good awareness of where he is, does a good job of keeping his feet in bounds on plays to the sideline... Great leaping ability, can go up and get the ball at its highest point... Terrific runner after the catch, fights through arm tackles and weaves his way through traffic... Strong blocker, comes from a triple-option offense where he was asked to block on almost every play, really commits himself in this area... Not utilized in this role in college, but has kickoff return ability... A special talent down the football field... Extremely high ceiling, Georgia Tech receivers have transitioned well to the NFL in recent years with Calvin Johnson and Demaryius Thomas, Hill is in the same mold as them as a big physical receiver with speed.

Negatives -- His stats are entirely misleading and should not be used to project his game to the NFL level... Played in the spread option offense and almost anytime he was thrown to, the ball was down the field which resulted in him having only 28 catches but gaining 820 yards, a 29.3 yard average... Needs to refine his route running, wasn't asked to run a full route tree at Georgia Tech and needs to be coached up a bit... Only has one big year of production... Had a huge start to the year but then faded down the stretch, gained 462 yards during the first four weeks of the season and then 358 yards in his next nine games combined.

At Georgia Tech -- 2010: Played in 12 games and started nine times... led the Yellow Jackets in receptions (15), receiving yards (291), yards per reception (19.4) and touchdown receptions (3)... also had three rushing attempts for 34 yards... had three receptions for 51 yards, including a 40-yard touchdown pass from Joshua Nesbitt on 3rd and 12 at Kansas (Sept. 11)... had a rushing attempt for 16 yards and one 14-yard reception at North Carolina (Sept. 18)... hauled in two receptions for 53 yards in the win over Virginia (Oct. 9)... caught a 26-yard TD pass from Nesbitt vs. Middle Tennessee State (Oct. 16)... recorded a 79-yard touchdown reception on a pass from Tevin Washington in the win over Duke (Nov. 20). 2009: Showed outstanding potential as a rookie... played in 13 games and started one game... had six receptions for 137 yards (22.8 yards per reception) and one touchdown... had five rushing attempts for 84 yards (16.8 ypa) and one touchdown... had a 26- yard rushing attempt vs. Georgia (Nov. 28)... caught his first career-touchdown pass -- a 32-yard strike from Joshua Nesbitt -- at Duke (Nov. 14)... rushed one time for 21 yards against Wake Forest (Nov. 7)... had a 14-yard rushing attempt in the win over Virginia Tech (Oct. 17)... ran for his first career touchdown on a 24-yard end around and made a 53-yard pass reception at Mississippi State (Oct. 3)... made first career start vs. North Carolina (Sept. 26) and responded with two receptions for 38 yards, including one for 33 yards.

Mohamed Sanu Scouting Report

Mohamed Sanu – Rutgers (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 211)

Positives -- Big, strong body, uses his frame well to shield defenders from the football... Has big strong hands to pluck the ball out of the air... Good red zone target... Put up huge numbers as a junior with 115 catches for 1,206 yards and seven touchdowns... Reliable receiver who makes the tough catches... Gets a good release off the line of scrimmage, hard to bump in press coverage... Has lined up in the backfield before and has experience returning punts... Intriguing player because of his size and versatility, there aren't many 6'1½", 211 pound receivers in the NFL who line up all over the field... Still learning the nuances of the position, was recruited as a safety and converted to wide receiver as a freshman so he has the ability to continue to get better... Great receiver between the hash marks, does most of his damage in the middle of the field running underneath routes... Former Rutgers coach Greg Schiano describes Sanu as playing with a "defensive mentality" which can be seen in his run blocking ability, he really attacks defenders and does a great job of blocking down the field.

Negatives -- Not a big play threat, hasn't had a play go for over 35 yards in the past two years; in fact, only had six catches go for 20+ yards as a junior, more of a possession receiver... Route running could use some work, seems to gear down a bit to change direction so he's not very crisp in and out of his cuts... Doesn't have great vertical speed to get behind the defense on deep routes.

At Rutgers -- 2010: Second-year starting wide receiver who played in all 12 games with 11 starts... hampered by injuries all season... nine touchdowns on the year (four rushing, three passing and two receiving)... second on the team with 44 receptions for 418 yards... also rushed for 309 yards (third on team) and tied for team-lead with four rushing touchdowns... averaged team-best 5.2 yards per carry... 6-of-9 passing for 160 yards and three touchdowns as the QB in the Wildcat package...

season-bests in receptions (9) and receiving yards (74) vs. North Carolina (9/25)... totaled a career-high 191 all-purpose yards with 121 rushing yards on nine carries and 70 receiving yards on five catches with a rushing and receiving touchdown against Tulane (10/2)... broke the school record for longest run from scrimmage with a 91-yard touchdown run in the first minute of the game vs. the Green Wave... threw a 51-yard touchdown to Jordan Thomas on first play from scrimmage at Cincinnati (11/20)... posted a rushing and passing touchdown at FIU (9/11)... was selected as one of Paul Hornung's Most Versatile Performances of the Week twice.

2009: True freshman starting wide receiver... the first true freshman to start at wide receiver in a season-opener in the Greg Schiano era... Third Team All-Big East selection by Phil Steele... finished second on the team in receptions (51) and receiving yards (639)... also utilized out of the wildcat formation... had a receiving, rushing and passing TD, the first Scarlet Knight to do so in the same season since 1993... ranked eighth in the Big East with 3.92 receptions per game and 10th in the league with 88.5 receiving yards per contest.

Joe Adams Scouting Report

Joe Adams – Arkansas (HT: 5-10½ – WT: 179)

Positives -- Terrific overall athlete with good game speed and ankle breaking open field moves... Had perhaps the play of the year in all of college football with his punt return touchdown against Tennessee... Special player after the catch, can take any screen or crossing route the distance... Instant acceleration and extremely fast, can get behind safeties... One of his best attributes after the catch is his balance and lateral agility, defenders rarely get a good hit on him and he seemingly bounces off of tacklers... A versatile weapon who has lined up in the backfield, outside, in the slot, and returned punts... Great route runner, has terrific initial quickness and gets in and out of his cuts cleanly, can cut while running at full speed... Solid vertical receiver with an explosive vertical leap, despite his size he can go up and out jump taller corners... Great hands, doesn't let balls get into his chest and will extend to make the tough plays... Was able to create separation on some of the elite corners in the SEC and should be able to do the same in the NFL... At his best when working out of the slot on crossing routes and screens where he can work in space... Good intangibles... Had a big Senior Bowl week that boosted his stock.

Negatives -- Undersized, is one of the smaller receivers in this draft and can get overpowered by larger corners... Ran slower than expected at the combine... Never was a prolific receiver at Arkansas, never had a 1,000 yard season and only scored three touchdowns as a senior... Seemed to disappear in big games, did not record a catch against Texas A&M, had three catches against LSU, and five catches for 22 yards in the Cotton Bowl... Size is an issue when asked to run block, has a hard time engaging... Has some ball security issues.

At Arkansas -- 2010: He started four games while appearing in 12, missing only the Vanderbilt game due to an injury. He led the team with a career-high 813 receiving yards and tied for the team lead with six receiving touchdowns. He ranked second among Razorbacks with a career-high 50 receptions, which tied for the ninth-highest single-season total in school history. Adams also ranked second on the team with his average of 96.4 all-purpose yards per game. He ranked second in the SEC and tied for 28th in the NCAA with an average of 15.2 yards per play. Adams finished the season ranked sixth in the SEC with 4.2 receptions per game and seventh in the conference with 67.8 receiving yards per game. He ranked second in the SEC and fifth in the NCAA with an average of 15.56 yards per punt return, the seventh-highest single-season average in school history. His three 100-yard receiving games tied for fifth in the SEC and tied for the fifth-highest single-season total in school history. He tied for seventh in the NCAA with 32 receptions against ranked opponents and was 11th in the country with 403 receiving yards against ranked foes. His 23 receptions of at least 15 yards tied for fifth in the SEC. Adams broke the Arkansas record for longest punt return for a touchdown when he returned a punt 97 yards for a score, tied for the fifth-longest punt return in SEC history, in UA's 38-24 victory vs. Ole Miss. The score was his first career punt return for a touchdown and bettered the previous record of 95 yards set by Ken Hatfield vs. Tulsa in 1963. Adams was named SEC Special Teams Player of the Week following his record-breaking return, which was the largest portion of his 120 yards on three punt returns, the fifth-highest single-game punt return yardage total in school history.

A.J. Jenkins Scouting Report

A.J. Jenkins – Illinois (HT: 6-0¼ – WT: 190)

Positives -- Has great speed and has the ability to separate in man coverage, 4.39-40 tied for second among receivers at the combine... Set career highs across the board as a senior and exploded as a legit draft prospect after posting 90 receptions for 1,276 yards and eight touchdowns this year... Consistent producer with four or more catches in all 13 games this year... Had a huge 12 catch, 268 yard game this year against Northwestern... Smart and craft receiver who runs good routes and finds the soft spot in zone coverage... Good burst and quickness... Has decent height... Good slot receiver candidate because of his ability to run short crossing patterns and make plays over the middle... Good hands catcher who extends his arms well and can catch the ball away from his frame... Good boundary receiver who can make the tip-toe catch on the sideline and has good awareness on the field... Has an uncanny ability to get open, creates separation with his route running and is an intelligent wide out.

Negatives -- Thin frame, doesn't look very strong... Rounds off some his routes and doesn't look real smooth coming out of his cuts... Not a great receiver down the field, excels in the short passing game, but will struggle if asked to consistently run vertical routes... His slim build will be an issue when asked to block, doesn't have the strength to engage defenders... Will have some issues with press coverage, can get bumped off his route... Needs to put on weight, would like to see him add 10-15 pounds of bulk muscle.

At Illinois -- 2010: Played in all 13 games, starting nine... Led the team with 56 catches, 746 receiving yards and seven receiving touchdowns in 2010... Finished sixth in the Big Ten in receptions per game (4.31)... Named the team's Most Outstanding Receiver at the annual postseason banquet... ## Brian Quick Scouting Report

Brian Quick – Appalachian State (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 220)

Positives -- Big receiver, looks like an NFL player... Strong frame with a large upper body, is able to get off tacklers with a nice stiff arm... Great balance with the ball in his hands, tough to knock off center and bring to the ground, elusive for a player of his size... A big play waiting to happen, makes a lot of plays down the field... Has good build up speed, his top gear is faster than most... Good boundary receiver with great body control and footwork near the sidelines... Has extremely long 34¼" arms which gives him a very large catch radius, can go up and get the ball at its highest point... Big upside if he continues to develop, a former basketball player still learning the game... Terrific production, completely dominated FCS competition, tallied over 200 career receptions for over 3,400 yards and 31 touchdowns over this career at Appalachian State... Stepped up in big games, had 110 yards and a touchdown in his only game against BCS competition this year (at Virginia Tech).

Negatives -- Very raw, still learning how to run routes and will need a couple years of coaching to reach his full potential, started playing football as a senior in high school... Playing at an FCS school will only hurt his stock... Didn't have a great Senior Bowl week... Struggled in zone coverage, appears lost at times... Lacks explosion and acceleration, is more of a build-up speed type of receiver so he can be slow off the line of scrimmage... At this point strictly an outside receiver, isn't going to line-up in the slot very often... Doesn't have great hands, will drop some easy passes... Needs a lot of coaching.

At Appalachian State -- 2010: Earned first-team all-America honors from College Sporting News and second-team accolades from Phil Steele Publications... led ASU with 47 receptions, 844 receiving yards, nine TD catches and 18.0-yards-per-catch average... ranked second in the SoCon in TD receptions and fourth in total receiving yards... tied for 29th nationally in total receiving yardage... played in all 13 games, making 11 starts as ASU's Y receiver... had at least four receptions in 9-of-13 games... tallied 15 gains of 20-plus yards... opened season with back-to-back 100-yard outputs, the fifth and sixth of his career... caught five passes for 121 yards in season-opening 42-41 come-from-behind victory at Chattanooga... turned in best performance of the season in home-opener versus Jacksonville, catching six passes for 132 yards and three touchdowns, en route to being named National Wide Receiver of the Week by College Football Performance Awards and SoCon Offensive Player of the Week... made four catches for 65 yards in 34-31 win over nationally ranked Elon... hauled in two of DeAndre Presley's school-record-tying five touchdown passes and caught three passes in all for 99 yards in victory over The Citadel... had exactly four receptions in each of the next three games versus Western Carolina (48 yards), Furman (46 yards) and Georgia Southern (79 yards)... continued mastery of Wofford by catching five passes for 73 yards and two touchdowns in SoCon-title-clinching 43-13 rout over the fourth-ranked Terriers... performance upped Quick's career totals in three games versus Wofford to 17 receptions for 426 yards and seven TDs... matched a game-high with six receptions for 56 yards in regular-season finale at Florida... scored a touchdown in both of ASU's postseason contests... made a diving catch for a 35-yard TD in the Mountaineers postseason opening victory over Western Illinois... was the target of four of Presley's ASU postseason-record 31 completions in season-ending loss to Villanova.

Gets behind the defense in a hurry, is a big play waiting to happen... Has good size for an NFL receiver, isn't too big or too small... Solid route runner, does a good job with his cuts and is able to get separation with his crisp routes... Good boundary receiver with awareness of where the first down marker is and where he is on the field... Quick open field runner who gets yards after the catch, has some elusiveness to him... all over the place, can play in the slot, outside, and has experience lining up in the backfield... Had a huge junior season, more than doubling his production from his 2010 campaign, posted 83 catches for 1,330 yards and nine touchdowns.

Negatives -- Has a tendency to let too many balls get into his body and doesn't extend to make the tough catch... Can get bumped off his route in press coverage and doesn't have the necessary strength to fight off bigger corners... Tore his ACL in his left knee during his junior year of high school and his ACL in his right knee during his senior year of high school, brings some major future injury concerns.

At Wake Forest -- 2010: Played in 11 games with eight starts... Led team with 514 receiving yards and 1,022 all-purpose yards... Ranked sixth in the ACC in all purpose yards (92.9/gm)... ## Ryan Broyles Scouting Report

Ryan Broyles – Oklahoma (HT: 5-10 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 192)

Positives -- Hands are like glue, catches everything around him... Good at plucking the ball out of the air with his hands, rarely lets the ball get into his body... Willing to make the tough catch over the middle... Most effective when working from the slot, makes a lot of catches within 1-10 yards from the line of scrimmage... Good at finding the soft spot in zone coverage... Very shifty in the open field, displays a short area burst and good vision... Hard to tackle after he makes the catch, elusive... Crazy production, set an NCAA record with 349 career receptions, breaking the previous mark of 316 by Purdue's Taylor Stubblefield... Posted 131 catches for 1,622 yards and 14 touchdowns in 2010, set seven Oklahoma receiving records... Strong upper body, led all Oklahoma receivers with a bench press of 310 pounds, put up 21 reps of 225 lbs. at the combine... Great punt returner, can pull double-duty in the NFL as receiver and return man... Still improving, only had 79 career receptions in high school, was recruited to Oklahoma as a cornerback and redshirted his freshman year to improve as a wide receiver.

Negatives -- A bit undersized, might struggle to get off the line of scrimmage in the NFL... Has a tendency to be bumped off his routes... Is more quick than fast... Suffered a collar bone injury in 2009... Very minor character concerns, was arrested his freshman year for stealing gasoline... Oklahoma's pass heavy offense inflated his stats a bit... Limited upside because of his size, will be a better number two option in the NFL than number one... Not a run blocker, seems to give up on his blocks too early... Tore his ACL in November, 2011 and was forced to miss the end of his senior season.

At Oklahoma -- 2010: Consensus All-American... Biletnikoff Award finalist... consensus All-Big 12... ## Marvin Jones Scouting Report

Marvin Jones – California (HT: 6-1 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 199)

Positives -- Has above-average height and does a good job of using it to his advantage to shield defenders from the ball... Gets a clean release off the line of scrimmage... A natural athlete who runs nice routes and is a very smooth runner, has good timed speed... Gets good burst out of his cuts which helps him create separation, has the ability to cut at the top of the stem at full speed... Great hands and body control, routinely makes the acrobatic catch... Good hands catcher who doesn't let the ball get into his frame, really attacks the football... Very strong hands, rarely drops a pass... Does a great job of securing the football after he makes the catch... Elusive after the catch, has quick feet and nice lateral agility to get around defenders... Fluid hip movement, makes him dangerous in the open field... Strong upper body, had 22 reps of 225 pounds, tied for most of any participating receiver at the combine... Does a good job in zone coverage, finds the soft spot in the zone... Makes plays over the middle, is not afraid of contact... Had a great week at the Senior Bowl, scouts were impressed with his vertical skills after he had primarily been used on short and intermediate routes at California in Jeff Tedford's West Coast offense.

Negatives -- Didn't exactly dominate Pac-12 opponents, never had a 1,000 yard season and only had three touchdowns as a senior... Didn't have a single 100 yard performance against a BCS opponent this past year despite playing in every game... Surprisingly didn't have many big plays in college, only had two plays go for over 30 yards last year... Although he has good initial quickness, he lacks a second gear and defenders are able to close on him... Below-average as a run blocker, has a slim build and doesn't have the strength to stay engaged with defenders.

At California -- Played in 43 games during his four seasons at Cal from 2008-11, making 38 starts by starting all of the team's games over his final three campaigns... finished his career among Cal's all-time leaders in receiving yards (2,260, 6th), 100-yard receiving games (6, T6th), receptions (156, T7th) and receiving touchdowns (13, T8th)... also ranks tied for seventh on Cal's single-game receptions list with the 12 he recorded as a junior at Nevada... set career highs for both receptions (62) and receiving yards (846) as a senior in 2011, both second on the club, after leading Cal in both receptions and receiving yards in 2009 and '10 as well as in touchdown receptions as a 2009 sophomore... made at least one reception in each of his past 38 games over his final three seasons (2009-11)... posted career averages of 14.6 yards per catch and 52.8 receiving yards per game, as well as a long reception of 62 against Colorado in his junior season... snared 33 catches of 20 or more yards in his career, as well as five grabs of 50 or more... led or co-led all Cal receivers in receptions in 16 games and in receiving yards on 13 occasions... added 11 rushes for 116 yards (10.5 ypr) and a long of 48 for a touchdown in the 2010 season opener against UC Davis... also had 14 punt returns for 102 yards, all as a senior... scored 86 career points, adding a two-point conversion to his 14 total touchdowns... finished with 2,488 all-purpose yards (116 rush, 2,270 receiving, 102 punt return).

Devon Wylie Scouting Report

Devon Wylie – Fresno State (HT: 5-9¼ – WT: 187)

Positives -- Has terrific speed and short area quickness, accelerates almost immediately and is tough to contain in small areas... Great top speed, 4.39-40 tied for second among receivers at the combine... Has short legs and takes quick steps so he cuts well and runs sharp routes, very good at creating separation on shorter routes... Good body control, adjusts well to the football and will dig balls out of the dirt... Catches everything with his hands, doesn't let the ball get into his body, rarely drops a pass... Worked almost exclusively out of the slot in college, should be a great slot option in the mold of Wes Welker...

Elusive runner after the catch who does a good job of getting the extra yards... After the catch, runs low to the ground so despite his size, he can still break tackle... Had a nice Shrine week which helped boost his stock... Electric punt returner who ranked fifth in the nation (minimum 1.2 punt returns per game) with 15.4 yards per punt return and returned two for touchdowns as a senior.

Negatives -- Very small, will struggle if asked to play outside, was designed to play out of the slot... Never put up great numbers, only has eight career receiving touchdowns and he set career highs this year with 56 receptions for 716 yards and one touchdown, not exactly lighting up WAC competition... Comes with a lot of injury concerns, was forced to miss the 2010 season after suffering a bad foot injury and had some nagging injuries as a senior... A niche receiver with limited upside due to his lack of size, needs to fall into an offense that gets him the ball in space... Will turn 24 before the start of the 2012 NFL season.

At Fresno State -- 2011: Named a third team All-American as a punt returner by Yahoo! Sports... fourth team All-America pick by Phil Steele as a punt returner... honorable mention All-America pick as a punt returner by Sports Illustrated... second team All-WAC selection as a special teams performer... played in all 13 games, making five starts at wide receiver... led the team with 56 receptions... led the WAC and ranked fifth nationally by averaging 15.38 yards per punt return... returned two punts for a touchdown - the first was a 67 yarder at No. 10 Nebraska and the second was a 79-yard TD vs. No. 5 Boise State... his punt return for a touchdown at Nebraska was the first allowed by the Huskers in 10 years... had six-straight games from Sept. 10-Oct. 15 where he returned a punt for 30 yards or longer... finished the season with 29 punt returns for 446 yards... was second on the team with 716 yards receiving with one touchdown... averaged 12.8 yards per catch with a long of 71 at Nevada and averaged 55.1 yards per game... had eight receptions of 20 or more yards on the year... posted two 100-yard receiving games on the year in back-to-back weeks at Nevada and vs. Louisiana Tech... his 13 receptions against La Tech were the most by any player in the WAC in 2011 and the most by a Bulldog since Bernard Berrian also grabbed 13 against No. 20 Boise State on Nov. 16, 2003... finished with 149 yards receiving against Louisiana Tech and one touchdown... had five games with five or more receptions, including seven catches for 97 yards at San Diego State to close out the year... ran eight times for 48 yards. 2010: Redshirted after suffering an injury early in the season.

Nick Toon Scouting Report

Nick Toon – Wisconsin (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 215)

Positives -- Natural plucker who can catch while on the run... Great body control, can go up and make plays down the field, adjusts to the ball over either shoulder... Has great hands, doesn't drop many passes and can extend his arms to make catches outside his frame... Great at working the middle of the field, is a tough receiver who is not afraid of contact... Had the best year of his career as a senior, benefited from having Russell Wilson throwing to him... Solid red zone target and can go up and make a play on fade routes... Should be a solid possession receiver at the next level, good route runner with great boundary awareness... Terrific NFL bloodlines, his father is Al Toon, former All-Pro receiver for the New York Jets... Very polished, should have a quick transition to the NFL, can run every route... Physical receiver who does a good job using his hands to fight off corners... Willing run blocker, was asked to block a ton at Wisconsin and his size and strength allow him to be above-average in this area... Combination of size and natural receiving ability makes him valuable and he should at minimum settle in as a #2 receiver at the next level.

Negatives -- Despite being a starter for most of his career, never dominated Big Ten competition, never had a 1,000 yard season... Beneficiary of having a lot of one-on-one coverage due to Wisconsin's rushing attack... Is not a burner, more of a one speed runner who can get down the field but lacks burst... Major injury concerns, missed games in three of four years due to injury... Doesn't have great lateral agility, struggles to make sharp cuts and has to gear down at times, will struggle to get separation at times.

At Wisconsin -- 2011: Ten touchdown receptions on the season are second-most in school history... 64 receptions on the season tied for third-most at UW... 926 receiving yards on the year are sixth-most in school history... career-high nine receptions for 104 yards and a touchdown against Oregon in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 2... nine receptions are second-most in UW bowl history and 104 receiving yards are fifth-most... made three catches for 34 yards against Michigan State in the Big Ten Championship Game on Dec. 3... caught five passes for 42 yards and a touchdown against Penn State (Nov. 26)... team-high six catches for 67 yards at Illinois on Nov. 19... eight receptions for 100 yards and two touchdowns at Minnesota on Nov. 12... recorded 35 receiving yards on three receptions against Purdue on Nov. 5... caught three passes for 39 yards at Ohio State on Oct. 29... recorded two receptions for 58 yards against Michigan State on Oct. 22... missed the Indiana game on Oct. 15 due to injury... caught four passes for 94 yards and one touchdown against Nebraska on Oct. 1... career-high 155 receiving yards, including career-long 59-yard reception, and two touchdowns on seven catches against South Dakota on Sept. 24... named UW's co-offensive player of the week after tying career high with two touchdown receptions and catching five passes for 75 yards against Northern Illinois on Sept. 17... matched career high with seven receptions for 69 yards and one touchdown against Oregon State on Sept. 10... caught two passes for 54 yards against UNLV on Sept. 1... Third in school history with 2,447 career receiving yards and 171 career receptions... fifth at UW with 18 career receiving touchdowns... ## Jarius Wright Scouting Report

Jarius Wright – Arkansas (HT: 5-9 $\frac{5}{8}$  – WT: 182)

Positives -- Had a breakout senior season where he set career highs in receptions, yards, and touchdowns... Solid route runner who displays good quickness in and out of his cuts, a terrific slot receiver who runs crisp routes in the middle of the field and plucks the ball on the run... Good boundary receiver who plays the sidelines well... Blinding speed, very tough to contain, routinely beats the safety deep... Good overall athlete, ran a 4.42-40 and had a 38" vertical at the combine... Gets good separation in man coverage... Good recognition of coverages, is able to find the soft spot in the zone... Good runner after the catch, short legs with quick feet, very explosive in the open field... A game changer who can break the big play at any time... Dependable player who has a knack for finding the first down marker... Great character... Has added value as a punt returner... Had a big Shrine week.

Negatives -- Short and light, very undersized, will struggle when faced with larger corners... Will take his eyes off the football and look up field before securing the catch... Struggled in Arkansas' two marquee games of the season against Alabama and LSU, tallying a combined six catches for 53 yards... Has a hard time dealing with press coverage, too easily gets bumped off his route... Upside is limited by his lack of size, has all the speed in the world, but is likely nothing more than a slot candidate at the next level.

At Arkansas -- 2010: He started all 13 games for the Razorbacks and finished the season with 788 receiving yards, the second-highest total on the team, and five touchdowns on 42 catches. His receptions and receiving yards were career highs, while his touchdown total tied his career high from 2009. He ranked fifth in the SEC with his 18.8 yards-per-reception average and eighth in the conference with his average of 60.6 receiving yards per game. His 23 receptions of at least 15 yards tied for fifth in the SEC, and his nine receptions of 25-plus yards tied for ninth. He ranked fifth in the NCAA with 542 receiving yards against ranked opponents. He busted out for a season-high 131 receiving yards on a career-high-tying six receptions vs. No. 1 Alabama. He also posted another 100-yard receiving game in Arkansas' 38-31 double-overtime victory at No. 22 Mississippi State. His 105 yards came on two catches and included an 89-yard touchdown reception that is the longest of his career and second-longest passing touchdown play in school history. The 89-yard reception also ranked as the second-longest passing play in the SEC and seventh-longest passing play in the NCAA in 2010. Wright collected 64 all-purpose yards in a 38-24 victory vs. Ole Miss with two receptions for 40 yards and one punt return for 24 yards. He made four grabs for 88 yards in the 41-20 win at No. 18 South Carolina. He tied his career high with six catches for 87 yards and two touchdowns while also returning one punt for eight yards in UA's 49-14 win vs. Vanderbilt. He made four receptions for 68 yards in the Razorbacks' 31-23 victory vs. No. 6 LSU. In the Allstate Sugar Bowl vs. No. 6 Ohio State, Wright pulled in four passes for 70 yards and one TD to become just the second Razorback in school history with a TD reception in consecutive bowl games.

T.Y. Hilton Scouting Report

T.Y. Hilton – Florida International (HT: 5-9½ – WT: 183)

Positives -- Incredible quickness and speed, has instant acceleration and is one of the fastest players in this draft class, wide receiver or otherwise... Dynamic game breaker out of the slot, excels in the screen and slant game and running after the catch... Terrific open field runner, very smooth hip movement, has a variety of moves to elude defenders... Versatile weapon who has lined up outside, inside, at running back, in the wildcat, at punt returner, and as a kick returner... A big play waiting to happen... Has added value as a kick and punt returner, averaged 30.4 yards per kick return and 23.3 yards per punt return with one touchdown as a senior... Ran a 4.35-40 at Florida International's pro day, could continue to move up draft boards during the offseason, is the type of guy who will rise due to his speed and quickness.

Negatives -- Very undersized, he's short and has a thin frame... Lacks strength and has problems when faced with bigger corners who can push him around... Really has problems getting off the line of scrimmage against press coverage... Upside is limited due to his lack of size, looks like a slot receiver candidate who can return punts, not number one receiver material... Faded down the stretch this past season, had a massive start this year but failed to reach 100 yards receiving in his last six games... Still developing as a route runner, he has great quickness so he should be better, but he still rounds some of his cuts... Below average hands, drops a lot of catchable balls, doesn't do a good job of catching the ball with his arms extended... Limited as a blocker because of his lack of size and strength... Playing in the Sun Belt doesn't help his case... Has some durability concerns, tore his quad in bowl game and wasn't be able to run at the combine... Tweaked his hamstring during pass catching drills at his pro day and didn't finish the workout, looks great when he's on the field but struggles to stay healthy.

At Florida International -- 2010: 2010 Sun Belt Conference Player of the Year... First Team All-Sun Belt Conference Wide Receiver & Kick Returner... Second Team All-Sun Belt Conference All-Purpose Player... named Little Caesars Pizza Bowl Most Valuable Player after racking up 210 all-purpose yards, including an 89-yard kickoff return for touchdown, a touchdown reception, and the game-saving, first-down reception on a "Hook & Ladder" play that kept FIU's game winning drive alive... led the team with 56 catches and 818 receiving yards... second on the team with four receiving touchdowns... led the team with 816 all-purpose yards... tied for 12th in the country at the end of the regular season with 156.58 all-purpose yards-per-game... broke the school-record for career touchdowns with 26... became the first Panther in history to go over the 5,000 all-purpose yard mark and currently has 5,392... became the only FIU player in history to go over the 2,000 yard mark in kick returns and currently has 2,133... became only the third Panther ever to eclipse the 2,000 receiving yard mark and currently has 2,461, which is second all-time at FIU...

Juron Criner Scouting Report

Juron Criner – Arizona (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 224)

Positives -- Has a big body and strong build, does a good job of shielding defenders from the ball and is tough to bring down after the catch because of his toughness and strength... Great vertical leap, can go up and high point the football... Great at tracking the deep ball, can make the acrobatic catch over either shoulder... Will be a good red zone target, uses his body well and isn't afraid to make plays in traffic... Will sacrifice his body to make the catch... Good runner after the catch, ran a lot of underneath routes at Arizona and picked up a ton of yards with his feet... While not fast, he is quick, has good lateral agility to elude defenders... Plays faster than his 40-time would indicate... Does a lot of things well, nothing great, an overall solid prospect... Ended his career strong, surpassing 100 yards in four of his final six games.

Negatives -- A one speed runner who doesn't have great acceleration off the line... More of a possession receiver who made big plays in college due to the spread offense he played in than a true game breaker... Will drop some easy passes, seems to have lapses in concentration... Struggles to gain separation, he's not a great route runner and doesn't have the explosion to get past most corners... Long strider who has problems getting off press coverage... Below-average run blocker... Numbers dipped a bit as a senior, went from 1,233 yards his junior year down to 956 yards this past year... Big medical questions, there was a rumor in June 2011 that Criner might have had to miss the entire 2011 season due to an undisclosed medical condition, though he did play... Strong upper body, posted 20 reps of 225 pounds at the combine... Reliable hands, does a good job of catching the ball away from his body... Stepped up in big games, some of his best outings this year were against Pittsburgh, Michigan, and Michigan State... Has a great frame, big player with a strong build, looks like an NFL receiver... Does a great job of tracking the deep ball... Good vertical receiver who can go up and get the football over corners... A hands catcher, reliable and doesn't drop many balls... Fights through press coverage, uses his hands well... Does a good job of running through arm tackles after he makes the catch, he's a load to bring down... Very physical, uses his body to his advantage... Good boundary receiver with awareness of where he is on the field... Adjusts well to poorly thrown balls... Has a huge catch radius as he's a tall athlete with long arms... Good footwork in his route running, cuts well and is able to separate in man coverage... Former high school quarterback who understands coverages.

Negatives -- Has a tendency to carry the ball away from his body after the catch... Lacks initial burst, is more of a build up speed type of player without great quickness... Lacks explosion and is more of a straight-line runner... Doesn't have great speed, lacks a second gear and may have trouble separating deep from NFL level corners... While good, he's not an elite athlete and his upside is somewhat limited, more of a possession receiver at the next level... Missed spring practice last year due to a shoulder injury.

At Iowa -- 2011: Started all 13 games at wide receiver... led team in receiving with 82 receptions for 1,315 yards and 12 touchdowns, while also rushing six times for 58 yards... started at split end in 34-9 opening win over Tennessee Tech... led team with six receptions for 140 yards and two touchdowns in opening win... scoring catches of 88 and 19 yards, with 88-yarder ranking as sixth longest in Iowa history... two scoring receptions in a game for third time in career... started at split end in triple-overtime loss at Iowa State... four receptions for 61 yards at ISU, including 29-yard reception that led to fourth quarter touchdown and 24-17 advantage... started at split end in 31-27 win over Pittsburgh as offense gained 475 yards total offense... career-high eight receptions for 112 yards vs. Pitt... started at split end in 45-17 win over Louisiana-Monroe as offense gained 453 yards total offense... collected seven receptions for 100 yards and two touchdowns vs. ULM, reaching 100 receiving yards for third time in four games... had scoring receptions of 13 and 17 yards... started at split end in 13-3 loss at Penn State... led team with four receptions for 73 yards at PSU, with a long of 25 yards... started at split end in 41-31 win over Northwestern as offense gained 379 yards total offense... recorded six receptions for 87 yards vs. Northwestern, including 35-yard scoring reception in fourth quarter to tie Iowa career record for scoring receptions (21)... also credited with 14 yard KO return that led to final touchdown following Northwestern onside kick attempt... started at wide receiver in 45-24 win over Indiana as offense gained 456 yards total offense... led all receivers with six receptions for 184 yards and three touchdowns vs. Hoosiers, setting school record for career touchdown receptions... scoring receptions covered 80, 24 and 29 yards, all in the first half... 184 yards ranks as eighth best single-game total at Iowa, while that total and three scores are career-bests.

Keshawn Martin Scouting Report

Keshawn Martin – Michigan State (HT: 5-11½ – WT: 188)

Positives -- Reliable receiver who was a consistent producer for Michigan State this past year... Can break the big play; had three catches go for over 45 yards in his final five games in 2011... Great top speed, can take the top off a defense, does a great job of creating separation down the field in man coverage... Has a clean release of the line of scrimmage, doesn't take any false steps... Crafty receiver who utilizes double moves well, finds ways to get open... Adjusts well to the ball in the air... Terrific vertical leap, recorded a 39.5" vertical at the combine... Good boundary receiver, makes tough plays near the sideline... Good runner after the catch; elusive, and has been used on reverses and end arounds... A good slot receiver candidate and has added value at the next level as a return specialist.

Negatives -- Undersized receiver who may struggle against press coverage... Has a tendency to body catch, doesn't extend his arms and catch away from his body... Overshadowed a bit in college by his teammate B.J. Cunningham... Inconsistent hands has led to some drops... Poor run blocker, doesn't have the size or frame to push defenders back... Has fairly short arms... While he gets separation down field, he doesn't haul in many passes down the field; is utilized more on swing passes, screens and crossing patterns to get him the ball in space... Needs to work on his route running, he's a raw project player with tools but doesn't have the best technique.

At Michigan State -- Four-year letterwinner finished his career ranked second in MSU history in punt return yards (659), fourth in punt returns (65), eighth in kick return yards (1,100) and kick returns (47), 10th in all-purpose yards (4,013), 11th in receptions (127), 16th in receiving yards (1,714) and tied for 17th in touchdown pass receptions (10)... appeared in 48 games, including 16 starts... averaged 8.4 yards per carry in his career (64 carries for 540 rushing yards)... was a part of 17 total touchdowns in his career (10 receptions; three rush; two punt returns; one pass; one kick return)... accounted for TDs in five different ways in his career (rushing, receiving, passing, punt return and kick return)... was one of just three Spartans in school history, along with Derrick Mason and Bill Simpson, to return two punts for touchdowns (74 yards vs. Wisconsin in 2010; 57 yards vs. Northwestern in 2011)... completed 8-of-9 passes in his career for 158 yards and two touchdowns (309.7 passing efficiency rating)... from 2008-11, led the team with 59 plays of 20-plus yards and 17 plays of 40-plus yards. 2011: Earned honorable mention All-Big Ten accolades by the coaches... named to Yahoo! Sports All-Big Ten second team as a punt returner... ranked second on the team in receptions (66) and receiving yards (777); both of those marks represented career highs and ranked among the Top 20 MSU single-season leaders (tied for sixth in receptions; 19th in receiving yards)... his 445 yards after the catch (YAC) led the team and ranked third in the Big Ten during the regular season... third on the team in all-purpose yards with 1,194 (777 receiving; 274 punt return; 113 rushing; 30 kick return)... ranked second in the Big Ten and 18th in the FBS in punt returns (11.0 avg.)... also ranked sixth in the Big Ten in receptions (4.7 pg.) and 10th in receiving yards (55.5 ypg.)... was second on the team with four TD receptions.

DeVier Posey Scouting Report

DeVier Posey – Ohio State (HT: 6-1 $\frac{5}{8}$  – WT: 211)

Positives -- Big target with breakaway speed, can get down the field in a hurry... Has a nice frame and does a good job of shielding defenders from the football... A constant big play threat... Tough physical receiver who will make the tough catch in traffic and absorb contact... Good body control and adjusts well to the football in the air, will make tough plays near the sideline... Takes good, short steps off the line of scrimmage... Really is a terrific route runner, does a good job with his cuts and is able to gain separation with his route running... Strong runner with the football, really looks to attack defenders and will try to bull through safeties... Was fairly productive after missing most of the year by catching two touchdowns in his three games this season... Consistent receiver who had 800+ yards in his sophomore and junior seasons... Has the versatility to lineup outside and in the slot... His physical style allows him to be a good run blocker, does a good job of engaging on defenders... A polished wide receiver who should have a quick transition to the pro game... Physical tools are intriguing and should be appealing to teams.

Negatives -- Would like to see him use his hands more, allows too many balls get into his body and will drop some easy throws... His speed is more good than great and he may have trouble creating vertical separation at the NFL level... Very inconsistent, will make the spectacular grab and then drop the easy one... Comes with some character concerns, was a part of the Ohio State scandal and was suspended for most of the 2011 season for selling his championship gear.

At Ohio State -- DeVier did not have the benefit of a redshirt season, and he has been an outstanding player for the Buckeyes in his four seasons. He closed out his career with 136 career receptions for 1,955 yards, numbers that rank sixth and eighth, respectively, all-time among Ohio State receivers. He also scored 18 receiving touchdowns to rank seventh on the all-time list. He is a four-year Varsity O letterwinner (2008-11) who played in 41 games, started 29 games and had a reception in each of his final 30 games played. He had six 100-yard receiving games, the eighth-most in school history. DeVier is on track to graduate in spring 2012 with his degree in communications. DeVier played in only Ohio State's final three games of 2011 and averaged 4.0 receptions per game (12 for 162 yards) with touchdown grabs of 43 yards vs. Michigan and 5 yards vs. Florida. He was the best receiver on the field in his three games in 2011 with four receptions for 66 yards vs. Penn State, three for 58 yards vs. Michigan and five for 38 yards vs. Florida.

Tommy Streeter Scouting Report

Tommy Streeter – Miami (FL) (HT: 6-4 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 219)

Positives -- Huge body, will be a great outside receiver... A true vertical threat who can go up and get the ball at its highest point and has elite (4.40-40) speed to beat defenders down the field... Had catches of 45 yards or more in three different games this year... Not afraid to go over the middle and make the tough catch in traffic... Good at tracking the ball in the air and adjusting poorly thrown balls... Long strider with great build up speed, deceptively fast... A good red zone threat with his size and ability to high point the football, was utilized on fade routes near the goal line... Has a very high ceiling due to his combination of size and physical tools... Good and willing blocker due to his size and strength... Performed well at the combine and has some postseason momentum heading into the draft.

Negatives -- Only has one year of solid production, had six catches for 156 yards during his first two years combined before breaking out this past year for 46 catches, 811 yards and eight touchdowns... Wasn't overly dominant, only had one 100-yard outing... Has inconsistent hands, lets some passes get into his frame and seems to have lapses in concentration... Very raw, would have liked to see him return to school for his senior year to refine his game... Doesn't have a developed route tree, ran mostly vertical routes, needs to learn more of the underneath game... Takes long steps off the line of scrimmage and lacks initial quickness off the snap... More of a straight line receiver with stiff hips, doesn't change direction fluidly... He is a project, a guy who will take two to three years to fully realize his potential.

At Miami (FL) -- 2011: Played in all 12 games, earning seven starts... Exploded for the team lead in both receptions (46) and yards (811)... His yardage total was good for fifth-best in the conference... Finished the season with a team-high eight touchdown receptions... Had one tackle on special teams... Had a career-long 47-yard reception in the Champs Sports Bowl against Wisconsin. 2008: Redshirted as a true freshman, missing the season with a wrist injury.

Dwight Jones Scouting Report

Dwight Jones – North Carolina (HT: 6-3¼ – WT: 230)

Positives -- Big receiver with a strong frame... Above-average size-speed ratio, has the physical tools that teams look for... Good runner after the catch, maintains balance through tacklers and has a strong stiff arm... A big play threat, had receptions of 34 or more yards in seven games this year... Strong red zone target with his combination of size and strength... Does a good job with press coverage, rarely gets knocked off his routes... Very physical, uses his body well to wall off defenders from the football... Good vertical receiver who can go up and make the spectacular catch... Has very long arms... Strong and willing run blocker, will block down the field... Had a big senior season, recorded 85 catches for 1,196 yards and 12 touchdowns... Similar to former North Carolina wide receivers Greg Little and Hakeem Nicks, who both transitioned well to the NFL.

Negatives -- Will drop some easy passes, has some lapses in concentration and will take his eyes off the ball to look up field... Allows too many balls get into his frame, needs to catch more with his hands... Raw as a route runner, rounds off some of his cuts and has to gear down to change direction... Below average explosion, doesn't have a second gear and has some problems getting separation in man coverage... Below average after the catch, doesn't have the speed or lateral agility to make people miss in the open field... Struggles with zone coverage, has a hard to recognizing the soft spot in the coverage... Did not impress at the Senior Bowl... Overall a raw prospect who will need time to develop.

At North Carolina -- 2010: Earned honorable mention All-ACC honors after finishing the season with team highs of 62 receptions and 946 yards... His 62 receptions tie for the fifth-best single-season mark in school history and his 946 yards are also fifth in school history... Averaged 72.8 yards per game, good for fourth in the league... Appeared in all 13 games and made 12 starts... Had five catches for 51 yards, including a long of 16, in the Music City Bowl win over Tennessee... ## B.J. Cunningham Scouting Report

B.J. Cunningham – Michigan State (HT: 6-1 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 211)

Positives -- Had a huge senior season, more than doubled his production from his junior season, had 79 receptions for 1,306 yards and 12 touchdowns... Good size and bulk, has a strong build... Strong and willing blocker down the field, does a good job of keeping defenders engaged... Has great body control, adjusts well to poorly thrown balls and can make the acrobatic play... Tough runner after the catch who will run through arm tackles... A physical player who competes really hard, will fight for the football... Good slot receiver candidate as he is at his best working the middle of the field... Good route runner who has a developed route tree... Isn't afraid to get popped in the middle of the field, will sacrifice his body to make the tough catch... Ended his career as Michigan State's all-time leader in receptions and receiving yards.

Negatives -- Lacks initial quickness, is rather slow out of his breaks and struggles to get separation in man coverage... Below-average deep speed, isn't much of a threat down the field, seems to be more of a possession receiver who can move the chains... Isn't very elusive in the open field... Takes him a while to get to full speed... Has inconsistent hands, isn't a natural hands catcher and he'll drop his fair share of balls... Struggled against top level corners, was held without a catch by Alfonzo Dennard and Nebraska and then only had four catches for 46 yards against Shaun Prater and Iowa... Has very small hands, had some of the smallest hands amongst the entire receiving group at the Shrine Game... Upside is limited due his lack of speed and quickness.

At Michigan State -- 2011: Voted Most Valuable Player by his teammates... second-team All-Big Ten selection (coaches and media)... tied a Spartan single-season record with 79 receptions (Devin Thomas, 2007)... tied for first in the Big Ten with 12 touchdown receptions, which tied for third most in an MSU single-season... ranked third in the Big Ten and 17th in the FBS in receiving yards (93.3 ypg.)... ranked fourth in the Big Ten in receptions (79; 5.6 pg.)... had a career-high 1,306 receiving yards, which ranked third most in an MSU season... became one of just five Spartan receivers to record 1,000 receiving yards in a season (Charles Rogers, Devin Thomas, Plaxico Burress, Courtney Hawkins)... had a school-record eight 100-yard receiving games; that mark also tied for first in the Big Ten this season (Marvin McNutt, Iowa)... 55 of his 79 receptions (70 percent) resulted in either a first down or a touchdown... ranked second in the Big Ten with 17 "clutch" catches during the regular season (receptions on third down or fourth down that resulted in TD or first down)... caught seven passes for 66 yards in the win over No. 18 Georgia in the 2012 Outback Bowl; tied MSU's single-season reception record with a 22-yard catch in the fourth quarter... Recorded a career-high three touchdown receptions in the Big Ten Championship Game against Wisconsin... had five catches for 115 yards against the Badgers, establishing a school record with his eighth 100-yard receiving game of the season... scored his first TD in the Big Ten Championship Game on a 30-yard pass from Kirk Cousins on a fourth-and-inches play in the second quarter; for his second TD, caught a lateral from Keith Nichol at the 7-yard line and ran it in for a touchdown; on his third touchdown, a 44-yarder in the third quarter, he became MSU's all-time leader in receiving yards, passing Andre Rison.

Greg Childs Scouting Report

Greg Childs – Arkansas (HT: 6-3 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 219)

Positives -- Big target with a large catch radius, has a nice looking frame and a big upper body... Makes a lot of plays down the field, can go up and get the deep ball... Does a nice job of getting off the line of scrimmage, takes nice short steps and has solid initial quickness... Good route runner who cuts well and doesn't have to slow down to change direction... Good against press coverage where his size is an advantage... Strong runner with the football, will fight through arm tackles and head up field... Good red zone threat, has good body control and can make the acrobatic catch... Baiters corners well by changing his tempo... Strong and willing blocker who will throw his body in front of defenders, engages well... Looked like a budding star after his sophomore campaign where he had 48 catches for 897 yard and seven touchdowns... Has good upside if he can get himself fully healthy... Young for his class, will be 22 at the conclusion of his rookie season.

Negatives -- Major injury concerns, had a severe patellar tendon injury suffered on October 31, 2010 that put him out for the rest of his junior season; missed four games as a senior, mostly due to setbacks with his knee... Doesn't look like the same player he was before the injury, lost a lot of his explosion and speed... Had a very down senior season, had 21 receptions for 240 yards and no touchdowns... Never was a burner, and his knee injury slowed him a step, doesn't have the necessary long speed to be the same deep threat in the NFL... Living off the reputation he earned his first three years of college and needs to prove that he's recovered and can get back to being the player he used to be.

At Arkansas -- 2010: He was named to the Biletnikoff Award Watch List and appeared in eight games with seven starts before suffering a season-ending injury in the Razorbacks' 49-14 victory vs. Vanderbilt. At the time of his injury, Childs led the team with 659 receiving yards and six touchdowns. At the end of the season, he tied for the team lead in touchdowns and ranked third in receiving yards and with 46 receptions. He had two 100-yard receiving games to tie for the eighth-highest total in the SEC. He posted a career-high 12 receptions, tied for the third-most in a game in school history, for 146 yards and a career-high-tying two touchdowns in Arkansas' 31-7 win vs. ULM. He also grabbed two touchdowns and a career-high 164 yards on nine catches at No. 7 Auburn. He opened the season with four catches for 26 yards in UA's 44-3 win vs. Tennessee Tech. He grabbed three passes for 82 yards, including the game-winning touchdown from 40 yards out with 15 seconds left, in the Razorbacks' 31-24 victory at Georgia. He also caught three passes for 44 yards vs. No. 1 Alabama. He made six receptions for 65 yards in the Razorbacks' 24-17 victory vs. Texas A&M. In a 38-24 victory vs. Ole Miss, he hauled in four passes for 45 yards and one touchdown. Childs grabbed five passes for 87 yards vs. Vanderbilt before being injured early in the fourth quarter. 2009: He played in all 13 games with eight starts. Childs led the team with 48 catches, 894 yards, seven touchdowns, 68.8 yards per game and three 100-yard games. His 18.6 yards per catch ranked second. He was 53rd in the nation and fourth in the SEC in yards per game, and eighth in the SEC with 3.69 receptions per game. ## Jeff Fuller Scouting Report

Jeff Fuller – Texas A&M (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 223)

Positives -- Great combination of size and speed, one of the better big athletes at the wide receiver position in this draft... Has long legs and runs faster than he appears... Good leaping ability, can really go up and get the ball... Looks like an NFL receiver with his strong frame... Catches the ball away from his body... Has big strong hands and can make the one handed grab... Has surprisingly good feet off the line of scrimmage and gets in and out of his cuts quickly... Fairly polished receiver who should have a quick transition to the NFL... Has the size and strength to be a good run blocker at the next level, has shown consistent effort in this area... A high percentage of his receptions go for either a first down or touchdown... NFL bloodlines, father Jeff Fuller Sr. played defensive back for the San Francisco 49ers.

Negatives -- Numbers regressed a bit from his junior to senior year despite having more consistent quarterback play... Was more of a possession receiver in college, doesn't make many plays down the field, only had one reception go for over 30 yards as a senior... Has some serious problems getting off man coverage, lets corners get into his chest and gets bumped off routes... Has trouble getting separation in man coverage... Struggles after the catch, doesn't pick up many yards with the ball in his hands, lacks elusiveness and explosion... Drops some easy passes and had a rather inconsistent senior season, was a potential first round pick before the year and his stock has continued to fall... Long strider without great acceleration, takes him 10-20 yards to get to full speed... Broke his leg in a 2009 game against Utah State.

At Texas A&M -- 2010: Named a finalist for the 2010 Biletnikoff Award... selected as a first-team All-Big 12 performer by the San Antonio Express-News... started all 13 games, racking up 72 catches to break Rod Bernstine's record of 65 from 1985 (tie with Ryan Swope)... rewrote the A&M record book by also setting school records with 1,066 receiving yards and 12 receiving touchdowns... finished third in the Big 12 in receiving yards per game (82.0)... caught a pair of touchdowns in the season-opening win over Stephen F. Austin... caught 10 passes for 160 yards and a touchdown against Louisiana Tech... pulled down a pair of scores at Oklahoma State... topped the century mark with 154 yards and one touchdown on eight catches against Arkansas... collected the first of back-to-back 100-yard receiving games at Kansas with five catches for 121 yards and a touchdown... enjoyed a career game with 11 catches and 171 yards against Texas Tech... also grabbed a pair of touchdowns vs. the Red Raiders... caught at least one touchdown catch in five consecutive games from Sept. 30 (Oklahoma State) to Oct. 30 (Texas Tech)... lining up against future NFL first-rounder Patrick Peterson in the Cotton Bowl, Fuller made seven catches for 82 yards against LSU. 2009: led the team in receiving touchdowns (7) and ranked third in yards (568) despite missing four games... A&M's second-leading active receiver with 1,198 career yards... 29 of 41 catches on year (71 percent) went for a first down or touchdown... ranks second on all-time receiving TD list (16), three shy of Bob Long's school record set in 1968... career performance in narrow loss to No. 3 Texas (11/26), setting a career high with 132 yards on six catches and tying a school record with three TD receptions... 70-yard bomb on third play from scrimmage was longest of his career and longest pass play from scrimmage by the Aggies in '09.

Jordan White Scouting Report

Jordan White – Western Michigan (HT: 5-11¾ – WT: 208)

Positives -- Unreal production, had 140 receptions for 1,911 yards and 17 touchdowns as a senior, all school records and was very close to setting some NCAA records... Very consistent, only had one game with fewer than seven catches and essentially was the Western Michigan offense this past year... Great possession receiver who can find the first marker... Extremely reliable, doesn't seem to drop anything... Good hands catcher, doesn't let the ball get into his body... Works the middle of the field well, ideal fit as a slot wide receiver... Good receiver after the catch, elusive, slips underneath tacklers... Built kind of like a running back, has a thick frame... Creates separation with smart route running, crafty, and is good at finding the soft spot in zone coverage... Does a good job of coming back to the football... Does a good job with double moves, creates a lot of separation this way... Adjusts well to poorly thrown balls, will make tough catches in the dirt or over his head... Utilizes a strong stiff arm... Has added value with punt return experience, averaged 13.1 yards in 17 punt returns in 2011.

Negatives -- A below-average athlete, doesn't possess great initial quickness or speed to consistently beat defenders... Isn't very tall, his combination of measurables leaves a lot to be desired between his lack of height and lack of speed... Raw as a blocker, almost every play at Western Michigan was designed to get him the ball in some way so he wasn't asked to do a lot of blocking... Tore his right ACL in 2006 and his left ACL in 2008, comes with major injury concerns following those two incidents... Simply a possession receiver, will not make plays down the field in the NFL, will have trouble creating separation against NFL corners unless it's on quick plays in the middle of the field... Will turn 24 before his rookie season... While his numbers in college were excellent, it was against MAC competition.

At Western Michigan -- 2011: Set new WMU single game record for receiving yards (265) and broke WMU single game receiving yards (265)... set new new MAC career receiving yards (4,187), single season receiving yards (1,911) and tied for career receptions (306)... set WMU bowl records for receiving yards (265) and tied for receptions (13)... ## T.J. Graham Scouting Report

T.J. Graham – North Carolina State (HT: 5-11<sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 188)

Positives -- A true big play threat, only had 46 catches this year but four of them went for over 60 yards a piece... Great vertical speed, has elite long speed to get behind the defense, former track guy... Good initial burst and acceleration... Good boundary receiver with nice body control to get his feet down... Excels running vertical routes down the field... Although not tall, he does a good job of tracking the deep ball and can go up and get it... Does a nice job of catching with his hands and secures the football before heading up field... Runs low to the ground, tough to bring down after the catch... Has decent leaping ability and is a terrific overall athlete... Has added value as a kick and punt returner, is the ACC's career leader in kickoff return yards... Has good upside with his speed if he refines his game a bit.

Negatives -- Faded down the stretch this year, had a strong bowl game outing, but in his last eight regular season games, had a total of 20 catches for 213 yards and one touchdown... Inconsistent player who can disappear during games, had six games as a senior with two or less receptions... Never dominated ACC play; prior to his senior year, he never had more than 25 catches or 320 receiving yards in a season... Undersized, has a weak frame, can get pushed around... Has just average lateral quickness and doesn't cut very well, is more of a straight line runner... Raw route runner who rounds his cuts and needs to refine his short routes... Lack of strength will be an issue as a run blocker... Struggles with press coverage, can get shoved off his route... During his sophomore season he suffered a season ending stress fracture in his leg.

At North Carolina State -- 2010: Has tallied 2,167 yards in career kickoff returns, the best mark in school history and fifth-best in ACC history... Set that school mark with 100 yards on five returns in the win over North Carolina... Had perhaps the biggest play in that Wolfpack win, returning a kick 87 yards for a touchdown to give NC State its first lead of the game... That tied as the third-longest punt return in school history... Named the ACC Specialist of the Week for the UNC game... Has 3,299 all-purpose yards for his career, the 13th-best mark in school history... Pulled down a career-high six catches for a career-high 96 yards and a career-best two touchdowns against Western Carolina... Had six receptions of 20+ yards in 2010... Competed with the NC State track squads during the spring, he qualified for the NCAA Indoor Championships in two sprint events, earning second-team All-America honors. 2009: Had his season cut short when he suffered a stress fracture in his leg at Boston College... Started three of the seven games in which he saw action... Scored his first career receiving touchdown in the win over Gardner-Webb... Had seven kickoff returns for 202 yards, including a 93-yard touchdown, versus Duke... That yardage total was a single-game record for a Wolfpack player... Despite missing five whole games, his 574 KOR yards ranked as the eighth-best mark in school history. 2008: An honorable mention All-ACC performer as a kick returner... Ranked fifth in the ACC (29th nationally) in kick return average with a 25.1 mark... Ranked sixth in the ACC in all-purpose yards with 108.1 yards per game - he tallied 1,405 yards for the season... That single-season mark ranked eighth in school... His 1,028 yards in kickoff returns is the school record for a single season... Tallied 22 returns for 628 yards in the first six games of the season, 19 for 400 in the last seven games.

Patrick Edwards Scouting Report

Patrick Edwards – Houston (HT: 5-8 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 172)

Positives -- A slot receiver who can split out wide at times but is at his best lining up inside... Extremely fast, has a second gear to get behind the safeties and make plays down the field... Great initial quickness, accelerates instantly and is very tough to track, he can change direction at full speed... Absolutely blew up as a senior, had 89 catches for 1,752 yards and 20 touchdowns; had a seven catch, 318 yards game against Rice (45.4 ypc average)... A threat to take it the distance every time he touches the football, averaged 19.7 yards per catch as a senior... Terrific player in the short passing game, can be a weapon taking screens and crossing patterns over the middle... Has taken handoffs on end arounds and has returned punts... A hard worker, really battled back from his terrible injury early in his career to carve out one of the most prolific receiving careers in Houston history.

Negatives -- Has some injury concerns, had a gruesome compound fracture in his leg during his freshman season and he has battled an injured quad this postseason... Numbers are extremely inflated after playing in Houston's spread attack which throws the ball on almost every play... Majorly undersized, has little to no bulk on him and is two or three inches shorter than most cornerbacks, can get jammed off his route by physical corners... Very short arms and very small hands, will have a tough time securing the ball in and high pointing the football... Not a good run blocker, was not asked to do much of it at Houston and is far too small to contribute as a blocker... Performed poorly at his pro day, disappointed with a 4.58-40 and only put up five reps on the bench press.

At Houston -- 2010: Earned First-Team All-Conference USA honors as a receiver and was named second-team as a punt returner... Ranked ninth in the NCAA and second in the conference in punt return average (15.4 per punt)... Rated 15th nationally and second in Conference USA in receiving yards per game... Ranked fourth in the league and 26th nationally in receptions per game... Led the team with four catches for 80 yards with a 63-yard touchdown early in the first quarter against Texas State during the season opener... Also returned two punts for 52 yards against the Bobcats... Led the Cougars with six catches for 118 yards against UTEP... Led all players with six receptions and added 40 receiving yards against Tulane... Added five punt returns for 89 yards, including a long of 37 yards, against the Green Wave... Against Mississippi State made four catches for 45 yards with a touchdown... Led the team in receptions (9), yards (169) and touchdowns (3) against Rice... Was the only receiver to get in to the endzone against the Owls... Led team with six receptions totaling 88 yards and a score against SMU... made four catches for 78 yards and two scores against Memphis... Also had a 74-yard punt return for a touchdown against the Tigers... Led team in catches (10), yards (169), and scores (3) against UCF... Caught seven passes for 125 yards and two touchdowns at Southern Miss... Posted a season-best tying 10 receptions in the season finale, while recording a career-best 177 yards against Texas Tech.

Eric Page Scouting Report

Eric Page – Toledo (HT: 5-8 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 186)

Positives -- Dynamic slot receiver candidate who can play all over the field... Excelled in the short passing game taking screens and crossing routes... Great initial burst and quickness... Has a nice first step off the line of scrimmage, takes short steps and is a fairly good route runner... Cuts well at the top of the stem... Has reliable hands, doesn't drop many balls... Finds the soft spot in zone coverage... Does a good job of slipping tacklers with the ball in his hands, rather elusive and tough to track down in space, good runner after the catch... Great production, completely dominated MAC competition; was a three year starter for Toledo who ended his career with 306 catches for 3,446 yards and 25 receiving touchdowns... Showed up in big games, had 12 catches for 145 yards and two touchdowns against Ohio State this year... Versatile, had been named to the Paul Hornung Award watch list (most versatile player in the nation), was named first team All-MAC as a wide receiver, kick returner and punt returner.

Negatives -- Very small, will have trouble playing on the outside, simply a slot receiver in the NFL... Struggles with bigger corners, can get knocked off his route and doesn't have the strength to deal with physical corners... Is more quick than fast, doesn't have the necessary breakaway speed to consistently make plays down the field... Has short arms and small hands... Isn't much of a leaper, 30" vertical at the combine was lowest among receivers... Struggles as a run blocker because he doesn't have the size or strength to hold his own... Plays a lot in the middle of the field and at his size, he could be an injury risk... Upside is limited by his lack of physical gifts, is probably nothing more than a third or fourth receiver in the NFL.

At Toledo -- 2010: First-team All-America selection at kickoff return position by Walter Camp, Sporting News and Phil Steele Publications... First Rocket ever to be named first-team on Walter Camp All-America team, and first MAC player since Akron defensive back Dwight Smith in 2000... First Rocket to make any first-team All-America list in 35 years (QB Gene Swick, 1975-UPI)... Seventh Rocket ever to make first-team All-America... Named MAC Special Teams Player of the Year... First-team All-MAC at wide receiver and kickoff returner... Named National Kickoff Returner of the Year by College Football Performance Awards... Led team, third in MAC and seventh in nation with 99 receptions... 99 catches is second on UT's all-time season receptions list behind current New Orleans Saint Lance Moore (103 in 2003)... Fifth in MAC and 22nd in country with 1,105 receiving yards... Led MAC and was third in nation in kickoff return average (31.1)... Kickoff return average is the best in UT history... Only player in FBS with three TDs off kickoff returns in 2010... Led MAC and was 12th in country in all-purpose yards (156.5)... Accounted for five TDs in 42-31 win over CMU... Caught 12 passes for season-high 127 yards and two TDs; returned two kickoffs for TDs; threw a 28-yard TD pass... Became first player ever from Mid-American Conference to return two kickoffs for TDs in one game... Named MAC Special Teams Player of the Week and national special teams Player of the Week by College Football Performance Awards for his performance vs. CMU... Six games with at least 100 yards receiving.

Jermaine Kearse Scouting Report

Jermaine Kearse – Washington (HT: 6-0 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 209)

Positives -- Solid height for an NFL receiver, can line up outside... Strong build, has a nice upper body and can fend off defenders with a stiff arm... Is able to gain vertical separation with double moves... Terrific route runner, does a great job getting in and out of his cuts... Keeps running past his route, will come back toward the football and fight for position... Good hands catcher who doesn't let the ball get into his body, always has his arms extended... Adjusts well to poorly thrown balls, has great body control... Great runner after the catch, gets a lot of yards with the ball in his hands, has good field vision... Drop off in production as a senior may have had more to do with losing quarterback Jake Locker to the NFL than a depreciation of his level of play... Ended his collegiate career with 198 receiving yards, including an 80-yard TD, in the Alamo Bowl vs. Baylor.

Negatives -- Production dropped off as a senior, had over 1,000 yards and 12 touchdowns as a junior and those numbers fell to 699 yards and seven touchdowns this past year which was mostly aided by a breakout bowl game against Baylor where he had five catches of 198 yards and a touchdown... A long strider who lacks explosion, doesn't have great initial quickness... Lacks elite long speed, more of a one speed runner... May struggle to gain separation at the next level... Only had a 34" vertical at the combine which was below average in comparison to the other receivers in attendance... More of a straight line runner, doesn't have great hip movement and struggles with his lateral agility... Although he does a good job of catching with his hands and not letting balls get into his body, he has very inconsistent hands and he'll drop some very catchable balls.

At Washington -- 2011: Played in all 13 games and started 12 of 13 (all but Utah) at one wide receiver position... named a team captain prior to the start of the season... earned honorable mention All-Pac-12... finished his career ranked No. 2 on the UW career charts for receptions (180), receiving yards (2,871) and receiving TDs (29)... had a great game in the Alamo Bowl vs. Baylor, catching five passes for 198 yards and an 80-yard touchdown... 198 yards were sixth-most in UW single-game history... had a pair of two-TD games during the season: vs. Hawai'i and at Nebraska... caught just two passes vs. the Warriors, for 30 yards, but both were TDs... five receptions for 69 yards and two scores at Nebraska... made a season-high seven catches for 70 yards and a score in the win at Utah... season-high 84 yards on five catches, including one score, vs. Colorado... four catches each at Stanford and vs. Arizona... made five receptions for 62 yards in the Apple Cup win over Washington State... won the team's Tyee Sports Council Community Service Award at the team's postseason banquet. 2010: Started all 13 games at one wide receiver spot... named to the All-Pac-10 second team... finished the regular season ranked No. 3 in the Pac-10 in both receptions (5.17) and receiving yards (83.42) per game... turned in one of the better seasons by a receiver in UW history... 1,006 receiving yards ranked No. 7 on the UW single-season list, while 63 catches were good for sixth and 12 receiving touchdowns ranked No. 2 all-time... ranked sixth in career receptions (133), fourth in career receiving yards (2,172) and second in career receiving TDs (22)... broke a school record with four touchdown receptions vs. Oregon State... also tied the old record with three TD catches vs. Syracuse... first WR to lead the Huskies in scoring (72 points entering the bowl game) since Mario Bailey in 1991.

At his best working the middle of the field, absolutely fearless, will go over the middle and take any big hit... Solid route runner, does a good job of cutting at the top of the stem... A natural hands catcher who is adept at catching away from his body... Adjusts to the football well and has solid body control... A high effort player who fights all the time, a guy who will compete at the highest level... Experienced player who has caught 30 or more balls in each of the past four years... Good character player, a hard worker on and off the field, one of the top student athletes in the ACC... Has experience as a punter and can serve as a reserve punter on an NFL squad... Ran better than expected at the combine and has seen his stock rise during the post season.

Negatives -- Was never utilized much in the red zone, averaged one touchdown for every 20.6 receptions... Struggles against press coverage, doesn't have good upper body strength as he only put up 12 reps of 225 at the combine and he can get pushed off his routes... Will struggle as a run blocker... Merely an average athlete, doesn't have the size or speed to become a number one or even a number two wide out is more of a third or fourth option type... Has short arms and small hands, is not blessed with the physical tools teams look for... Simply a possession receiver, not a guy who is going to beat defenders deep and make a lot of plays down field... Struggles to get vertical separation... Will turn 24 years old prior to his rookie season.

At Virginia Tech -- 2011: Finished his career second in Tech history in both receptions and receiving yards, behind only teammate Jarrett Boykin... ## Chris Owusu Scouting Report

Chris Owusu – Stanford (HT: 6-0 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 196)

Positives -- Lit up the combine, was one of the fastest players in attendance; a terrific overall athlete, had a 40.5" vertical and can really go up and high point the football... Great lower body explosion, really accelerates quickly and gets up field in a hurry... Although not big, he has a nice build, appears to have a strong upper body and put up 19 reps of 225 pounds at the combine... Does a good job fighting off press coverage, uses his strength to his advantage and is tough to jam with his initial quickness... Does a good job of catching the ball with his arms extended and doesn't let the ball get into his body... Solid route runner, does a good job with his cuts and can get separation in man coverage... Good runner after the catch due to his speed and quickness, a creative open field runner who can break the big play... Great kickoff return potential; averaged 27.3 yards per kick return in 78 career returns.

Negatives -- Has severe injury questions, only played in seven games in 2010 after battling injuries all year and missed games as a senior after sustaining a concussion in a game against Oregon State; never appears fully healthy, suffered three concussions total over a 13 month span... Never dominated Pac-12 competition, had a career high 37 catches for 682 yards and five touchdowns back in 2009 and his production has fallen off the past two years with his injuries... Has the second smallest hands of any receiver at the combine, will have trouble securing the football... A risk-reward player; has the physical ability to be a starter down the line, but he may be out of the league in a year or two as well due to his concussion problems.

At Stanford -- 2011: Finished as the team's second leading receiver with 35 receptions for 376 yards and two touchdowns... limited to 10 games, including the Notre Dame game, when he made an appearance for the final play... received blows to the head against Washington State, USC and Oregon State which limited his playing time... missed the Oregon and Cal games after being carted off the field after sustaining a concussion in the first half at Oregon State... lined up behind Andrew Luck for the last play of the game in the regular season finale against Notre Dame... got off to a fast start, catching 22 passes, including both of his touchdowns, over the first four games of the season... pulled down seven passes for 76 yards in the opener against San Jose State... followed up with a seven-catch, 106-yard performance at Duke... caught his first TD of the season with 39 seconds left in the second quarter, hauling in a 10-yard scoring strike from Luck... caught two passes for 45 yards in the win over Arizona, including a 39-yard grab... had six catches for 48 yards and a touchdown against UCLA... caught a five-yard pass from Luck with 1:51 left in the game to close out the scoring... showed tremendous courage one week after being forced out of the Washington State game by pulling down five passes for 40 yards against Washington... had three catches for 21 yards in Stanford's 58-46 triple-overtime thriller against USC... caught two passes for six yards against Oregon State before being forced out of the game after absorbing a blow to the head... also averaged 22.1 yards in his eight kickoff returns... has averaged 27.3 yards (2,132 total) in his 78 career kickoff returns, which ranks second all-time on Stanford's career list.

Gerell Robinson Scouting Report

Gerell Robinson – Arizona State (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 227)

Positives -- Big target that has the size NFL teams look for in an outside receiver... True big play threat who makes a lot of plays down the field, had receptions of 35 yards or more in seven different games this year... Has a strong upper body, shields defenders well from the football and is able to push around smaller corners... Gets a nice clean release off the line of scrimmage, does a good job of fighting off press coverage... A load to bring down after the catch, is able to get a few extra yards against safeties and corners, simply overpowers them... Has big 10-inch hands... Will be a good red zone target...

Exploded as a senior with 77 catches for 1,397 yards and seven touchdowns, more than tripling his yardage from his junior season... Had a huge end to his career with a 13 catch, 241 yard game in the MAACO Bowl against Boise State.

Negatives -- Only has one big year of production, didn't do much his first three years... Stats are a little inflated due to playing in a spread offense that is predicated on the short passing game... Long strider who takes some time to get to full speed... Not a quick twitch athlete, has stiff hips and has to gear down to change direction so he has trouble getting separation in man coverage on short routes... Has short arms so he isn't able to high point the ball the way you'd expect a guy his size to be able to do... Lets the ball get too far into his body, has a lot of balls that he ends up body catching rather than securing with his hands... A B-athlete who doesn't have the necessary speed or explosion to consistently create separation in the NFL, limiting his overall ceiling.

At Arizona State -- Four-year member of the Sun Devil football team... four-year letterman... played in 47 career games, making 25 starts... finished with 135 career receptions for 2,071 yards and 12 touchdowns... one of two ASU receivers to record a catch in all 13 games of the 2011 season... his 2011 season was one of the most impressive seasons for a wide receiver in recent Sun Devil history as he finished near the top of the school record book in a number of categories, including single-season receiving yards, receptions and yards per game... possessed elite size and athleticism for the wide receiver position... participated in 2012 Senior Bowl and East-West Shrine Game... was one of the top high school players in the state of Arizona and the nation... exciting, versatile athlete who saw playing time at wide receiver, quarterback and safety in high school. 2011: Appeared in all 13 games, starting 12 of them... earned honorable mention All-Pac-12 honors... totaled 77 catches for 1,397 yards and seven touchdowns, all career highs... his 1,397 receiving yards are the second-highest single-season total in school history... the 77 receptions ties him for third most in a single season by a Sun Devil... averaged 107.5 yards per game, setting a school record... turned in six 100-yard receiving games... caught a touchdown pass in seven games... notched a career-high and a MAACO Bowl Las Vegas record with 241 receiving yards on 13 catches, including a career-long 58-yarder... his 241 yards are the second most ever by a Sun Devil wide receiver, and both his receiving yards and receptions set an Arizona State bowl record... earned Hard Hat player recognition for his work in ASU's offseason strength and conditioning program.

Positives -- Had a breakout senior season where he had 72 catches for 1,150 yards and 11 touchdowns... Dangerous big play threat, had seven games this year with catches over 40 yards... Good deep speed, can get behind the defense in a hurry; is able to get separation down the field... Good at working the middle of the field and getting yards after the catch, is an explosive open field runner... Great lateral movement skills, can cut on a dime... Does a good job of catching the ball without gearing down... At his best in the short passing game... Versatile weapon, has experience returning punts and taking end arounds... Good character, came back after a bad injury to put up career numbers, a hard worker on and off the field... Ohio's career leader in receptions (187) and receiving yards (2,515).

Negatives -- Missed almost all of the 2010 season after undergoing leg surgery and received a fifth year of eligibility... Undersized, doesn't have the height or frame to consistently line up outside... Rather weak, only put up 11 reps of 225 pounds at the combine and struggles with press coverage, can get knocked off his routes... Poor leaper, only had a 32.5" vertical, struggles when asked to high point the football... Fights the football too much, doesn't have natural hands... Does not extend his arms, lets the ball get into his body, really needs to work on becoming a more fundamental receiver... Lacks the size and strength to stand out as a blocker... Upside is limited due to his lack of size and strength, more of a slot receiver who can contribute on special teams.

At Ohio -- 2011: Named the Most Valuable Player of the Famous Idaho Potato Bowl... Earned All-MAC Second Team, Phil Steele All-MAC Second Team and CollegeSportsMadness.com All-MAC Second Team honors... Served as the Bobcats primary receiving target and their primary punt returner... Appeared in every game... Made his mark on the Ohio record book as he finished his career with six school records... ## Marquis Maze Scouting Report

Marquis Maze – Alabama (HT: 5-8½ – WT: 186)

Positives -- Dynamic punt returner, has great vision and quickness... Good route runner, sells his route and cuts well... Does not take any wasted steps at the line of scrimmage, has good form and accelerates quickly off the line... Runs low, makes him tough to tackle once the ball is in his hands, great at cutting across the field and making something happen when the ball is in his hands... Although short, he has a thick build and appears to have a strong upper body... A good slot receiver candidate who can double as a return specialist, has a niche in the NFL; selected second-team All-SEC wide receiver and return specialist by the league coaches... At his best when he can run in the open field, can take short passes and turn them into solid gains... Didn't miss a game in four seasons with the Crimson Tide.

Negatives -- Never dominated SEC competition, very marginal production and only had six touchdown receptions over the past three years, including only one as a senior... Despite his speed is not a deep threat, better working within ten yards, only had one reception all season go for over 30 yards... Suffered a small hamstring injury in the national championship game... Lets the ball get into his body, is not a natural hands catcher, drops far too many easy passes... More quick than fast, doesn't have the breakaway speed you look for in a guy that small, can get chased down from behind... Extremely small, one of the shortest wide receivers in this class at 5'8" and only had a 33.5" vertical so he simply cannot go up and high point the football.

At Alabama -- 2011: Marquis Maze is the Crimson Tide's most experienced wide receiver with 53 career games and 34 starts... an explosive player with a team-high 56 receptions on the season, which ranks third in the SEC with 4.67 catches per game and tied for 87th nationally... has 627 receiving yards and one touchdown... has two 100-yard receiving games on the season... ranks third in the league and 10th nationally in punt returns with a 12.39 average... has 31 returns for 384 yards and one touchdown on a weaving 83-yard return against Arkansas... 70th nationally and fourth in the SEC in all-purpose yards with 1,347 (112.3 yards per game)... four-time coaches' Special Teams Player of the Week and an Offensive Player of the Week after Vanderbilt and Tennessee... 30 of his 56 receptions (53.6 percent) have gone for first downs and he has 18 explosive receptions of 15 yards or more as well as 10 punt returns and 11 kickoff returns of 15 yards or longer... has accounted for at least 100 all-purpose yards in six games this season.

Kent State: Etched his name in the UA record books with a game-high tying eight punt returns... also had a career-high 118 receiving yards on a career-high eight receptions... had 96 punt return yards with a long of 27 yards... returned one kickoff a career-best 39 yards... finished with a career-high 253 all-purpose yards. Arkansas: Returned his first career punt for a touchdown on an amazing 83-yard return against the Hogs... finished with 125 punt return yards on four returns (31.25 per return), which equals his career high (Mississippi, 2010) and ties him for the third-best single game in school history... finished with 165 yards of total offense with an additional five receptions for 40 yards and three first-down catches.

Tim Benford Scouting Report

Tim Benford – Tennessee Tech (HT: 5-11½ – WT: 205)

Positives -- Plays fast, has the ability to separate down the field; ran just a 4.59-40 at the combine but helped himself with a 4.48-40 at his pro day... Runs good routes and is able to find the soft spot in zone coverage; has nice fluid hip movement... Strong runner after the catch, is able to rack up yards and run through tacklers, stays low to the ground... Appears strong, is built like a running back with solid bulk; has long arms for his height... Consistent four year producer at Tennessee Tech where he amassed 216 receptions for 3,097 yards and 26 touchdowns... Won Ohio Valley Conference Offensive Player of the Year honors in 2011; three-time first-team all-OVC receiver... Humble player with a good head on his shoulders... A post season riser; had a solid week of practices at the East-West Shrine Game.

Negatives -- Ran poorly at the combine... Shorter than ideal and not much of a leaper, has just a 34" vertical... Has a tendency to catch the ball with his body, doesn't look the ball in and has lapses in concentration... Level of competition will be heavily questioned after playing in the Ohio Valley Conference... Very raw player who doesn't have much upside with his lack of height, speed and hands... Needs to be coached up more as a run blocker.

At Tennessee Tech -- 2010: Tim led Tech and ranked among OVC leaders in both receptions and receiving yards per game... caught 50 passes for 812 yards and 10 touchdowns... ranked third in the conference and 29th in NCAA in receiving yards per game... ranked sixth in the OVC and 42nd nationally in receptions per game... was fourth in the league in scoring touchdowns... held without a catch at Arkansas by a double-teaming Razorback defense, the only game in his career with a reception... made eight catches against Southeast Missouri, Murray State and Jacksonville State... posted three 100-yard games... eight catches for 177 yards and two touchdowns at Southeast Missouri... six catches for 122 yards and two scores against UT Martin... wrapped up the season with eight catches for 114 yards in upset over JSU... narrowly missed two more 100-yard efforts, getting 99 on six catches against Eastern Kentucky, and 98 yards and eight catches at Murray State... two of his three catches at Tennessee State went for touchdowns... had at least one TD catch in seven of Tech's 11 games... earned his second Robert Hill Johnson Award... named first-team all-OVC for second consecutive season... fourth-team all-America by The Sports Network. 2009: Tim was the starter in 10 games in 2009, missing the Eastern Illinois contest... had receptions in all 10 games including multiple catches in eight contests... season-high six catches for 159 yards at UT Martin for his second career 100-yard game... topped the century mark for the second time in the season and third time in his career with 122 yards on five catches against Tennessee State... also posted five catches each against Eastern Kentucky and Georgia... ranked eighth in the OVC in receptions per game and fourth in receiving yards per game (58.0).

Junior Hemingway Scouting Report

Junior Hemingway – Michigan (HT: 6-0 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 225)

Positives -- Has a terrific build, looks like a running back, has a strong lower and upper body... Never stops running, comes back to the quarterback on extended plays... Does a good job of finding the soft spots in zone coverage... Good body control, adjusts well to poorly thrown balls, fights for the football... Great runner after the catch, is able to overpower smaller defenders and is tough to bring down... Elite lateral movement skills; had the fastest three cone and short shuttle times out of all receivers at the combine... Earned the nickname "Big Play Hemingway" in Ann Arbor; great player down the field, averaged over 20 yards per catch as a senior and can go up and make the tough catch... Secures the football well... Good run blocker... May be a better NFL player than college player where his skills were underutilized because of Michigan quarterback Denard Robinson.

Negatives -- Drops some easy passes, doesn't have natural hands and lets the ball get into his body... Struggled to gain separation at the collegiate level, will really have a tough time in the NFL... Never dominated the Big Ten, set a career high as a senior with 34 receptions... Played in a gimmicky offense where he wasn't asked to run a full route tree... An older prospect for this class; will turn 24 during his rookie season... Does not have breakaway speed, is more of a one speed runner... Struggles with press coverage despite his strong frame, he's slow off the line and physical corners can get into his chest.

At Michigan -- Four-year letterman... appeared in 48 games; started 31 contests at wide receiver... 1,638 career receiving yards rank 17th in school history... six career 100-yard games are tied for ninth at U-M... eclipsed 1,000 career receiving yards against Notre Dame (Sept. 10, 2011). 2011: Sugar Bowl champion... Sugar Bowl MVP... earned fourth varsity letter... All-Big Ten honorable mention (coaches)... Phil Steele's Midseason All-Big Ten third team selection... appeared in all 13 games; started 12 games at wide receiver (Western Michigan, Notre Dame, Eastern Michigan, San Diego State, Minnesota, Northwestern, Michigan State, Purdue, Iowa, Illinois, Ohio State, Virginia Tech) and played all 13 games on special teams... team's leading receiver with 34 catches for 699 yards... tied for team lead with four touchdowns... caught two passes for a team-high 63 yards and two touchdowns, which tied a career high, vs. Virginia Tech... caught two passes for a team-high 45 yards and a touchdown vs. Ohio State... hauled in a 26-yard touchdown pass in the first quarter for his second receiving score of the season... led team with three catches for 43 yards at Illinois... led the team with five receptions for 64 yards at Iowa... tied season high with five receptions for a game-high 124 yards at Northwestern... eclipsed 100 receiving yards for the second time this season... snagged a team-high five passes for 56 yards vs. Minnesota... hauled in three passes for a career-best 165 yards and a touchdown, including a career-best 77-yard reception, vs. Notre Dame... scored on a 43-yard catch... became the 28th player in school history to surpass 1,000 career receiving yards.

Lance Lewis Scouting Report

Lance Lewis – East Carolina (HT: 6-0¾ – WT: 209)

Positives -- Has a nice build for an NFL wide receiver, is tall with good upper body strength... Gets off the line well and has some nice initial quickness to beat man coverage... Plays physical and does a good job of fighting off press coverage... Runs good routes, cuts well at the top of the stem, does a good job of creating separation with his routes... Terrific hands, does a great job of catching the ball away from his body and rarely drops a pass... Has great coordination and body control to adjust to poorly thrown balls... Has a nice vertical and can high point the ball... A reliable target who has a knack for finding the first down marker, will be a good third down target... Good blocker who attacks defenders... At his best lining up on the outside and working the middle of the field... Performed well at the Senior Bowl.

Negatives -- Production fell off a bit as a senior... Poor vertical receiver who doesn't have the necessary speed to get behind the defense... Is more of a possession receiver, doesn't have much capability down the field, only had three catches go for over 20 yards as a senior... Doesn't have many open field moves and usually goes down after making the catch, doesn't have much natural running ability... Missed the final four games of his senior year due to a knee injury... Junior College transfer who is old for his class, will turn 24 at the beginning of his rookie season.

At East Carolina -- 2010: Turned in record-breaking campaign after joining the Pirates in August from East Mississippi CC... A Second Team All-Conference USA selection by the C-USA head coaches and Rivals.com while garnering third-team all-league honors from Phil Steele Magazine... Started all 13 games and finished with 89 receptions, 1,116 yards and a single-season East Carolina record 14 touchdowns... Catch and yard totals were the second most in a year in ECU history, trailing only Dwayne Harris' 2010 totals... Ranked second in C-USA in receptions per game (6.8) and fourth in receiving yards per game (85.8)... Stood 12th at the FBS level in receptions per game, 16th in total reception yards and 20th in receiving yards per game... During second half of the season, was the Pirates' top receiver with 52 grabs for 661 yards (110.2 ypg) and seven touchdowns... In Conference USA contests, recorded 49 receptions for 684 yards (14.0 ypc)... Averaged a team-best 90.8 yards receiving per home game compared with 72.3 yards per road tilt... Finished third on the team with 11 plays of 20 or more yards, including a team-best six touchdowns... Made 68-of-89 grabs (76.4 percent) on first or second down, resulting in 30 first downs and nine TDs... In second-and-long situations, caught 20 passes for 10 first downs... Quarterback Dominique Davis' favorite target on second down (54 passes intended/24.3 percent of attempts) and fourth down (six passes intended/31.6 percent of attempts)... Recorded two or more receptions in every game and six or more in all but three contests (three/Memphis, three/Virginia Tech, two/Southern Miss)... Caught 12 touchdown passes in last 10 games and tallied a pair of scores four times during the season... Surpassed the 100-yard threshold in four of the final five games... Hauled in five TD receptions of 30 or more yards (entire Pirate team totaled only four TD receptions of 30 or more yards in 2009)... ## Coby Fleener Scouting Report

Coby Fleener – Stanford (HT: 6-6 – WT: 247)

Positives -- The best route running tight end in the class, makes sharp cuts and has a great head fake... Has really good size; just a tough matchup in general with his blend of size and speed... Excellent in the red zone, uses his size and leaping ability to bring in anything close to him... Comes from a pro style system in Stanford where he was asked to do many of the same things that NFL coaches will expect from him... Tremendous hands, the ball just seems to stick whenever it comes in contact... Good body control, can make catches on poorly thrown balls look easy... Top notch footwork, you can really tell the hard work that he has put in to get quicker... Will always fight for those extra yards... Football intelligence is very high, knows exactly where to find the holes in zone defenses and where to sit... Runs with long strides, makes him seem faster than he really is... Dominates safeties and linebackers when run blocking... Very versatile, Stanford put him all over the field and he was tough to stop anywhere... Played with a great quarterback in Andrew Luck who used him as a safety valve, could be asked to play the same role if drafted to a team with a young quarterback... Finished his career with 96 receptions for 1,543 yards (16.1 yards per completion) and 18 touchdowns, with over 70 percent of that yardage and all but one touchdown coming in the last two seasons.

Negatives -- Not as physical as you would expect in blocking or receiving... Doesn't use his strength to get open, relies a lot on his intelligence and route running... Lacks the strength to be an effective blocker on lineman, needs to work on his technique, doesn't play to his weight room strength... Doesn't have great speed, and it takes him a couple of seconds to reach that top gear... May have already reached his full potential and there may not be that much room for him to grow... Does a lot of things well but doesn't stand out in any one category... Was unable to run at the combine due to sprained right ankle suffered in the Fiesta Bowl; at his pro day, slipping running 3-cone and had ankle re-taped.

At Stanford -- 2010: Second team All-Pac-10 selection who finished the season with 28 catches for 434 yards and seven TDs... ranked as Stanford's third-leading receiver behind Doug Baldwin and Ryan Whalen... touchdown total was second highest behind Baldwin... did not catch a pass in the season opener against Sacramento State, but had 13 catches for 217 yards and four TDs over the next six games... had 13 catches for 207 yards in the final six contests... had TD receptions at UCLA, at Notre Dame, at Oregon, vs. Washington State and vs. Virginia Tech... had a career-high six receptions for 173 yards and three touchdowns in Stanford's 40-12 victory over Virginia Tech in the Orange Bowl... accounted for three of the four second-half touchdowns on passes from Luck measuring 41, 58 and 38 yards... his 58-yard touchdown reception at the 12:28 mark of the fourth quarter was a career-long. 2009: Team's third-leading receiver with 21 receptions for 266 yards and one touchdown... had just two receptions for 20 yards over the first three games of the season before catching a season-high five passes for 57 yards against Washington... his first reception of the game was a career-long 42-yarder... caught at least one pass in the final 10 games of the year... caught three passes for 19 yards in the home win over UCLA... caught one pass in each of the next four games, including a 36-yard reception against Arizona State... had two catches for 28 yards at USC, including his first career touchdown reception on a 24-yard pass from Andrew Luck in the fourth quarter... had four receptions for 56 yards against Notre Dame.

Dwayne Allen Scouting Report

Dwayne Allen – Clemson (HT: 6-3 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 255)

Positives -- One of the strongest tight ends in this draft class, put up 27 reps of 225 pounds at the combine and really knows how to use it on the field... Surprisingly good hands; when you first see him you think of mainly a blocking tight end and that is simply not the case... Looks the ball into his hands before making a move upfield... Showed tremendous improvement in his route running, works his way back to the quarterback very well... Plays fast in pads, has longer strides than you first anticipate... Is a chain mover, meaning that he'll be the guy who goes nine yards down the field on third and eight... Falls forward when defenders attempt to tackle him... Learned the new offensive scheme quickly when Clemson brought in a new offensive coordinator before the 2011 season... Can really take faster defenders out of the play when he makes contact while blocking... Very tough to bump at the line of scrimmage, uses his size and good hands to knock defenders hands away... Hasn't touched the surface of his ability and has a lot of room to grow... A well respected teammate who is a hard worker.

Negatives -- Must work at getting down to receive low passes, and must improve his flexibility to have the arm extension to get to wide throws... Must be more physical since he won't be able to run away from a lot of guys at the next level... Does not have elite speed and could struggle to separate from good cover safeties, ran a 4.89-40 at the combine and it may have dropped his stock a little bit... May have a lack of maturity, threatened to transfer prior to the 2011 season because of the new offensive system... Only had one year of good production... Can sometimes have a lack of concentration and will drop some easy catches... Played in a spread scheme during his only year of major production, raises the question that he may not be as successful on the line of scrimmage compared to the slot.

At Clemson -- 2010: One of 22 midseason candidates for the John Mackey Award... Second-Team All-ACC tight end who was third on the team in receptions (33) in 765 snaps over 13 games (13 starts)... his 33 catches set a school record by a sophomore tight end... totaled 373 receiving yards, third-most on the team... had at least one catch in 12 games... has 21 knockdown blocks, most among tight ends... had a touchdown catch against Presbyterian College... has had his best games on the road against good teams; he had five catches for 66 yards at #15 Auburn... had seven catches for 55 yards at North Carolina and seven catches for 57 yards at Boston College... team offensive player-of-the-game at Boston College by the coaches... top receiver in 2010 Spring Game with three catches for 81 yards. 2009: Had a big impact on the overtime win at Miami (FL) when he had four catches for 36 yards; he played 39 snaps in a starting role in that upset win... played in all 14 games and had six starts... had touchdown catches in the regular season against Georgia Tech (9 yards), Florida State (17 yards) and Virginia (16 yards)... had at least one catch in seven different games... first career catch went for a touchdown at Georgia Tech... played at least 16 snaps in every game and averaged 26 snaps per game for the year... played 25 snaps against Kentucky in the Music City Bowl... had starts against Middle Tennessee, Boston College, Wake Forest, Miami (FL), South Carolina and Kentucky.

Ladarius Green Scouting Report

Ladarius Green – Louisiana Lafayette (HT: 6-5¾ - WT: 238)

Positives -- His blend of size and speed are quickly becoming all of the rage in the NFL... Put up good numbers against superior competition including four catches for 87 yards and a touchdown against Georgia and six receptions for 64 yards against LSU... Good at getting free off the line of scrimmage, uses his hands well to shed the bump and run... Can run underneath routes or spread the field by running vertical routes; either way is a nearly impossible matchup... Extremely strong hands, extends his arms very well for the high passes but still maintains the athleticism to get down and low for passes at his feet... Uses his body to perfection in shielding off defenders and making catches in traffic, might be the best part of his game... Very tough to catch from behind due to his combination of speed and long strides, a big time playmaking threat from the tight end position... Can seal the edge when blocking due to his size and athleticism... Solid work ethic, pushes himself and his teammates to get better every single day... Oozes of potential, a good coach can make him one of the premier tight ends in the game.

Negatives -- Suffered a neck injury in 2009 that caused him to miss three games, also missed two games in 2010 with a sprained ankle... Blocking is a work in progress, shows the effort but isn't seeing the results on the field, can get overpowered by bigger guys and quicker guys just make him miss... Has lacks of concentration when catching the ball, tends to start running upfield before securing the ball... Built more like a bigger wide receiver, question whether or not he can last an entire season playing on the line and being physical... Lack of competition may mean he needs some extra time to develop and get used to the speed of the NFL.

At Louisiana-Lafayette -- 2010: One of eight semifinalists for the John Mackey Award... Six-time John Mackey TE of the Week runner-up... Led all tight ends nationally in receiving yardage (794), receiving yards-per-game (79.4), receiving yards-per-catch (18.0), games with 80 yards or more receiving (7) and receiving touchdowns (7)... Made a catch of 20 yards or longer in all but one game, despite being double-teamed on over 90 percent of his routes... Caught at least one TD pass from three different starting quarterbacks... Led all players in Sun Belt with four 100-yard receiving games and in yards-per-reception (18.0)... Caught a touchdown pass in seven of 10 games played... Had a season-high seven receptions vs. ASU... Played 83 snaps at Ohio - the most by an offensive skill player... Posted 100-yard receiving games in four of final five contests... Hauled in 18 receptions for 334 yards and three touchdowns over the final three games, including a season-high 120 yards in the finale at La.-Monroe... Did not play at NT and vs. No. 22 Oklahoma State (ankle injury). 2009: Was a mid-season addition to the Mackey Watch List - one of three underclassmen on the 22-man midseason list... Started the first seven games until suffering a neck injury vs. FAU... Led team in receiving yards, despite playing only nine games... Third in the Sun Belt in receiving yards per game and tallied the longest reception in the conference (91 yards from Brad McGuire vs. Troy) - it was the third longest reception in school history and fourth longest in SBC history... Made 18 receptions in five SBC games, boasting 19.3 yards per catch and 69.4 yards per game, ranking third in yards per game and third in yards per catch among all receivers in the SBC... Erupted in the final two games, with seven catches for 131 yards vs. La.-Monroe and five grabs for 119 yards and two touchdowns vs. Troy.

Orson Charles Scouting Report

Orson Charles – Georgia (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 251)

Positives -- A wide receiver playing tight end; a matchup nightmare, too fast for linebackers and too big for defensive backs... Stretches the field extremely well for a tight end, was often the big play guy in the Georgia offense... Very dangerous after the catch, has the speed to run away from anybody on the field... Great target in the red zone, uses his frame to out-muscle players, and has the hops to get the ball at its highest point... Very strong, put up 35 reps of 225 pounds at the combine... Solid blocking technique, good job of firing out of his stance and making the initial contact... Pretty versatile, has experience playing the H-Back role... Played against the highest competition in the SEC... Really exploded onto the scene in 2011 with 45 catches for 574 yards and five scores, had 52 receptions combined in his freshman and sophomore year... He's raw but can be groomed into an Aaron Hernandez type player early in his career... Shows the drive to get better every time he steps foot on the field.

Negatives -- Disappointed a lot of people by not running the 40 yard dash at the combine, was expected to put up a great time and send his stock soaring in a weak tight end class... Had a rough go of it at Georgia's pro day, running a 4.90-40 against 20 mph winds and a 4.75-40 with the wind, but looks much faster on tape... Needs to improve his blocking which is understandable since he wasn't asked to do that often at Georgia... Needs to be more consistent with his hands, tends to let the ball come too close to his body resulting in the dropping of easy catches... Also needs to show better concentration on the field, the drops tend to come in bunches... Route running needs some work, tends to round out his routes instead of taking a sharp cut... Relies too much on his speed at times, when he really should focus on running sharp routes and letting that do the work... Name was mentioned in report on recruiting allegations at Miami (FL) but he was cleared to play by the NCAA... Reportedly did not listen well at his pro day, multiple drills were stopped because of him... Was arrested March 9, 2012 and charged with DUI in Clarke County, Ga... Poor pro day and DUI arrest have hurt his stock this offseason.

At Georgia -- 2011: John Mackey Award Finalist...

AFCA First Team All-American; Walter Camp and Phil Steele Second Team All-American and Sports Illustrated All-America Honorable Mention... ## Michael Egnew Scouting Report

Michael Egnew – Missouri (HT: 6-5½ – WT: 252)

Positives -- The former wide receiver has fantastic hands and uses his height to get to the high throws but has the athleticism to get to the low ones too... Has a great sense for when the ball is coming towards him; head is always facing the quarterback at the perfect moment... A good vertical threat for a tight end, can really go up and get the ball... Uses his height and jumping ability very well in the red zone... Has the agility to get away from first defenders... Shows excellent field awareness, knows where the sideline is and where to put his feet on sideline routes... Recognizes the first down marker and won't sit down a yard short... Not afraid to stick his nose in on blocking despite not being asked to do too much of it in college... Always gives his full effort when on the field and plays much stronger than his frame would tell you... Coaches and teammates rave about his leadership and work ethic... Burst on to the scene in 2010 with 90 receptions for 782 yards and five touchdowns.

Negatives -- Not strong enough to work the underneath routes, can get pushed around by linebackers... Has quickness to get by the first guy but won't be mistaken for a big play waiting to happen... His frame makes it tough to get defenders off his back in man coverage... Can be separated from the ball on big hits... Was not tested coming off the line and must learn how to use his hands to separate from press coverage... Does not have the speed to run away from better coverage linebackers... Not a finished product by any means, may have to spend a better portion of his rookie year learning the game and getting stronger... Played in a spread offense that didn't require him to make coverage reads... Missed most of spring practice in 2009 after suffering a high ankle sprain that required surgery.

At Missouri -- 2010: Won consensus 1st-Team All-American honors as he burst onto the scene by leading all the nation's tight ends with 90 receptions for 762 yards and 5 touchdowns - all coming after he caught a combined seven passes for 47 yards in his first two seasons as a Tiger... Ranked third in the Big 12 and 10th in the nation with 6.92 receptions per game... His 90 catches on the year ranked third on MU's single-season receptions list and tied him with Chase Coffman for the MU season record for tight ends... Made 10 receptions for 60 yards against Illinois in his first career start... Scored the first touchdown of his career on a six-yard pass from Blaine Gabbert in the fourth quarter in MU's comeback win over the Illini... Had six catches in the home opener against McNeese State for 52 yards... That included a career-long 29-yard reception... Set a new career high with 13 receptions against San Diego State... Had 145 yards against SDSU, also a career best... The 13 receptions and 145 yards set new school single-game record for tight ends at Mizzou... Had four receptions for 41 yards in the victory over Miami (Ohio)... Caught two touchdowns against Colorado on receptions of 10 and seven yards... Caught six passes for 52 yards vs. CU... Had 10 receptions for 87 yards against Texas A&M... Caught a pass of Mizzou's first three plays of the game against Texas A&M... Had seven receptions against Oklahoma... Led the team with seven receptions against Nebraska for 70 yards... Caught three pass for 16 yards against Texas Tech... Made eight catches for 55 yards against Kansas State, including a long of 25 yards... Led the team with seven receptions against Iowa State for 77 yards... Put the Tigers on the board with an 11-yard TD catch in first quarter vs. ISU... Made five receptions for 35 yards against Kansas, and closed the year with a 7-catch outing in the Insight Bowl against Iowa, for 64 yards and a key touchdown.

DeAngelo Peterson Scouting Report

DeAngelo Peterson – LSU (HT: 6-3 – WT: 243)

Positives -- Looks the part of a tight end, great build and is the prototype in terms of body type, a physical specimen... A matchup nightmare, too fast for linebackers and too big for safeties, originally signed with LSU as a wide receiver and was converted to tight end... Has the speed to be a vertical threat when lined up in the slot... Runs very hard after the catch and uses his top flight quickness to run away from defenders in the open field... Wasn't used to his full ability in college, only started 10 games, but when he was provided a big spark for a desperate passing game... Naturally strong and uses his long arms when asked to seal the edge on running plays... Has lot of upside, is still very raw but is just scratching the surface of his potential and could grow to be one of the best in league if motivated properly.

Negatives -- Doesn't like to run routes in the middle of the field, almost feels like he's afraid to take a big hit... Poor blocking technique, tends to get too upright and he simply isn't big enough to hold off stronger defensive ends and some linebackers, needs a lot of work to develop as a blocker... Struggles to get off the line when asked to block... Had some bad penalties called on him, needs to be more mature to not make the same mistakes in the NFL... Is extremely raw, more of an athlete than a tight end at this point in his career... Relies too much on his body when catching the ball, needs to use his hands better and not let the ball get to him... Drops easy passes due to lack of concentration... There are times where you question if he has ever put in a day of extra practice to harness his ability, should be a lot better than he really is with his frame... Missed the first three games of the 2010 season with an ankle injury.

At Louisiana State -- 2011: Played in 14 games with five starts for the Tigers... Ranked third on team with 18 catches for 179 yards... Added one touchdown... Led all LSU receivers with two catches for 28 yards at Ole Miss as the Tigers only threw eight total passes... Caught one pass for a nine-yard touchdown against Northwestern State, his first TD reception since 2009... Leading receiver for the Tigers against Oregon as he hauled in four catches for 62 yards with a long of 29 yards... Caught one pass for seven yards against Alabama in the national championship game. 2010: Missed the first three games with an ankle injury and played in 10 games with three starts... Starts came against Tennessee, Auburn and Texas A&M in the Cotton Bowl... Ranked fourth on the squad in receiving yards with 198 on 16 catches... Tallied a career-high 76 yards receiving on three catches against Ole Miss with a career-long reception of 40 yards... Converted one of the most talked about plays in college football all season when he took a reverse on fourth-and-one and carried it 23 yards to the 3-yard line against Alabama... The trick play set up the eventual game-winning score... Also snared two passes for 25 yards in the win over the Tide... Pulled down two passes (both for first downs) for 38 yards at Florida... Established a career high five catches for 45 yards against Tennessee. 2009: Played in all 13 games with two starts... Caught five passes for 82 yards and a pair of touchdowns... All five of his receptions resulted in a first down with two of them going for touchdowns... Hauled in a 15-yard touchdown reception in the third quarter to push LSU's lead to 24-13 against Arkansas in the season finale... Caught a 12-yard touchdown pass from Jordan Jefferson with 9:12 left in the second quarter at Alabama for his first career TD reception on only his fourth career catch... Finished with two catches for 40 yards and one TD at Alabama... Made his first career start and reception for 13 yards and a first down at Mississippi State... Other reception came in win over Auburn for 14 yards.

Chase Ford Scouting Report

Positives -- Excellent ball skills, similar to former Hurricanes tight end Jimmy Graham in his ability to go up and get the ball at its peak... Top notch hands, rarely drops anything or lets the ball come too close to his body... You can't teach his size, could develop into a red zone threat right away just based on his hands and size... Good route runner, very disciplined on his breaks with no wasted motion and gets an extra step with his quick feet and head fakes... Knows how to shield defenders using his body, never lets anybody get in front of him on passes, almost boxes them out a like a guy going for a rebound...

Understands zone coverages, sits down in the soft spots and waits for the ball to get to him... The highest upside of any tight end in this class, has the skill set to develop into one of the premier players at his position.

Negatives -- Shows little explosion off the line of scrimmage, takes him a while to get up to full speed... Not much of a downfield threat, much better at the short to intermediate routes... Not the type of athlete you would expect for Miami to produce, doesn't wow you in any of his speed or agility attributes... Doesn't get initial separation, leading to defenders being draped all over him and preventing him from being a quarterbacks' safety option... Tendency to get lazy and just glide into his breaks, relies on his size to bail him out in those situations... In 21 career games at Miami, had just 16 receptions for 184 yards and two touchdowns... A major project, a coach will have to put in a lot of time and effort for him to reach his full ability... The ultimate boom or bust prospect, will either shine or be out of the league in three years.

At Miami (FL) -- According to CBS Sports' Dane Brugler, was one of the top ten prospects who helped themselves at the East-West Shrine Game: "With only 16 career catches at Miami the past two years, Ford was a bit of an unknown entering this week. But he quickly showed off his skills as a natural pass catcher with fluid body control and terrific hand-eye coordination. At 6-feet-6 and 258 pounds, Ford has the size and frame for the position with reliable hands, especially in traffic. He is a bit one-dimensional as a pass-catcher and needs a lot of work as a blocker, but certainly put his name on the draftable radar after his work this week." 2011: Played in all 12 games, earning six starts at tight end... Recorded at least one catch in seven games... Scored his lone touchdown of the season against Duke... Registered a season-high 33-yard reception against Kansas State... Recorded two receptions in games against Florida State and Virginia... Two-year letterman. 2010: Appeared in nine games, starting one... Recorded 37 yards against Notre Dame in the Sun Bowl... Had three games with at least two catches. Junior College: Second-team junior college All-American... Named first-team Southwest Junior College Football Conference's MVP after leading the conference with 32 receptions and 545 receiving yards... Named first All-SWJCFC... As a high school senior at Corrigan-Camden High, earned All-District honors as a senior.

James Hanna Scouting Report

James Hanna – Oklahoma (HT: 6-3¾ – WT: 252)

Positives -- Has a nose for the end zone; seven of his 18 receptions in 2010 went for touchdowns... Excellent body control; makes impossible catches that just drop your jaw... Will provide a team with a good red zone target; makes himself bigger than the nearly 6'4" that he is... A nightmare for most safeties to tackle; always looking to run over a smaller player and he can do it well... Pretty athletic but especially in the air; has shown the ability to go up and over players at full speed and make surreal catches... Posted some of the best numbers for tight ends at the combine; including a 4.49-40 and a 36½" vertical leap... Knows how to run good routes; was used as a QBs' safety valve and can bail them out of tough situations... May have to start out on special teams but should find a role in the league... Production rose each year in college and he hasn't hit his full potential yet.

Negatives -- Doesn't play remotely close to his 4.49-40 time; caught a lot of people by surprise when he posted that... Seems afraid to go across the middle; loses his focus when he knows that he's going to get popped, developed a reputation of being soft and easy to fluster... Very limited as a blocker, only thing he can really do is seal the edge but isn't strong enough to go one on one with any average NFL defensive lineman... Teams know that the best way to get him off his game is to jam him hard at the line of scrimmage; doesn't know how to use his hands to beat it... Can be lazy when it comes to route running; he knows what to do but it just feels that he's going through the motions at times.

At Oklahoma -- 2011: All-Big 12 second team by Associated Press and coaches... had career bests for a season with 25 receptions and 363 yards... entered the year with just 25 career receptions... has at least one catch in every game this season and multiple catches in eight games... tied a career high with four receptions at Baylor... had touchdowns vs. Ball State and Texas Tech... had 10 catches for 154 yards in the final four games of the season. 2010: All-Big 12 honorable mention by AP... seven of 18 receptions went for touchdowns... had career highs in receptions (four) and receiving yards (130) at Oklahoma State after hauling in a career-long 76-yard TD pass to ice the game. 2009: Started two games at tight end while appearing in all 12... had two receptions at Nebraska... season-long catch of 19 yards against Kansas State. 2008: A reserve tight end... also saw time on special teams... lone reception came against Texas A&M... also recorded two tackles, one each against Kansas and Nebraska. High School: District offensive MVP in 2007... selected to the Texas Sports Writers' All-State team as an honorable mention wide receiver... in 2007, hauled in 53 catches for 765 yards with 11 touchdowns... also returned six punts for 145 yards and a TD and six kicks for 181 yards and another score... rushed 17 times for 131 yards... coached by Cody Vanderford.

Rhett Ellison Scouting Report

Rhett Ellison – USC (HT: 6-4 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 251)

Positives -- Good frame, has the body to add another 10-15 pounds without losing any of his elite athleticism... Shows good tight quarter quickness, can shake defenders with a few steps... Is tough to stop when he gets a full head of steam, uses the speed to attack the field vertically and is extremely hard to stop in those situations... Gets off the line of scrimmage with authority when going out for a pass... Is nearly impossible to jam off the line due to a great up-and-over arm move... Takes sharp breaks when breaking off a route, tough to track step for step as a defender... Shows no fear when going across the middle, willing to take big hits if it means catching the football and moving the chains... Gets straight into defenders when run blocking without taking extra steps or wasting motion... Very smart player, understands how to block and uses angles to hold his blocks and not let defenders make plays... Shows good effort at all times and puts in the work to get better each day... Shows the ability to play on special teams and could make an immediate impact there.

Negatives -- Not much of a threat with the ball in his hands in after the catch situations... Doesn't have pop when blocking, tends to get overpowered due to a lack of strength... Needs to tighten up his route running, tends to get too upright and not sell a fake like he should... Can lose his balance when blocking because of the tendency to overextend his arms... Never had more than 22 receptions in a season, or had a major impact in any specific USC game... Missed four games in 2008 with a broken foot and missed spring practice in 2010 with mono... Nothing about his game really stands out, seems to just have some good traits without one thing that separates him from the rest of the pack.

At Southern California -- 2010: Ellison started all season at tight end as a junior in 2010. Overall in 2010 while starting all 13 games, he had 21 catches for 239 yards (11.4 avg.) with 3 TDs and also made 3 tackles. He made 2010 All-Pac-10 honorable mention. He missed 2010 spring practice because of mononucleosis. He had 3 catches for 34 yards against Hawaii, including stretching out for a 6-yard TD. He had 3 receptions for 45 yards against Minnesota, then had a 29-yard reception against Washington State and a 4-yard grab against California. He added 2 catches for 26 yards against Oregon, then 3 receptions for 32 yards, including a 7-yard TD, against Arizona. He had a 10-yard catch and a tackle against Oregon State, then 5 receptions for 38 yards against Notre Dame and 2 grabs for 21 yards (with a 5-yard TD) at UCLA. 2009: Ellison served as the often-used backup tight end and played on special teams as a sophomore in 2009. Overall in 2009 while appearing in all 13 games, he had 6 catches for 41 yards (6.8 avg.) with 1 TD, plus made 4 tackles. He even started 4 games (Oregon, Arizona State, Stanford, Boston College). He caught a 4-yard touchdown against San Jose State, made 2 tackles at Ohio State, had 2 catches for 23 yards and made a tackle at Notre Dame, had a 4-yard catch and a tackle at Arizona State and had 2 receptions for 10 yards against Arizona. 2008: Ellison served as an often-used backup tight end as a redshirt freshman in 2008. Overall in 2008 while appearing in 9 games (all but Oregon, Arizona State, Washington State and Arizona), he had 4 receptions for 58 yards (14.5 avg.). He had 2 catches for 33 yards against Washington and had a 25-yard grab versus California. He even started the UCLA and Penn State games at fullback and split time between there and tight end in those games.

Brian Linthicum Scouting Report

Brian Linthicum – Michigan State (HT: 6-3¾ – WT: 249)

Positives -- Good route runner who possesses a good head fake that gives him space from his defender... Quick feet allow him to get in and out of his breaks without any wasted movement... Very good in small spaces, uses his body well to create room in tight areas... A zone buster, very adept at find the opening and possessing himself there... Adjusts well to the football in the air, excellent at locating the ball and getting it at its highest point... Not afraid to go over the middle and take a lick... He'll catch everything that he is expected to and shows the ability to get the tough ones... Uses good leverage when blocking and can really fire up out of his stance... Was successful at going in motion before blocking to give him a little bit of momentum before making contact with a defender... Has the frame to put on some more muscle... Very tough, played through a leg injury as a junior.

Negatives -- Has a history of knee problems that may cause some teams to leave him off of their draft boards... Not a very good athlete, will not be able to take defenders up the field in man to man coverage... A very limited blocker, has the technique down but isn't strong enough to hold his block for a good amount of time... Needs to add more muscle if he wants to survive the everyday wear and tear of the NFL... Struggles to recognize the defense at times, which causes him to be slow out of his stance and not get the burst that he's capable of... Needs to be careful not to waste motion when running routes, tends to get lazy on his cuts and round them out, which isn't something he can get away with because he's not a dynamic athlete.

At Michigan State -- 2011: Named second-team All-Big Ten by the coaches; honorable mention selection by the media... ranked fourth on the team with a career-high 31 receptions for 364 yards (11.7 avg.)... started 13 games... set career highs in both receptions (seven) and receiving yards (115) in the 2012 Outback Bowl against No. 18 Georgia, including a career-long 50-yard reception in the fourth quarter... caught three passes for 31 yards at Northwestern... named National Tight End of the Week by the John Mackey Award and the College Football Performance Awards after recording five receptions for 71 yards in the win at Iowa... caught two passes for 14 yards against Minnesota... had two catches for 16 yards at No. 13 Nebraska... hauled in three receptions for 58 yards in victory over No. 4 Wisconsin... had two catches for 22 yards in the win over Michigan... named a game captain for the Notre Dame game. 2010: Saw action in all 13 games, including six starts (vs. Northern Colorado, Wisconsin, Michigan, Illinois, Northwestern and Penn State)... finished sixth on the team with 18 catches for 230 yards (12.8 avg.)... caught at least one pass in 10 games... his 28-yard diving reception vs. No. 15 Alabama in the 2011 Capital One Bowl made ESPN SportsCenter's "Top 10" Plays... matched his career high with four catches for 42 yards at Penn State... also recovered Penn State's attempted onside kick with 55 seconds left to ice MSU's 28-22 victory in State College, as the Spartans clinched a share of the 2010 Big Ten Championship.

George Bryan Scouting Report

George Bryan – North Carolina State (HT: 6-5 – WT: 265)

Positives -- A model of consistency in college, had at least 30 receptions and three touchdowns during his final three seasons... A great red zone target, really knows how to use his body in small spaces and is a tough matchup for any defender... Surprisingly quick for a man of his size; people underestimate him when he goes down the field... Can hold his own when blocking, has a nasty side to him that you do not want to mess with... Is not afraid to go across the middle and take a big hit, his hands allow him to protect the football and his size protects him... Works very hard off the field, will put in extra time to get acquainted with the offense and will study the playbook very hard... Really knows how to work the zone, finds the opening and sits in it... An absolute load to bring down, sometimes takes three to four guys just to wrestle him to the ground... A better receiver than some would anticipate, not just a big body and can be used in more ways than just blocking.

Negatives -- It takes a lot of time for him to reach full speed; wouldn't qualify as too much of a threat down the seam... You would expect him to be stronger for a man of his size... Tends to snap his hips instead of having a good bend, could lead to an injury down the line... He can't get yards after the catch because he simply can't run away from defenders... Not a very good route runner, very stiff in the hips and can't really sell a fake, and most defenders know he's not too much of a downfield threat so they only respect his short routes... Needs more time in the weight room, not very strong and simply cannot move bigger defenders off the line of scrimmage.

At North Carolina State -- 2010: First-team All-ACC performer for the second straight year... A semifinalist for the 2010 Mackey Award... Tied for ninth in school history with 13 career touchdown receptions, the highest mark among returning players... Ranked third on the team in receiving with 35 catches for 369 yards... Pulled down the longest catch of his career, a 37-yarder, in the win over Boston College... Only the third tight end in school history to earn first-team All-ACC honors... Earned the team's Bo Rein Award, given to the players who "makes a vital contribution in an unsung role." 2009: Named a first-team All-ACC performer after leading all league tight ends in receptions... The Wolfpack's second-leading receiver with 40 catches, he led the team for much of the season... Named to the midseason 'watch' list for the Mackey Trophy, he was the only ACC player to make the list and one of just three sophomores... Named to Phil Steele's mid-season All-ACC first team... Had six grabs for 89 yards and two touchdowns in the win over Gardner-Webb, all three marks were career bests... Also had six catches at Wake Forest... Scored six touchdowns on the season. 2008: Talented young player who started six games in 2008 - four when the Pack's two most experienced tight ends were out with injuries and two when the team opened with two tight ends... Scored the Pack's first touchdown in the romp at North Carolina - he held on to a 17-yard reception despite getting hammered at the goalline... Led the team in receiving with five grabs against East Carolina, gaining 58 yards including a 30-yard bomb and the late fourth-quarter game-tying score... The Pack's fifth-leading receiver with 18 catches for 201 yards... Ranked second on the team with four touchdown receptions... In for more snaps (404) from scrimmage than any other Wolfpack tight end.

David Paulson Scouting Report

David Paulson – Oregon (HT: 6-3¼ – WT: 246)

Positives -- Very good hands, will make easy catches without a problem and can snag poorly thrown balls with little problem... Doesn't juggle passes, when they hit his hands they seem to stick like a magnet... Excellent at adjusting to the football in the air, can contort his body and uses his arms to get footballs that he seems to have no shot at... Hand eye coordination is superb, can absorb a big hit and still look the ball into his hands... A zone tight end, his vision allows him to pick out the soft spots in the zone and he can get there and with his hands he can destroy teams... Very quick learner who should be able to make a contribution right away... One of the best work ethics in the entire draft, you'll get his absolutely best on every single day... Excellent character; vocal leader... Has great versatility, can line up all over the field and is great coming out of the backfield.

Negatives -- Lacks NFL level agility; tendency to rise up too quickly when releasing from the line of scrimmage... Not the best blocker; has good strength but the offense that Oregon ran didn't give him the full opportunity to show his blocking... His offense in college was a spread zone read so his transition from that to a pro style will be interesting to watch... Can't get much separation from defenders down the field; has the speed but can't seem to get guys off his back... Lack of wiggle stops him from getting open on short routes too, doesn't use his size to stop defenders from making plays on the ball... Not the tallest guy which hampers his use in the red zone... Can he be effective when the offense doesn't have to use gimmicks to distract the back seven?

At Oregon -- 2011: All-Pac-12 second team (Pac-12 coaches, Phil Steele)... Capital One academic all-district 8 and Pac-12 all-academic first team selection... Selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game for the West... Appeared in 14 games, starting 13... Team's third-leading receiver with 31 catches, 438 yards and six touchdowns... Made one grab for 10 yards in Oregon's Rose Bowl win vs. Wisconsin... Caught two passes, including a 22-yard touchdown in victory over UCLA in the Pac-12 Championship Game... Had a career-high 105 yards on eight receptions and a touchdown in win vs. Oregon State, earning national tight end performer of the week from the College Football Performance Awards... Three catches for 48 yards, made one tackle and caught a pass to convert on a 2-point conversion vs. USC... Three grabs for a team-high 65 yards and a touchdown in win at Washington... Two receptions for 31 yards vs. Washington State... Caught a touchdown for the second straight game and had two catches for a team-high 48 yards in win at Colorado... Also passed for a 2-point PAT against the Buffaloes... Three catches for 41 yards and a TD in win over Arizona State... Led the team with 22 yards on three receptions and a touchdown at Arizona... Lone reception went for five yards in win vs. Nevada... Three grabs for 21 yards against LSU... Led all tight ends in vertical leap (28.5 inches), fly 30 (3.09 seconds), shuttle (4.21 seconds) and "L" run (7.27) during winter conditioning... Led the White Team with four catches for 42 yards in the spring game.

Taylor Thompson Scouting Report

Taylor Thompson – SMU (HT: 6-6 – WT: 276)

Positives -- An absolute monster; he looks the part, has tremendous arm length and ran a stunning 4.57-40 at the SMU pro day... Great football strength; it won't show up on the bench press but Thompson has the strength that makes it very difficult to move him off the line... A surprisingly good athlete, moves like a man 40 pounds less and makes plays that leave you speechless... Attacks the line of scrimmage like a man possessed; seems to relish the first contact between him and an offensive lineman... A very good pocket pusher; had multiple sacks from driving the offensive lineman into the quarterback... A very smart player; rarely fooled and always knows where the ball is... A lot of upside, a good coaching staff will know how to maximize his ability... Played defensive end in the 3-4, but has the tools to play in the 4-3 also; his versatility may drive him up a round or two... Recruited to SMU has a tight end but has made incredible progress on the defensive side of the ball; has also done well in tight end workouts this offseason and could go in the middle rounds if an team is convinced tight end is his NFL position.

Negatives -- Does not give maximum effort all the time, takes a lot of plays off and it shows on film... Doesn't play with the aggression that he is capable of, will try but will hold certain things back during the play... Huge questions about his mental toughness; coaches will get on him hard during his rookie year, and if he can't handle it then his NFL career will be short... Doesn't have a lot of pass rushing moves, not fast enough to be a speed rusher and his height limits his leverage on bull rushes... Not a major competitor; doesn't take games as seriously as he should and it sometimes leaves teammates out to dry when he simply doesn't feel like doing something... His love of football is also a question; is he in it for the love of the game or the paycheck?

At SMU -- 2010: Started in all 14 games at defensive end... Named First Team Conference USA... Posted 32 tackles, 5.5 TFLs, 4.5 sacks and three QB hurries on the season... Recorded a sack for an 11-yard loss and a pass breakup against UAB... Notched 1.5 sacks against Washington State... Had five tackles against TCU... Recorded a season-high seven tackles at Navy... Notched a sack and three tackles at Tulane... Had two QB hurries and three tackles at UTEP... Posted a sack and four tackles against Marshall. 2009: Named honorable mention All-Conference USA by the league's coaches... Started all 13 games... Had 40 tackles and a team-high 5.5 sacks on the year... Had perhaps his biggest play of the season when he sacked UTEP quarterback Trevor Vittatoe to end the final Miner scoring threat and clinch an SMU win and bowl berth... Had a season-high seven tackles at Houston... Blocked a PAT in the UAB win, a block which forced UAB to go for a two-point conversion at the end of the game - a conversion SMU stopped - as the Mustangs snapped a 17-game conference losing streak and a 15-game road losing streak. 2008: Played in nine games, starting three... Had 23 tackles on the year, including a season-best eight stops at UTEP... Had 4-tackle games against Memphis and Southern Miss.

Kevin Koger Scouting Report

Kevin Koger – Michigan (HT: 6-3¼ – WT: 262)

Positives -- His size can cause some problems for defenders; a long strider who can run away from linebackers... Impressive range for a player of his size; can go up and get the ball with the best of them or can get low and snag passes inches from the grass, has reasonably long arms that allow him to do such things... Excellent hands, never lets the ball get to his body and makes difficult catches seem routine... Has the size to be an impact blocker in the NFL, just needs to put in some work on his technique... Played in a pro style system in his senior year and set new career highs in receptions, yards and touchdowns...

Hasn't even touched the tip of the iceberg in terms of his potential... His production would have been a lot higher if he had played with a quarterback that was able to get him the ball on a consistent basis.

Negatives -- Not a very good route runner, doesn't sell his moves very well and seems to have a better feel when there is a guy trying to catch up to him... Tendency to take a little bit too long breaking off his route, allows the defender to make up one or two steps and make a play on the ball... Not the fastest guy, won't make a lot of people miss in the open field... Wasn't thrown to enough, was not a fit in former Michigan head coach Rich Rodriguez's spread offense... Has the ability to be a good blocker but showed limited effort in college... Not the type of red zone threat that you would expect for a 260 pound player... Very raw, will need a lot of work before getting significant playing time... Can't play in the slot, is strictly an on the line player which could be a problem for a team who likes a versatile player at the position... Had surgery in March to repair a torn Achilles suffered in training and will be out 6-8 months.

At Michigan -- 2011: Sugar Bowl champion... earned fourth varsity letter... All-Big Ten honorable mention (coaches and media)... voted a 2011 season captain by teammates during fall camp... named to the Mackey Award preseason watch list... co-recipient of U-M's Robert P. Ufer Bequest (senior demonstrating most enthusiasm and love for Michigan)... appeared in all 13 games; started 12 games at tight end (Western Michigan, Notre Dame, Eastern Michigan, San Diego State, Minnesota, Northwestern, Michigan State, Purdue, Iowa, Nebraska, Ohio State, Virginia Tech) and contributed each game on special teams... team's third leading receiver with 23 receptions for 244 yards... tied for team lead with four receiving touchdowns... grabbed a career-matching four receptions for 40 yards and a touchdown in the fourth quarter vs. Ohio State (Nov. 26)... snagged two passes for a season-high 42 yards at Illinois (Nov. 12)... caught three passes for 18 yards and posted third touchdown of the season in the fourth quarter at Iowa (Nov. 5)... set season-high three catches for 35 yards and a touchdown vs. Minnesota (Oct. 1)... two catches for 21 yards and a touchdown vs. Eastern Michigan (Sept. 17). 2010: earned third varsity letter... John Mackey Award watch list... started in eight games and appeared in all 13 contests at tight end... caught 14 passes for 199 yards and two touchdowns... started at tight end vs. Connecticut (Sept. 4), grabbing three passes for 30 yards... made start at tight end against Notre Dame (Sept. 11)... played at tight end vs. Massachusetts (Sept. 18) and Bowling Green (Sept. 25)... caught one pass for a three-yard touchdown in start at Indiana (Oct. 2)... made one reception for six yards in start vs. Michigan State (Oct. 9)... posted three catches for 26 yards in start vs. Iowa (Oct. 16)... made one reception that resulted in a career-long, 60-yard touchdown in start at Penn State (Oct. 30).

Josh Chichester Scouting Report

Josh Chichester – Louisville (HT: 6-8 – WT: 240)

Positives -- Wins every jump ball; a nightmare to defend in the red zone, a quarterback just toss the ball up and he'll go up and get it... Is a converted wide receiver so he's new to the position but shows the drive and character to perfect the craft... Very tough to jam off the line; his long arms just shoo people away from him and it's tough to knock him off balance, has the hip bend that allows him to dip the shoulders and get away from defenders... Not the best blocker but really tries to be good at it; just needs a coach to help him with technique... Good awareness; makes the sideline catches look routine because of his ability to get his feet down, always knows where he is on the field... Very good at tracking the football; knows where the ball is in the air and can make adjustments on the fly... A long strider who has the ability to run away from linebackers.

Negatives -- Has a difficult time breaking in and out of his routes because of his length; needs to stop gliding into a cut and just plant and go... Probably won't be able to play much on the line, doesn't have the strength to be an inline blocker and will really struggle against large defensive ends... Has low acceleration; it takes him a couple of seconds to reach his full speed and by then the play could already be over... Production wasn't what you would expect for a player of his size and ability, never had more than 30 receptions or five touchdowns in a season... Tendency to lose his focus on routine catches; also tends to let the ball come into his pads instead of using his arms and plucking it from the air.

At Louisville -- 2010: Ended the season with 22 receptions for 317 yards and tied for the team lead with five touchdowns... averaged 14.4 yards a catch... caught three passes for 27 yards, including a 10-yard touchdown reception against Southern Mississippi in the Beef 'O'Brady's Bowl... recorded two receptions for 19 yards in road win at Rutgers... had one catch, a two-yard touchdown reception to cap the Cards' 14-play, 80-yard drive in the second quarter of an overtime loss to USF... notched two catches for 50 yards, including a 21-yard touchdown that to help clinch the win over the Orange... registered two catches for 33 yards in the win over Connecticut... finished with two catches for 14 yards, including 11-yard touchdown reception versus Cincinnati... notched two catches for career best 67 yards and one touchdown, for career long 48 yards in a win over Memphis... had season-high four catches for career best 66 yards in the win at Arkansas State... caught two passes for 22 yards against Eastern Kentucky. 2009: Played in 11 games... production slipped to just 17 receptions for 202 yards and two scores, finishing fifth on the team... recorded three catches for 44 yards against Syracuse, including game-winning touchdown with one minute left in the game... had two catches, including a touchdown at Cincinnati... had three catches for 22 yards at Connecticut... finished with season-high three catches and 55 yards against Pittsburgh... had one catch for 12 yards against Kentucky... played but did not have a catch in the Cards' opener against Indiana State.

Matt Kalil Scouting Report

Matt Kalil – USC (HT: 6-6 $\frac{5}{8}$  – WT: 306)

Positives -- Incredible size, NFL-ready body, big frame that he uses to overpower defenders... Uses great footwork and always stays in front of defender... Has a very good shuffle to the outside; he will rarely let his defender get to outside shoulder in protection... Really knows how to use defenders' momentum against them, can push them behind the pocket; has elite athleticism to stick with blocks... Plays angles very well in both the passing and running game... He gets a good push in running game and is very good down-hill blocker... Really moves the line of scrimmage forward and has the ability to seal off the end on edge runs... Athletic enough to get to second level and make high-quality blocks in run game... Great blocker in open space and on pulls to the left... Very agile and smart in space... Understands the art of blocking, uses his size and athleticism to his advantage... Owns his edge of the line and dominates his section of the line of scrimmage... Plug-and-play type left tackle in the NFL, has the smarts to pick up protection at the NFL level and the size and athleticism to hold his own against some of the better pass-rushers in the game... This guy is so highly regarded he forced former top ten pick Tyron Smith to the right side at Southern California... Was never a doubt but solidified his position as the top offensive line prospect available with a 4.99-40, second fastest among offensive linemen, and 1.70 10-yard split at the combine, and also put up 30 reps of 225 lbs. on the bench press.

Negatives -- Maybe a beneficiary of a very smart quarterback with great pocket presence... Great at pushing defenders out and backwards, but could present problems if quarterback doesn't step up... Forcing defenders out and behind won't work against veteran NFL defensive ends... Needs to develop better inside blocking technique, has trouble on inside counter-moves, predominantly beat with inside cuts.

At Southern California -- 2010: Kalil started all 13 games at left offensive tackle as a sophomore in 2010. He blocked a PAT against Notre Dame. 2009: Kalil served as a backup right offensive tackle as a redshirt freshman in 2009, but played primarily on special teams. He started against Boston College and performed well, and saw limited action in 11 other games in 2009 (all but Arizona State). 2008: Kalil redshirted as a freshman offensive tackle in 2008, his first year at USC. He was sidelined for a few weeks during the season with a sprained knee. High School: His 2007 honors included Parade All-American, Super Prep All-American, Prep Star All-American, EA Sports All-American first team, USA Today All-USA second team, Scout.com All-American second team, ESPN 150, Super Prep Elite 50, Prep Star Dream Team, Super Prep All-Farwest, Prep Star All-West, Long Beach Press-Telegram Best in the West first team, Orange County Register Fab 15, Tacoma News Tribune Western 100, Cal-Hi Sports All-State first team, All-CIF Pac-5 Division first team, Los Angeles Times All-Star, Orange County Register All-Orange County first team and All-Trinity League Co-Lineman of the Year as a senior offensive and defensive lineman at Servite High in Anaheim (Calif.). Personal: He's a sociology major at USC. His father, Frank, was a center at Arkansas (1978) and Arizona (1980-82), then was drafted by the Buffalo Bills in 1982 before playing for the USFL's Arizona Wranglers in 1983 and Houston Gamblers in 1984. His brother, Ryan, lettered 4 years (2003-06) at center for USC, where he earned All-American honors and was the Pac-10 Morris Trophy winner in 2006 (he was a member of USC's 2003 and 2004 national championship squads), and now plays with the NFL's Carolina Panthers.

Riley Reiff Scouting Report

Riley Reiff – Iowa (HT: 6-5¾ – WT: 313)

Positives -- Seems to be comfortable in both the run and pass game, which makes him a very valuable asset in the NFL... Moves with the defender very well in pass coverage and may be the best inside blocker in the draft... Has a great outside step, but can also shuffle inside to prevent a defender from undercutting his block... Very shifty pass blocker, can stick with defenders no matter where they go... Very quick on his feet, blocks on his toes, never seems to be caught blocking a defender on his heels... Always moving forward and pushing the pass rusher... Even if he has to take the defender behind the pocket, he continues to push, instead of simply just getting in the way... Has a very uncanny ability to move around the pocket for a left tackle... Constantly driving the defender forward, even in the passing game... Is a very tenacious blocker, especially in the running game where he can drive his defender up-field... When he's on a block in the run game, he drives forward extremely well for a left tackle... Very good down-blocker in the run game, cuts off the edge nicely... Very good motor for being such a big man, is always moving his feet.

Negatives -- Occasionally has a problem getting his helmet on the right side in the running game... If he's beaten in the run game, usually not because he was beat physically, but more so in the sense that he blocked his defender into the play... Seems to have an issue if he has to help chip on another defender... Very good one-on-one blocker, but seems to have a problem chipping to the inside and helping the guard if needed... Very aggressive blocker, which is good in most cases, but there is reason to believe that veteran NFL defenders will use his aggression against him and get him off balance, has showed signs of being susceptible to that... Some teams have reportedly moved him to guard on their draft board, arms are slightly shorter than NFL teams prefer for left tackles.

At Iowa -- 2011: Started all 13 games at left tackle... started at left tackle in 34-7 opening win over Tennessee Tech... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in triple-overtime loss at Iowa State... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in 31-27 win over Pittsburgh as offense gained 475 yards total offense... started at left tackle in 45-17 win over Louisiana-Monroe as offense gained 453 yards total offense and allowed no sacks... started at left tackle in 13-3 loss at Penn State... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in 41-31 win over Northwestern as offense gained 379 yards total offense and allowed no QB sacks... started at left tackle in 45-24 win over Indiana as offense gained 456 yards total offense... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in 22-21 loss at Minnesota as offense gained 446 yards total offense... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in 24-16 win over 13th-ranked Michigan... started at left tackle and played every offensive play in 37-21 loss to Michigan State... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in 31-21 win at Purdue as offense gained 408 yards total offense... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in 20-7 loss at Nebraska... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in Insight Bowl loss to Oklahoma. 2010: Started all 13 games at left tackle and has 21 consecutive starts... started at left tackle in 37-7 opening win over Eastern Illinois as offense gained 435 yards total offense... started at left tackle in 35-7 win over Iowa State as offense gained 479 yards total offense... started at left tackle and played every offensive down in 34-27 loss at Arizona... started at left tackle in 45-0 win over Ball State as offense gained 562 yards total offense.

Jonathan Martin Scouting Report

Jonathan Martin – Stanford (HT: 6-5 $\frac{3}{8}$  - WT: 312)

Positives -- Versatile blocker that doesn't get trapped in the traditional left tackle mold, can play both sides of the line... Very good first step and can block the outside very well, but separates himself from the pack with his ability to block down, even in the passing game... Possesses great footwork that allows him to block the outside edge or block down on a defense tackle, even if he's in a two-point position... Good shuffle footwork to keep himself in front of the defender... Also, has long arms and uses his hands well while pass blocking to keep defender at arm's length... Has a very methodical approach towards blocking the edge, never seems to be out of control... Solid run blocker, uses his feet to drive him forward... Always churning his legs, controls his defender by positioning his body at the right angle... Stays on his block in both the pass and run game, can block from both the two and three point stance... Has very good pad level as a blocker and uses it to stay lower than the defender, which gives him quite an advantage... Should be able to go into the NFL and fill whichever role a team needs him to.

Negatives -- Has a small tendency to not be aware of when the pocket shifts forward, so often times the defender will disengage and move up field to the quarterback... He doesn't push the pass rusher as much as he stays in his way using great footwork... If he gets beat, chances are he was overwhelmed to the inside in either the pass or run game... Not an overwhelmingly big player for a tackle, but makes up for it with a very quick first step... Concerned about how well he would handle a stronger outside rusher... A finesse guy who could slip a little if teams view him as a right tackle only.

At Stanford -- One of the top offensive tackles in the nation heading into his junior campaign after earning first team all-conference honors as a sophomore... first team Playboy preseason All-America selection... one of two returning starters on the offensive line, along with right guard David DeCastro... has started 24 of 26 games over the last two seasons at left tackle... quarterback protection provided from his left tackle position has helped Andrew Luck lead the Pac-10 in passing efficiency rating each of the last two seasons and compiled a .644 career completion percentage... one of five players to earn the Frank Rehm Award for outstanding play in the Big Game against Cal. 2010: First team All-Pac-10 selection... teamed with Chase Beeler, David DeCastro, Andrew Phillips and Derek Hall to form one of the top offensive lines in the nation... protected Andrew Luck's blind side, as the sophomore led the Pac-10 in passing efficiency for the second year in a row... line allowed just six sacks on the season, the second fewest in the nation... helped pave the way for a young Stanford rushing attack to rack up the second-highest rushing total in school history (2,779) and average 213.8 yards per game. 2009: Honorable mention All-Pac-10 selection... named a second team freshman All-American by CollegeFootballNews.com... appeared in all 13 games and made 11 starts at left tackle... was one of two redshirt freshman starters on the offensive line, along with David DeCastro... started the first six games of the season along with the last five... was part of an offensive line that allowed a Pac-10-low seven sacks on the year... also helped pave the way for Stanford's ground game to establish a new single-season rushing record of 2,837 yards... as left tackle, played a key role in protecting quarterback Andrew Luck's blind side, as Stanford's signal caller led the Pac-10 Conference in passing efficiency at 143.47.

Mike Adams Scouting Report

Mike Adams – Ohio State (HT: 6-7¼ – WT: 323)

Positives -- Extremely good size for a left tackle, but he could even beef up a little bit and still remain athletic... Very big player, but plays very lean for his size... Ideal candidate to draft as a starting right tackle and develop into a franchise left tackle in the NFL, just on profile alone... Uses his hands nicely to drive defenders back and has very good extension that he uses to constantly battle and "grapple" with a defender... Has a very large stance and quick movement at the snap of the ball, and he's athletic and quick enough to stay with a defender, whether they are trying to go around him or cutting to the inside... Great run blocker with a very explosive push at the snap that allows him to dominate the line of scrimmage... His size makes him quite the ideal "bulldozer" in a running situation, and he blocks the edge very nicely... Fast enough to get to the second level and make a block there if he needs to... Stock has been rising this offseason and is now firmly entrenched in the first round.

Negatives -- Was one of the players suspended in the improper benefits scandal that took place at Ohio State, so character issues may be a small concern right off the bat... Was suspended five games, so concerns about his overall stamina may arise, considering he didn't have the conditioning of a full season under his belt... He's very tall and may not get quite as low as you'd like when blocking... May be susceptible to faster players coming off the edge... Has a tendency to get off balance in the run game, which can be attributed to putting too much momentum forward and being out of control... Can be beat by a speed rush to his outside shoulder and has slow recovery speed... If he doesn't get a good jump at the line of scrimmage, he is generally beat and fairly easily... May rely a bit too much on his size, doesn't focus much on technique... Has long arms and a 82½" wingspan which makes the bench press tougher, but managed just 19 reps of 225 lbs. at the combine which was one of the lower totals among offensive linemen... Has first round potential but played more like a third rounder at Ohio State... Tested positive for marijuana at the combine.

At Ohio State -- Selected All-Big Ten Second Team for the 2011 college football season, as voted on by the conference coaches. A native of Dublin, Ohio, Adams started the final seven games of the season at left tackle and helped the Buckeyes rank fourth in the Big Ten with 195.7 rushing yards per contest... Was selected to the Rotary Lombardi Award Preseason watch list for the 2011 college football season. Eligibility for the Rotary Lombardi Award is limited to down linemen, end-to-end, either on offense or defense, who set up no farther than 10 yards to the left or right of the ball, and linebackers who set up no farther than five yards deep from the line of scrimmage. This is the 42nd year that the Rotary Lombardi Award has named the nation's college lineman of the year. Buckeye Bits: Veteran offensive lineman who continues to improve with experience... is suspended for the first five games of 2011 for his role in selling Ohio State memorabilia for cash and discounts on tattoos. 2010: Second-year starter at left tackle... first team all-Big Ten... Only a two year starter and is still raw technique wise... Doesn't always fight to the finish... NFL position is right tackle only, lessens his value at the next level.

Doesn't play with the best leverage, plays too high sometimes... Tries to cut block too often; if defenders keep their feet, they get their hands on the pass... Has trouble with bull rushers that get to his body, needs to get stronger, doesn't anchor very well.

Consistently falls off blocks due to improper hand placement... Will lean and lunge to make contact on the outside edge... There are concerns about his level of competition playing at an FCS school; the tools he used to dominate at that level of competition will merely be average in the NFL... coaches and teammates have raved about his work ethic and his ability to quickly pick up a new position... A tough player who likes contact, strong competitor who plays with aggression and a sense of urgency... Is the type of guy an NFL coach can mold, has a high ceiling once he gets more technically sound, has the chance to develop into an NFL starter in the future.

Struggles with hand placement, hands get too high and too high... Not a mauler, has some trouble with bigger defensive ends who can push him back... Doesn't do a great job of sinking his hips and anchoring, needs to play with better leverage at the point of attack... His footwork is also an area of concern but that should get better as he gains more experience at the position... Developmental prospect that will first need some time as a backup in the NFL.

Levy Adcock Scouting Report

Levy Adcock – Oklahoma State (HT: 6-6 – WT: 320)

Positives -- Above average size and athleticism, an important cog in a very successful Oklahoma State offense... Rarely gave up sacks, recognizes outside pressure, keeps head up and knows where the outside blitzes are coming from... Above average balance, passing sets are fluid and consistent... Quick enough to get out on down blocks and screens... Strong second level blocker who drives linebackers back... Good feet for a bigger tackle to stone outside rush... Long arms keeps the defenders at bay; initial punch is average, good hand placement for the most part... Consistently wins with a strong upper body once he gets his hands on the defender... Agile feet that help maintain good positioning... Sinks his hips to recover well after being pushed back... Walls off defenders using well positioned angles... Gets above average movement in the running game... Versatile player, has played both tackle positions and some guard during his collegiate career... Looks most comfortable at left tackle.

Negatives -- Doesn't have the strongest base, struggles with power rushers that get into his body and push him back... Doesn't have the strongest initial punch... Has a tendency for bad hand placement with quicker players... Misses on a lot of cut blocks... Can get confused at times with unexpected stunts and fronts... Oversets at times and is vulnerable to inside moves... Wasn't asked to do a lot of dirty work in the trenches... Gets caught playing too high and loses leverage.

At Oklahoma State -- 2010: Had just a handful of plays under his belt entering fall camp, but won the starting job in August and started every game in 2010... Graded out at 100 percent against Texas... Did not allow a sack during the season and became perhaps the team's best offensive lineman... Made a mid-game switch against OU when he moved from right tackle to left tackle without missing a beat... OSU did not allow a sack in that game and allowed just one over the last six games of the season...

Was OSU's offensive lineman of the week five times. 2009: Saw action in all 13 games, primarily on special teams... At times, he lined up as a fourth tight end for the Cowboys... Was in on 18 plays against Grambling State... Got in 10 reps at Baylor. NEO A&M JC: Redshirted his first year in junior college... Started at right guard for the Golden Norsemen in 2008 but also logged some time playing tackle. High School: Played four years at SHS and was a heavily decorated prep athlete... Coached by Jody Iams... Helped lead the team to an undefeated run to the 2006 Oklahoma 3A state title as a senior and to the state semifinals as a junior... Became the first student-athlete in Rogers County to be named all-county in football, basketball and baseball... Was also an all-district and all-conference pick in all three sports. Personal: Born Nov. 12, 1988, in Claremore... Son of Shawn and Cindy Story... Would like to pursue a career in coaching... An education major... Has four brothers and a sister.

James Carmon Scouting Report

James Carmon – Mississippi State (HT: 6-5½ – WT: 334)

Positives -- Huge body, has the size and strength to play inside at the NFL level... Generates a strong punch at the point of attack; has good overall power and strength... Reasonably athletic for his size, his short area agility is underrated; also has long arms to get into the body of defenders and push them backward... Has a massive 83¾" wingspan and can control defender once locked on... A converted defensive tackle, only played one season at offensive tackle; however, started at left tackle in the SEC, so there is some nice upside as he should continue to get better... Former basketball player; seems to learn quickly but it may take a couple of seasons to realize his full potential... He struggled a bit in his first year at a new position but is worth a late round pick; could spend a year on the practice squad as a developmental project.

Negatives -- Needs to control his weight, has been as heavy as 380 pounds but needs to stay at or around 330 lbs. to be effective... Very raw, doesn't play with good technique, plays too high and with marginal balance... Struggles to get low and maintain leverage, his height can be a disadvantage at times... Not very sudden, has solid brute strength but can be pushed back too easily for a man his size... Is slow footed, marginal lateral range and looks awkward in space, doesn't break down well on the move... Cognitive capacity may be questioned, a junior college transfer... Also missed some playing time this season with a leg injury, only has 10 career starts on the offensive line; he is a major project who will take a few years to fully develop and his lack of skill and quickness might necessitate a move to guard in the NFL.

At Mississippi State -- Made the switch from defensive line to offensive line initially during bowl practices and permanently this spring. 2010: Played in all 13 games along the defensive front and on the field goal block unit... Earned three starts at defensive tackle... Posted eight total tackles on the season... Matched his career high with a pair of tackles against both Auburn and in the Egg Bowl victory... Credited with a pass breakup in the season-opening win over Memphis. Junior College:

Rated nation's top junior college defensive tackle prospect by Rivals.com... Listed as the eighth best prospect in the country regardless of position... Finished 2009 season with 32 tackles and three sacks... Recorded three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries over two seasons... Played for head coach Steve Campbell and defensive line coach Dorsett Davis. High School: Named all-state, all-metro and all county following junior and senior seasons... Named Metro Player of the Year in 2008... Helped lead City College to a 9-3 record during his senior season... Played for head coach George Petrides... Named to G&W Recruiting Report Preseason Watch List prior to senior season. Personal: Born James Alvin Carmon, Jr. on February 21, 1989 in Baltimore, Maryland.

Markus Zusevics Scouting Report

Markus Zusevics – Iowa (HT: 6-5 – WT: 303)

Positives -- NFL ready body, he has already added over 75 pounds to his frame since his freshman year of college... One of most consistent natural benders in the draft... Good kick slide with exceptional lateral movement skills... Plays with good balance; rarely lunges and rarely gets caught leaning and falling off blocks... Light on his feet, shows quickness and agility in open space... Gets to the second level quickly; also has the agility to cover up quicker defenders... Has very good technique with his hand placement, regularly gets his hands inside on the defender first... Shows a strong punch, has the ability to knock defenders back... Flashes the strength to create movement in the run game... Has good awareness with blitz pick up, handles stunts very well... Showed a good work ethic to add a substantial amount of weight and develop his body... Developed his technique with a top offensive line program in Iowa... Takes coaching very well and development of his technique should continue at the next level.

Negatives -- Started the last two seasons at right tackle but could be asked to move inside at the next level; has very little college experience playing inside... Doesn't have the strength to anchor against bull rushes; tries to sink his hips to hold up against bigger defenders but just gets stood up... Lacks the strength to drive defenders down field in the run game; not a mauler, more of a positional and angle run blocker... Doesn't show the nastiness you want to see in an interior lineman... Needs to continue adding bulk to be stronger at the point of attack... Has a low ceiling even with continued development.

At Iowa -- 2011: started all 13 games at right tackle... started at right tackle in 34-7 opening win over Tennessee Tech... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in triple-overtime loss at Iowa State... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in 31-27 win over Pittsburgh as offense gained 475 yards total offense... started at right tackle in 45-17 win over Louisiana-Monroe as offense gained 453 yards total offense and allowed no sacks... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in 13-3 loss at Penn State... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in 41-31 win over Northwestern as offense gained 379 yards total offense... started at right tackle in 45-24 win over Indiana as offense gained 456 yards total offense... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in 22-21 loss at Minnesota as offense gained 446 yards total offense... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in 24-16 win over 13th-ranked Michigan... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in 37-21 loss to Michigan State... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in 31-21 win at Purdue as offense gained 408 yards total offense... started at right tackle and played every offensive down in 20-7 loss at Nebraska... started at right tackle in Insight Bowl loss to Oklahoma... honorable mention all-Big Ten by both league coaches and media.

Ryan Miller Scouting Report

Ryan Miller – Colorado (HT: 6-7¼ – WT: 321)

Positives -- Big frame and size, he is NFL ready in that department, has a strong upper body... Slightly above average quickness off the snap... Has average foot speed and lateral quickness... Does a really good job using his length in pass protection... Shows ability to sink his hips and anchor when he does get low... Combo blocks effectively and gets solid movement in the run game... Finishes undersized defenders and shows toughness when run blocking... Has adequate speed to the second level and drives opponents when he gets his hands on them... Overwhelms defenders at the second level with his size... Hard working guy who received high marks from coaches for effort on and off the field... Plays with a sense of urgency, showing really good energy on every play... Versatile player who can play inside at guard or outside at tackle, started 31 games at right guard and 16 games as a right tackle... Has physical and technique limitations at both positions yet finds a way to be successful.

Negatives -- May not have the foot speed to handle the outside speed rush at right tackle... Doesn't always play with the best leverage inside at guard due to his height... Lacks proportional arm length to height which makes him a suspect fit at right tackle... Pad level is a concern inside and can be susceptible to bull rushes... Hand placement can get wide, leads to grabbing instead of blocking... Has trouble getting his hands up quickly as a guard, can be knocked off balance when defender beats him with hands... Not a natural bender, has some stiffness in his lower body... Is eluded in space by smaller and quicker players... Tough to evaluate because of position ambiguity.

At Colorado -- 2010: In starting all 12 games at right offensive guard, he earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors from both the Associated Press and the league coaches. He earned first-team All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation (NFF) for the second straight season. He was one of two Buffaloes, along with Nate Solder, on the official watch list for the Outland Trophy (one of 63 candidates; Solder was CU's second finalist in history so Miller will be gunning to be the third). He played every snap on offense, 847, joining Solder as the only two players to do so; with 753 positive plays, he graded out to 88.9 percent for the season, third-best on the team. He had the second-most finishing-knockdown (83) and touchdown (6) blocks, while allowing just two quarterback sacks and flagged only twice for penalties. He graded out at 90 percent or higher in 11 games, with his top game grade of 96 percent coming against Kansas State, when he also had a season-high 13 finishing blocks (he had five or more in a game nine times). In the preseason, he was ranked as the No. 12 guard in the nation by Phil Steele's College Football, which also selected him as a preseason first-team All-Big 12 performer (as did The Sporting News). College Football Insiders.com selected him as a preseason honorable mention All-American. 2009: He started all 12 games, seven at right guard where he opened the season, and five at right tackle when the line was shuffled for assorted reasons. He played 851 snaps from scrimmage (all but one of CU's total on offense), plus another 27 plays on the FG/PAT unit on special teams and several others on the defensive unit (he blocked a field goal at Texas). He graded out to 83.8 percent on the season, second best among all the offensive linemen, with his 66 finishing-knockdown and five touchdown blocks also the second most on the team.

Lamar Holmes Scouting Report

Lamar Holmes – Southern Mississippi (HT: 6-5 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 323)

Positives -- Has good size for an NFL lineman with long arms to ride the defender out of the pocket... Is very quick getting off the line and into the second level when he has identified his assignment; moves surprisingly well for a player of his size... Also does a good job getting downfield and connecting on his blocks on smaller, quicker linebackers or defensive backs... Does a great job of getting off the line and into position when in pass protection... Has very smooth footwork allowing him to catch quick outside rushers and ride them out of the pocket... Also very agile and good at making quick adjustments against a bid by the defender to get to the inside... Does a decent job of staying square with good leverage while keeping his legs underneath him... Experienced, was a two year starter at Southern Mississippi; would be best fit in a zone blocking scheme initially... Overall, Holmes is a solid player worth a late round pick because of his above average abilities in pass protection.

Negatives -- Although he is very good in pass protection, he occasionally takes plays off and gets beat to the outside off the line... Shows some vulnerability to the bull rush as he often allows defenders to get under his pads... Is athletic enough to be an effective run blocker but often hesitates identifying his assignment... Sometimes focuses too much on his second level assignment and misses his chip shot on the end leaving him free into the backfield... Lacks explosion firing off the line into the defender and needs to be more aggressive... Needs to focus on using his legs more effectively to drive the defender out of the box... Could develop into a starter down the line with better preparation around his assignments.

At Southern Mississippi -- Lamar Holmes, from Gastonia, North Carolina, played two seasons for the Golden Eagles at left tackle and appeared in 26 games. He started in 19 games, with 18 consecutive starts to end his career. Holmes also converted a two-point conversion during the 2011 campaign on a lateral from QB Austin Davis. He was chosen to play in the 87th annual East-West Shrine Game, January 21, at Tropicana Field in St. Petersburg, Fla and invited to participate in the NFL Scouting Combine in Indianapolis. 2010: Played in 12 games and started in five... Had season-best 12 pancake and knockdown blocks against Houston (November 20)... Had at least six pancake blocks in five games during the year... Posted season-high grade of 80 percent against Marshall (October 2). Junior College: A December signee from Itawamba Community College where he played the last two seasons for Jeff Terrill... National Junior College Athletic Association Preseason All-American first team prior to 2009 campaign... Was a first-team Mississippi Association of Community & Junior Colleges North pick during his freshman campaign... A three-star performer by Scout and a four-star pick by Rivals and No. 18 junior college player nationally. Prep: Prepped at Huss High School in North Carolina.

David DeCastro Scouting Report

David DeCastro – Stanford (HT: 6-4 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 316)

Positives -- Possesses good size and a big frame, yet has excellent athleticism and moves with great agility... Does an excellent job using his body placement in blocking... Solid initial block in the run game, but separates himself from the rest of the linemen in this class with tremendous drive... Positions himself between the defender and the running lane and drives said defender as far away from it as possible... Extremely impressive run blocker that doesn't give up on the block... Very good at pulling and shows great speed and vision to get to the edge and make a block... Really sets the edge on his pulls and often times makes that one block a back needs to get to the second level... Uses his hands very well when blocking in both the run and passing game... Good pass protector, gets good extension with his arms to keep a defender at a distance and is very mobile when the pocket moves... Is constantly pushing and driving his defender away from the quarterback... Will be the cornerstone of an NFL offensive line for years to come, is very much a "sure thing" and there is no doubt that he is physically and fundamentally ready for the NFL and should start right away as a rookie... Without question is regarded as the best guard in this draft class and his play on the field does everything to back that up... There have been four interior offensive linemen drafted in the Top 21 in the last three years (Mack, Lupati and the Pouncey twins) but it wouldn't be a surprise if DeCastro goes higher than any of them.

Negatives -- Lacks top tier arm length for a guard... Doesn't do a great job when he has a tackle on his inside gap and has to block down, needs to be a little quicker in that regard... Again, overall he is a physically imposing player with tremendous technique and he played in a system that will lead to a favorable transition to the NFL... NFL teams generally don't value guards early in the draft which may drop him down some boards slightly.

At Stanford -- Started all 39 games at the right guard position during his three-year career...two-time first team all-conference selection...unanimous All-America selection in 2011...blocking skills in the run game helped Stanford amass three of the top four single-season rushing totals in school history...helped anchor an offensive line that allowed just 24 sacks over a three-year span (2009-11)...pass protection aided quarterback Andrew Luck establish school career records for passing efficiency, completion percentage and touchdowns. 2011: Unanimous All-America selection in 2011...landed spots on the Associated Press, Walter Camp Football Foundation, Football Writers Association of America, Sporting News and American Football Coaches Association All-America teams...earned first team All-Pac-12 honors for the second straight season...finalist for the Outland Trophy and semifinalist for the Lombardi Award...helped anchor one of top offensive lines in the nation that allowed the seventh fewest sacks per game (0.85) in the nation...one of the best pulling guards in the nation in a run oriented offense...blocking skills helped pave the way for Stanford's game to average 210.6 yards per game, which ranked second in the Pac-12 and 18th nationally...pass protection ability has helped quarterback Andrew Luck complete 71.3 percent of his passes while setting a new single-season mark for touchdown passes with 37...leadership skills and veteran presence assisted greatly in the development of first year starters Sam Schwartzstein, David Yankey and Cameron Fleming...has made 39 consecutive starts at the right guard position, helping the Cardinal to a 31-8 record during his career...co-recipient of the team's Frank Rehm Award, given to the most outstanding lineman in the Big Game.

Cordy Glenn Scouting Report

Cordy Glenn – Georgia (HT: 6-5¾ – WT: 345)

Positives -- Huge prospect with tremendous raw physical tools... Excellent footwork with constant awareness of the pocket... Uses his hands well, long arms to keep control of defenders, strong extension while blocking in both the pass and run game... Very good shuffler in pass protection and has no problem with lateral movement... Always stays in front of defender and displays excellent awareness; he knows where the running lane or quarterback is at all times... Understands how to establish his position between the defender and the pocket or running back... Gets a very good push off the ball and blocks at a great angle...

Doesn't get pushed back much in pass protection, and he drives and pumps legs in run game... He has a very strong solid base and moves his feet well... Can usually stay on his blocks in pass protection and is a decent pulling guard, especially toward left side... Can be great in open space, but seems to be better at pulling left... Possesses the speed to get to second level and make head-on blocks, and he's very aware of what's going on at the second level... A better pass protector than run blocker at this point in his career... Good from the three-point stance or two-point, and can play guard or tackle... Has the skills to succeed at both positions at the next level and will benefit from his experience playing in the SEC.

Negatives -- Will occasionally miss his block or lose balance, especially in the run game... Seems to have a hard time pulling to opposite side of the line... Gets upright too quickly in his run blocking... Doesn't stay on blocks in run game... Susceptible to defensive counters by getting him off-balance... Has a good reach, but may lean on it too heavily... His big mistakes such as missing blocks or making bad reads in the open field are noticeable... Flails at defender if he can't get in front... Quality difference between pass protection and run blocking is very evident right now.

At Georgia -- 2011: Named All-America Third Team by Associated Press & Phil Steele and Honorable Mention by Sports Illustrated... ## Kevin Zeitler Scouting Report

Kevin Zeitler – Wisconsin (HT: 6-3 $\frac{3}{4}$  - WT: 314)

Positives -- Good size for the guard position with strong, quick hands that latch on the defender in good blocking placement... Has a very good first step when getting out to pull, consistently gets to the second level... Quick feet in the box to mirror defenders... Plays with good leverage, strong upper body, has a good bend both of his arms and legs; anchors well and recovers quickly... Uses blocking angles very well to shield defenders, consistently turns his defender away from the ball carrier... Shows good balance when fighting, doesn't usually lunge and overextend; not a mauler, but will knock defenders back... Tough player who doesn't back down, flashes a mean streak... Played in pro-style offense that leaned heavily on the run game, will benefit him greatly at the next level... Smart player and by all accounts a good teammate, has very good knowledge of blocking schemes and was in the correct position consistently... Worked hard to return from nagging ankle injuries quickly, has improved every year... What he lacks in athleticism he is able to make up for with solid fundamentals in all areas.

Negatives -- Not as athletic as some guard prospects in this draft... Lacks top tier arm length for a guard... Lacks ideal awareness in space, can be caught looking for a block instead of making a block... Not always consistently as fast off the ball as you would like... Has trouble neutralizing speed and athleticism in the pass blocking game... Doesn't have the upside and potential of some of his peers... At times will play relatively passive with little sense of urgency, too much finesse to his game, didn't consistently finish blocks and play until the whistle.

At Wisconsin -- 2011: First-team All-American by AFCA and Pro Football Weekly... second-team All-American by Yahoo! Sports and Phil Steele... honorable mention All-American from SI.com... consensus first-team All-Big Ten... co-winner of team's Tom Wiesner Award (Wisconsin-born student-athlete)... Academic All-Big Ten... Amini Silatolu – Northwestern State (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 311)

Positives -- Played left tackle in college, but skill set and size translates to guard in the NFL... Average size for guard at the next level and has some solid athleticism for his size... Has quick, nimble feet to position and square himself to defenders... Slides very well to mirror defenders... Quick first step to get out and pull... Has ferocious hands and a violent punch that knocks opponents to the ground... Consistently puts defenders on their backs, completely takes opponents out of the play by driving them back in the run game... Has very good upper body strength to control and steer defenders... Plays with very good leverage and can anchor against bull rushes... Has the ability to sustain blocks for long periods of time... Mobile athlete that quickly gets to second level and delivers hits on linebackers, very agile in space... Active and hustles on screens and pulls... Remarkable ability to get downfield and be in position to block for a running back... Nasty player who doesn't let up and always finishes his blocks.

Negatives -- Overextends and gets off balance trying to pancake defenders at times... Hasn't had much experience playing guard, possible slight adjustment firing off from a three point stance from the interior... Footwork is not consistent, got away playing with questionable techniques at the Division II level but that won't work in the NFL... Has some trouble picking up blitzes and stunts... Sometimes struggles in pass protection with quicker players... Had signed with Nevada but did not qualify academically for the 2009 season... Lack of competition playing for Division II Northwestern State.

At Northwestern State -- 2011: Named a unanimous Division II Preseason first-team All American. 2010: Started nine games at the left tackle position... ## Brandon Brooks Scouting Report

Brandon Brooks – Miami (OH) (HT: 6-4½ – WT: 353)

Positives -- Brooks has good experience as a four year starter... Played both the tackle and guard positions during his career at Miami... He has excellent size for the guard position in the NFL... Is an extremely powerful player with a massive upper body and strong, powerful legs... Consistently shows the ability to drive the pile in short yardage situations... Consistently wins the one-on-one battles as he literally swallows defenders in pass protection... Is a finisher, not afraid to drive the defender twenty yards down the field... Does a good job breaking off blocks and getting into the second level... Shows excellent leverage in getting low and underneath the defender's pads... Also does a good job staying square to the defender in pass protection... Excellent run blocker who served as the anchor to Miami's offensive line... Had a great week at the East-West Shrine Game and stood out as one of the top prospects playing in the game; ran a 4.98-40 and put up 36 reps of 225 lbs. at his pro day, would have ranked second in both categories among all offensive linemen at the combine, and may have worked in way into third round consideration.

Negatives -- Not very quick firing off the line of scrimmage... Below average athletic ability due to his size... May have difficulty getting down field on pulls and screen plays at the next level as he didn't have much experience doing it in college... Does a good job finding blocks in traffic at the next level but sometimes struggles to get there in time... Struggles a bit with his footwork, was often gets beaten by smaller, quicker defensive lineman... Takes good initial steps but has a tendency to stop his feet and rely on his body strength in pass protection... Could use his massive arms more efficiently as he tends to absorb defenders in pass protection... Also struggles to keep his hands inside on the pass rushers' numbers... Sometimes has trouble recognizing and picking up stunts and blitzes... Has some injury history as he missed most of his sophomore and junior seasons with injuries... With some improvement in his footwork and agility, Brooks has the potential to be an above average starter at guard in a few years... Was one of the more notable combine snubs, especially following his performance in the East-West Shrine Game.

At Miami (OH) -- An all-star candidate in his final season... although he sat out spring drills because of an injury, Miami's coaches have penciled him in as a starter at right guard... Brooks has to be a factor for the RedHawks to be dominant up front... has the potential to be a game changer because of his athletic ability... coaches are counting upon him to be a team leader. 2010: Despite being injured for most of the first half of 2010, he earned second-team All-MAC honors... he was a starter at left tackle for two games and at left guard for the final four games, helping his team post a perfect 6-0 record... Miami's running game was at its best when he was in the lineup... was awarded his third varsity letter. 2009: He won second-team All-MAC kudos, the highest honors by any RedHawk player in 2009... was a starter in all 12 games for the second consecutive season... earned his second varsity letter... the RedHawk offensive unit started slowly in its first three games, but averaged 374 yards per contest during the last nine. 2008: Started all 12 games at left guard, grading out at 81 percent... participated in a team high 855 plays, notching 70 knockdowns, 15 pins and six championship performances... was named the RedHawks' Freshman of the Year. 2007: Redshirted. High School: Helped captain the Riverside Tigers to an 11-2 record, a city championship and an appearance in the 2006 state semifinals... named the team's player of the year as a junior and senior... named all-state in 2006... also played baseball and basketball.

Kelechi Osemele Scouting Report

Kelechi Osemele – Iowa State (HT: 6-5½ – WT: 333)

Positives -- Very big player with a wide frame, uses his frame very nicely against his opponent; plays with a strong and wide base, can push his opponents forward... Uses his hands extremely well for such a big player, may be his best quality as a lineman... Has the size to get in front of a defender and make them work around him... Extremely long arms, had the largest wingspan of any player at the Senior Bowl at 85½ inches... You can't teach size and coupled with good hand usage and decent footwork, has all of the raw skills you'd like to see from an offensive lineman in the NFL... Plays best in phone booth situations, close quarters and confined space, small area, when he doesn't have to move his feet too much or too far... Played left tackle at Iowa State but projects best moving inside to guard at the next level... Because of his length there may be teams tempted to give him looks at right tackle before moving him inside... However, if he starts at right tackle, the team would always be looking for an offensive tackle so they can move him inside... Osemele actually reminds me of someone like Shawn Andrews or Vernon Casey; when completely healthy and in shape, they can do a solid job at RT but might be a Pro Bowler at OG.

Negatives -- First step is rather slow, gets beaten to the inside rather easily... At 6'5", is already pretty high off the ground and doesn't do anything to help himself; plays with a high pad level, almost as if he is standing up straight... Needs to bend his knees more and play lower to the ground, or he will continue to get beat by elementary moves in the NFL... Slow off the line and doesn't have a great outside step... Lumbers and can be slow to redirect, isn't as physical as his size would suggest... Doesn't have good lateral range or nimble feet and is projected to the right side or inside... High-level defensive ends would have a field day with him off the edge, no way he can stick at left tackle in the NFL... Doesn't possess a good stance and loses his balance too often, will get turned around at the next level... Can't stress enough that he plays way too big and needs to stay lower and develop more central balance... The good news is his weaknesses can all be worked on, needs to be coached up to complement his raw physical abilities... Overall, not very impressed with Osemele aside from his size, but at this point he doesn't seem to be able to couple his raw abilities to on-field performance.

At Iowa State -- 2011 Co-captain... 2011 Sports Illustrated first-team All-American... 2011 first-team All-Big 12 selection (AP, Coaches)... 2011 Rotary Lombardi Watch List (Rotary Club of Houston's Most Outstanding Lineman)... 2011 Outland Trophy Watch List (Nation's Best Interior Lineman)... ## Jeff Allen Scouting Report

Jeff Allen – Illinois (HT: 6-3 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 307)

Positives -- Average size for an NFL tackle, has good upper body strength with powerful arms... Uses arm strength to regain control over defender after slow start in pass protection... Also throws a powerful first punch when run blocking... Does good job keeping hands inside of defender as to not draw a holding penalty... Shows good footwork and ability to square to the defender in pass protection... Above average athletic ability for a lineman... Does a good job getting upfield on pulls and screen passes and finding his blocks... Has good explosion out of stance and ability to get to the linebacker to spring the running back... Shows the ability to identify and pick up the blitz more times than not... Was a versatile player in college while rotating between the left and right tackle positions... Looked more comfortable when lined up at guard or with the TE to his side during the Senior Bowl... Brings leadership ability as a two time captain... Excellent experience as a four year starter in the Big Ten... Smart, driven player as he was All-Academic Big Ten as a junior and senior ... Allen is a versatile player who could play both the guard and tackle positions which increases his draft value... Has potential to develop into a solid RT down the line.

Negatives -- Looks a little top heavy as his legs don't seem quite as strong as his upper body... Is a little slow getting out of his stance in pass protection... Has decent footwork but struggles against faster ends forcing him to overcompensate with longer steps leaving him off balance... Often comes up too high out of his stance allowing defenders to get under his pads and drive him back... Often struggles to throw the first punch in pass protection and absorbs the punch from the defender instead... Lacks an element of power in the run game... Would be better suited for a zone blocking scheme as he is considered more of a wall-off blocker... Does not have the killer instinct and has trouble taking a defender completely out of a play... Projects more as a guard at the next level but with some good coaching and improvement in his leverage and footwork could fill a void at the tackle position if needed.

At Illinois -- 2010: Second-team All-Big Ten selection by media and honorable mention by coaches... Phil Steele's second-team All-Big Ten... Team captain... ## Brandon Washington Scouting Report

Brandon Washington – Miami (FL) (HT: 6-2 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 320)

Positives -- Has nice size for a guard; strong upper body, 28 reps of 225 lbs. at the combine... Flashes the strength to drive opponents back and push them up field when run blocking; explosive hitter that knocks defenders back... Very efficient down blocker, creates a lot of space along the line... Physical player, wins in the box and at the point of attack; gets tremendous movement in the run game... Has the size and strength for a guard in a power blocking scheme... A much better run blocker than pass blocker... Hard worker; technique has developed quite a bit since his freshman year... Versatile, has starting experience at both guard and tackle... Durable, started every game in the past two seasons and hasn't missed a game in his collegiate career... Has the potential to start as a guard at the next level after a couple seasons of continued development.

Negatives -- Played left tackle during his junior season but will need to move inside to be successful in the NFL, doesn't have the height or arm length that you would like to see at a tackle position... Didn't show the foot speed to match up against faster edge rushers... Inconsistent passing sets; leaves his body open to pass rushers, will lunge into his blocks and lose his balance... Below average awareness, struggles to stay in front of stunts and delayed blitzes... Late moving feet makes it difficult to sustain blocks... Movement skills in open space is questionable, struggles at the second level... Stops his feet on contact, then tries to get going again... Had some academic issues in high school and college... Came out following his junior season but should have stayed in school; is raw in a lot of areas and still needs more time to develop his technique.

James Brown Scouting Report

James Brown – Troy (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 306)

Positives -- Has an NFL body with the frame to add some weight, and while he doesn't have great height he makes up for it with long arms... Above average lateral movement, gifted athletically; shows a very quick first step off the snap, his transition from the snap to the block is very smooth... Better run blocker than pass protector, although he does show good balance in pass protection... Some of pass blocking deficiencies would be less detrimental if he moved inside with protection on each side... Gets good movement in the run game; pulls well and turns the corner with fluidity, quickly getting up field to cover up defenders... Takes efficient angles in the run game, positions his body very well... Shows a strong upper body that can control opponents and turn them away to create running holes... His versatility will intrigue teams; can play both tackle and guard, but is probably best suited as a zone blocking guard... Very passionate player; gives tremendous effort on the field, tough upbringing and works hard to excel to create a better life for himself... Does not have any known injury concerns.

Negatives -- Height is a concern if playing tackle and girth is a concern if playing inside, a bit of a tweener in that regard... If he does move inside, he might need some time to learn a new position and develop... Doesn't show a strong base, can get knocked back by bigger pass rushers... Still has very inconsistent footwork and hand placement... Shows a lot of missteps in pass protection that will be exploited at the next level... Needs to play with more leverage, speed to power will get him in trouble with his high sets and narrow base... Sometimes will put his head down and lunge in pass protection... Has trouble locating second level defenders when asked to combination block... Level of competition is a concern.

At Troy -- 2010: A second team All-Sun Belt Conference selection. Started all 12 games at left tackle... Graded out at 86 percent against Arkansas State... Graded at 87 percent with eight knockdowns against MTSU... Graded at 92 percent at North Texas... 90 percent grade against FIU... Graded at team-best 89 percent against WKU... ## Lucas Nix Scouting Report

Lucas Nix – Pittsburgh (HT: 6-5¼ – WT: 317)

Positives -- Average size for an interior lineman... Flashes very good quickness off the snap; gets his hands up quickly out of his stance... Shows short area quickness to pull and get around the edge... Fires off the snap low and uproots defenders by getting into their body with initial hits... Very strong at the point of attack; gets good movement in the run game with the power to push the pile... Very tough player in the box, uses his hands very well to keep defenders off balance... Has the girth to anchor in the middle; shows the ability to absorb contact from bull rushers... Creates a lot of space when down blocking... Proficient when executing combo blocks, keeps head up and gets off his first block quickly... Very good overall technique, including footwork and hand placement... Physical player, fights until the whistle... Versatile; started one year at RT and one year at RG.

Negatives -- While he plays with good leverage most of the time, he is not a natural bender... He tries to be physical and use his body to create space but gets caught leaning on defenders and falls off blocks at times... Doesn't have the lateral quickness to play right tackle at the next level; would really struggle against speed edge rushers... Has trouble making solid contact against quicker second level players... Doesn't always have the speed to get to the second level before the running backs... Isn't the most fluid in space, more of a fit in a power run scheme... Has some character concerns, has been charged with multiple criminal offenses in the past couple years.

At Pittsburgh -- 2010: Played in all 13 games, starting 12... filled dual roles on Pitt's offensive line... started season's initial three games at right tackle before shifting to right guard for the Oct. 2 FIU contest... went on to start nine contests at right guard... lone missed start of the year was the Nov. 26 West Virginia game. 2009: Started all 13 games at right offensive tackle... efforts helped tailback Dion Lewis rush for 1,799 yards, the second-highest single-season total in school history. 2008: Played in six games as a reserve offensive tackle to letter in his true freshman season. ## Senio Kelemete Scouting Report

Senio Kelemete – Washington (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 307)

Positives -- Average size for an interior lineman with average strength, has shown the power to control the defender in pass protection while off balance... Flashes above average athleticism for a lineman, is very quick off the line and does a great job getting to quicker defenders downfield... Was asked to pull and block downfield for the runners often at Washington and did a great job... Does an excellent job finishing plays and displays a mean streak from time to time... Does a good job keeping his legs churning when run blocking... Was a versatile team player at Washington, played three different positions; he moved from defensive tackle to offensive guard to left tackle... A fierce competitor, played against the three of the draft's most talented players all game at the Senior Bowl... Overall, Kelemete is a nice project player; coaches can't teach athleticism and he has plenty of it... Needs to be coached up on technique but if he can improve on his leverage and quickness off the line in pass protection, can eventually develop into an above average starter at offensive guard down the line.

Negatives -- Too small to play the tackle position in the NFL, is better suited inside at guard... Has to be more aggressive, shows a mean streak from time to time but it must be drawn out of him... Needs to improve on a broad range of techniques... The most vital technique for him is his leverage, he plays too high in pass protection and gets beaten on a bull rush almost every time... He needs to use his hands more efficiently, often lets the pass rusher come to him and won't interrupt their technique... Also has to work on keeping his hands inside on the numbers as he has a tendency to grab... Has trouble with faster ends... Is too slow off the line in pass protection causing him to overcompensate with his feet leaving him off balance and susceptible to spin moves... 21 reps of 225 lbs. were a bit disappointing at the combine but shows good strength and power on tape... Still considered a raw offensive line prospect but has a higher ceiling than some other prospects in his range.

At Washington -- 2011: Started all 13 games at left tackle... named a team captain for a second straight year... named second-team All-Pac-12... won the Fred Jacoby Sportsmanship Award at the Valero Alamo Bowl... named the John P. Positives -- Good size for an NFL lineman with a powerful body... Can win a battle with anyone in a phone booth... Disciplined player who is very quick off the snap of the ball... Does a good job sliding to the next level and finding his blocks in traffic... Is a good finisher who never gives up on a play... Does an excellent job keeping his hands inside on the defender even when caught off balance... Shows very good leverage in both run and pass blocking keeping his hips low to the ground... Explodes out of his stance with leverage and delivers a very powerful initial blow when run blocking... Has the ability to take the defender completely out of the play... Does a good job picking up the blitz and is powerful enough to just chip the blitzer and throw him off his course... First team All-Pac 12 player in 2011 and has 39 career starts at the tackle position under his belt... Played the guard position at the Senior Bowl and performed well against some of the top prospects in this year's draft.

Negatives -- Arms are a little short for an NFL tackle... Has a very powerful body but could do a better job using his legs to drive defenders out of the box... Is not fast enough pulling down the line and will have difficulty trying to block athletic linebackers down field... Is a little slow coming backwards out of his stance, will need to shorten his steps to be an effective guard in a power blocking scheme or in pass protection... Needs to improve on his footwork in pass protection... Throws a powerful first punch but has a tendency to stop moving his feet after gaining the physical advantage over the defender in both the run and pass protection... Also has a tendency to stand up too straight in pass protection leaving him susceptible to a bull rush... Sometimes has trouble adjusting and re-setting after absorbing a strong initial punch from a defender... An overall tough player who doesn't have the athletic ability to play tackle in the NFL but could be a starting guard with some improvement in his footwork... Signed with Utah in 2005 but didn't enroll until 2008 following an LDS church mission, will be a 26-year-old rookie.

Derek Dennis Scouting Report

Derek Dennis – Temple (HT: 6-3 – WT: 315)

Positives -- Has prototypical size for a power blocking guard; strong base and rolls his hips into his opponent to deliver a powerful hit on impact... Dominant run blocker, creates a lot of movement upfront; efficient short area quickness to pull, trap and down block... Wins with his strong hands, controls defenders with good hand placement and strong punches; shows the ability to pancake defenders... Can drive his opponent downfield by keeping his legs moving through initial contact... Gets to the second level quicker than you would expect for a man of his size and engulfs smaller defenders there... Has played left and right guard and a little LT and RT during his collegiate career... Third cousin Dexter Coakley was an NFL linebacker for 10 years with the Dallas Cowboys and St. Louis Rams... Has the potential to develop into a starter in a power rushing scheme.

Negatives -- Not a natural bender, plays too high and can be knocked off balance... A stomper with only average lateral movement ability; has some difficulty changing directions as well, is not very smooth in space and gets caught up in the trash too much... Angles are inconsistent at times, can be slow getting to a spot... Sometimes get confused with stunts and blitzes, so awareness is an issue... Still needs some development with his footwork, takes too many missteps; it will take time to improve his technique and he will not be able to overpower his competition in the NFL to the extent he did in college... Injury history is a concern, has missed quite a few games over his career, including torn ACL in 2009 and a hyper-extended elbow in 2008.

At Temple -- 2011: Started all 13 games at left guard... one of nine Owls to start every game... also played on the field goal unit... o-line combined for 147 starting appearances... providing great protection, the o-line gave up no sacks against Wyoming, Ohio, Buffalo, and Akron. 2010: Played in all 12 games with two starts at right guard, one start at left guard, and four starts at left tackle... also played on the field goal unit... moved to right guard for the Ohio game and recovered the first fumble of his career in the fourth quarter... started at left tackle in the win at Army... received the starting nod at guard at No. 23 Penn State. 2009: Played in three games with one start at right tackle... received the starting nod against Buffalo... saw first action at No. 5 Penn State... missed the remainder of the season with a knee injury. 2008: Played in all 12 games with six starts... also saw action on the field goal unit... received the starting nod at left guard at Army... also started at Buffalo and at No. 16 Penn State... also played at left tackle against Central Michigan, Ohio, and Navy. 2007: Played in all 12 games with 10 starts at right guard... one of 20 true freshmen to see game action and one of 12 true freshmen to earn a starting role... made first start at Connecticut and started at right guard for the remainder of the season... named the coaches' offensive player of the game at Ohio where he graded at 90 percent.

Joe Looney Scouting Report

Joe Looney – Wake Forest (HT: 6-3¼ – WT: 309)

Positives -- Good size for a guard prospect with above average movement skills for his size... Very strong upper body; uses his hands well to land strong punches and jolt defenders, can control the opposition and turn them away from holes... Flashes power at the point of attack when he gets a good jump off the snap... Mirrors defenders well with average lateral movement... Pulls very efficiently and gets up field quickly with a fast first step... Light on his feet, at his best when pulling; gets out on screens while still having the strength to be a solid in-line blocker... Gets some movement in the run game and is able to push the pile...

Very agile in space for a big man, he is consistently able to hit moving targets; locates and covers up opponents at the second level... Has above average awareness locating where the pressure is coming from and adjusting on the fly... Was named a captain for his senior season; by all accounts brings elite intangibles with his leadership and hard work.

Negatives -- Gets stood up against bull rushers; leverage is an area of concern... Top heavy; has disproportional strength between his upper body and lower body... Not a natural bender due to his weaker lower body; sets too high, exposing himself to the bull rush... Can be susceptible to defensive tackles that change direction quickly... Gets over aggressive at times and struggles to maintain balance... Struggled against top level competition at defensive tackle such as Fletcher Cox and Brandon Thompson... His overall technique needs tweaked a bit... Doesn't always play to the whistle; lets up when he could really be physical at the end of plays... Tore ligaments in his foot at the Senior Bowl; required surgery and was unavailable to participate at the combine.

At Wake Forest -- 2010: Started 10 games at left guard... Missed games at NC State (Nov. 13) and vs. Clemson (Nov. 20) while recovering from a sprained ankle... ## Matt Reynolds Scouting Report

Matt Reynolds – BYU (HT: 6-4½ – WT: 302)

Positives -- Undersized for the tackle position but is a wide body that shows some decent strength when absorbing bull-rushing opponents... Good hand placement, consistently gets his hands inside the defenders, controls and steers defenders once locks on, can knock defenders back on their heels... A positional run blocker; uses angles to keep opponents from the running back... Keep legs churning in the run game and shows strength to move the pile... Can turn defender from the action, seals off the inside well... Plays with a high motor, effort is not in question... Keeps head up and gets to the second level effectively... Physical, good mental and physical toughness, will play hurt, started every game in his collegiate career... NFL bloodlines, father Lance had a brief career with the Eagles and is now an assistant coach at BYU... Mature, spent two years on a church mission.

Negatives -- Not very athletic, average height, weight and speed combination... Shorter arms than you would like to see for an offensive tackle... Lateral movement and backpedal gets hurried and awkward versus speed rushers... Inconsistent kick slide, initial kick step can get too wide... Can struggle with quick inside counter moves... Struggles staying in front of quicker pass rushers, lacks the footwork of a blindside tackle; best fits inside at guard or at right tackle... Not an explosive prospect, is sometimes late off the snap which puts him at an early disadvantage... Defenders get into his body rather easily; has trouble sustaining blocks, loses leverage because he plays too high... Doesn't explode into second level blocks but rather just pushes through them, struggles to hit moving targets at the second level... Will be a 26-year-old rookie... Injury history is a concern; broke left hand in fall camp in 2009 and played through much of the 2010 season with shoulder injuries before having surgery after the season... Lacks a killer instinct and is inconsistent when finishing blocks.

Rishaw Johnson Scouting Report

Rishaw Johnson – California (PA) (HT: 6-3 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 313)

Positives -- Good size for an NFL guard with room to build on his frame... Has above average athletic ability and puts in an all-out effort on every play... Fires off the line very quickly with good explosion into the defender... Very quick getting into the second level; often takes the linebacker out of the play before they even get a chance to react... Has a killer instinct and consistently drives his defender way out of the play... Absolutely dominated the line of scrimmage at the Division II level; the entire offense ran behind him... Has good technique in the run game and does a good job of dipping his shoulders and rolling his hips through contact... I viewed him a late rounder prior to the post season, but there are quite a few others with similar skills as Johnson that don't come with his issues; however, he does still have the potential to be a late round pick and develop into a quality player with good coaching.

Negatives -- Comes with major character concerns; was a highly regarded recruit in high school who committed to Mississippi but was dismissed from the program during his junior year after his third violation of team rules... Is very aggressive in the running game but sometimes plays out of control and overextends himself which lets the defender out of his grasp... Has a lot of work to do in pass protection; often gets beat off the line as he is a little slow getting back into a leveraged stance... Really needs to work on his footwork, his feet are very slow... Tends to overextend his arms in pass protection as well which throws him off balance... Needs to focus on keeping his arms and hands under control as he often lets his hands slip outside the numbers leaving him vulnerable to holding calls... Relies too much on his size and strength, will really need to improve fundamentals to succeed in the NFL.

At California (PA) -- 2009: Saw action in five games with four starts at right guard... Earned second letter... vs. Southeastern La. (9/19): Earned first career start and helped the Rebels rack up 500 yards of offense. 2008: Saw action in five games on the offensive line (Memphis, Samford, Arkansas, Auburn and Mississippi State)... ## Jaymes Brooks Scouting Report

Jaymes Brooks – Virginia Tech (HT: 6-2 – WT: 310)

Positives -- Very quick off the snap... Has quick feet in pass protection and shows the ability to get through to the linebackers when run blocking... Does a great job maintaining leverage by staying low and getting under the defender... Consistently stays square to the defender in pass protection... Does a good job closing off on stunting lineman and out of reach defenders... Shows excellent explosion off the line in short yardage situations... His biggest strength is in pass protection... Brooks has good experience as a three year starter at right guard against quality competition in the ACC, named second team All-

ACC in each of the past two seasons... He plays very calm and under control especially under pressure where he has demonstrated an above average ability to pick up the blitz... Overall, Brooks projects more in a zone blocking scheme at the next level as he is not a mauler but with some work could eventually develop into a starter at guard because of his ability in pass protection.

Negatives -- Is slightly undersized for an NFL lineman at 6'2"... Often does not play as strong as he could and sometimes lacks the aggressiveness to finish off the defender... Able to get downfield but often waits too long to attack in space... Is quick off the snap but struggles getting down the line on pulls and into the next level on the linebackers... Has short arms and has to use them more efficiently as he does not attack the defender with his hands; also struggles occasionally with keeping his hands inside the defender's number.

At Virginia Tech -- 2011: A second-team All-ACC pick for the second consecutive year... Started three seasons at right guard, starting all 14 games in 2011... ## Kelvin Beachum Scouting Report

Kelvin Beachum – SMU (HT: 6-2 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 303)

Positives -- Very quick off the snap, displays tremendous short area quickness; moves his feet well to mirror defenders in pass protection... Although he is a bit undersized, has a strong and thick lower body and sinks his hips to hold up against bull rushers... Gets away with having average arm length by having a strong initial punch and good hand placement; stays balanced through contact... Very smooth in space; displays good athleticism to get out and pull, shows the ability to break down and hit a moving target at the second level... Positional run blocker who needs to take sound angles to be effective... More adept and advanced in pass protection than the run game, but could develop into a serviceable zone blocking guard... Plays through the whistle and displays a tenacious demeanor at times... Great durability; has started every game of his collegiate career.

Negatives -- Undersized offensive lineman in both the height and weight departments; will likely need to transition from tackle to guard at the next level... Shorter than ideal arms for a tackle; makes it difficult for him to get his hands on the defenders first... Struggles to get movement in the running game... Inconsistent sets; his footwork still needs some development... Struggles to sustain blocks as long as he should, can't control defenders with his arms, falls off blocks because he doesn't have a strong upper body; only managed 19 reps of 225 lbs. at the combine... Can overextend and get off balance... Has been labeled as soft... Must learn a new position and adjust to better competition at the next level which may be too much to overcome.

Blocked for an offense that totaled a school-record 3,861 passing yards and added 1,943 yards on the ground. 2009: Started all 13 games at left tackle... Locks on defenders with his long 34" arms and drives them back; creates a ton of movement in the run game... Has the athletic ability to pull and get around the corner... Down blocks effectively, washing the opponent down the line and away from the play... Average job executing combination blocks, keeps his head up to locate the defender... Has a mean streak and flashes physical play inside... Has played both guard positions throughout his college career; was part of an offensive line for a very effective rushing team...

Has the potential to develop into a starting interior lineman in either a power scheme or a zone blocking scheme... While durability is a concern, he did fight through the minor injuries and played in 25 games over the last two seasons.

Negatives -- Footwork isn't sound and he loses balance because of it, ends up on the ground too often... Not the most athletic pass protector; needs to improve footwork to keep up with quicker interior lineman... Gets driven back to the quarterback in his passing sets, doesn't sink his hips and anchor against bull rushing linemen... Struggles to hit moving targets when he gets to the second level; doesn't roll his hips and explode into defenders... Plays too high, not a natural bender at the knees... Durability is a major concern, had two shoulder surgeries early in his collegiate career; sat out the 2008 because of a head injury... Suffered a knee injury in April, 2011; played through several other minor injuries for Rutgers in the last two seasons... Played a little at right tackle at the East-West Shrine game but doesn't have the lateral movement to protect the edge.

Delivers a very powerful initial blow to the defender off the snap in the running game... Is very solid in pass protection... Has really good footwork allowing him to consistently stay square to the defender... Has shown the ability to find and pick up the blitz more often than not... Is very aggressive and attacks the defender in pass protection... Keeps hands very active and keeps defender off balance with constant jabs... A two year starter at guard with experience against top competition in the SEC; could develop into a starter if he can learn to use his natural talents more effectively.

Negatives -- Below average athletic ability... Is a little slow firing off the ball and getting down the line... Could use his legs more efficiently... Relies too heavily on his upper body strength and first punch off the line... Often stops moving his feet and doesn't take advantage of the strong initial punch... Often fires out too high out of his stance; plays too high in pass protection as well... Needs to improve his leverage in the running game... Has the ability to be a solid role player or key reserve because of his skills in pass protection and pure strength.

At South Carolina -- 2011: Selected All-SEC Conference Second Team for the 2011 college football season as voted upon by both the Associated Press and SEC head coaches... started at right tackle for the first time in his career after playing guard in 2010 and helped South Carolina to a 56-37 win against East Carolina in Week 1... Watkins graded out at 87 percent with eight knockdowns, four pancakes, no sacks and no quarterback pressures allowed against ECU. 2010:

Started all 14 games... started first two games at right guard... moved to left guard for Furman game, but was back at right guard for start at Auburn... left the Furman game with a sprained right shoulder but returned to make the start at Auburn... held down the right guard position for the remainder of the campaign. 2009: Redshirted in his first season in the Garnet & Black following a transfer from Georgia Military College. 2007-08: Played junior college ball at Georgia Military College in Milledgeville... coached by Bert Williams... helped pave the way for a

Bulldogs rushing attack that managed to post over 180 yards a game on the ground in his sophomore season... considered a three-star prospect by Scout.com and a two-star prospect by Rivals.com... considered the 26th-best junior college player in the country, according to SuperPrep... also had an offer from UAB before casting his lot with the Gamecocks. ## Peter Konz Scouting Report

Peter Konz – Wisconsin (HT: 6-5 – WT: 314)

Positives -- Ideal size for an NFL center and possesses all the intangibles and fundamentals to go along with it... Very good blocker with a very low and wide base that allows him to drive his defenders back... Smart about where he puts his helmet and is a great angle blocker... Blocks the correct shoulder depending on where the ball is going and gets a good push off the line of scrimmage... Very good run blocker for a center... Can get to the second level as well and shows good awareness to seal off the running lane... Seems to have a good understanding of the defensive front and is an extremely good down blocker... Makes a solid wall when blocking down on the tackle... Can pull with the guard and pick up the secondary block or set the edge if the guard pulls up... Very solid pass blocker... Good at chipping the rusher and helping out in the pocket... Utilizes his solid base, good footwork and excellent hands to keep defenders at the line of scrimmage... Good snapper with the quarterback either under center or from the shotgun... Might be over-drafted in this weak center class, no other center will be considered before the late second round.

Negatives -- Not an elite prospect, is the best center in this draft but not on the same level as Nick Mangold or Alex Mack coming out, doesn't possess all the tools to be a dominant center right away... Not as fast as you'd like him to be when blocking the second level or trying to get to the linebacker and cut him off his pursuit... Was asked to pull a lot in the screen game at Wisconsin, but looked too eager at times to get to the edge allowing the rusher to come in behind him and get the ball-carrier... Needs to develop a better sense of where he needs to be on the pulls, and if he's going to take the edge he needs to commit to it... Foot speed isn't necessarily where it should be for a first rounder, but can be worked on... Questionable upper body strength could drop his stock a bit, managed just 18 reps of 225 lbs. at the combine, no interior lineman drafted in the first two rounds since 2005 posted less than 22 reps, according to CBS Sports' Rob Rang... Suffered an ankle injury in a November game against Minnesota this year and missed the next three games.

At Wisconsin -- 2011: Started at center in 11 of 14 games... injured his ankle during Minnesota game and missed the games vs. Illinois, Penn State and the Big Ten championship game... returned to start at center in the Rose Bowl. 2010: Earned second letter... started at center in 11 of 13 games, missing Indiana and Michigan games due to injury... did not play in second half at Iowa on Oct. 23 due to injury... along with rest of starting offensive line and Bill Nagy, named UW's co-offensive player of the week for the Minnesota game... named UW offensive player of the week after starting at center at UNLV on Sept. 4. 2009: Earned first letter... played in 10 games, starting nine... did not play in final two games of season due to injury... started nine straight games at center during the season... had first-career start when he lined up at center against Wofford on Sept. 19... made Badger debut when he took over for injured Travis Frederick at center against Fresno State on Sept. 12. 2008: Redshirt season... named UW's offensive scout team player of the week of Fresno State. High School: Rated as the 30th-best offensive lineman in the nation and the No. 3 player in Wisconsin by Rivals.com... Scout.com ranked him as the second-best player in the state and the No. 38 offensive lineman in the nation... first-team all-state, all-region and all-conference offensive and defensive lineman as a senior... first-team all-state offense, first-team all-region, first-team all-conference, honorable mention all-conference defense and team's most valuable lineman as a junior... first-team all-conference and team's most improved lineman as a sophomore... team captain as a senior... played both ways and totaled 34 tackles and 10 QB sacks in his career.

Ben Jones Scouting Report

Ben Jones – Georgia (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 303)

Positives -- Fires out of his stance, has a terrific first step... Good initial quickness; explosive, but doesn't generate much power... Great fundamentals and technique, plays with a good base and low center of gravity... Very good first read step in both the running game and passing game... Uses his hands well to keep defenders from getting inside of his pads and controlling his leverage... His height will give him a leverage advantage in the NFL... When going against taller and bigger defenders he can use his low base and good footwork to gain leverage on his opponent... Drives his feet on contact; keeps his hands and feet moving in the passing game to block defenders... Seems to have a good knowledge of protection schemes and can snap with the quarterback either under center or from the shotgun, has experience in a pro-style offense.

Negatives -- Not an overly impressive player by any right, doesn't really stand out or do anything particularly well... Not as big as you would like him to be, shorter than ideal arms and small hands, doesn't have elite size or overall athleticism... Not an incredible run blocker by any stretch of the imagination... Seems to have a hard time locating his block out of his stance... Gets pushed off the line of scrimmage or off his block easily, appears to simply get overpowered at times... Rarely see him moving forward or keeping a pass rush at the line of scrimmage... Doesn't always break down well in space but generally gets in the way of defender... More of a wall-off blocker than actual contact maker in space... Doesn't explode into second level blocks but rather just pushes through them... Seems to have a hard time recognizing his blocks, just tries to get a chip on the defender... Poor snapper out of the shotgun, spends too much time looking at the quarterback rather than reading the defense.

At Georgia -- 2011: Selected to play in the Senior Bowl... Rimington Trophy Finalist... ESPN.com, Yahoo Sports and Rivals.com First Team All-American and Phil Steele Fourth Team All-American... Second Team All-SEC by Associated Press, Phil Steele and SEC Coaches... Named the team's overall captain... SEC Offensive Lineman of the Week following win over New Mexico St. where the Bulldogs accumulated 627 yards and 63 points... Named to Phil Steele's mid-season All-SEC Second Team... Named to watch lists for the Outland Trophy, Rimington Trophy and Lombardi Trophy... Named to inaugural Pony Express Award watch list as a tandem with teammate Cordy Glenn... Named the nation's seventh-best center in preseason by Lindy's and tabbed Birmingham News' "next" most underrated player in the SEC... Named preseason All-SEC Second Team by Athlon Sports, Phil Steele, SEC Coaches and SEC Media... Earned team's True Grit Award for offense at end of spring practice... Recipient of the Richard Young Football Scholarship. 2010: Named All-SEC Fourth Team by Phil Steele... Named to SEC Academic Honor Roll... Earned team's Coaches Leadership Award for offense... ## Philip Blake Scouting Report

Philip Blake – Baylor (HT: 6-2¾ - WT: 311)

Positives -- Very strong anchor up the middle... Has some natural girth through his lower half, more girth than the prototypical center, originally started at right tackle due to his size... Showed ability to take on bigger defensive tackles one on one... Can be a difference maker at the point of attack, can drive his man off the ball, rarely gets pushed back... Quickly gets his head and hands up after the snap... Passing sets are good and slides are average... If defender gets off balance he tries to finish them off... Effort is there to get out on screens... Quick enough to get to second level and drives defenders once there... Better pass blocker on film but can also overpower defenders in the running game... Consistent snapper both from shotgun and with quarterback under center... Has a high football IQ, very smart player, diverse because of his starts at right tackle, also looked good when he had an opportunity to play guard at the Senior Bowl... Very durable, rarely missed time; experienced, junior college transfer who has played college football for the last six years... Worked his way into a three year starter at Baylor... Slightly underrated prospect who has flown under the radar but is tough and finishes defenders and brings good effort on every play.

Negatives -- Inconsistent hand placement... Older prospect, will turn 27 during his rookie season... Has some trouble sustaining blocks, doesn't always show the ability to mirror defenders with quicker foot speed... Will miss on some second level blocks... Takes wrong angles at times and shows the tendency to grab when he doesn't get good enough hand placement to start... Baylor's offense ran a lot of screens and option plays... Can be careless with the first of combo blocks... Not quite as powerful as his size would indicate, 22 reps of 225 lbs. was a disappointing total at the combine... Loses leverage due to overextension and sometimes can let defenders get into his body... Didn't carry his weight well at the Senior Bowl weigh-in.

At Baylor -- 2010: Starting center in all 13 games, one of eight players to start every game... Named honorable-mention All-Big 12 by league coaches and Associated Press (earned third-team midseason All-Big 12 honors from Phil Steele)... Had season-high nine knockdowns and earned 85 percent grade in win over Buffalo in second game... ## Michael Brewster Scouting Report

Michael Brewster – Ohio State (HT: 6-4 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 312)

Positives -- Has great size and excellent footwork that allows him to control the line of scrimmage... Very solid pass protector with a squared base and good hands... Moves his feet very well and can feel where the pocket is collapsing... Very good chip-blocker with a strong initial block... Puts his helmet in between himself and the running lane... Very good angle of attack on his blocks, depending on the direction of the run... Noticeably quick, uses quickness to his advantage when blocking... Can get to the second level and does a solid job blocking in space... Has the ability to put a body on a linebacker at the next level... Knows when to plug the gap or move to the next level... Adept at reading a defense in the run game and has the fundamentals down pat... Has the ability to get very low on blocks despite his height and plays defenders' pads very well... Can snap the ball from the shotgun or with the quarterback under center... Is a four-year starter at Ohio State.

Negatives -- Questionable arm length... Has the tendency to give up on his block when the quarterback leaves the pocket... Very fundamentally sound overall, but his effort is questionable when a play is extended... Seems to struggle a bit with lateral movement in the pocket, and moving side-to-side may be an issue against bigger and faster NFL opponents... Slight tendency to get overaggressive in the running game, may be a little bit too anxious at times to get off his block and move to the second level... There are questions regarding his ability to handle a NFL nose tackle, he seems to have an issue taking on one defender for a long period of time without help.

At Ohio State -- Mike, who graduated in December 2011 with his degree in strategic communications, is one of the finest centers to ever suit up for the Scarlet and Gray. He has also been a strong leader of this program, one who was always willing to speak on behalf of his team. A 2010 All-American and first-team all-Big Ten Conference performer, Mike is a four-year starter for the Buckeyes. He was named (with Mike Adams) as the team's 2011 Jim Parker Award winner as the team's outstanding offensive lineman. He was also one of four team captains as voted on by the players. He capped his Buckeye career in the TaxSlayer.com Gator Bowl by making his 49th consecutive start, the second-longest streak in school history (Luke Fickell started 50 consecutive games). Mike was named a game captain a team-high eight times this past season, including in six of the last seven games. He was named to the Rimington and Outland Trophy watch lists at the beginning of his senior season. Mike was a Freshman All-American in 2008 after playing in 12 games and starting the final 10 games of the season. A four-year letter-winner, Mike was the only junior in 2010 to be named a finalist for the Rimington Trophy as the nation's outstanding center. He played in a total of 51 games.

Positives -- Has very quick first step, does a good job of quickly getting into his passing sets, gets his head up quickly after snap to locate defenders... Does a good job of getting movement at the point of attack... Understands leverage and uses it to his advantage... Has solid lower body that absorbs bull rushes... Uses a strong punch to knock bigger defenders back... Plays with good balance, resets well after initial push... Good lateral movement, does a great job of staying in front of opponents... Quick to get out on pulls and traps, getting upfield and in position to block while using correct angles... Nimble out in space, puts himself in tremendous position to make blocks... Snaps are consistent both out of the gun and under center... High football IQ, makes all the calls for the line, recognizes blitzes... Team player who never gives up on a play, tough and hard-working... Four year starter who has played through injuries that eventually required surgery... Weight room warrior, posted 41 reps of 225 lbs. at the combine... Smaller and quicker center; would be a perfect fit for a zone blocking scheme, reminds me a lot of Jeff Saturday.

Negatives -- Undersized center prospect... Doesn't consistently get good hand placement and tends to grab bigger players... Can have trouble sustaining blocks, is susceptible to pull moves... Oversets at times when asked to pass block... Can be pushed back by big defenders that bull rush, not a mauler and can have trouble creating space against bigger players... He is not scheme diverse and will only be considered by certain teams... Durability concerns, suffered a broken foot and torn ACL in 2009, then as a senior tore a tendon in his foot during the Sugar Bowl that required surgery and forced him to miss the Senior Bowl.

At Michigan -- 2011: Sugar Bowl champion... earned fourth varsity letter... 2011 Rimington Trophy recipient... 2011 Consensus All-America first team selection: Associated Press, Football Writers Association of America All-America, The Sporting News, Walter Camp... ## Quentin Saulsberry Scouting Report

Quentin Saulsberry – Mississippi State (HT: 6-2<sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 304)

Positives -- Has good size and strength for an interior lineman in the NFL... Does a great job firing off the ball quickly and delivering a powerful, initial blow to the defender... Very good footwork in pass protection, uses his feet effectively to stay square and maintain leverage with the defender... Does a good job keeping his hands inside on the defender's numbers... Has above average athletic ability and does a great job pulling and finding his blocks downfield... Athletic enough to consistently lay a solid block on quicker defenders downfield... Consistently finishes his blocks and takes defenders to the ground... Does a good job rolling off his blocks and getting to the second level to close off the linebackers... Reacts well to various lineman stunts and blitzes... Is a very aggressive player who plays with a lot of energy, was a four year starter at Mississippi State where he played against some of the best defensive line prospects in the country on a weekly basis... Is also a very versatile player, having played four different positions along the offensive line throughout his college career... Played the center position in his senior year and parts of his junior year where he displayed good, clean snaps and made quick adjustments after the snap... Overall, Saulsberry is a solid, scheme flexible interior line prospect with the versatility to play multiple positions along the interior line... A nice sleeper prospect with the potential to develop into an above average starter in the NFL with good coaching.

Negatives -- Occasionally appeared hesitant moving down the line looking for his blocks, which in some cases caused plays to slow down... Has a tendency to fire out a little high in the running game, allowing defenders to get under his pads... Despite seeing playing time in college on the outside, his arms may be a little too short to play the tackle position at the next level... Also doesn't use his arms effectively enough when run blocking and relies more on his body strength to drive the defender... Could extend his arms allowing him to do a better job driving his defender out of the box... Sometimes turns his body too much in pass protection leaving him vulnerable to quick moves from smaller, quicker defenders... A project player who will need to be coached up before making an impact in the NFL.

At Mississippi State -- 2010: Started all 13 games, earning the nod at right guard 10 times and starting at center two times due to an injury to J.C. Brignone... Graded out at 80 percent or higher eight times during his junior season and posted 28 knockdowns on the year... Played left guard and right guard interchangeably throughout the season and also helped at center... Helped pave the way for the Bulldog rushing attack that averaged 214.8 yards per game, 16th in the country and second highest average in the SEC... Helped State rush for over 200 yards eight different times during the season. 2009: Started all 12 games at left guard... Helped the Bulldog offense lead the SEC and finish ninth nationally in rushing offense, averaging more than 227 yards per game... The offensive line created room for the offense to increase yards-per-game by nearly 100 yards from the previous season... The o-line also allowed 16 fewer sacks in 2009... Played every snap in 10 games... Helped pave the way for running back Anthony Dixon to set a new school record with 1,391 yards on the year... Also cleared the path for the offense to eclipse the 300 rushing yard mark four times, including rushing 55 times for 327 yards at Arkansas and 59 times for 317 yards in the season-ending win over Ole Miss. 2008: Started all 12 games of the year at right tackle... Won the first start of his collegiate career in his first game of eligibility on the offensive line... Played all 74 offensive snaps, a team high, during that first start, turning in a 79 percent blocking grade... For the second-straight week, saw the most action of any Bulldog offensive lineman in Week 2 home-opening win over Southeastern Louisiana... Tallied an 82 percent blocking mark against the Lions... Was on the field for all 61 offensive snaps vs. Auburn in the SEC opener... Was on the field for all 87 offensive snaps at Georgia Tech one week later.

Garth Gerhart Scouting Report

Garth Gerhart – Arizona State (HT: 6-1¼ – WT: 305)

Positives -- Short powerful frame which allows him to get under the shoulder pads of the defender... Shows great power if able to get in under the defender... Does a good job getting the snap off and making adjustments after the snap... Has really good footwork in a two foot box... Excellent footwork allows him to make adjustments after getting beat initially off the snap... Does a good job getting into the second level... Has good versatility; played three different positions during his 35 collegiate starts... A little small for an NFL lineman and therefore only suited to line up in the interior... NFL bloodlines, brother Toby is a running back for the Minnesota Vikings... Overall, Gerhart is a powerful player with the potential to develop into a decent spot starter of key reserve on the interior offensive line with good coaching.

Negatives -- Has a tendency to peel off his initial block too early in the run when trying to get to the next level... Athletic ability is below average; is slow getting down the line and downfield on traps, pulls and screens... Sometimes comes up slow out of his stance leaving him vulnerable to a bull rush and often struggles at the point of attack with nose tackles... Needs to be more aggressive; doesn't drive the defender out of the box... Needs to work on leverage and focus on rolling his hips to use his small powerful frame more effectively... Often stands up too high after the snap.

At Arizona State -- Five-year member of the Sun Devil football team... four-year letterman... played in 39 career games, making 35 starts... appeared as center, right guard and left guard... made one career reception for one yard... participated in 2012 Senior Bowl and East-West Shrine Game... graduated in spring of 2011 with a B.A. degree in History. 2011: Started all 13 games at center... earned Second Team All-Pac-12 honors... named a team captain... garnered Hard Hat player recognition for his work in ASU's offseason strength and conditioning program for the third time... named to preseason watch lists for the Rimington and Outland trophies. 2010: Provided great consistency in the offensive line by starting all 12 games at center... had first career catch at the start of the fourth quarter Sept. 11 against in state foe Northern Arizona... earned second Hard Hat player recognition for his work in ASU's offseason strength and conditioning program. 2009: Started seven games, including two at center and five at right guard... appeared in eight games on the season... started the final six games of the season, including Oct. 24 against Stanford and his brother Toby... collected a solo tackle Oct. 10 against Washington State. 2008: Played in six games, starting the final three... saw his first career collegiate action in team's win over Stanford on Sept. 6, going up against his brother Toby, who is a running back for the Cardinal... moved from center to guard near the end of the season... started at left guard each of the last three games... one of three freshmen to start on the offensive line during the season... was one of six Sun Devils to make their first career start on the offensive line during the 2008 season... earned Hard Hat player recognition for his work in ASU's offseason strength and conditioning program, placing in the top 10 in overall points.

William Vlachos Scouting Report

William Vlachos – Alabama (HT: 6-0 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 306)

Positives -- Uses his shorter frame to his advantage by staying low and gaining leverage... Despite his size his fights and doesn't back down from bigger defenders... Has a good first step and shows good short area quickness to turn and seal defenders... Lateral mobility is a plus, can slide quickly to help on either side when the middle is clear... Possesses quick hands and gets good consistent hand placement... Also shows good awareness in space to locate opponents while on the move and is an effective combination blocker... He has a high football IQ to identify stunts and blitzes; made all the calls at the line, very good communicator with his teammates... By all accounts is a high character guy who works hard at practice and in the film room... Good durability, has started 35 straight games against a high level of competition.

Negatives -- His body length is a concern; he is a short and stocky player with extremely short 30" arms... Given that he is undersized, he struggles to anchor against bull rushers; defenders can get into his body and stand him up... Has only average strength, doesn't show the ability to drive defenders back... Has a tendency to grab and doesn't utilize a strong punch very often... Doesn't always finish his blocks the way he should, has an inconsistent motor at times... Isn't an overly athletic player; needs to be sound in technique to be effective... Really labors when asked to get more than five or 10 yards downfield... Offers no positional flexibility.

At Alabama -- William Vlachos is in his third year as Alabama's starting center... a veteran that provides excellent leadership and has a masterful knowledge of the Crimson Tide offense, making all of the offensive line identifications and calls... a finalist for the Rimington Award, which goes to the nation's top center... second-team All-American by Walter Camp... second-team midseason All-American by SI.com and Phil Steele... has started all 12 games this season and 39 straight contests... helps Alabama rank 15th nationally running the football with an average of 219.8 yards per game while ranking 16th nationally in scoring offense with 36.0 points per game and 30th in total offense at 433.4 yards per game... ranks 28th nationally in sacks allowed at 1.25 per game... the Tide has scored 33 rushing touchdowns to rank tied for seventh nationally... Vlachos has blocked for 27 100-yard rushers in his career, including 11 this season... missed only eight assignments in 733 plays this season... 100 percent of assignments in six games... two-time SEC Offensive Lineman of the Week (Florida and Auburn). Kent State: Helped clear the way for 183 yards rushing, including 134 rushing and receiving yards from Eddie Lacy and Trent Richardson's three rushing touchdowns. Penn State: Blocked for 196 rushing yards while not allowing a sack to the talented Nittany Lion front seven... graded out a team-best 91 percent... helped Richardson account for 111 yards and two touchdowns... earned Offensive Player of the Week honors from the Alabama coaching staff.

Nick Perry Scouting Report

Nick Perry – USC (HT: 6-2¾ – WT: 271)

Positives -- While he plays defensive end for USC, has a very athletic frame and is an ideal fit as a rush linebacker in a 3-4 scheme, has the tools to develop into a premier pass rusher... Is quick off the ball, has a great first step and good initial burst to threaten the edge, eats up grass quickly, good flexibility to dip his shoulder around the corner, accelerates toward the quarterback and closes quickly when he gains a step, constantly disrupts the pocket... Does a solid job running the arc but also shows good some counter moves to the inside, can push his man into the backfield at times, reasonably long arms and uses a swim move to defeat blocks on contact, can be violent on contact, has a strong lower half, gets good power on the bull rush, very good combination of strength and speed... Has the strength to hold up against the run, isn't given enough credit for natural anchor strength, also sets the edge well and closes off outside running plays... Plays with a good motor, works hard in pursuit, finds the football and has good range... Has the athleticism to play in space, so a conversion to 3-4 OLB would come fairly easily for him, will probably be more comfortable standing up in a 2-point stance... Has dropped into coverage and looks comfortable doing so, good lateral and change of direction agility, fluid athlete, can play in coverage at the NFL level... Three-year starter, stepped up and played his best games of the 2011 season against premier competition... Is part of a weak draft for pass rushers and should go in the first round based on potential alone, made a wise decision to declare following his junior season in which he led the Pac-12 with 9.5 sacks... Weighed in 20 pounds heavier at the combine than his listed college weight, is still an athletic freak at that size, 38.5" vertical and 10'4" broad led defensive ends; also, benched 35 reps of 225 lbs. and had one of the top 10-yard splits among defensive linemen.

Negatives -- Needs to improve getting off blocks and be more violent with his hands to disengage, doesn't play to his weight room strength... Gets a little too upright with his pad level around the corner, can get too wide around the edge and pushed out of the play... Relies too much on his burst to get to the quarterback; if his initial burst is met successfully, he doesn't have a go to counter move that he can go to with regularity... Has played primarily at RDE at Southern California, is relegated to a 3-4 defense due to his current size... Durability issues, completed the 2011 season without an injury for the first time in his USC career; suffered a right knee injury in goal line drills during an August practice prior to the 2010 season, was carted off and missed about four weeks, but only one game, was also hampered by a lingering high ankle sprain throughout the 2010 season that limited his production, also bruised his knee during the 2009 season and missed some practice but no games.

At Southern California -- 2010: Perry started 9 games at defensive end as a sophomore in 2010 and played often as the backup in the other contests. Overall in 2010 while appearing in 12 games (he missed the Hawaii opener with a sprained ankle), he had 25 tackles, including 7.5 for losses (with 4 sacks), plus 3 deflections, 2 forced fumbles and 1 fumble recovery... He had 1 tackle each against Virginia and Minnesota, 2 tackles (with a sack) at Washington State, 3 tackles and a deflection against Washington. He then had 2 tackles (with a sack) and a forced fumble at Stanford, 2 tackles (with a sack) against California, 3 tackles against Oregon and 3 tackles (2 for a loss) against Arizona State. He added 2 tackles at Oregon State, then a sack, a deflection and forced a fumble that he recovered and returned 8 yards to set up a USC TD against Notre Dame and 5 tackles (1.5 for losses) and a deflection at UCLA. 2009: Perry was an often-used backup defensive end as a redshirt freshman in 2009, playing often in passing situations. Overall while appearing in all 13 games (he started against Stanford), he had 24 tackles, including 9 for losses (with a team-best 8 sacks). He made the 2009 Football Writers Freshman All-American first team, Sporting News Freshman All-American first team, Phil Steele's Freshman All-American first team, CollegeFootballNews.com Freshman All-American first team, ESPN.com Pac-10 All-Freshman first team and Sporting News Pac-10 All-Freshman first team... Three of his 4 tackles were for losses (with 2 sacks) against San Jose State. He had 2 tackles at Ohio State, 2 of his 4 tackles were sacks at Washington, he had 2 sacks among his 4 tackles against Washington State and he had 3 tackles (with a sack) at Notre Dame. He added 3 tackles at Oregon and 2 against Stanford. He had 2 tackles, including a sack, against Boston College.

Melvin Ingram Scouting Report

Melvin Ingram – South Carolina (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 264)

Positives -- Short, but athletic and versatile lineman with a good pass rushing repertoire, can rush the quarterback from a variety of positions... Plays with appropriate pad level, keeps himself clean; is difficult to block for the duration of a play as he possesses good strength and can maintain leverage throughout... Very good stack and shed type player who can be violent and disengages well... Quick laterally, plays fast in tight quarters, has the speed to get around the edge but works best with counter moves to get inside for direct path and power through with good closing speed... Plays with good leverage in running game, has the strength to anchor and can split a double team to make a tackle... Plays with a solid motor, doesn't take plays off and has good range in pursuit, maintains outside contain and can show off athleticism in backside pursuit... Has experience dropping into coverage, stays compact with his footwork in backpedal, light on his feet with loose, fluid hips; underrated athleticism, was recruited as a linebacker... Has proven to be extremely versatile, has experience lining up at defensive end and shifting inside to tackle, as well as rushing the passer standing up, is the type of player that can move around and could fit in any scheme... Pass-rushing specialist started just one game in 2010 yet still compiled nine sacks and added 8.5 sacks this season.

Negatives -- Is not the same type of force against the run as he is the pass, can be slow to locate the ball and his technique off the snap could improve; could attribute lack of awareness to lack of starting experience, needs to hone his instincts... Isn't overly explosive off the snap, a bit inconsistent with snap awareness, can also be pushed back on initial contact... Shorter than ideal arms... Leaves his feet too often on attempted tackles, a bit of a liability until he learns to consistently wrap up... Missed all of the 2008 season due to an on-campus incident that resulted in a broken foot, but no one was charged... A tweener who isn't physically fit for a specific position, too light for defensive tackle and a little short for defensive end, would be best to improvise and use at multiple positions.

At South Carolina -- Senior defensive lineman who can play end in the base package and move inside in passing situations... had a breakout season in 2010... listed as the starter at defensive end opposite Devin Taylor entering the fall... is a preseason fourth-team All-SEC pick by Phil Steele... has played in 39 games during his Carolina career, making a pair of starts. 2010: Played in all 14 games, making one start (Southern Miss)... Led the team with 9.0 sacks, ranking third in SEC and tying for the second-highest single season total in school history... ranked second on the squad with 11.0 tackles for loss among his 28 total stops... credited with half a sack on Georgia's final possession of the game... had two tackles, including a sack, in win over Furman... posted four tackles, including a sack and 1.5 tackles for loss, vs. Kentucky... had his best career game against Alabama, recording 2.0 sacks and 2.5 tackles for loss among four total stops... suffered a broken hand early in the game at Vanderbilt but returned to the contest... had 1.5 sacks vs. Tennessee... had two tackles vs. Florida, including the team's 33rd sack of the season which set a new school record... had the team's only sack vs. Troy, forcing a fumble that led to a Gamecock touchdown... also had a sack in the Chick-fil-A Bowl. 2009: Redshirt sophomore who returned to active duty after sitting out the 2008 season while recovering from foot surgery... played in all 13 contests, starting one... credited with 18 tackles including 3.5 for loss and 1.5 sacks... logged a 12-yard sack against FAU... credited with five tackles in the win over Vanderbilt... made his first career start in that contest and was credited with three tackles, including a half sack.

Quinton Coples Scouting Report

Quinton Coples – North Carolina (HT: 6-5¾ - WT: 284)

Positives -- Ideal size and athleticism with the physical tools to be a force at the next level, looks the part... Has long arms and quick, strong hands to jolt, can easily disengage and keeps linemen off his body by keeping his arms extended, can be difficult to block for the entire play due to his natural power and length... Good initial burst off the snap, but creates space with his hand usage and not with speed or by shooting gaps at defensive end, will line up extremely wide and take quickest angles to quarterback... Can push and pressure the pocket and take on double teams, which he sees on nearly every snap...

Decent bull rush, though club and rip are his best pass rush moves... Good balance, seldom off his feet, good flexibility and body control, moves well laterally to avoid blocks and get up the field... Long strider and covers a lot of ground with good closing speed to the quarterback or ball carrier... Does a fairly good job in run support, has the strength to anchor and hold the point, very good at establishing initial positioning and shedding blocks... Does a nice job in pursuit, is a reliable wrap-up tackler... Moved inside in 2010 to account for suspended players and ended with 10 sacks and 15.5 TFL, very versatile with the ability to play end or tackle in a four-man front and is one of the best five-technique prospects in the draft... Has a lot of upside and is just scratching the surface of his potential.

Negatives -- Doesn't have a true go-to move, doesn't have great edge speed and isn't a speed rusher by any means, is more of a stack and shed type player who overpowers linemen, doesn't show a swim move much... Doesn't get his hands up in passing lanes when he can't reach the quarterback... Can be slow to react to run plays... Plays with a high pad level and can be washed out of plays... Worst case scenario he ends up as more of a space-eater than dominate pass rusher, is a boom or bust prospect who hasn't played to his level of talent and leaves more production on the field than you'd want from a high first round pick... Unrefined, plays with an inconsistent motor, only flashes his ability to dominate and take over games, has a high ceiling but his bust potential is pretty high for a "sure-fire" Top 15 pick... Seemed as if he was playing "not to get injured" in 2011... Was investigated for potential NCAA violations after attending a draft party with former teammates Robert Quinn and Marvin Austin, but was cleared of any improper conduct.

At North Carolina -- 2010: Moved from defensive end to defensive tackle in the spring and became one of the nation's top interior players... Earned first-team All-ACC honors and was named second-team All-America by Scout.com... Played in all 13 games and started 12... Ranked third in the league and 16th in the country in sacks per game... Had 10.0 sacks on the year, which ranked in the top five in the country among defensive tackles... Also ranked seventh in the league with 15.5 tackles for losses...

Finished fourth on the team with 59 total tackles and had a team-high 12 quarterback pressures, two pass breakups and one forced fumble... Played well in Carolina's Music City Bowl win over Tennessee with six tackles, including 1.5 sacks, two quarterback hurries and one forced fumble... Recorded three tackles in the win at Duke... Posted four tackles, forced a fumble and had a sack vs. NC State... Had one tackle for loss and three total tackles vs. Virginia Tech... Sacked Christian Ponder for a 10-yard loss and broke up a pass in the 37-35 win at Florida State... Had three tackles, two tackles for losses and a sack, in the win over William & Mary... Had two tackles at Miami... Posted a career-high 11 stops, including three tackles for losses and 1.5 sacks in Carolina's first win at Virginia since 1981... Had two tackles and three quarterback pressures in the 21-16 win over Clemson... Had four tackles and five quarterback pressures vs. East Carolina... Registered nine tackles, including four tackles for losses and three sacks in Carolina's first win of the season, a 17-13 victory at Rutgers... Had five tackles vs. Georgia Tech... Posted six tackles, including three tackles for losses, vs. LSU in the Chick-fil-A Classic in Atlanta.

Whitney Mercilus Scouting Report

Whitney Mercilus – Illinois (HT: 6-3 $\frac{5}{8}$  – WT: 261)

Positives -- High energy, lanky pass rusher with an ideal frame and good inside/outside repertoire of speed and power pass rushing moves... There is some obvious straight-line talent there given his numbers as a junior, he has good initial burst and does a solid job getting after the quarterback... Active hands and plays low with good leverage and technique, flashes some power at the point of attack, long arms and can punch lineman back, gets his arms up to affect passing windows when he can't get to the quarterback... Can be explosive off the edge when he commits to rushing the passer, can dip his shoulder under the reach of lineman and bend the edge with good body control to work his way around the corner... Makes plays in the backfield and goes for the strip, is relentless with a high motor... Broke Illinois and Big Ten records with nine forced fumbles in 2011, was the second-most in NCAA history; also added 16 sacks and won the Ted Hendricks Award, given to the nation's top defensive end... Has the best last name of any draft prospect of recent memory (pronounced 'merciless'), made a good decision to come out early while he's relatively hot although I don't see his game translating very well to the next level... Flashed the movement skills to fit a 3-4 defense at the combine though I still maintain he's best fit playing with his hand in the dirt as a 4-3 defensive end.

Negatives -- Shows just adequate athleticism on tape; although he's moved around the line and plays both LDE and RDE for Illinois, should only be considered at 4-3 LDE, lacks the edge speed to stick on the right side... Despite having the size of a 3-4 OLB, doesn't appear to have the flexibility or body control to play in space, doesn't have fluid hips or footwork necessary to make the switch, slow and choppy change of direction agility... Isn't real physical and doesn't shed blocks especially well, relies too much on his burst to get to the quarterback; if his initial burst is met successfully, he doesn't have any consistent counter-moves and will struggle to disengage... Doesn't have a great first step, can be slow to react to the snap and often looks like he's playing in slow motion... Illinois' defensive scheme allows him to sell out and rush the passer on almost every snap, has a tendency to forget his responsibilities and leaves his gap open to the run as he's attacking the pocket... Had never seen extensive playing time prior to the 2011 season, is a one-year wonder who lacks upside and not sure how much he'll be able to contribute consistently at the next level... There is something about him that reminds me of Aaron Maybin, have a feeling he'd have come falling back to earth in 2012 as Big Ten offenses start playing to his weaknesses, meaning the days of double digit sacks go right out the window.

At Illinois -- Illinois DE Whitney Mercilus declared he is leaving the Illini program a year early. "After a lot of prayer and discussion with my family, I have decided the time is right for me to forgo my senior year and enter the 2012 NFL draft," Mercilus said in a statement.

Mercilus tied Simeon Rice's school record with 16 sacks in 2011 while setting a Big Ten record with nine forced fumbles - the second-highest single-season total in NCAA history. He also racked up a conference-best 22.5 tackles for loss while earning first-team All-America honors. Mercilus also won the Ted Hendricks Defensive End of the Year Award. Mercilus entered the season with just two career sacks, but his departure after a monster season didn't come as a surprise following the firing of Ron Zook and with defensive coordinator and interim head coach Vic Koenning declining an offer to stay on as coordinator. 2011: Had a sack and a forced fumble against Wisconsin on Nov. 19... Posted three tackles, one forced fumble, one TFL, one QBH, and one sack against Michigan to move into sole possession of third place on the Illini single-season list for sacks... Recorded six tackles, 1.5 TFL, 1.5 sacks and one forced fumble against Penn State, moving into a tie for third on Illinois' single-season sacks list... Had five tackles and 2 TFLs against Purdue... Against Ohio State, had a career-high nine tackles and recorded 1.5 sacks and reached double digits on the year... Had five solo tackles, 4.0 TFLs, 3.0 sacks and two forced fumbles in victory over Indiana... Had six tackles along with 1.5 sacks and a fumble recovery in win over Northwestern... Recorded four tackles, a career-high three QB hurries and one sack against Western Michigan... Had five tackles, 2.0 sacks, one forced fumble, one PBU and one QB hurry in win over Arizona State... Had three solo tackles, 2.0 TFLs and a forced fumble against Arkansas State. 2010: Played in all 13 games, making two starts... Had 16 tackles, 3.0 TFLs, one sack, two hurries, two forced fumbles and one PBU in 2010... Recorded two tackles, one TFL and forced a fumble in Texas Bowl win over Baylor... Had a tackle and a QB hurry against SIU... Made first career start against SIU, tallying his first solo QB sack, 2 TFLs, a forced fumble, a QB hurry and a PBU.

Andre Branch Scouting Report

Andre Branch – Clemson (HT: 6-4¼ – WT: 259)

Positives -- Very athletic frame with prototypical height, has the type of overall athleticism that will intrigue teams, could play OLB in a 3-4 scheme... Has some collegiate experience playing outside linebacker and dropping into coverage, but has primarily played RDE ('bandit') at Clemson the past two seasons, including opposite 2010 NCAA sack leader Da'Quan Bowers... Plays with a good base and low center of gravity, good flexibility and body control to evade blockers and turn the corner... Good straight-line speed and short area quickness, changes direction well and moves well laterally, good closing speed... Long arms with strong, quick hands, can control linemen and gain initial leverage to create space for himself, can be violent and disengages well, is physical at the point of attack, works through contact... Has solid power for the bull rush and can beat linemen with good inside moves and disrupts passing lanes when he can't reach the quarterback... Plays the run well; very good stack and shed type player with strong upper half, can push the pocket... Disciplined in backside pursuit, holds the edge reasonably well and maintains outside containment, doesn't take himself out of plays... Plays with a strong motor, relentless in pursuit, breaks down reasonably well in space and has the blend of speed and power to deliver some big hits, flashes a mean streak... Has all the physical tools to be a force at the next level, is a similar prospect to former Clemson product Ricky Sapp, who fell to the fifth round only because of knee issues; Branch will be drafted much higher... Has a lot of untapped potential, and produced more playing out of the shadow of Bowers.

Negatives -- Average and inconsistent burst off the edge, isn't explosive off the snap, can be slow to react to the snap and can't consistently threaten the edge... Needs to add an additional 8-12 pounds of bulk to be considered a three-down defensive end in a 4-3, can't consistently hold up at the point, and struggles versus double teams... Plays a little high at times, rises up and allows linemen under his pads, causing him to be slower to shed and lose a step... Will miss some tackles, will take some bad angles in pursuit, and needs to wrap up better instead of going for the big hit... Doesn't have much in terms of pass rush arsenal and needs to develop counter moves... Gauged the eye of a Florida State offensive lineman during a play in 2010, had many analysts calling for a suspension; was similar to Brandon Spikes' eye-gouging of a Georgia player in 2009, which led to a first half suspension his next game... A bit of a tweener who has yet to establish himself as a definite 4-3 or 3-4 prospect... Groin injury kept him out of the Senior Bowl.

At Clemson -- Defensive end who has 112 tackles, 16.5 tackles for loss, seven sacks, 23 quarterback pressures, and 10 pass breakups in 1,131 snaps over 34 games (13 starts) in his career... has made at least one tackle in 27 straight games... 2011 Ted Hendricks Award Watch List member in the preseason... 2011 CFPA Defensive Lineman Trophy Watch List member in the preseason... 2011 preseason third-team All-ACC by Athlon and Phil Steele... tied for fourth on the team in vertical jump (35.5"). 2010: Solid Rock Award winner among defensive ends... had 55 tackles, 7.5 tackles for loss, five sacks, 15 quarterback pressures, and seven pass breakups in 13 starts (651 snaps)... second on the team in sacks and tied for third in quarterback pressures... gave Clemson a great defensive end tandem with Da'Quan Bowers... had four combined tackles for loss in the first two games... had three tackles for loss and two sacks against Presbyterian College; named team defensive player-of-the-game by the coaches... had seven tackles at #15 Auburn... had four tackles against Georgia Tech when he played linebacker... had five tackles, a sack, and four quarterback pressures against #23 N.C. State... had seven tackles in 55 snaps against #17 South Carolina... had six tackles, two tackles for loss, and a sack in 51 snaps against South Florida. 2009: Did not start a game, but played in all 14 games for an average of 24 snaps per game... finished the year with 46 tackles, including eight for loss... the tackle total was second-best among non-starters and his eight tackles for loss tied for fourth-best on the team... had four tackles in 21 snaps off the bench in the win over Kentucky in the Music City Bowl... had at least four tackles in eight of the 14 games, including six of the last seven... had just one tackle against Virginia, but it was a big 11-yard sack... had season-high five tackles in wins over Middle Tennessee and Coastal Carolina... had violent six-yard sack against Wake Forest... had at least one tackle for loss in four straight games at mid-season, Clemson won all four of those games... had four tackles in career-high 41 plays at N.C. State.

Chandler Jones Scouting Report

Chandler Jones – Syracuse (HT: 6-5 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 266)

Positives -- Great length and is a good size for a 4-3 defensive end; has a long frame that should allow him to put on some more muscle... His athleticism could allow him to play some 3-4 outside linebacker in obvious passing situations... Uses his hands well to get blockers off of him; shows a nice jab that can catch players off guard... Has some natural power to his game; when he gets a good first step his bull rush is very tough to stop... His long wingspan allows him to use his swim move effectively; his length allows him to extend off of blockers and his arms allow him to reach out and grab ball carriers that are near...

Doesn't stop working until the whistle is blown; motor is off the charts... Was very productive despite being a constant target of double teams in college... All of the physical tools are there, just needs good coaching to refine him into the starter that he should become.

Negatives -- Not fast enough to beat tackles around the edge; lacks the first step to get around athletic lineman... Needs to play with better pad level, gets too upright and can be easily driven off the line by a stronger player... Takes too much time when trying to get past players; instead of taking two or three steps he'll take five or six and this can take him out of plays... Struggles with the change of direction; counters and misdirections can eat him alive... Needs to add more bulk to his upper and lower body... Needs to develop a secondary move to complement his swim move... Needs to be more consistent; will show up for a game then will be a no show in the next one... Missed five games in 2011 with a knee injury and needs to be medically checked out.

At Syracuse -- 2011: All-Big East First Team selection... Started all seven games he played... Against Wake Forest, made five tackles, including a half sack for a loss of three yards... Did not play against Rhode Island, USC, Toledo, Rutgers or Tulane due to injury suffered against Wake Forest... Against West Virginia, earned Big East Defensive Player of the Week honors after recording six solo tackles, including two sacks for a loss of 19 yards, and broke up a pass... Against Louisville, had five tackles, including four solo and one sack for a loss of six yards, and a pass break up... Against Connecticut, had six tackles, including five solo and one sack, and forced two fumbles... Against South Florida, recorded four tackles, including three solo ... At Cincinnati, had eight tackles, including seven solo... At Pittsburgh, had four solo tackles, including two for a total loss of four yards, and one interception, which he returned 32 yards. 2010: All-Big East Second Team selection... Phil Steele's All-Big East Third Team selection ... Started all 13 games...

Shea McClellin Scouting Report

Shea McClellin – Boise State (HT: 6-3 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 260)

Positives -- Former high school running back, very athletic pass rusher with an explosive first step both with his hand in the dirt and standing up; versatile, has played all over the Boise defense, looks like a potential starter at the next level regardless of scheme... Does a nice job anticipating the snap count; has the speed to threaten the edge, good flexibility to dip his shoulder around the corner... Can rush the quarterback in a variety of ways, does a nice job shooting through gaps, good combination of quickness and strength to knife into the backfield, good inside/outside repertoire of speed and power pass rushing moves with above average closing speed... Can be used on stunts and twists, where his initial quickness is too much for interior linemen to handle... Violent with his hands, extends his arms to engage the blocker and deliver a jolt, can quickly disengage and make his way into the backfield... Does a good job against the run for his size, disciplined in backside pursuit, holds the edge reasonably well and maintains outside containment; has the ability to stack and shed to make the tackle and can also make plays off his frame... Plays with a high motor, a blue collar type of player that brings it on every snap, intimidating presence on the field, smart and instinctive player who has a nose for the football... Spends an equal amount of time playing defensive end and linebacker in Boise's hybrid defense; good balance with fluid hips and changes direction well, can drop into coverage and plays well in man coverage... Productive, had 9.5 sacks as a junior while playing in about half his team's snaps, makes a lot of big plays for Boise State's defense, including a few returns for touchdowns... High character player and his ability to play on special teams adds to his value... Not quite the athlete as current San Francisco rush linebacker Aldon Smith but has some similarities to the former Missouri Tiger, will be a good value pick in the middle rounds of the 2012 Draft... I pegged him as a gamer and felt athleticism tests might not do his on-field play justice but his 4.63-40 was second best among the defensive linemen grouping at the combine.

Negatives -- Lacks prototypical size and doesn't have the frame to carry any additional weight without impacting his speed... Overly reliant on athleticism, too often looks to avoid blocks by running around them... Inconsistent run stopper, has some good games and others where he is a non-factor, can be engulfed by larger blockers at the point of attack, runs the arc a little wide at times but has enough athletic ability to recover and generally holds his ground well... 19 reps of 225 lbs. were the fewest of all defensive linemen at the combine... Lack of competition playing in the WAC and Mountain West... Suffered three concussions in college.

At Boise State -- 2010: Started each of the Broncos' 13 games, running his streak of consecutive starts to 24... named first-team All-Western Athletic Conference... registered 30 tackles (15 solo) on the season, including 13.5 tackles-for-loss - tied for the most on the team - and a team-high 9.5 sacks... ranked tied for 22nd-nationally in sacks (0.73 per game)... tied his career high with six tackles (three solo) against No. 10 Virginia Tech in the Broncos' season-opening win... career-high four TFLs against the Hokies... career-high 2.5 sacks also came against the Hokies... also had 2.0 sacks against Hawai'i (Nov. 6)... recorded TFLs and sacks in eight games... forced one fumble and recovered two, one of which went for a touchdown against Wyoming (Sept. 18)... returned an interception 36 yards for a touchdown against Toledo (Oct. 9), becoming the first Bronco defensive player to score on a fumble recovery and an interception in the same season since 1999... received the team's Outstanding Defensive Lineman Award at the season-ending banquet. 2009: Played in 13 games for the Broncos, including starts in the final 11... recorded 36 tackles, six tackles-for-loss and three sacks... also had an interception and two pass break-ups... recorded at least one tackle in 12 games... recorded a season-high six tackles against both Idaho and Bowling Green... lone interception of the year came against Utah State. 2008: Played in 10 games before suffering a leg injury in the Idaho game... registered 14 tackles (four solo) and three forced fumbles on the season... had a quarterback sack and forced a fumble in win over Hawai'i... had a season-high five tackles and forced a fumble in win over New Mexico State... blocked a field goal attempt against Oregon... signed National Letter of Intent with Boise State in February 2007.

Vinny Curry Scouting Report

Vinny Curry – Marshall (HT: 6-3 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 266)

Positives -- Natural pass-rush ability, an explosive and disruptive edge rusher who has posted double digit sacks in back-to-back seasons... Is quick off the ball, has a great first step and good initial burst to threaten the edge, good flexibility to dip his shoulder around the corner, closes quickly... Keeps himself clean with quick hands, generally stays low to get under the pads of tackles and work through blockers; is a good power player with very good natural strength at the point of attack, extends his arms well to engage the blocker and deliver a jolt... Plays with good balance, can quickly change direction to avoid and sidestep blocks to shoot gaps and create pressure... Does a nice job setting the edge and maintaining containment, has the strength to anchor; can fight clean and work his way through multiple linemen to be a factor against the run, has good range and can make plays in pursuit... Very good wrap-up tackler, tackling numbers over the past two seasons are on the high end for a defensive end... Is a hard worker with a non-stop motor and is always hustling; plus intangibles, team captain, could have been a Top 100 pick in the 2011 Draft but chose to return to school to "win a championship"... Has also added enough weight and bulk to his frame to play right defensive end in a 4-3, has good potential to get into the backfield and create pressure and pursue.

Negatives -- Doesn't have the bend, elite quickness or top-end speed to play anything but RDE in a 4-3, and his poor combine pretty much put an end to the talk that he could stand up in a 3-4... Relies too much on speed at the collegiate level and needs to develop more moves, won't beat NFL tackles consistently with speed and lacks the counter moves to turn to when the speed rush is handled... Can wear down as the game progresses including inconsistent get-off, tires quickly... Pad level will rise once engaged, gets too upright and linemen can get underneath him, can be pushed past the play if he doesn't maintain good pad level... Might have trouble holding the point against NFL lineman, added bulk would improve his play versus the run, only flashes his ability against the run, too often looks to avoid blocks by running around them... Lack of competition playing in Conference USA.

At Marshall -- January 10, 2011: Marshall University defensive end Vinny Curry announced his plans to return for his senior season at a press conference Monday. Curry earned first-team All-Conference USA honors this past season after leading all defensive linemen in tackles with 94 total stops and ranking fifth in the nation with 12 sacks. His 18 tackles for loss also ranked second in C-USA and ranked among the top totals in the country. The Thundering Herd standout said he explored the possibility of declaring for the 2011 NFL Draft and received a "positive" evaluation from the NFL. He also spent a great deal of time discussing the potential pros and cons with his family and the Marshall coaching staff over the course of the last month before reaching his decision. "It has always been a dream of mine to play in the NFL and to be so close to that opportunity is very enticing," Curry said. "I put in for the NFL evaluation and it was favorable. However, I have the chance to be only the second person in my family to earn a college degree and I have some unfinished business here at Marshall. I love our coaches and the direction we are going and I want to help my teammates compete for a championship next year." Marshall Head Coach Doc Holliday had this to say about Curry's decision. "I have been coaching a long time and Vinny did a great job of researching this decision and listening to the right people," Holliday said. "He is an outstanding young man with a bright future and I could not be more proud of him." Personal: Son of Vincent Curry... has five siblings - Shawanda Johnson, Thomas Jackson, Amanda Johnson, Jillisa Curry and Renea Unverzagt... lists bowling as one of his hobbies.

Cameron Johnson Scouting Report

Cameron Johnson – Virginia (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 268)

Positives -- OLB convert from Al Groh's 3-4 defense; versatile player with good size, now a defensive end in Virginia's 4-3, could play in either scheme at the next level... Good athlete, was a former high school wide receiver and defensive back with some collegiate tight end experience... Has the speed to threaten the edge but looks more comfortable shooting gaps and rushing inside, is a good power player with above average bull rush and good counter-moves inside, can coil up and generate reasonably good power to knock back linemen on initial contact... Average length, initially stays low and does a nice job extending his arms and gaining leverage, has powerful hands, is physical at the point of attack... Has a good repertoire of pass-rushing moves; swim, rip and club moves continue to get better, strong lower body and can turn speed into power and is a threat due to his combination of burst and power, gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback... Plays with a lot of aggression, good character with the willingness to be coached up and play multiple positions; durable, has only missed one game in the past three seasons (nagging lower-leg injury vs. Idaho as a senior).

Negatives -- Is not a dynamic pass rusher, a straight-line type of athlete, first step is only average and gets too wide around the edge... Struggles to maintain good pad level, gets upright around the edge and can be pushed out of plays... Has the frame to add some bulk, isn't really a stack and shed player versus the run as he struggles to get off blocks once engaged, doesn't look as strong and looks more comfortable attacking with blunt force... Marginal lateral quickness and agility, stiff, slow to redirect and change direction... Loses containment too often, struggles to set or hold the edge on running plays and isn't very good in backside pursuit... Instincts and awareness are just average, will forget responsibilities and leave his gap open to the run, can be slow to locate the ball and gets too upright when losing sight of the ball, will have some games without making an impact... Isn't a plug-and-play prospect and needs some coaching before he will start in the NFL.

At Virginia -- 2010: One of seven UVa players to start all 12 games... moved to defensive end from linebacker during program's shift from 3-4 scheme to a 4-3 scheme... recorded a career-best 4.0 tackles for a loss against VMI... led UVa with 6.5 sacks... No. 6 in ACC with 0.54 sacks per game... No. 5 in ACC with 14.5 tackles for a loss... his 14.5 tackles for a loss rank No. 12 all-time for a season at UVa... No. 5 on team with 53 tackles... broke up four passes at the line of scrimmage... recovered fumbles at USC and Georgia Tech... set a career standard with 10 tackles at Georgia Tech... had six tackles against Richmond, VMI, and Eastern Michigan... was selected by the UVa coaches as the defensive player of the week for the Richmond, Florida State, and Virginia Tech games. 2009: Started 10 of the 12 games he appeared in... earned his second letter... collected 40 tackles on the season, including 26 solo stops... had two solo sacks at Miami for 25 yards... had five stops for a loss of 45 yards... nine tackles at Clemson, including six solo... had seven tackles, including three solo against TCU... posted his first sack at Miami... selected by the UVa coaches as a defensive player of the game against North Carolina. 2008: One of five true freshmen to see playing time... played in a stretch of six consecutive games between Connecticut and Georgia Tech before being sidelined with an ankle injury... finished the year with seven total tackles... had two stops vs. UConn, a single tackle against Duke and Maryland and a season-high three tackles vs. East Carolina... credited with tackles for loss against Duke, Maryland and ECU... also played on UVa's kickoff coverage team.

Tyrone Crawford Scouting Report

Tyrone Crawford – Boise State (HT: 6-4¼ – WT: 275)

Positives -- Good size for a defensive end; has very long arms and a frame to put on a couple extra pounds... A very powerful player, relishes contact and uses his body to his advantage... Excellent against the run, has violent hands that knock tackles arms away and a strong lower body allows him to get leverage... Good feet, can change directions very quickly... Excels on stunts, looks very comfortable taking a step laterally and then attacking the interior of an offensive line... Doesn't get knocked off the point off attack, stays low and maintains his footing no matter the blocker... Has enough athleticism to dabble at outside linebacker in the 3-4... High football IQ; will pick up on things very quickly and you can see improvement every time he steps foot on the field... Oozes of potential; a coach is going to get a guy that can be developed into a high end starter down the road.

Negatives -- Very little experience; only played one year of football in high school and only started for the Broncos for one season... Fundamentals need a lot of work because of the lack of experience, good chance that he doesn't see the field his rookie season... Virtually no speed rush; he relies almost entirely on the bull rush and using his hands to disengage... Can get tied up while pass rushing, has the tendency to dance with the tackle instead of just going straight at him... Sometimes will rise too high out of his stance and will be dealt the first hit and struggle to recover from it... Huge difference from learning the Boise State playbook compared to a NFL playbook; will need to absorb a lot of information coming at him incredibly quickly... Needs to develop football instincts, which is something that should come with more experience... Going to be drafted higher than he really should because of what he could become and not what he is.

At Boise State -- 2010: Reserve defensive lineman appeared in each of Boise State's 13 games... named SI.com All-America honorable mention... registered 32 tackles on the season (13 solo), including 13.5 tackles-for-loss -- tied for most on the team -- and 7.0 sacks, the second-most on the team... season-high 2.0 TFLs against San Jose State (Oct. 16), Louisiana Tech (Oct. 26) and Utah State (Dec. 4)... recorded TFLs in 10 games, including a streak of six-straight... at least one sack in five games, including 2.0 against Utah State... forced a fumble against Louisiana Tech (Oct. 26) and recovered a fumble against Toledo (Oct. 9)... blocked a field goal against No. 19 Nevada (Nov. 26)... broke up a pass against the Spartans. 2009: Named junior college first-team All-America for head coach Jeff Chudy at Bakersfield College... also garnered first-team all-state and conference defensive most valuable player honors... registered 42 tackles (28 solo), including 14 tackles-for-loss and eight sacks. 2008: Named first-team all-conference for Bakersfield College. High School: Voted first-team all-conference all four prep seasons... named team captain as a junior and senior... also earned two varsity letters in both basketball and track and field... high school coach was J. Khoury.

Jake Bequette Scouting Report

Jake Bequette – Arkansas (HT: 6-4<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 274)

Positives -- A power player with good bull rush, stays low to get under the pads of linemen and work through blocks... Extends his arms and uses his hands well to disengage, violent player who can knock linemen off balance, establishes leverage and can penetrate the line of scrimmage with push-pull move... Gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback... Has the tools to develop into an above average run defender, thick player with a physical build and solid frame, has the strength to anchor, gains leverage off the snap to control blocks on contact, very good stack and shed type player...

Locates the ball quickly and does a nice job in backside pursuit; plays with a high motor, works through the whistle, the majority of his pass rushing success comes by working hard and creating pressure with his motor... Diagnoses plays fairly quickly, is rarely fooled by misdirection or screens, has good instincts as both a pass rusher and run defender... Has played all over the defensive line at Arkansas, very smart and experienced player; overachiever who should make a rotation early in his career and might eventually develop into a starter with hard work, also a very good fit as a 3-4 DE (5-technique)... Redskins coaches used him as a 3-4 OLB at the Senior Bowl, was quoted as saying it was unexpected but a great opportunity.

Negatives -- Doesn't have a great first step and lacks the flexibility to dip his shoulder around the corner and can't consistently threaten the edge; gets upright around the edge and can be pushed out of plays... Favors the bull rush and creates pressure with motor and hard work, but lacks counter moves; collegiate pass rushing success came against tackles who lack base strength, struggles versus bigger OT's, is a straight-line type of athlete who lacks explosion and suddenness, and doesn't change direction particularly well... Can struggle to make plays away from his frame, doesn't have great range due to poor COD and lateral agility; isn't a special athlete... Shorter than ideal arms... Missed three games in 2011 due to an injured hamstring.

At Arkansas -- 2010: He started all 13 games for the Razorbacks and was a second-team All-SEC selection by the AP and coaches. He finished the season with 32 tackles, including 8.5 for loss and a career-high seven sacks, and tied for the team lead with five quarterback hurries. His team-leading sack total tied for fifth in the SEC and is tied for the eighth-highest single-season total in Arkansas history. He recorded one sack in four straight games, beginning vs. ULM and continuing through the Texas A&M contest. Bequette made a season-high six tackles, including 1.0 sack, forced one fumble and had one pass breakup in Arkansas' 38-24 win vs. Ole Miss. He made three tackles, 1.5 for loss, 1.0 sack and forced one fumble in UA's 31-7 victory vs. ULM. He recorded five tackles, including a third-down sack that forced a punt with less than one minute to play in a tie game, in UA's 31-24 victory at Georgia. He made five tackles, including 1.5 for loss and 1.0 sack, and had one pass breakup in the Razorbacks' 24-17 win vs. Texas A&M.

Malik Jackson Scouting Report

Malik Jackson – Tennessee (HT: 6-4¾ – WT: 284)

Positives -- Playing out of position in college but projects to DE in the pros; natural athletic ability, quick out of his stance, has the speed to threaten the edge, can be a challenge for opposing linemen to block... Has some quick, violent hands and long arms to disengage and stay clean; good hand punch, can knock linemen back on their heels, makes a lot of plays fighting through blocks... Gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback... Does a nice job setting the edge and maintaining containment, can also make plays off his frame, has good range and is relentless in pursuit, good closing speed; his motor has been questioned but he didn't seem to take any plays off in 2011... Has lined up at defensive tackle as well as defensive end but primarily played DT in 2011, projects best as a 3-4 DE (5-technique) at the next level and could also get looks as 4-3 DE, can be used on stunts and twists... Does a good job in space and plays better at defensive end where he can operate off the edge, has all the tools to be successful if he plays to his potential in the NFL; got better each and every week throughout his senior season.

Negatives -- Undersized defensive tackle, played out of position at Tennessee, isn't real stout against the run as a DT, won't be able to hold up inside at the professional level, doesn't always have the power to disengage... His lack of weight hurts him, lacks strength, can't create a push at defensive tackle, lacks the anchor to hold up inside... However, weighed in at 284 lbs. at the combine, up from his listed 270 at Tennessee... A straight-line type of athlete, has impressive overall athletic ability but isn't real flexible and struggles to change direction, doesn't have much of a pass rushing arsenal... Plays upright out of his stance and gets more upright as he tires, needs to do a better job staying low, doesn't use his arms to protect himself when playing high, lots of work to be done with his technique... Wears a bulky knee brace on his left knee and there may have been medical questions heading into the NFL combine... Opted to transfer to Tennessee following two years at Southern California after the Trojans were hit with a two-year postseason ban... All in all, Jackson is an impressive athlete with some upside but will be a developmental project and won't contribute right away.

Jonathan Massaquoi Scouting Report

Jonathan Massaquoi – Troy (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 264)

Positives -- Can play either 4-3 defensive end or the 3-4 outside linebacker; outstanding athleticism for a man of his size... His bulk allows him to take on blockers with his bull rush and get a good push to collapse the pocket... Was able to develop some consistent moves for pass rushing; none stand out but they are all pretty good... Shows a good first step and has the speed to get around the corner and create major problems in the backfield... Active hands allow him to fight off offensive tackles... Quality motor that doesn't stop until the whistle blows; will run down the field in hopes of making a play even if it appears that he has little chance... Will probably be able to step right in as a designated pass rusher until he gets a full grasp on the playbook... Also shows good hips that should allow him to be used in pass coverage.

Negatives -- People were surprised he came out early but it is due to the fact that he is already 24 years old... Level of competition is a concern; only played at Troy for two years after transferring from a junior college... Game is based on speed and can run himself out of the field, especially when rushing the passer... Needs to give more consistent effort; this was probably due to him being able to dominate Sun Belt linemen... Has the bull rush but stronger players can handle it with little problem; sometimes doesn't use his hands as well as he can and tries to do the same thing repeatedly... Can get too upright and be knocked off balance... His activeness and playing to the whistle can lead to late hits... Has never played in a 3-4 and will need to learn how to cover... Doesn't have the best football IQ; wasn't really asked to do much besides rush the passer.

At Troy -- 2010: A first team All-Sun Belt Conference selection... Posted multiple tackles for loss in seven games with a high of 4.0 against North Texas... Season-high 12 tackles at ULM... Recorded sacks in seven games... Had three sacks against both ULM and North Texas... 1.5 sacks against Middle Tennessee and Florida Atlantic... Recovered fumbles against Bowling Green, Oklahoma State and Louisiana-Lafayette... Had a break-up and hurry against BGSU... Also registered hurries against ULM, WKU and Florida Atlantic... Had eight tackles at Oklahoma State and North Texas... Seven stops against Louisiana-Lafayette. 2009: Redshirted. Prior to Troy: Spent one season at Butler County CC after greyshirting... Rivals.com ranked him the 60th best Junior College player... Player of the Year candidate as a freshman... Led the league in sacks with 20 sacks for 102 yards in losses... ## Trevor Guyton Scouting Report

Trevor Guyton – California (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 285)

Positives -- Relatively safe 5-technique prospect due to his size, strength, motor, run stopping ability and coming from California's 3-4 defense... Just an adequate pass rusher but can push and pressure the pocket with natural strength; also, has experience playing nose in Cal's odd-man front and can apply pressure inside... Good, but not great, first step and initial quickness, fires off the ball low, is violent with his big, strong hands to fight off blocks and keep himself clean, gets under the pads of linemen and works through blockers, can penetrate with his bull rush, regularly drives linemen into the backfield in one-on-one situations... Good balance and change of direction agility; good piano player, maintains his ground while moving down the line to the ball... Above average versus the run, can hold the point against double teams, has the lower body strength to anchor and clog up running lanes... Hard worker who plays with a great motor and possesses a mean streak, very accountable, doesn't miss tackles in traffic and will chase plays down from behind and to the sideline... Has experience playing at both the 5-technique and nose in Cal's 3-4 scheme, projects as either a 4-3 under tackle or 3-4 DE (5-technique) at the next level... California has produced first round defensive linemen in each of the past two seasons (Tyson Alualu in 2010 and Cameron Jordan in 2011).

Negatives -- Not an elite athlete nor pass rusher, limited athlete with inconsistent hand usage, can be slow to get off blocks and mobile quarterbacks will elude him, has just 10 career sacks and never more than 4.5 in a season, isn't a finished product as a pass rusher and possesses a limited arsenal of moves; average closing speed, needs to throw his hands up in passing lanes if he can't get to the quarterback... Can be a non-factor versus stronger linemen; Guyton has good potential but lacks consistency... Can be overaggressive at times and will be fooled by misdirection plays, is very instinctual, but will take false steps and get slightly out of position when anticipating incorrectly, overall range is limited due to lack of athleticism... Did not start until the final four games of his junior season.

At California -- Has played in 41 games over the past four seasons (2008-11) and made 16 starts, finishing the 2010 season with four consecutive starts and then starting all 12 regular-games in 2011... tied for the lead among all active Cal players with three forced fumbles, while placing second in both career tackles for loss (22.5, -91 yards) and sacks (10.0, -66 yards)... has added 87 tackles, two fumble recoveries and six points on a 19-yard fumble return for a touchdown in the 2011 season opener vs. Fresno State. 2011: A second-team All-Pac-12 selection... co-leads the team with 4.5 sacks (-23 yards), two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries (19 return yards), while ranking third with 10.0 tackles for loss (-36 yards)... among the Pac-12's per-game leaders in tackles for loss (No. 8, .88 tflpg) and sacks (No. 15T, .38 spg)... has added 42 tackles that are the most among the team's defensive linemen... recorded a career-high eight tackles and added a fumble recovery against USC... had a season-high-tying 2.0 tackles for loss against both Oregon State (career-high -14 yards) and Utah (-6 yards)... had at least 0.5 TFL in a total of eight games, also stopping opponents in the backfield against Washington (1.5 TFL, -6 yards), UCLA (1.0 TFL, -6 yards), Fresno State (1.0 TFL, -1 yard), Washington State (1.0 TFL, -1 yard), Stanford (1.0 TFL, -1 yard) and Colorado (0.5 TFL, -1 yard), with his sacks coming vs. Washington (1.5), Utah (1.0), UCLA (1.0) and Oregon State (1.0)... forced fumbles vs. Oregon State and Arizona State... recovered fumbles vs. Fresno State and USC, taking back the one against the Bulldogs 19 yards for his lone collegiate touchdown... had a quarterback hurry vs. Utah... recorded a five-tackle game against Colorado, as well as four-tackle efforts vs. Washington, Oregon, UCLA and Washington State... picked up three tackles against Utah, Stanford and Arizona State, as well as two vs. Oregon State, and one against Fresno State and Presbyterian... a preseason candidate for both the Ted Hendricks Award and Bill Willis Award honoring the nation's top defensive end and lineman, respectively... a fourth-team preseason All-Pac-10 choice of Phil Steele.

Jack Crawford Scouting Report

Jack Crawford – Penn State (HT: 6-4 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 274)

Positives -- Very good athlete with good size including good length and long arms, can be violent on contact, has some natural power and plays strong at the point of attack... Gets a good burst off the line of scrimmage, generates a lot of pressure on the quarterback, can work his way back inside, spends a lot of time in the opponent's backfield, goes for the strip... Gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback, deflects a lot of passes... Possesses some upside as a run defender, can gain leverage on contact to set the edge and maintain outside containment... Above average motor, plays hard, willing to be coached to discover untapped potential, worked out with former Nittany Lion Tamba Hali prior to the 2009 season... Had four sacks in his final three games of the 2011 regular season, salvaged what was otherwise a very disappointing campaign... Has a lot of upside, was born in London and has only been playing football since his junior year of high school after immigrating from England, initially to play basketball; needs a lot of coaching but is worth a look as a development project with potential due to his size and strength and his potential looks better than his game tape... Can find a spot in the NFL if a team gives him time to develop.

Negatives -- Is not a dynamic pass rusher, a straight-line type of athlete, gets too wide around the edge, has a limited number of pass rushing moves, lacks the flexibility to dip his shoulder around the corner and can't consistently threaten the edge... Plays upright, impeding his balance and minimizing his ability to disengage from blocks, needs to improve technique, including hand usage, can be pushed out of the play if he doesn't maintain good pad level, can also get pushed around a bit in the run game... Does not have great instincts, takes too long to diagnose plays and doesn't make many plays in pursuit, perhaps a result of football inexperience... Despite having the size of a 3-4 OLB, doesn't appear to have the flexibility or body control to play in space, doesn't have fluid hips or footwork necessary to make the switch, slow and choppy change of direction agility, was not given the opportunity to drop into coverage at Penn State... Very raw, frustrating and inconsistent player with the physical tools to succeed but he hasn't put it all together and pretty much everything he does well is negated due to poor pad level... Scheme limited, strictly a 4-3 left defensive end... Minor durability concerns, injured right foot forced him to miss three games during 2010 season... After a Residence Life coordinator noticed a damaged window screen in his on-campus apartment, police were called and seized drugs that were left in plain sight, but no charges were filed.

At Penn State -- 2010: Playing in 10 games, Crawford earned seven starts. He missed the Illinois, Minnesota and Michigan games with a foot injury. Crawford compiled 14 tackles, with 4.5 tackles for loss and two sacks for the season. He made three tackles against Youngstown State, including a minus-yardage hit for three yards, and had two stops at No. 1 Alabama. He made three hits in the 24-0 win over Kent State, including 1.5 TFL, with a sack for minus-seven yards. After missing three consecutive games at mid-season with a foot injury, he returned in the historic comeback win over Northwestern, making one tackle. He recorded a sack at Ohio State and returned to the starting lineup in the win over Indiana. Crawford made two stops, with 0.5 TFL for minus-three yards against Michigan State. He played on 395 snaps, topped by 70 against Florida in the 2011 Outback Bowl. 2009: Crawford started every game at defensive end and was among the Big Ten leaders in minus-yardage plays. He was ninth in the Big Ten in tackles for losses (14.5 for minus-67 yards) and 10th with 5.5 sacks (minus-44). He was second on the team in minus-yardage hits, earning honorable-mention all-conference honors. Crawford made 31 tackles, was tied for the team lead with two fumble recoveries, had one forced fumble and three pass breakups. Crawford had a memorable first career start in the win over Akron, recording two tackles, both for a loss, including his first career sack. He had a big game against Temple, posting three tackles, including 2.5 TFL, and a sack. He saw action on 677 snaps, the sixth-highest total among 2010 returnees, topped by 68 against Iowa and 65 at Northwestern.

Jacquies Smith Scouting Report

Jacquies Smith – Missouri (HT: 6-2<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 253)

Positives -- An athletic and hard working defender; is quick off the ball, has a good first step and good initial burst to slip blocks and threaten the edge, closes quickly... Has moved inside to rush the passer on third downs, can be used on defensive line stunts, can shoot gaps and create pressure off of a stunt, was used similarly to former teammate Aldon Smith... Gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback... Gives a good effort against the run, can get off one-on-one blocks to make plays and changes direction well, and avoids blocks well when stunting to limit inside runs... Generally takes good angles downfield in pursuit, has a high motor, does not give up on plays, goes for the strip... Has some experience standing up and is a candidate to stand up as a 3-4 outside linebacker at the next level, is a fluid enough athlete who moves well in space, should adjust well and has good size for a linebacker... Very experienced player who saw playing time immediately as a true freshman, hadn't missed a game in his collegiate career until a dislocated elbow sidelined him for two in 2011; solid intangibles, good locker room guy, earned the team's outstanding underclassmen leadership award in 2010.

Negatives -- Is somewhat lean with shorter than ideal arms and can be pushed back at the point of attack, plays with leverage to the best of his ability but is simply out-matched at times versus stronger linemen and lacks the anchor strength to set the edge; is undersized for the defensive end position, has the growth potential to add some bulk without losing any athleticism... Marginal balance, on the ground too much... A bit of an inconsistent get-off, can be a step late at times and therefore isn't an elite pass rusher... Gets upright off the snap and exposes his frame, can be pushed away from the play, looks to avoid blocks by running around them; doesn't extend his arms, inconsistent hand usage, doesn't shed particularly well... Is overly reliant on speed and lacks any power or counter moves, limiting his effectiveness as a pass rusher... Doesn't have great instincts, can be overaggressive and lose contain, struggles to find the ball and takes himself out of position to make plays... A bit of an underachiever at the collegiate level, which doesn't bode well for the NFL, might never be anything more than a reserve.

At Missouri -- One of the top returning defensive ends in the Big 12 Conference who has a knack for being around the ball... Was named in July to the pre-season watch list for the Lombardi Award, and also earned pre-season 2nd-Team All-American status from Lindy's... Sits atop the depth chart at one end position, after starting all 13 games a year ago... Has 19 career starts in all over the last three seasons... Is an interdisciplinary studies major who is set to graduate this December, taking only three-and-a-half years to earn his degree... (First name is pronounced ja-QWEESE). 2010: Had an outstanding junior season that saw him earn 2nd-Team All-Big 12 honors for making 35 tackles, 10 TFLs and 5.5 QB sacks... Also forced and recovered two fumbles and returned one of them for a TD... Made two tackles against Illinois in the season opener... Made three tackles, including 2.5 TFLs against Miami (Ohio)... Recorded 1.5 sacks against the RedHawks... Made four tackles (three solos), including two TFLs in the shutout of Colorado... Had six tackles against Texas A&M... Also forced a fumble and had one QB hurry... Made four tackles and recorded a sack at Texas Tech... Had three tackles, including one TFL and 0.5 sacks against Kansas State... Also recovered two fumbles and returned one of them 53 yards for a touchdown against KSU... Was his third career TD (also scored a INT against Furman in 2009 and on a fake FG against Colorado in 2009)... Had three tackles against Iowa State, with al three going for a loss... Two of the three were sacks.

Frank Alexander Scouting Report

Frank Alexander – Oklahoma (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 270)

Positives -- Experienced, hard-working and versatile defender who will get looks as both a 4-3 defensive end and 3-4 outside linebacker... Fifth-year senior has started the past two seasons and saw consistent playing time in 2008 and 2009, has been used standing up off the edge with his hands off the ground, has experience dropping into coverage... Has good size and upper body strength, plays with good technique and effort; active hands, extends his arms and uses his length to stay clean... Good, but not great, first step and initial quickness with a good repertoire of pass-rush moves, can be disruptive and make plays in the backfield, and gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback... Used his motor and length to create pressure, plays through the whistle, is tough and does well as a power player and disengaging from blocks... Does a solid job setting and holding the edge and maintaining containment, and does well in backside pursuit... Has also lined up at defensive tackle, very intelligent player who can be used on stunts and twists where his initial quickness is too much for interior linemen to handle.

Negatives -- Doesn't have the elite natural ability of an elite pass-rusher, isn't an explosive athlete, doesn't have the speed to threaten the edge and lacks the bend to dip his shoulder inside, average closing speed... Doesn't change direction very well and can be a bit stiff in space, might struggle in a 3-4 due to lack of athleticism but is a bit on the small side to be an every-down player in a 4-3... Weak lower half, needs to improve his lower-body strength; can struggle to anchor, as he gets too high off the snap and taken out of the play... Needs to play with better pad level, gets too upright and linemen can get underneath him... His lack of athleticism might be exploited this off-season and his stock may fall, but he is a gamer and not a workout guy.

At Oklahoma -- 2010: Starter at defensive end in nine games... second on the team with 13 tackles for loss and seven sacks... had a career-high four tackles for loss vs. Nebraska including two sacks and a forced fumble... racked up three TFLs vs. Iowa State... led position group with seven tackles vs. Air Force and Iowa State. 2009: Was used extensively in three-man rotation at defensive end before taking over starting duty for an injured Auston English in game 10 (Texas A&M)... took a fumble back three yards for a TD vs. Idaho State... career-high two tackles for loss against Nebraska... forced a fumble against Texas A&M. 2008: All-Big 12 honorable mention by the AP... recorded 21 total tackles on the year, including a career-high six tackles in Big 12 Championship victory over Missouri... five stops in the national championship game, including one for loss... forced a fumble against Kansas State... recovered fumbles in home wins versus Nebraska and Texas Tech... also notched four TFLs and 3.5 sacks on the year, including 1.5 each in the Big 12 Championship. 2007: Redshirted. High School: Had 76 tackles and a team-leading 13 sacks his senior year... four-year starter... also saw time on offense as a tight end... named first-team all-state... selected for all-district and all-metro teams... chosen to the East Meets West All-American game... all-district on both sides of the ball his junior season... bench presses 315 and squats 430 pounds... runs a 4.7 40-yard dash... coached by Michael Roach... No. 8 weak side defensive end of 2007 (Rivals.com)... No. 10 player overall in Louisiana Top 40 of 2007 (Rivals.com)... No. 32 tight end in the country (Scout.com). Personal: Born Dec. 17, 1989... parents: Frank and Juanita Alexander... communications major.

Olivier Vernon Scouting Report

Olivier Vernon – Miami (FL) (HT: 6-2 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 261)

Positives -- Very compact player; looks like he should be playing in the NFL... Surprises people with his burst on pass rushes; would expect a man of his size to struggle with that but it's the complete opposite... Very good at attacking the space in between linemen; if you leave more than the right amount it's almost a certainty that he'll shoot that gap... His natural strength and arm length help knock blockers' arms off of him; tough player to move in general and this makes it nearly impossible... Smart player, excellent at baiting a tackle with his first step and then simply overpowering them when he cuts and makes contact... Shows good technique in the run game, stays low and pounces into contact... Shows a high motor that is tough to contend with on every play... At the very least he'll just be a defensive end that is above average against the run.

Negatives -- Has never put all of his tools together in pass rushing, his career high is 6.5 sacks in 2010... Will rise of his stance immediately when pass rushing, he loses his center of gravity and the power that his lower body can generate... Limited pass rushing moves, doesn't have enough speed to go right around and tends to rely on the hand chop or the bull rush... Doesn't have natural instincts for the game, struggles to find the football and at time struggles with his assignment... Has some maturity issues, was one of the players suspended for the first six games of the season for accepting improper benefits... Pretty much wasted his entire 2011 once he was allowed to play; didn't play with his typical emotion or passion that he showed in previous season... Should have stayed for his senior season so he could develop more pass rush moves, his rookie year will be a bit of a struggle if he can't get anything going in the preseason.

At Miami (FL) -- 2011: Played in six contests, earning starts in the final three games of the season... Finished the year with 18 tackles and 3.5 tackles for loss... Also recorded 1.5 sacks... Had his best game of the year against Florida State, finishing with a season-high five tackles and 1.5 tackles for loss... Recovered a fumble against Duke. 2010: Played in all 13 games, starting 11... Second on the team, and 11th in the ACC with 6.0 sacks... Fourth on the team in tackles for loss with 10.5...

Had a team season-high 3.5 sacks in the season opener against Florida A&M... Also recorded a season-high seven tackles against the Rattlers. 2009: Played in 11 games, garnering two starts first at Virginia Tech and against Wisconsin... One of three true freshmen (along with FB Mike James and CB Brandon McGee) to play in double-digit games for the Hurricanes... Ranked third among UM defensive linemen with 25 total tackles... Tallied 12 total tackles in UM's first three games (at FSU, vs. Georgia Tech, at Virginia Tech)... Recorded 5.0 tackles for a loss, including three in win over eventual ACC Champion Georgia Tech... Also had a half a sack against the Yellow Jackets... Had two quarterback hurries against Duke in UM's home finale... Tallied five total tackles in the Hurricanes' regular season finale at USF... Also had a career-high four solo tackles against Wisconsin in Champs Sports Bowl. High School: No. 9 best defensive end prospect according to Scout.com and Rivals.com and No. 16 defensive end by ESPN.com... As a junior recorded 52 tackles, 12.5 sacks, 21 tackles for losses and three fumble recoveries.

Julian Miller Scouting Report

Julian Miller – West Virginia (HT: 6-3 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 256)

Positives -- Dependable, serviceable, well-rounded prospect who isn't a stud in any one facet but does everything reasonably well... Hustle pass rusher with an above average first step and good short area quickness; good length and uses his hands well to disengage while rushing the passer, a pretty good power player who uses his length to gain leverage... Gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't reach the quarterback... Holds the edge reasonably well and maintains outside containment, adequate speed to chase plays down from behind and to the sideline, reliable wrap-up tackler... Good change of direction agility to slip blocks and disengage... Hard worker with very good instincts on the field, generally stays with gap assignments and isn't often fooled by misdirection plays... Was moved to defensive tackle this spring, could be used on stunts and twists at the next level... Top intangibles, scout team defensive player of the year by coaches in 2007, and winner of Ideal Mountaineer Award in 2010.

Negatives -- Neither a dominant pass rusher nor run defender... Does not have the speed to threaten the edge and lacks the bend to dip his shoulder inside... Marginal balance, on the ground too much and can be pushed out of the play by stronger linemen... Pad level will rise once engaged, gets too upright and linemen can get underneath him... Struggles to hold the point versus double teams, needs to add a little bulk to improve anchor... Lacks the bulk to be considered as a 5-technique in an odd-man front and will get looks as a 3-4 OLB, although he is somewhat limited in space and would fit best in a four-man front... Gets overshadowed by teammate Bruce Irvin.

At West Virginia -- 2010: Played in 13 games and started 12... Named first team all-Big East by ESPN.com and second team by rivals.com and Phil Steele... Sixth-leading tackler with 54 tackles, including 28 solo stops, nine sacks, a team-leading 14 tackles for loss, one forced fumble and three pass breakups... Five or more tackles in six games... Multiple sacks in two games and multiple tackles for loss in four games... Season-high nine tackles, including six unassisted tackles, and a tackle for loss at UConn... Matched his career-high three sacks against Rutgers... Six tackles against Coastal Carolina, including a tackle for loss and a pass breakup... Six tackles against UNLV, including assisting on a sack and a pass breakup... Six tackles, including four unassisted tackles and two tackles for loss at Louisville... Five tackles against USF, including a sack, two tackles for loss. 2009: Started all 13 games... Named second-team all-Big East by rivals.com and third team by Phil Steele... Ranked No. 4 in the Big East in sacks and tied for No. 6 in tackles for loss... Eighth-leading tackler on the team with 53 tackles, including 30 solo tackles... Team-high nine sacks and 14 tackles for loss... Career-high three sacks for 19 yards, a pass breakup and six tackles, including five unassisted against Louisville... Tied for the team high in tackles with seven, including three solo stops, a game-high three tackles for loss and 2.5 sacks against Liberty.

Donte Paige-Moss Scouting Report

Donte Paige-Moss – North Carolina (HT: 6-3 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 268)

Positives -- Good size; put on nearly 30 pounds since arriving at Chapel Hill without losing his athleticism... Has reasonably long arms that help with his swim and rip passing rushing moves... Has a good base and his athleticism helps him stay balanced at all times... Quick first step; almost seems giddy on third and long situations when he knows he can pin his ears back and just go straight for the quarterback... Moves with grace, watching him get into a full sprint is fun to watch... Can also play as a 3-4 outside linebacker due to his length and tendency to get into the backfield... Showed great pass rush ability in the 2010 season, finished with seven sacks and 13.5 tackles for loss... Very good tackler; his arms allow him to wrap and his base helps him drive the ball carrier to the ground... Pretty good motor; rarely stops until the whistle has blown.

Negatives -- Was absolutely atrocious in 2011, only had two sacks and was benched in almost every game he played before tearing his right ACL late in the season... Strictly a speed rusher; tries to just run around offensive tackles at times, even does it when the opponent lines a tight end on his side... Very undisciplined, does whatever he wants even if it takes himself out of the play or leaves a teammate out to dry... Does not set the edge on run plays; gets sucked in to the interior of the line and running backs have a lane where he was supposed to be... Has tight hips; struggles with change of direction and breaking off blocks and chasing down players... Very immature, got into two fights in his three years at North Carolina... Huge durability concerns with that ACL injury; may not be fully recovered in time for the season.

At North Carolina -- 2010: Played in all 13 games and started 12 at defensive end... Played, but did not start against Rutgers... Played his best football down the stretch with 10.5 of his 13.5 tackles for losses coming in the second half of the season... Finished the regular season with 49 tackles, 13.5 tackles for losses of 77 yards, 7.0 sacks for 57 yards, and one pass breakup... Ranked second on the team in tackles for losses and sacks... Was seventh in the ACC in sacks... Was one of the team's defensive players of the game in the Music City Bowl win over Tennessee when he posted six tackles, 2.5 tackles for losses, 1.5 sacks, one forced fumble and one blocked kick... Blocked an extra point in the fourth quarter, which kept Tennessee's lead at three... Carolina later kicked a field goal to tie the game... Had three tackles and a half sack in the win at Duke... Had the best game of his career against NC State with 10 tackles, four tackles for losses and two sacks... Assisted on a sack and had two tackles vs. Virginia Tech... Registered a 9-yard sack and had four tackles at Florida State... Posted five tackles vs. William & Mary and had a 12-yard sack on the Tribe's final series... Had one tackle in the win at Virginia and the win vs. Clemson... Posted two tackles in the wins over ECU and Rutgers... Made five tackles against Georgia Tech... Made his first career start vs. LSU in the Chick-fil-A Kickoff Game and had five tackles and a tackle for loss. 2009: Played in eight games as a true freshman and had five tackles on the season... Posted two tackles vs. Georgia Southern, including his first career sack... Also had a sack in Carolina's win at Virginia Tech... Made tackles against Georgia Tech and Boston College.

Derrick Shelby Scouting Report

Derrick Shelby – Utah (HT: 6-2 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 266)

Positives -- Stout against the run, uses his hands well to disengage offensive lineman... Does a good job of staying low on running plays; has the natural power that generates a nice pop upon initial contact... Has good length that helps him gain separation from lineman and make tackles... Has good short area quickness, has a powerful step that allows him to drive into ball carriers when making a tackle... Has a good motor, always working hard on the field and he was rewarded with being named to the All-Pac 12 team in 2011... Surprisingly athletic; recorded a 35.5" vertical at the combine... Played some defensive tackle for the Utes and could be put there on third down to take advantage of his hands and leap on obvious passing downs... One of the best Utah players in the classroom; four-year academic all-conference selection, a highly intelligent individual.

Negatives -- Provides very little in terms of pass rushing; doesn't have a good first step and really struggles to get around tackles... Shelby also doesn't have the power to use the bull rush effectively... Doesn't show the same hands while pass rushing that he shows during run plays; if he used his hands like that he could be a solid player... Really struggles with balance, can be easily knocked off the line and struggles with his center of gravity... Easily overpowered by interior lineman, often ends up on the ground as a result... Tendency to let his pad level get too high; this is a huge reason for his inability to stay balanced... Virtually no change of direction ability; gets fooled by misdirection plays and can be taken out of a play with a simple play fake... Shows little hip flexibility, struggles to stay low in his stance; results in him not having that good first step... Doesn't stand out in any facet of the game, just seems like a practice player at best... Had some injury issues early in his career.

At Utah -- 2011: First-team all-Pac-12... started all 13 games at right end... led the line and was fifth overall on the team with 55 tackles... team-best 10.0 TFL and 5.0 sacks... tied for 13th in the Pac-12 in both TFL per game (0.77) and sacks per game (0.38)... seven pass breakups ranked first among the Pac-12's defensive linemen... scored two touchdowns, on an interception return vs. Pitt and a fumble recovery vs. BYU... ## Adrian Hamilton Scouting Report

Adrian Hamilton – Prairie View A&M (HT: 6-2 – WT: 255)

Positives -- Led the nation with 20.5 sacks; joined Chris Gocong and Robert Mathis as the only players to record more than 20 sacks in a season... Looks like a NFL player, has a chiseled physique with little body fat; also helped his cause by running a 4.70-40 at his pro day... Great athlete; is definitely athletic enough to play in a 3-4 defense and of course has the pass rush ability that teams look for... Excellent speed rush, has a great first step and can bust past any tackle that stands in his way... Has a nice spin move that could be fine tuned but should do the trick as well... Has a good shoulder dip move when going around an offensive tackle; his athleticism allows him to get really low but still maintain his balance and speed... Has a great motor; relentless pass rusher and tore up his competition using it... When he gets a sack the quarterback feels it the next day; a vicious but clean hitter.

Negatives -- The biggest worry about Hamilton is probably his level of competition; played low level FCS football and it's a legitimate question whether his production can translation to the next level... A little bit undersized standing at only 6-2... Is strictly a 3-4 OLB, not nearly big enough to play defensive end in the 4-3 except in obvious passing situations... Dropping into coverage will be a big issue for him; has never done it before and must if he wants to stick... A coach is going to have to spend some extra time with him to basically retool him as a player... Needs to learn that offensive lineman will be able to pick up on his speed rush and will need to have at least a respectable bull rush... Needs to polish his technique and use his hands to disengage a blocker.

At Priarie View A&M -- Prairie View A&M defensive end Adrian Hamilton continues his quest towards playing on the next level as he's set to participate in the Casino Del Sol College All-Star Game Monday night at Kino Stadium in Tucson, Ariz. The contest will be televised live by Fox Sports Arizona and Fox Sports affiliates at 8 p.m. CST. The nation's sack leader with 20.5 sacks and the 2011 co-SWAC Defensive Player of the Year, the 6-3, 255-pound senior from Dallas will play on the Stripes (West)

Team that's coached by former Fresno State head coach Pat Hill. Hamilton is one of 16 players from the FCS selected to play in the contest and the lone representative from the SWAC. He'll compete against a variety of players from across the nation from leagues such as the SEC, Pac-12, Big 12, WAC, Big East and Big Ten. This marks the second all-star game Hamilton will participate in since closing out his career at Prairie View. In December, Hamilton spent a week in Atlanta, Ga. as a participant in the third annual HBCU All-Star Bowl and received an opportunity to showcase his skills in front of professional scouts. Hamilton was named to The Associated Press FCS First Team this past season and became the third consecutive Panther to earn All-American honors. He also finished third overall in the 2011 Buck Buchanan Award voting which is the top defensive honor on the FCS level.

Scott Solomon Scouting Report

Scott Solomon – Rice (HT: 6-3 – WT: 262)

Positives -- Very good build, barrel chested and is a very strong player...Still maintains his athleticism; sometimes you see a big guy like him not be anywhere near the athlete that Solomon is... Has a great burst when pass rushing; his first step is one of the better ones in the draft... At his best when he's in tight spaces and can use his strength to overwhelm a blocker... Uses his hands very well, disengages on both running and passing plays and shows some violence when breaking away... His balance is also very good; plays with good leverage and is very tough to knock off the ball because his hands won't let you get close...

Packs a punch when chasing ball carriers, will often blow up a play where he looks to be completely out of position... His best attribute may be his motor, never gives up on plays and always seems to be making something happen... One of the leaders in tackles, tackles for loss and sacks in the history of the Rice program... Has some experience playing both DE and DT.

Negatives -- His aggressiveness can be used to his disadvantage as he struggles to locate the football; will often get caught flat footed and will be caught out of position... Doesn't have the ability to get low and around the corner on pass rushes; too often will drift too close to the tackle and be caught off balance and get tangled up with the offensive lineman... If asked to play as a 3-4 outside linebacker it'll be interesting to see if he has the speed to match up with some of the tight ends in the NFL... Missed the entire 2010 season with a foot injury; teams will need to give him an extensive check up to make sure everything is good there.

At Rice -- 2011: First-team, All C-USA pick by Rivals.com and College Football News... Second team All C-USA selection by league coaches and Phil Steele... Named to Dave Campbell's Texas Football All Texas College postseason second team... Earned C-USA Football All-Academic honors in a vote of the league's SIDs.... One of 19 players who were named to the final watch list for the Ted Hendricks Award for the nation's top defensive end... Completed his career tied for the school record for sacks (24) and ranked second in career TFLs (see chart)... Had at least one TFL in eight of the last nine games and four sacks in the last five... Finished with a career-high 8.5 sacks this year which also ranks second in school history... Caused a goal line fumble on fourth down at Southern Miss that Xavier Webb recovered and returned 96 yards for a touchdown... Tied the Rice career sack record with a pair of quarterback drops vs. Tulane... Seven tackles vs. Tulane pushed his career total past 200... Recorded his 22nd career sack with a drop of Northwestern's Dan Persa... Moved into second on the Rice career sack list with a one vs. Houston... Moved into third on the Owls career TFL list after sharing a pair vs. Tulsa... Moved into third on the Owls career sack list after recording 3.5 TFL and a pair of sacks vs. Purdue... Returned to action in the opener at Texas and was credited with three tackles... Chose to change his number to 35 this season to honor fellow 5th year senior Travis Bradshaw, whose suffered a career ending injury during preseason camp.

Broderick Binns Scouting Report

Broderick Binns – Iowa (HT: 6-2 – WT: 261)

Positives -- A fairly stout defensive end despite being a bit on the short side; good get-off, has the speed to threaten the edge and the power to collapse the pocket; gets some push on the bull rush and can beat linemen with good inside moves... Long arms for his size, gets good pop on his hand punch, natural power and length, gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback... Binns generally plays with a good base and low center of gravity... Plays the run well; very good stack and shed type player with strong upper half when working against fullbacks and tight ends... Has the strength to anchor, improved versus the run from last year... Disciplined in backside pursuit, holds the edge reasonably well and maintains outside containment... Good balance and change of direction agility; good piano player, maintains his ground while moving down the line to the ball... Plays with a good motor and finds the football well, reliable wrap-up tackler; shows good discipline, has a high football IQ and is a good on-field leader; member of Iowa's leadership group in '09 and '10 and received coaches' appreciation award for 2009... Has experience dropping off into coverage; good straight-line speed, has the change of direction agility of a linebacker, good ball skills, plays well in space and should eventually adjust to playing 3-4 outside linebacker.

Negatives -- Undersized for a defense end and not stout enough to line up at defensive tackle; a bit of a tweener that doesn't have a true position and may need time to adjust to playing 3-4 OLB... Doesn't collapse the pocket on a consistent basis; tends to get too upright when disengaging and trying to threaten the edge... First step and initial quickness is just average; has good snap instincts but only average closing speed... Had never been a full-time starter until the 2011 season due to playing behind an extremely talent defensive line over the previous few years at Iowa... Was charged with drunken driving in July, 2010 and was subsequently suspended for the 2010 season opener.

At Iowa -- 2011: Started all 13 games, recording 32 solo tackles and 28 assists... tied for team lead with eight pass break-ups and was second in tackles for loss (12-58) and quarterback sacks (5-36)... also had one interception, six quarterback pressures, two recovered fumbles and one caused fumble... started at defensive end in 34-7 opening win over Tennessee Tech... recorded three solo tackles and two assists in opening win, including one tackle for loss and one quarterback pressure... started at defensive end in triple-overtime loss at Iowa State... recorded three solo tackles and one assist at ISU, along with a fumble recovery to stop ISU in the red zone, a pass break-up and a quarterback pressure... started at defensive end in 31-27 win over Pittsburgh... recorded four solo tackles and one assist vs. Pitt, including a quarterback sack, a pass break-up and a recovered fumble for the second straight game... started at defensive end in 45-17 win over Louisiana-Monroe, recording two solo tackles and one assist as defense allowed just 59 net rushing yards... started at defensive end in 13-3 loss at Penn State, recording four solo tackles and three assists... started at defensive end in 41-31 win over Northwestern... recorded four tackles vs Northwestern, including two solo stops... also had 2.5 tackles for loss and 1.5 quarterback sacks... had three quarterback pressures, with one leading to Iowa interception and touchdown return... had a forced fumble that was recovered by Iowa and led to a Hawkeye touchdown.

Kentrell Lockett Scouting Report

Kentrell Lockett – Mississippi (HT: 6-5 – WT: 243)

Positives -- Former Ole Miss basketball recruit, lanky defensive end prospect; very athletic pass rusher with a quick first step and above average closing burst... Plays with a good base and low center of gravity, gets a bit high on occasion but has the ability to get underneath blockers' pads, good flexibility and body control to evade blockers and turn the corner... Can quickly change direction to avoid and side-step blocks to shoot gaps and create pressure, plays with good balance... Moves well laterally, can be used on stunts and twists... Disciplined in backside pursuit, can make plays off his frame, has good range, gives a good effort in pursuit, plays with a good motor, works hard through the whistle... Versatile, has the athletic ability to play 3-4 OLB, fluid athlete with loose hips, in addition to COD agility, should allow for a relatively seamless transition... Good character, has a degree in journalism and working toward a second degree in theater arts; team captain, vocal leader, good work ethic.

Negatives -- Has never posted elite sack numbers, has just nine career sacks, didn't record a sack in 2011 despite playing in each of Mississippi's 12 games; doesn't have much of an arsenal of pass rushing moves, is a speed rush-only type of prospect... Doesn't have the ability to anchor, lacks power and strength, can be engulfed at the point by bigger tackles, struggles to get off blocks once engaged, needs to improve technique... A liability versus the run, loses containment too often and struggles to hold the edge, susceptible to misdirection plays, needs to be more disciplined and additional bulk would also help in this area... Major durability concerns, was granted a sixth year of NCAA eligibility after missing most of the 2010 season with a torn ACL, sat out the 2006 season with a shoulder problem and missed the 2010 season opener with a heart rhythm problem... Will turn 25 during his rookie season... I would have a hard time using a draft pick on Lockett due to his injury history, lack of production and age; is a developmental prospect who still needs to prove he can stay healthy.

At Mississippi -- Totaled 26.0 TFLs, 22 QB pressures and 9.0 sacks during his Rebel tenure, which spanned six years due to injuries... Became just the third Rebel in the modern era to be chosen team captain twice, joining Jamie Holder (1984-85) and Bob McCain (1944-45)... Invited to participate in the East-West Shrine Game following his senior season... 2011: Named a team captain for the 2011 season... Played in every game with seven starts... Finished ninth on the team with 33 tackles... Also posted 2.5 TFLs... Earned his fourth letter... vs. BYU (9/3): Started at defensive end and posted two tackles... vs. Southern Illinois (9/10): Assisted on a tackle and credited with a QB hurry in start... at Vanderbilt (9/17): Notched two tackles (one solo)... at Fresno State (10/1): Recorded two solo tackles and had a quarterback hurry... at Auburn (10/29): Posted six tackles (three solo), including 1.0 TFL, one quarterback hurry, and two fumble recoveries... at Kentucky (11/5): Assisted on one tackle in start... vs. Louisiana Tech (11/12): Recorded a career-high eight tackles (six solo), including 1.0 TFL... vs. LSU (11/19): Finished with four tackles (one solo), including 0.5 TFL... at Mississippi State (11/26): Posted seven tackles (five solo) in final career game... Preseason: Preseason All-America honorable mention by Consensus Draft Services... Named first team preseason All-SEC by Lindy's, Athlon and Blue Ribbon and second team by Phil Steele and Birmingham News (SEC SIDs)... Spring: Granted a sixth year of eligibility by the NCAA due to having injuries that kept him from playing in 2006 (shoulder) and 2010 (ACL)... Invited to the NFL Combine prior to the NCAA's decision.

Matt Conrath Scouting Report

Matt Conrath – Virginia (HT: 6-7¼ – WT: 281)

Positives -- Is fairly quick, possesses some rare explosiveness off the snap, given his height, has some legitimate burst and closes quickly... Very good upper body strength, flashes some power at the point of attack, long arms and can punch lineman back, can push the pocket, looks comfortable shooting gaps and rushing inside... Can see a quarterback's throwing lanes, gets his hands up when he can't reach the quarterback, has batted down several passes at the line of scrimmage... Locates the ball quickly, has some good instincts versus the run, does well in backside pursuit... Plays with a great motor, works through the whistle, very good work ethic, committed to getting better, applies pressure through hustle... Has used his long arms to block five field goals in his career, including three in 2011... Versatile, 5-technique experience in former head coach Al Groh's 3-4 defense, now a defensive tackle in Virginia's 4-3, projects best to 3-4 defensive end (5-technique) where he can eat up blockers, also has the frame to add an additional 8-12 pounds... Would be intriguing for a 3-4 team in the later rounds given his burst and length.

Negatives -- Has been playing out of position the last two seasons for the Cavaliers, was effective at the collegiate level at 4-3 defensive tackle but doesn't project very well at defensive tackle in the NFL; somewhat scheme limited, has no place in a four-man front, quick, but not fast enough, to play defensive end in a 4-3, not a real sudden athlete... Staying low and gaining leverage have been difficult for Conrath, his height can serve as a disadvantage, shorter guards and centers have the natural leverage advantage and can get their hands into his chest, struggles to disengage through contact... Marginal balance, on the ground too much... Overly reliant on upper body strength, doesn't have much natural power through his lower half.

At Virginia -- 2010: Started 11 of Virginia's 12 games... recorded 36 tackles and 2.5 sacks... recorded a season-best six tackles at Georgia Tech... tied career high with 1.5 sacks at USC... recorded his first career fumble recovery against North Carolina. 2009: Presented the team's Frank McCue Award as the outstanding interior lineman... started all 10 games he appeared in... accumulated 45 tackles, ranked No. 3 on the team with five tackles for a loss of 11 yards and tallied two sacks, both solo (TCU, Virginia Tech)... posted career high eight tackles against TCU... named ACC co-Defensive Player of the Week (Oct. 5) after recording four tackles and knocking down three passes at the line of scrimmage at North Carolina... blocked a kick on an extra-point attempt at Southern Miss... broke up three passes against North Carolina... selected by the UVa coaches as a defensive player of the game against Clemson, North Carolina and TCU. 2008: Earned first letter after starting all 12 games... finished the season with 35 tackles... credited with seven tackles against Richmond and Wake Forest... finished third on the team with eight tackles for loss... was fourth on the team with four sacks... named the ACC Rookie of the Week following his play vs. East Carolina... had two tackles vs. Pirates, but one included a strip sack to set up UVa's final fourth quarter TD... helped to hold ECU to season lows for rushing, passing and total offense.

Cordarro Law Scouting Report

Cordarro Law – Southern Mississippi (HT: 6-2 – WT: 261)

Positives -- Great first step; fires off the ball very well and is excellent at anticipating the snap of the ball... A handful to block, very quick and powerful when engaging with offensive linemen... Good pass rush ability, knows how to get after the passer and does whatever it takes to get a sack... Solid closing speed; when he gets close to the quarterback there's a good chance that he'll get the sack... Adept at forcing turnovers; his pass rush ability makes quarterbacks throw the ball early for interceptions or hold on to it where he can force a fumble... Very good at penetrating the line of scrimmage and finishing plays there, had 22 tackles for a loss in 2011... Always plays at full speed; relentless motor, never gives up on plays and is always pushing himself to get better... Football smart, has great awareness and a high IQ; should be able to contribute as a situational pass rusher early in his career.

Negatives -- His height and short arms will cause him to slip into the later rounds of the draft; may be forced to move to outside linebacker but he has virtually no experience there... Because of that he is virtually a man without a position; a team will really have to fall in love with him at either defensive end or outside linebacker or he could just be a situational pass rusher for the majority of his career... A little bit older than most prospects, will turn 24 during his rookie season... Level of competition is a concern; will need to adjust to the high quality of all the players he lines up against... Needs get stronger or he could be dominated at the point of attack by bigger players... Relies a little too much on his finesse moves; needs to have at least the threat of using the bull rush.

At Southern Mississippi -- 2010: A second team All-Conference USA selection... Started in all 12 games... Leads all Golden Eagle defensive linemen with 47 tackles (27 solo), including team-bests of 11.5 tackles for loss for 63 yards and six sacks for 52 yards... Forced four fumbles and recovered two... Has 10 forced fumbles in his career, which is a school record... Helped seal win at Tulane (11/6) by sacking quarterback and forcing fumble that scooted out of the end zone and ruled a safety...

Had season-best tackle total of seven against both Kansas (9/17) and UAB (10/30)... Had at least four tackles in seven games and a half tackle for loss in 10 games... Posted season-best sack total of two for 19 yards against Houston (11/20)... Recovered fumbles against Prairie View (9/11) and Memphis (10/16). 2009: Played in all 13 games, starting seven... Recorded 59 tackles on the year (29 unassisted and 30 assisted)... Led the team in tackles for loss (14.5), sacks (7.5), and forced fumbles (4)... Broke up two passes... Started the final seven games of the season after Roshad Byrd went down with injury in practice the week of the Memphis contest... Responded with career-best 10 tackles in Memphis (10/17) game... Added a nine-tackle performance at Marshall (11/14)... Averaged over six tackles per game over the final seven games and posted at least six five times... Tallied two assisted tackles and five solo tackles and also had one TFL of two yards in the New Orleans Bowl. 2008: Saw action in all 13 games... Notched at least one tackle in each of the last eight games and had a season-high four stops against Rice (10/18)... Has 21 stops on the year (19 solos) to go along with six tackles for loss and five sacks.

Vince Browne Scouting Report

Vince Browne – Northwestern (HT: 6-5 – WT: 265)

Positives -- Workout warrior with excellent weight room strength and good length to disengage, applies pressure with hustle and power... Good size, looks the part of an NFL defensive end, rangy player with a pretty good but inconsistent get-off, long arms to affect passing lanes... Works through his blocks, good leg drive; uses his hands well, extends his arms and uses his length to keep himself clean, strong enough to provide a bull rush versus weak-handed linemen... Maintains gap assignments and is generally quick to diagnose plays, high motor, gives a good effort versus the run, good change of direction agility and gives a good effort working down the line... Takes good angles when flying around the field, works toward the ball, reliable wrap-up tackler... Has played both LDE and RDE at Northwestern and can create some matchup difficulties, has some experience playing linebacker.

Negatives -- Isn't a dynamic athlete and doesn't have the burst to challenge the edge as a pass rusher, decent straight-line speed but lacks good initial quickness, doesn't have much of an arsenal of pass rushing moves... Gets too upright off the snap, linemen can get underneath him, inconsistent technique and will struggle to disengage at times, doesn't always play to his weight room strength and is too often pushed out of plays due to high pad level... Average anchor and marginal balance, can be moved off point, on the ground too much... Will leave his feet attempting to make some tackles... Browne is a good hustle player but simply lacks the physical tools they'll be looking for in the NFL, he can hold his own in a favorable matchup versus linemen that aren't real strong or powerful, but is a complete non-factor and will be engulfed by blockers otherwise... May be best suited to play rush linebacker in a 3-4, and will need some time to develop... Major durability concerns, tore his ACL, LCL and hamstring on the same play as a senior in high school and missed most of the 2008 season due to a torn ligament in his left knee.

At Northwestern -- 2011: Played in 46 career games at defensive end... Consensus preseason All-Big Ten selection... Named to preseason watch lists for the Ted Hendricks, the Bronko Nagurski, the Rotary Lombardi and the Chuck Bednarik awards... Notched two solo tackles at Boston College, including the win-clinching tackle of BC QB Chase Rettig on the game's final play (BC was on the NU 24-yard line, down a touchdown, with 0:04 remaining)... Credited with his 18th career sack (and 33rd career TFL) against Illinois... Totaled three tackles vs. the Illini... Earned his season's first sack vs. Eastern Illinois... Also had three other solo hits vs. the Panthers... Notched six tackles (five solos) at Army... Three tackles vs. Michigan... Had three tackles vs. Penn State... Totaled four tackles vs. Indiana... Registered two tackles, including a TFL, vs. Nebraska... One tackle vs. Rice... Tied for 13th place on the NCAA's active career list with his 33.5 TFL's... That figure also ranks ninth on NU's career list... His 18 career sacks rank fourth all-time at NU and 15th among active NCAA Division I players. 2010: Starting defensive end... Played in all 13 games with 12 official starts... Named second-team All-Big Ten by conference media... Ranks fifth all-time at NU in career sacks (16.0) and ninth in TFL's (31.0)... 15.5 TFL's in 2010 ranks as the ninth-best single-season total in NU history... Third in the Big Ten and tied for 39th nationally with 1.19 TFL's per game... Tied for second in conference and 64th nationally with eight sacks... Team-best two forced fumbles... Career-high 10 tackles at Penn State, including 2.5 TFL's.

Adewale Ojomo Scouting Report

Adewale Ojomo – Miami (FL) (HT: 6-4 – WT: 270)

Positives -- Ideal size and fires off the ball, has the speed to get around the edge, has the skill set to be a very good pass rusher, including good top-end speed and average closing burst... Plays with good balance, can quickly change direction to avoid and side-step blocks to shoot gaps and create pressure, good counter-moves inside... Natural length, long arms, initially stays low and does a nice job extending his arms and gaining leverage, has powerful hands, is physical at the point of attack... Strong lower body, can push and pressure the pocket and take on double teams... Disciplined in backside pursuit, holds the edge reasonably well and maintains outside containment, doesn't take himself out of plays, knows his assignments and sticks with them, strong wrap-up tackler... Quick to diagnose plays and get to the ball carrier, does good job of adjusting to screens, draws and misdirection plays... Motor is always running, hard worker, plays with a mean streak... High football IQ, has been used in multiple roles, has experience dropping into coverage, and has played some snaps at defensive tackle, can wear multiple hats in the NFL.

Negatives -- Relies too much on athleticism, technique is very raw and he's still coming into his own as a player, a project... Lacks power, doesn't generate much on contact with bull rush... Does not have much ability to avoid and disengage from blocks, engages a little high and does not utilize hands to get off blocks... Had made some spot starts earlier in his career but really just has one season's worth of starting experience, 14 career starts... Doesn't project to defensive tackle in the pros yet made the shift from defensive end to tackle following Marcus Forston's season ending knee injury in 2011... Minor durability concerns, missed the 2009 season following preseason jaw surgery stemming from a locker room right during 2009 summer camp.

At Miami (FL) -- 2011: Played in 11 games on the season, earning seven starts... Made the shift from defensive end to defensive tackle for his junior campaign... Added a half a sack at Texas A&M and registered a sack at Duke... Assisted on three tackles at Texas A&M... Tallied three tackles in win against Virginia Tech. 2007: Redshirted as a true freshman and worked with the scout team all season. High School: As a senior in 2006, made 60 tackles, four sacks and four forced fumbles... As a junior had seven sacks, and in a two-game span against Miami Beach and Northwestern tallied 24 tackles... Played outside linebacker as a sophomore and junior before moving to defensive end as a senior... Ranked the No. 28 weakside defensive end prospect in the nation by Rivals.com and the No. 60 ranked player, regardless of position, in Florida... Rated the No. 26 defensive end and the No. 25 player on the Florida Hot 100 list by Scout.com.

Ryan Van Bergen Scouting Report

Ryan Van Bergen – Michigan (HT: 6-6 – WT: 283)

Positives -- Versatility may be his best trait; played all over the defensive line for the Wolverines and was a good player wherever he was lined up... Does his best work when he prevents linemen from getting their hands on him while he works his way into the backfield... Tremendous motor; never gives up and will always fight his way to the football with a pitbull-like aggression... Doesn't have a go to move but has a spin move that always seems to work due to the fact that catches the lineman off guard every single time... Has a frame that could add some extra weight and allow him to play defensive tackle in the 4-3... Long arms make him an effective tackler in tight spaces... Will be playing with a huge chip on his shoulder; led Michigan in sacks and tackles for loss as a senior but was not invited to the combine after suffering a foot injury in the Sugar Bowl.

Negatives -- Very tight hips; generates little to no explosion off the ball... Really struggles to create leverage when pass rushing due to his size... Takes really big opening steps when pass rushing; a good offensive lineman can catch him off-balance and knock him off the line completely or to the ground... It's all but over when a lineman is able to get his hands into Van Bergen's body; doesn't know how to get rid of them and doesn't have the strength to keep driving... A non-threat on pitch plays; doesn't have the speed or agility to contest a faster running back who can get to the corner... Will need to make an impact on special teams for him to stick on an active roster... Was unable to participate in any senior post-season games or do any type of workout until his pro day due to the Sugar Bowl foot injury.

At Michigan -- 2011: Earned fourth varsity letter...

All-Big Ten honorable mention (coaches and media)... co-recipient of Michigan's Robert P. Ufer Bequest (senior demonstrating most enthusiasm and love for Michigan)... played in all 13 games; started 12 games on defensive line, contributing on special teams in 11 games... led the team with 12.5 TFLs and 5.5 sacks... had second-most fumble recoveries on the team with three... recorded four tackles and half a sack vs. Virginia Tech (Jan. 3) in the Sugar Bowl... posted career-best-matching seven tackles, including two for a loss, an assisted sack and a pass breakup vs. Ohio State (Nov. 26)... finished with nine TFLs in his last five regular-season games... recorded two tackles -- both for a loss -- and a sack to go along with fourth career fumble recovery and a PBU vs. Nebraska (Nov. 19)... matched a career high with seven tackles and three TFLs at Illinois (Nov. 12)... set new career best with 2.5 sacks... named the Big Ten Co-Defensive Player of the Week... named the CFP National Defensive Performer of the Week and National Defensive Lineman of the Week... tallied two solo tackles, including a tackle for a loss of three yards at Iowa (Nov. 5)... made pass breakup and three tackles at Northwestern (Oct. 8)... recorded one sack for four yards vs. Minnesota (Oct. 1)... notched first forced fumble of career, also had a tackle-for-loss and a pass breakup vs. San Diego State (Sept. 24)... made one tackle-for-loss and recovered a fumble vs. Notre Dame (Sept. 10)... recovered a fumble vs. Western Michigan (Sept. 3).

Fletcher Cox Scouting Report

Fletcher Cox – Mississippi State (HT: 6-4 – WT: 298)

Positives -- Good quickness off the snap, explosive defensive lineman, creates a good push at the line of scrimmage, does a good job disrupting the offense, creates a lot of pressure and spends a lot of time in the backfield; first step gives him the ability to slip through contact and knife through gaps to quickly work his way into the backfield... Gets some push on the bull rush and can beat linemen with good inside moves, gets good pop on his hand punch, natural power and length and very good upper body strength... Extends his arms and uses his hands well to disengage in one-on-one situations, violent player who can knock linemen off balance, establishes leverage and can penetrate the line of scrimmage... Plays with good balance, seldom on the ground, solid lateral mobility and does a reasonably good job redirecting, can beat running backs to the spot on wide running plays... Good vision, locates the football, slips blocks very well, does a solid job in the stack and shed game; is more of a drag-down tackler than a wrap-up and drive through tackler... Plays with a lot of physicality and energy and has a mean streak, hustles to make plays in pursuit... Has used his long arms to block five field goals in his career, including two in each of the past two seasons... A three-year starter for Mississippi State with the versatility to play inside in a 4-3 or defensive end in a 3-4, best fit would be as a 5-technique in a 3-man front... Very intriguing combination of size, athleticism and power, has a lot of upside and is just scratching the surface of his potential, his 4.79-40 and 7.07 in the three-cone drill at the combine were the fastest among defensive tackles.

Negatives -- A bit of an inconsistent get-off, can be a step late at times... Not a natural pass rusher from the outside, lacks the flexibility to dip his shoulder around the corner and can't consistently threaten the edge... Slightly undersized to play inside at the next level, would need to add close to 10 pounds to be considered full time on the interior, but has the frame to add some additional weight... Doesn't always get off blocks when engaged, needs to improve functional strength and play with better leverage to take on double teams in the NFL, high pad level can negate his strength, can be washed out of plays when he gets too upright, loses strength and becomes a non-factor versus the run... Was suspended, along with four others, for the 2011 season opener vs. Memphis for an undisclosed violation of team rules.

At Mississippi State -- 2010: Started 11 games and played in 12 during his sophomore campaign... Posted 29 tackles on the season, with 6.5 coming behind the line of scrimmage... Also credited with 2.5 sacks and four quarterback hurries... Blocked a pair of kicks, bringing his career total to three. 2009: Played in all 12 games during his true freshman season... Earned Freshman All-Southeastern Conference honors from the league's coaches... Started four times on the year... Posted 29 total tackles with 3.5 coming behind the line of scrimmage... Began career with two tackle for loss game against Jackson State... Also posted first career sack against the Tigers... Recorded career-high five tackles in Week 2 against Auburn... Earned first start against Middle Tennessee... Credited with four tackles with 1.5 for loss against the Blue Raiders... Also posted four stops against Florida and Arkansas. High School: Rated the No. 5 weak side defensive end in the country by national recruiting web site Rivals.com... That site credits him with the second-fastest first step among all defensive ends and a 4.47 time in the 40-yard dash... Rivals moved him among its top 100 players overall in the country in its final post-season ranking... He is also considered the No. 2 prospect in the state of Mississippi by Rivals, the top defensive player on the chart... Considered the No. 17 defensive end prospect in the country by national recruiting web site Scout.com... Listed No. 31 on Super Prep Magazine's ranking of the top defensive linemen in the country in its post-season All-America issue... Named first-team, all-state on the defensive line by the Jackson Clarion-Ledger newspaper for all classifications... Ranked No. 4 on the Clarion-Ledger's list of the 10 most wanted high school prospects in the state of Mississippi, the top defensive lineman on the list... Also selected to that newspaper's Dandy Dozen list, symbolic of being one of the top 12 high school players in Mississippi... Made 104 total tackles during his senior season, including 10 quarterback sacks... Also had one pass interception and a fumble recovery.

Michael Brockers Scouting Report

Michael Brockers – LSU (HT: 6-5 – WT: 322)

Positives -- Excellent size and bulk with natural athleticism, impressive first step, consistent get-off, good initial quickness, can beat linemen with his get-off and strength, could be used on stunts and twists at the next level... Has added significant weight since enrolling at LSU and has the combination of strength and initial quickness to overwhelm interior offensive linemen, fights through double teams, has the potential to develop into a legitimate pass rushing presence from the interior... Had the frame to add some additional weight and weighed in at 322 lbs. at the combine, had been listed at 306 lbs... Does a good job disrupting the offense, creates a lot of pressure and spends a lot of time in the backfield... Has good power at the point of attack, extremely long arms and can punch lineman back, strong hands to engage the blocker and deliver a jolt, gets his arms up to affect passing windows when he can't get to the quarterback... Very good run stuffer even at 6'5", will push the pocket backwards and restrict running lanes; stays low against the run and can maintain two gaps, has the ability to anchor against a double team, is difficult to push back, does a good job disengaging from blocks and making a play on the ball carrier... Agile with quick nimble feet, changes direction well for his size, has the athleticism to get up and down the line... Should be able to step in right away and play the run at a high level... Isn't often fooled by screens and draws, locates the ball quickly; good motor, works until the whistle, hustles to make plays in pursuit and is a reliable tackler... Offers some schematic versatility, could play 4-3 DT (3-technique) or 3-4 DE (5-technique) but would be best off early in his career as a 5-technique... Has elite potential and has more upside than any other defensive tackle in this draft class, was a key piece of one of college football's best defenses in recent memory.

Negatives -- A better run stuffer than pass rusher at this point in his career, lacks much of an arsenal of pass rush moves... Only has one year of starting experience, declared following his redshirt sophomore season so he's still a little raw at this point in his career but with his suddenness, length and power he has a lot of potential to improve as a pass rusher... Inconsistent in his hand usage and placement to get off blocks, is also prone to playing a little upright at times when rushing the passer, his height can serve as a disadvantage and shorter interior offensive linemen will have the natural leverage advantage and can get their hands into his chest... Was rotated out in many third down situations... Had a poor showing in pretty much every area at the combine but has some natural core strength and power as opposed to weight room strength... However, his long-term upside coincides with athleticism and his results were poor and he has a long way to go as a pass rusher... His weaknesses are all areas that will improve with NFL coaching but would be best off as part of a rotation as a develops during his rookie season.

At Louisiana State -- 2011: Started all 13 games at left defensive tackle... Third on the team with 9.5 tackles for a loss... Imposed his will on the interior of the line all season... Set a career high with six total tackles, all solo, in the SEC Championship Game against Georgia and added two TFLs, one forced fumble and one pass breakup... Registered his second sack of the season at Ole Miss and posted two solo stops... Paced the defense at Mississippi State with four solo tackles, a career-high 3.0 tackles for a loss and his first career sack... Recorded his first career interception on a stellar diving play against Northwestern State. 2010: Saw action in 13 games with one start... Racked up a season-best five tackles and one forced fumble that Lavar Edwards returned for a TD against Louisiana-Monroe... Made his first career start against Alabama and picked up four tackles in the win over the Crimson Tide... Credited with a QB hurry against Tennessee... Saw significant playing time against North Carolina and made two tackles, one for a loss, in his first career appearance. 2009: Redshirted as a true freshman in 2009. High School: A dominating defensive end that was considered among the top prospects in the state of Texas for the Class of 2009... A four-star prospect according to Rivals.com and Scout.com... Ranked as the No. 20 recruit in the state by SuperPrep... Also ranked No. 23 statewide according to Rivals.com... Enjoyed an outstanding senior season in which he led Chavez High School to the first round of the Texas Class 5A state playoffs... Earned first-team all-region and all-state honors as a senior... Established himself as one of the state's up-and-coming defenders after finishing his junior season with 59 tackles and 10 sacks in 2007... Also terrorized opponents on special teams as he recorded one blocked punt and one blocked field goal.

Dontari Poe Scouting Report

Dontari Poe – Memphis (HT: 6-3½ - WT: 346)

Positives -- Massive size, dominates the line of scrimmage, demands double teams due to his sheer size, occupies blockers and clogs up running lanes, collapses the pocket with power... Has the reputation as a workout warrior, very impressive strength, looks every bit of 346 pounds but carries his weight well because of his height, penetrates easily in one-on-one situations... Unreal combination of size and strength, has a thick trunk and doesn't let blockers latch on, gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback... Surprising athleticism, impressive first step, consistent get-off, good initial quickness, can beat linemen with his get-off and one move; reasonably good COD, runs well for a big man... Can penetrate into the backfield to disrupt running plays... Adequate range, chases the action out to the flanks, reliable tackler, ball carrier goes down even if Poe just gets a piece of him, a powerful hitter who can jar the ball loose... Plays with a better motor than given credit for, stays active, doesn't take plays off... Has played in all but one game during his collegiate career, missed 2009 Houston game due to a death in the family... Will probably be the first nose tackle off the board, can play multiple positions and is scheme diverse, will be a hot commodity as more teams move toward a 3-4 base defense; has lined up at tackle and end for Memphis, projects to defensive tackle, nose tackle or 5-technique in the NFL... Will be over-drafted because of his size and strength and because his ceiling is through the roof; works hard, mature, team captain, so his potential is attainable with good coaching... Would like to see him used similarly to how the Ravens use Haloti Ngata, could still swing inside in certain packages, really don't see him playing full-time at nose tackle in a three-man front... Put on a show at the combine, ran a 4.98-40 with a 1.68 10-yard split at 346 pounds, led all players with 44 reps of 225 lbs... Comparatively, Ngata ran a 5.13-40 with a 1.73 split at 338 pounds and put up 37 reps of 225 lbs.

Negatives -- Pass rush ability is subpar despite impressive get-off, struggles to disengage once blocked, limited potential in this area, only flashes a rip move and nothing else... Lacks the anchor and balance of an elite 3-4 nose tackle prospect and disappeared for stretches at a time playing at Memphis; moving him off the line of scrimmage is easier than expected... Doesn't always maintain gap responsibilities, blockers can easily seal him out of the play... Lacks ideal awareness of the ball carrier, he often ends up out of position to prevent backs from crossing the line of scrimmage... Staying low is difficult, comes out of his stance too high and can be driven off the ball; his height serves as a disadvantage, shorter centers have the natural leverage advantage and can get their hands into his chest, doesn't disengage well versus double teams... Shorter than ideal arms and gives up a ton of leverage at 6'3½", ideal 3-4 nose tackle height is around 6'1" or 6'2" such as Casey Hampton, Vince Wilfork, Aubrayo Franklin or B.J. Raji... His ability to line up at nose tackle in a three-man front is questioned due to his lack of leverage and balance, has the size of a 3-4 nose but not the skill set, would be a more natural fit in a 4-3 or as a 3-4 DE (5-technique), doesn't project to 3-4 nose as well as his weight would suggest... A boom or bust prospect who isn't near NFL-ready, very raw, technique needs work, lacks polish, draft stock is based mostly on potential at this point, needs significant development before he is even ready to be included as part of a rotation, will take a season or two before he develops into a real force inside... He is probably a fourth round prospect right now on tape that will go in either the first or second round based on his size, strength and potential, is overrated because of freakish athletic tools... Lack of competition playing in Conference USA, wasn't very productive in college and didn't stand out on tape like a top prospect should versus a lower-tier FBS conference.

At Memphis -- 2010: Named as an honorable mention All-C-USA selection in 2010... One of six Tigers to start all 12 games in 2010, and joined Frank Trotter as a consistent starter on the defensive line... Opened the season with three tackles, all of which were solo stops, against Mississippi State... All three of his tackles limited the Bulldogs to three or fewer yards, and one was for a loss of four yards... Credited with three tackles against ECU, including teaming up with Frank Trotter for a TFL... Set a season high mark with seven tackles versus UTEP... Sacked UTEP's Trevor Vittatoe in the first quarter for a loss of five yards... The play was on 3rd-and-8 and forced UTEP to punt the ball away... Four of his tackles limited the Miners to fewer than three yards... Had another big game against Louisville with six tackles, four of which were solo stops... Logged at least three tackles in the next three games, including a five-tackle effort versus Marshall... Tied a career mark with two TFL against Southern Miss, and didn't give way to Southern Miss gaining more than two yards on his stops... Registered his second sack of the season, for a loss of 11 yards, against Marshall... Closed the season with three tackles, one of which was for a loss of three yards, against UCF... Ended the year ranked fifth on the team in tackles with 41, and fourth in TFL with 6.5... His TFLs generated losses of 27 yards... Was presented one of the Leadership Awards by the coaching staff at the 2011 Blue-Gray Game... Was voted by the media as the Defensive MVP of the 2011 Blue-Gray Game. 2009: Named to C-USA All-Freshman Team... Played in 11 of 12 games, making six starts at nose tackle on the defensive line as a true freshman... Led the team in TFLs with seven, and tied for the team lead in forced fumbles (3)... Tied for third on the team in sacks (2)... Finished the year with 27 tackles, including 18 solo stops... Ranked tied for 31st nationally in forced fumbles per game (.27) and fifth in C-USA.

Devon Still Scouting Report

Devon Still – Penn State (HT: 6-4 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 303)

Positives -- NFL bloodlines, cousin of former #2 overall pick and four-time Pro Bowl defensive end Art Still, also cousins with former Steelers' linebacker Levon Kirkland... Good size, looks the part, has the frame to add additional weight, has the combination of strength and quickness to win one-on-one battles; powerful upper body, when he gains leverage on contact, can overwhelm at the point and dominate, often needs to be doubled up on to be handled... Good rip and swim moves, gets penetration, can push and pressure the pocket and disrupt the play; can knife through gaps and quickly work his way into the backfield... Strong, violent hands and long arms, very strong at the point of attack when staying low, slips blocks very well, does a solid job in the stack and shed game... Does a good job versus the run, can be difficult to move, anchors well, can occupy double teams, has fairly good speed in backside pursuit... Agile with reasonably quick nimble feet, changes direction well for his size, has the athleticism to get up and down the line... Good vision, locates the football, even when facing double teams, good wrap-up tackler... Versatile, could play 4-3 DT (3-technique) or 3-4 DE (5-technique), would fit well in a two-gap system... Had a breakout season and could come off the board toward the end of the first round... His physical skill set is impressive and he has a lot of promise.

Negatives -- Not a great pass rusher, lacks explosiveness, inconsistent get-off, creates some pressure but rarely results in sacks... Can get upright when he tires and expose himself, height serves as a disadvantage, staying low and gaining leverage consistently has been a problem, can be eliminated from plays... Lacks balance, ends up on the ground too often, loses control at times and allows momentum to get the best of him... Rather inconsistent, loses stamina as the game moves on, wears down toward the end of games, motor runs hot and cold... Plays down to his opponents and will struggle versus better linemen... Durability issues, tore left ACL and MCL during 2007 pre-season camp, also missed most of the 2008 season with a broken left ankle, wasn't 100 percent healthy until his redshirt sophomore season... Some character concerns, accused a teammate of stealing cell phone in April, 2008, teammate pulled knife on him, coaches resolved situation, teammate was dismissed from the team; police found marijuana residue and drug related items at the apartment he shared with three teammates in April, 2009, but all four players were cleared of charges.

At Penn State -- 2010: Still ended the season with arguably the finest game of his career. Against Florida in the 2011 Outback Bowl on New Year's Day, he set career-highs with seven hits (six solo) and a team season-high 3.5 tackles for loss. A 2010 honorable-mention All-Big Ten selection, Still led the team with 10.0 tackles for loss and 4.0 sacks (minus-19). A starter in 12 games, he delivered 39 tackles and one pass breakup. Still made three tackles at No. 1 Alabama, including a sack. He recorded three hits in the 24-0 win over Kent State, including 2.5 TFL for minus-nine yards, with a sack. He had three hits in the win over Temple, helping hold the Owls scoreless over the final three quarters and to 71 yards in the second half. Still made four tackles, including one for a loss, at Iowa and had three stops against Illinois. Still punctuated the win at Minnesota by sacking Adam Weber in the end zone for his first career safety. He recorded two tackles and the sack for a loss of six yards against the Golden Gophers. Still led the defensive line against Michigan, making a then-career-high six tackles and batting down a Denard Robinson pass on Michigan's final possession. Still was on the field for 710 snaps, led by 80 in the win at Minnesota and 71 against Illinois. 2009: Playing in every game, Still made 19 stops, including 5.5 tackles for minus-15 yards. He recorded two sacks, including dropping Tate Forcier for a 10-yard loss in the Nittany Lions' 35-10 win at Michigan. Still recorded a minus-yardage play in five of the final six contests. He made a career-high three tackles each against Syracuse and Ohio State and had two stops in six other games. Still was on the field for 348 plays, led by 45 in the win over Indiana and 40 each against Illinois and Michigan.

Jerel Worthy Scouting Report

Jerel Worthy – Michigan State (HT: 6-2¾ – WT: 308)

Positives -- Reasonably good athlete, quick first step, explodes off the snap, does a nice job anticipating snap counts, can knife into gaps and be very disruptive, gets in the backfield quickly and closes in a hurry... When he wins first step Worthy can dominate; however, he is inconsistent and is just average if he's beat off the snap... Flashes good hand play and a quick punch, strong hands to jolt, holds the point reasonably well, occupies double teams; solid leg drive, keeps his legs moving, strong lower body, can generate a push on the pocket, extremely difficult to block one-on-one... Reasonably good balance, seldom on the ground, good agility and COD... Can be difficult to move, has the strength to anchor, makes it difficult to run up the middle, maintains gap assignments; teams tend to stay away from inside runs versus MSU... Plays with a lot of aggression and intensity, hard worker who is very vocal on the sideline and during the action, commands a double team on every play, frees up teammates... Versatile, ideal fit in a four-man front as 3-technique, could also get looks as 3-4 DE... Hasn't missed a game at the collegiate level.

Negatives -- Lack of pass rush, struggles when he doesn't win with first step, lacks counter-moves... Doesn't make a lot of impact plays, doesn't stuff the stat sheet, doesn't make plays away from his frame; is virtually always engaged with an offensive lineman, sometimes struggles to disengage and keep himself clean, doesn't look very comfortable in stack and shed situations... Needs to be more consistent with his hand usage, especially against more powerful offensive linemen, is easily handled when he doesn't win off the snap; lacks the explosive and consistent hand usage to be considered elite, although he flashes good hand play... Allowed his pad level to get too high in head up situations, makes it easy for blocker to push him out of the play... Will sometimes over-pursue on run plays, can be slow to locate the ball... Felt he could move into the top half of the first round with a breakout 2011 campaign and that never materialized, is gushing with talent but needs to play with more consistency, lacks an elite motor... Appears out of shape, was rotated out more than a player of his caliber should be, seems to fade as the game progresses... Tore an ACL in high school... Has a very active Twitter account and might have some issues going to a team with a strict social media policy.

At Michigan State -- Three-year letterwinner played in 40 career games, including 38 starts at defensive tackle... powerful player recorded 107 tackles, with 27.5 resulting in losses (118 yards) including 12 sacks (78 yards); those marks rank among MSU's all-time leaders: tied for 12th in sacks and 13th in tackles for loss... also had six pass break-ups and three blocked kicks in his career. 2011: Named consensus first-team All-American... earned first-team All-America honors from The Associated Press, American Football Coaches Association, Walter Camp Foundation, Sporting News, CBSSports.com, NBCSports.com and Yahoo! Sports... All-Big Ten first-team selection (coaches and media)... became MSU's first All-America first-team selection at defensive tackle since Ronald Curl in 1971 and the school's first All-Big Ten first-team selection at the position since Travis Davis in 1989... first Spartan defensive lineman to earn AP First Team All-America honors since Charles "Bubba" Smith in 1966... also named a second-team All-American by Phil Steele... was one of 12 semifinalists for the Lombardi Award, one of 16 semifinalists for the Bednarik Award, and one of 20 quarterfinalists for the Lott IMPACT Trophy (Defensive IMPACT Player of the Year)... recorded a tackle for loss in nine of MSU's 14 games... had 30 tackles, including 10.5 for losses (42 yards) and 3.5 sacks (28 yards)... was also credited with 10 quarterback hurries and 14 QB hits during the regular season... his presence on the defensive line was one of the main reasons MSU led the Big Ten in total defense (277.4 ypg.) and rushing defense (100.5 ypg.)... recipient of the team's Most Outstanding Underclass Lineman Award (defense).

Kendall Reyes Scouting Report

Kendall Reyes – Connecticut (HT: 6-4 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 299)

Positives -- Good size and athletic ability, including quick first step off the line of scrimmage and good short-area burst, can eat up blockers and push and penetrate the pocket, can slip through gaps and work his way into the backfield... Flashes good hand play and a quick punch, strong hands to jolt... Strong lower body, very good stack and shed type player; can bull rush and overpower blockers when pass rushing; solid leg drive, keeps his legs moving, can generate a push on the pocket... Has good power at the point of attack, long arms and can punch lineman back, gets his arms up to affect passing windows when he can't get to the quarterback... Agile with quick and nimble feet, changes direction well for his size, has the athleticism to get up and down the line... His quickness allows him to pursue down the line of scrimmage, good lateral movement and slide... Has the strength to anchor and holds his ground at the point inside, does a nice job restricting running lanes; above average range with the ability to make plays off his frame... Quick to diagnose plays and get to the ball carrier, does good job of adjusting to screens, draws and misdirection plays... Two-time team captain, good work ethic and a good locker room guy; a three-sport captain in high school who played both defensive end and wide receiver and also lettered in basketball and track... Versatile, could play 4-3 DT (3-technique) or 3-4 DE (5-technique), would fit well in a two-gap system, has played both end and tackle for Connecticut in the last few seasons, but best fits playing 5-technique at the next level... Performed well during Senior Bowl practices, showcasing burst off the snap and quick hands, and likely solidified his selection within the first three rounds.

Negatives -- Is overly reliant on power when rushing the passer and lacks counter moves, limiting his effectiveness as a pass rusher, other pass rushing moves are still developing, but can apply pressure with power and hustle... Inconsistent get-off, creates some pressure but it rarely results in sacks, not a pass rushing threat if he doesn't win with his first step... Needs to play with better pad level, gets too upright and linemen can get underneath him, engages a little high and is inconsistent in his hand usage and placement to get off blocks... Can be overwhelmed versus bigger blockers in the run game... Loses stamina as the game moves on, tires too easily and wears down toward the end of each half... His potential stands out but he needs to play with more consistency.

At Connecticut -- 2010: A First Team All-Big East selection... team captain who started all 13 games alternating between end and tackle and started final three games at tackle... ## Brandon Thompson Scouting Report

Brandon Thompson – Clemson (HT: 6-2 – WT: 314)

Positives -- Excellent size and bulk, thick build with the strength to play the nose, but quick enough to play as a 3-technique, has the combination of strength and initial quickness to overwhelm interior offensive linemen... Good first step, explodes out of his stance, extends his arms to engage the blocker and deliver a jolt and establish hand position, plays with good leverage, gets a good push at the line of scrimmage, can slip gaps, spends a lot of time in the backfield... Quick, active hands and good length, can be difficult to engage, shows stack and shed ability... Very solid anchor, powerful base, good upper body strength, 35 bench reps of 225 lbs. at the combine, nicknamed "Yams" because of his big thighs that help him plug the middle of the Tiger defense... Space eater, can occupy blockers and free up others around him to make plays, tough to move, lack of dominant tackles and TFL numbers are nothing to worry about as Thompson often disrupted plays forcing ball carriers to Da'Quan Bowers, Jarvis Jenkins or Andre Branch, among others; knows his assignments and sticks with them, maintains gap responsibilities... Good balance to play the piano and slide down the line... Good motor, plays with a lot of energy, hustles to make plays in pursuit... Good fit in a one gap system... Has very good upside, exceeded all expectations this season, merits first round consideration, can take over games... A three-year starter on a very talented Clemson defensive line... Might also get some looks as a 3-4 DE (5-technique).

Negatives -- Is limited and still developing as a pass rusher, has just 4.5 career sacks, primarily a bull rusher who can push the pocket, but lacks much of an arsenal of pass rush moves... Bit of a straight line athlete who lacks suddenness and lacks change of direction moves off his initial rush... Plays a little upright at times, doesn't always coil up and will expose himself to down blocks... Loses stamina as the game moves on, tires too easily... Best fits, but not limited to, a 4-3 scheme.

At Clemson -- Has 131 tackles, 14.5 tackles for loss, two sacks, 29 quarterback pressures, nine pass breakups, and three recovered fumbles in 1,347 snaps over 39 games (25 starts) in his career... nicknamed "Yams" because of his big thighs that help him plug the middle of the Tiger defense... does a great job as a run stopper in the middle of the line... preseason second-team All-ACC by Athlon... #1 senior defensive tackle prospect for the 2012 NFL draft by CBSSports.com... #17 draft-eligible defensive tackle in the nation by Phil Steele... tied for first on the team in bench press (450)... tied for second on the team in 225-pound bench press reps (36), squat lift (615), and power clean (370)... third on the team in total weight lifted (1,690). 2010: Had 56 tackles, 7.5 tackles for loss, a sack, 15 quarterback pressures, and three pass breakups in 532 snaps over 13 games (11 starts)... combined with Jarvis Jenkins to give the Tigers one of the best defensive tackle tandems in the nation... had a strong second half of the season; he had 43 of his 56 tackles in the last seven games... had nine quarterback pressures in the last five games... had six tackles against Georgia Tech... had 11 tackles at Boston College... had six tackles against #23 N.C. State... had five tackles and a sack at Florida State... had eight tackles, including seven first hits, and 2.5 tackles for loss in 42 snaps against #17 South Carolina to earn team defensive player-of-the-game honors by the coaches and the IFC Defensive Player-of-the-Game Award... won the Strength Training Award for defensive tackles for spring practice. 2009: Starter on the defensive line in 13 games... a big reason the Tigers finished in the top 25 nationally in total defense and scoring defense... had 50 tackles, up from 25 his freshman year.

Jared Crick Scouting Report

Jared Crick – Nebraska HT: 6-4¼ – WT: 279)

Positives -- Excellent top-end speed, very good first step off the line, can knife through gaps and quickly work his way into the backfield, plays best when he can operate with room to roam, good quickness and closing speed... Plays with good leverage and technique, good arm extension, strong hands, keeps blockers away from his frame, can disrupt passing lanes... Sets the edge reasonably well, can keep himself clean and play off blocks; above average gap discipline, knows his assignments and sticks with them, doesn't take himself out of plays... High football IQ, very instinctive with a lot of experience, isn't often fooled by screens, locates the ball quickly; plays with a good motor, lunch-pail type player, works until the whistle, hustles to make plays in pursuit, can make plays outside the tackles, solid wrap-up tackler... Mature, good character, has volunteered on team hospital visits, a World War II Veteran's visit, and as a speaker to elementary school visits... Offers some schematic versatility, has been used in multiple roles, can move around for a defense and wear multiple hats in the NFL, is one of the top 3-4 DE (5-technique) prospects in this draft, projects best to a one-gap 3-4 defense... I wanted to see him replicate his numbers after benefitting from double teams commanded by Ndamukong Suh in '09 and he didn't disappoint; had back-to-back 9.5 sack seasons as a sophomore and junior.

Negatives -- A bit of a straight-line athlete, lacks fluidity and doesn't change direction very well, tight in the hips, can struggle to redirect to put himself in position to make a play, often over-pursues... Isn't much of a threat to rush the passer from the outside, doesn't have much of an arsenal of pass rushing moves, applies pressure through hustle... Isn't the strongest player, shorter than ideal arms and has some trouble disengaging from blocks, can get stood up or pushed around like a rag doll, isn't a natural stack and shed type player, needs to get stronger in his lower body; doesn't have a real position in a four-man front, won't be able to play defensive tackle due to less than ideal size and lack of strength... Doesn't anchor very well, struggles to hold the point of attack, can be washed right out of the play by double teams, gets overpowered by larger blockers; lacks balance, on the ground too much... Gets upright at times, plays with inconsistent pad level, exposes his frame off the ball, needs to be more consistent playing low to the ground... Very undersized to play defensive tackle at the next level, would need to add 20 pounds to fit that prototype, which seems unlikely, is a tweener at his present weight... Suffered a torn pectoral muscle in the 2011 Washington game, only played in five games as a senior, also missed 2011 spring practice with a sprained right MCL.

At Nebraska -- 2010: Crick started all 14 games for a Nebraska defense that ranked among the top 12 nationally in scoring defense, total defense and pass defense. Crick led the team with 9.5 sacks and 17 tackles for loss and his sack total was second in the Big 12. Crick recorded a total of 70 tackles, including 36 solo stops, and his 5.0 tackles per game were the most among all Big 12 defensive linemen. He had six games with at least five tackles and had a tackle for loss in nine games, including seven of the season's final eight contests. Crick posted his first big game of the year against Idaho, racking up 2.5 sacks for 30 yards and four tackles for loss. In a win at Oklahoma State, Crick had four tackles and a 10-yard sack as the Huskers corraled the high octane OSU offense in the second half. Crick had eight tackles, a seven-yard sack, two tackles for loss and two hurries as the Blackshirts dominated in a key win over seventh-ranked Missouri. In a win at Iowa State, Crick had a tackle for loss and forced a fumble that stopped a Cyclone threat. He had a season-high nine tackles, including a pair of sacks in a 20-3 win over Kansas when NU limited the Jayhawks to less than 100 total yards. Crick had seven tackles, including three tackles for loss and split a pair of sacks as NU held Texas A&M to just nine points. He broke up two passes in the regular-season finale against Colorado. Crick recorded his third multi-sack game of the season against Oklahoma, racking up two sacks for 22 yards as part of a three-tackle day while also adding a pass breakup. He finished the year with seven solo tackles, including a tackle for loss in the Holiday Bowl.

Billy Winn Scouting Report

Billy Winn – Boise State (HT: 6-3¾ – WT: 294)

Positives -- Good athlete with a nice frame, was a three sport letterman in high school (wrestling, track and field)... Good quickness off the snap, explosive defensive lineman, creates a good push at the line of scrimmage, does a good job disrupting the offense, creates a lot of pressure and spends a lot of time in the backfield; first step gives him the ability to slip through contact and threaten gaps inside... Quick and violent hands, keeps blockers off his frame, strong hands to engage the blocker and deliver a jolt, keeps his base down into contact... Plays with good balance, seldom on the ground, solid lateral mobility and does a reasonably good job redirecting... Doesn't anchor very well but can disengage when he extends his arms and make plays off his frame... Plays with a high motor, good instincts, has a nose for the football, does a nice job in pursuit, good short-area burst with a second gear to close, solid tackler... Versatile, could play 4-3 DT (3-technique) or 3-4 DE (5-technique), spends an equal amount of time playing both in Boise's hybrid defense; an interchangeable piece who can move up and down the defensive line as needed, has even stood up some as an inside and outside linebacker, has the combination of agility and versatility that will intrigue a lot of teams.

Negatives -- Shorter than ideal arms, doesn't always get off blocks when engaged, needs to improve functional strength and play with better leverage to take on double teams in the NFL, often gets stuck in his tracks at the line of scrimmage and might have trouble staying clean vs. NFL blockers... Marginal anchor, struggles to hold his ground, not a fit in a two-gap system, can be overwhelmed versus bigger blockers in the run game... Isn't an extremely productive guy in terms of statistics, has just 62 tackles and 7.5 sacks combined over the last two years, is known more as a rock of the Broncos defense; still, a bit inconsistent, plays as part of a rotation and production doesn't match talent... Has the tweener reputation, his frame translates best to a 3-4 DE but his skill set translates better as a 4-3 DT, ideal fit as a one-gap 3-technique to slant and stunt... Minor durability concerns, suffered a left ankle injury during the 2011 spring game, and missed portions of the 2011 Tulsa game with a foot injury... Lack of competition playing in the WAC and Mountain West.

At Boise State -- 2011: One of just two players from the MWC to be named to the 2011 Lott Impact Trophy Watch List, an award that honors the top collegiate defensive player in the country... named first-team preseason All-America by Athlon Sports and second-team preseason All-America by Phil Steele. 2010: Started all 13 games for the Broncos... named All-Western Athletic Conference Second Team for the second-straight year... registered 28 tackles (11 solo), including 9.5 tackles-for-loss – tied for third-most on the team – and 4.0 sacks... season-high five tackles (one solo) in the Broncos' season-opening win over No. 10 Virginia Tech... had multiple tackles in eight games... TFLs in seven games, including a season-high 2.0 against Toledo (Oct. 9)... sacks in four games, including a season-high 1.5 against the Rockets... forced a fumble against Toledo and recovered one against the Hokies... recorded a pass break-up against Fresno State (Nov. 19) and a quarterback hurry at Idaho (Nov. 12). 2009: Earned second-team All-WAC honors after a standout sophomore season... recorded 44 tackles, 12.5 tackles-for-loss and six sacks... recorded multiple tackles in 11 games, including a season-high six against Fresno State... recorded a critical safety in the Broncos' 19-8 win over Oregon in the season opener... broke up three passes. 2008: Named to Phil Steele's All-Freshman Second Team... played in all 13 games at defensive tackle... finished regular season with 26 tackles (15 solo)... had 5.5 tackles-for-loss, including 2.5 sacks (minus-19 yards).

Alameda Ta'amu Scouting Report

Alameda Ta'amu – Washington (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 348)

Positives -- Massive size and flashes some surprising athletic ability, moves well for his size, including quick first step off the line of scrimmage and good short-area burst, can eat up blockers and collapse the pocket... Very good strength in upper and lower body, carries his weight well; good technique, quick hands, plays with good leverage to keep blockers off his frame, gets under the pads of opposing blockers, can walk back centers and hold his ground at the point, and push the pocket backwards and restrict running lanes... Has 3-4 nose tackle potential, looks like a two-down run stuffer, at the very least, at the next level, prototypical 2-gap run stopper; requires a double team, very stout, thick trunk to anchor, is tough to move, can clog running lanes... His quickness allows him to pursue down the line of scrimmage, good lateral movement and slide, plays the piano pretty well for his size, can be tough to block when he has energy and is motivated... Good character, mature, active in community service; works hard, voted team captain for the 2011 season, plays with a good motor and has a mean streak, can generate some momentum moving at full-speed and deliver a big hit... Due to his quickness and ability to penetrate, could also figure as a traditional 4-3 DT.

Negatives -- Is raw as a pass rusher, massive frame makes it difficult to split gaps and penetrate, relies on a bull rush to collapse the pocket, other pass rushing moves are still developing, is never going to be a consistent pass rushing threat in the NFL... Shorter than ideal arms... As the game progresses, has a tendency to get too high out of his stance and can be handled by a single blocker, can be washed out of plays when he gets too upright, loses strength and becomes a non-factor versus the run... Gives an inconsistent effort in pursuit and lacks the foot speed to chase down ball carriers, lacks ideal range closing from the backside... Gets too heavy, weight has fluctuated and he has been as heavy as 390 lbs. and has played at 360 lbs., needs to remain dedicated to weight management and extra conditioning... Minor durability concerns, suffered a hairline fracture in his foot as a senior in high school... Started 2011 as a possible first rounder; disappointing season could drop him to third round or lower... Had a terrible bowl game against Baylor, struggled to get off blocks and couldn't control the middle of the line which was gashed by the Bears to the tune of 482 rush yards en route to 67 points.

At Washington -- 2011: Started all 13 games at one defensive tackle spot... named a team captain prior to the start of the season... earned honorable mention All-Pac-12... had a good game vs. Washington State, totaling four tackles, two and a half for loss and two sacks... five tackles, one and a half for loss and half a sack in the win over Colorado... two tackles for loss and a sack vs. Hawai'i... five tackles vs. Eastern Washington... two tackles in the Valero Alamo Bowl vs. Baylor... named the L. Wait Rising Defensive Lineman of the Year award at the team's postseason banquet. 2010: Started all 13 games at one defensive tackle position... earned honorable mention All-Pac-10... terrific game in the Holiday Bowl, when he had a 10-yard sack and also a 14-yard fumble return early in the game... season-high seven tackles at Oregon, then matched that the following weekend vs. UCLA, when he also had one sack... two tackles and a sack in the Apple Cup... five stops at Cal... two tackles and a TFL at Arizona... four tackles each at USC and vs. Arizona State... two tackles, including half a sack, vs. Nebraska... won the L. Wait Rising Lineman of the Year Award at the team's postseason awards banquet. 2009: Played in all 12 games... started in 11 of 12 (all but the Washington State game) at one defensive tackle position... season-high five tackles, including one for a loss, at Arizona State... had an eight-yard sack in the season-opener vs. LSU... two tackles at Notre Dame... one tackle vs. Arizona... three stops vs. Oregon and one at UCLA... two tackles, including a half a sack, at Oregon State... had a tackle for loss in the 30-0 shutout of Washington State... posted three tackles, including a sack, in the 42-10 victory over No. 19 California.

Josh Chapman Scouting Report

Josh Chapman – Alabama (HT: 6-0 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 316)

Positives -- Very strong, difficult to move off the line of scrimmage, occupies double teams, a true space eater; natural girth and thick trunk, a nightmare to block one-on-one... Stays low and wins most battles for leverage; strong, violent hands with explosive hand punch, solid leg drive, keeps his legs moving, very good stack and shed type player; can push the pocket, can bull rush and overpower blockers when pass rushing... Wide base and low center of gravity, solid anchor, doesn't give up an inch of ground, is too stout to be moved around, base strength is phenomenal; eats up blockers, collapses running lanes, keeps linebackers clean and allows them to roam free into the backfield... Lunch-pail type player, is smart and works hard, plays with an impressive motor; anticipates snap count, above average recognition skills, plays through the whistle, responds well to coaching and spends a lot of time in the video room... Is more of a drag-down tackler than a fundamental wrap-up and drive through tackler, tosses ball carriers to the ground with ease, can also deliver some explosive hits... Steady force in the middle, the anchor of Alabama's defense, has experience in both three and four-man fronts under Nick Saban; fifth-year senior has played in 53 games, including 25 career starts... Saban might be the best coach in the country for developing interior defensive line prospects, including Terrence Cody and Marcell Dareus in the past two drafts... Rising prospect in a weak nose tackle class, classic zero-gap NT prospect who fits in a 3-4 but is also a better athlete than people realize, has an underrated first step for his size and moves well for a 300+ pounder, could play defensive tackle in a 4-3 as well; has a low ceiling but reasonably high floor... Nicknamed 'The Incredible Hulk' by his teammates, maximum bench press total of close to 580 pounds and 630 pound squat, according to CBS Sports' Rob Rang... Played through a torn ACL and meniscus suffered October 1 vs. Florida en route to Alabama's 14th national championship.

Negatives -- A little stiff, not real nimble or agile; not a pass rusher, doesn't offer much in terms of pursuit, should be rotated out in passing situations, a one-dimensional type of player with below average lateral agility and closing speed... Can struggle to maintain balance when changing direction... Lacks ideal height and arm length is shorter than ideal... Isn't going to dominate a box score, not his role, doesn't make plays off his frame but looks really good on film; not quite the playmaker that former teammate Terrance Cody was, but a similar prospect and should be drafted in that range (late second round)... Questionable stamina, will need to monitor conditioning, especially once he starts collecting NFL paychecks, weight has fluctuated while at Alabama... Missed the final 10 games of the 2007 season with an undisclosed injury, ended up taking a medical redshirt... Will not participate in the Senior Bowl and is unlikely to be able to workout at all prior to the draft after undergoing surgery to repair a torn ACL and a torn meniscus in his left knee, and will probably begin his rookie career on the PUP list.

At Alabama -- 2011: Josh Chapman is the anchor to the Alabama defense... the senior nose guard regularly takes on multiple blockers and is a key to the Crimson Tide's run-stuffing ability... has started 11 Alabama games at nose guard and 25 during his career while playing in 53 games... has 22 tackles on the season while helping the Tide lead the nation in rushing yards allowed with just 74.9 yards per game and 191.3 yards of total offense allowed... has 3.5 tackles for loss (-9) and one sack (-3)... missed the Georgia Southern game to rest his injured knee. Kent State: Started and made one solo tackle as he led a UA defensive front that held the Golden Flashes to -9 yards rushing in a 48-7 win. Penn State: Made four total tackles with two solo stops as the Tide posted a dominating-road win against the No. 23 Nittany Lions. North Texas: Had two tackles with one assist as UA limited the Mean Green to 68 yards rushing. Arkansas: Started and helped Alabama hold the Razorbacks to a series-low 17 yards rushing, more than 150 yards below their season average. Florida: Recorded three tackles with one solo stop in a 38-10 win over the No. 12 Gators... helped hold UF to 15 rushing yards... made his first tackle for loss of the year for a loss of four yards and batted down two UF passes. Vanderbilt: Helped UA record its second shutout of the year against the Commodores... had one assisted sack of VU quarterback Larry Smith, stopping him on fourth down and knocking him out of the game. Mississippi: Did not have a tackle but helped limit the Rebels to just 28 yards rushing. Tennessee: Clogged the middle of the defensive front as the Vols managed only 155 yards of total offense and just 92 on the ground... made two tackles with one tackle for loss (-2 yards). LSU: Equaled his season high with four tackles... made two solo stops and shared a tackle for loss... helped limit the top-ranked Tigers to 239 yards of total offense. Mississippi State: Recorded three assisted tackles with half of a sack (-2 yards)... helped limit the Bulldogs to just 12 yards rushing and 131 total yards. Auburn: Returned to the starting lineup and anchored the middle of the UA defense... made two tackles and limited AU to just 140 total yards... Tigers had just 44 yards - 25 rushing - through three quarters and gained the rest after Alabama had already locked up the win in the fourth.

Derek Wolfe Scouting Report

Derek Wolfe – Cincinnati (HT: 6-5½ – WT: 295)

Positives -- Very good first step off the line, can knife through gaps and quickly work his way into the backfield, plays best when he can operate with room to roam, very good rip and swim moves... Solid leg drive, keeps his legs moving, can generate a push on the pocket... Has some natural power and looks slightly thicker than his weight would indicate, can occupy blockers and free up others around him to make plays... Gets his arms up to affect passing windows when he can't get to the quarterback... Plays with a lot of physicality and energy and has a mean streak, has a strong motor; high character player who loves the game, makes a lot of effort plays... Offers some schematic versatility, has been used in multiple roles, can move around for a defense and wear multiple hats in the NFL, projects best to a one-gap 3-4 defense, would fit well with a hybrid defense... Has been quoted saying he enjoys playing defensive end in a 3-4 alignment because he "gets a lot of space to work on one guy"... His stock has been climbing due to an excellent senior season (9.5 sacks), had a very good performance at the Senior Bowl and did well at the combine... Is a very similar, yet less-heralded, prospect to Nebraska's Jared Crick.

Negatives -- A bit of a straight-line athlete, lacks fluidity and doesn't change direction very well, tight in the hips, can struggle to redirect to put himself in position to make a play, often over-pursues on run plays, can be slow to locate the ball... Doesn't have a real position in a four-man front, may not hold up well enough versus the run as a full-time defensive tackle in a four-man front... Shorter than ideal arms, needs to be more consistent with his hand usage, especially against more powerful offensive linemen, is easily handled when he doesn't win off the snap... Can be washed out of plays when he gets too upright, plays too high when fending off inside blockers and becomes a non-factor versus the run... Doesn't anchor very well, struggles to hold the point of attack, can be washed right out of the play by double teams, gets overpowered by larger blockers, struggles to disengage at times and doesn't make many plays off his frame... Lacks balance, ends up on the ground too often, loses control at times and allows momentum to get the best of him... Can get upright when he tires and expose himself, fatigues easily... A bit of a late bloomer who never really dominated the collegiate level until his senior season.

At Cincinnati -- 2010: Tied for the team high with eight tackles in the opener at Fresno State... also had a sack and tackle for a loss. 2009: Made 13 starts at defensive tackle... finished with 41 tackles, including eight tackles for a loss... also added five sacks, a forced fumble and recovery, and a quarterback hurry... recorded a pair of tackles against Southeast Missouri State... added three stops, a tackle for a loss, and a half sack at Oregon State... set a career high with eight tackles against Fresno State... tallied five tackles along with two sacks at Miami (OH)... added two tackles and a half sack at USF... recorded five tackles and a sack against Louisville... forced a fumble and recovered it and had two tackles at Syracuse... tallied two stops and a quarterback hurry against Connecticut... finished with four tackles, including one for a loss against West Virginia... tallied three solo stops against Illinois... finished with five tackles, including 1.5 for a loss, and a sack at Pittsburgh. 2008: Earned time in seven games at backup defensive tackle as a true freshman... totaled three tackles, one each against Eastern Kentucky, at Marshall, and vs. Syracuse... recorded first career sack on final play of the game against Syracuse in the home finale, setting off UC's Big East Championship celebration. High School: Three-year letterwinner on the defensive line... finished the 2007 season with Associated Press Division III All-Ohio first-team defense plaudits... registered 78 tackles and seven sacks to earn All-Ohio Valley Athletic Conference first team... also recognized with all-Eastern District honors following his senior season... notched 205 career stops for the Beavers... coached by Rich Wright. ## Mike Martin Scouting Report

Mike Martin – Michigan (HT: 6-1 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 306)

Positives -- Two-time Michigan high school state champion in wrestling and the shot put, broke T.J. Duckett's state record in shot put... Very strong, difficult to move off the line of scrimmage, occupies double teams and has plenty of nose tackle experience in former defensive coordinator Greg Robinson's defenses... Tremendous weight room strength, bench presses 505 pounds and squats 700 pounds... Has the combination of strength and initial quickness to overwhelm interior offensive linemen, can slip blocks and shoot gaps well... Stays low and wins most battles for leverage, good technique, extends his arms well and keeps blockers off his frame, gets under the pads of opposing blockers; credits his wrestling background for improving his foot and hand speed and wrestling technique with helping him against bigger opponents... Can bull rush and overpower blockers when pass rushing, often needs to be doubled up on to be handled; solid leg drive, keeps his legs moving, can generate a push on the pocket... Plays with good balance, seldom on the ground, solid lateral mobility and does a reasonably good job redirecting... Has the strength to anchor and holds his ground at the point inside, does a nice job restricting running lanes; does well in backside pursuit... Hard working type who will play through injuries, has a good motor and gives 100 percent on every play, has a never quit attitude; lunch-pail type player, works until the whistle, locates the ball and hustles to make plays in pursuit... Offers some schematic versatility, could be used as a 3-technique tackle in a 4-3 defense or as a 5-technique DE in a 3-4, and move inside to 3-4 NT on passing downs... Performed well during Senior Bowl practices, has the power to dominate in one-on-one situations.

Negatives -- Slightly undersized to play nose tackle in a 3-4 defense in the NFL, frame looks maxed out, played out of position as 3-4 nose for Michigan and performed better when the Wolverines fired the Rich Rodriguez coaching staff and brought in a real defensive coordinator; lacks the height to knock down passes at the line... Neither a dynamic nor natural pass rusher, inconsistent get-off, minimal sack production, relies on a bull rush to collapse the pocket, has reasonably quick nimble feet but other pass rushing moves are still developing; lacks counter moves when momentum is stopped... Considering his natural strength, doesn't get good pop on his hand punch, would like to see him be more violent with his hands... Shorter than ideal arms... Some durability issues, sustained a shoulder injury during his freshman year and eventually underwent surgery, also played through two high ankle sprains in 2010 but only missed one game; however, the ankle injuries plagued him for most of that season.

At Michigan -- 2011: Sugar Bowl champion... earned fourth varsity letter... All-Big Ten second team (coaches and media)... Phil Steele's Postseason All-Big Ten first team selection and Midseason All-Big Ten second team selection... U-M's Richard Katcher Award (top defensive lineman)... voted a 2011 season captain by teammates during fall camp... named to the Bednarik Award and Rotary Lombardi Award preseason watch lists... played in all 13 games;

DaJohn Harris Scouting Report

DaJohn Harris – USC (HT: 6-3 – WT: 306)

Positives -- Nice frame with thick lower body and good top-end speed... Very good first step off the line, can knife through gaps and quickly work his way into the backfield, good quickness and closing speed... Flashes good hand play and a quick punch, strong hands to jolt and create a pop on contact, has some stack and shed ability, though inconsistent with hand usage... Fluid athlete, former high school tight end, agile with reasonably quick nimble feet, plays with good balance and changes direction well for his size, has the athleticism to get up and down the line... Gets his hands up in passing lanes when he can't get to the quarterback, had six pass break-ups in 2011... Very stout, thick trunk to anchor, is tough to move, can clog running lanes, holds his ground against double teams; when he stays low, he can fight his way into the backfield and can dominate versus the run... Does a nice job controlling blockers, moving his feet and locating the ball as a run defender... Hustles to make plays in pursuit... No known character issues, is well-liked by teammates, good locker room guy... Might also get some looks as a 3-4 DE (5-technique)... Had a great week of practice during the East-West Shrine Bowl.

Negatives -- Is overly reliant on quickness when rushing the passer and lacks counter moves, limiting his effectiveness as a pass rusher, other pass rushing moves are still developing... Frustratingly inconsistent, when he plays to his potential he looks like a second rounder and NFL starter, but he disappears for stretches during games and he looks no better than a late rounder at best, talent exceeded performance throughout his career... Inconsistent in his hand usage and placement to get off blocks... Is also prone to playing a little upright at times, doesn't always coil up and will expose himself to blockers, can be washed out of the play... Loses stamina as the game moves on, wears down toward the end of games, motor runs hot and cold, plays high as he begins to tire, struggled with conditioning early in his collegiate career... Was diagnosed with sleep apnea, which is a sleep disorder characterized by abnormal pauses in breathing or instances of abnormally low breathing during sleep, and can suffer daytime sleepiness and fatigue... Missed the 2007 season to focus on academics.

At Southern California -- 2010: Harris started all season at defensive tackle as a junior in 2010 and was productive. Overall in 2010 while appearing in all 13 games (he started all but the Virginia contest), he had 35 tackles, including 5.5 for losses (with 3.5 sacks), 1 interception, 1 forced fumble, 1 fumble recovery and 1 deflection. 2009: Harris saw significant action as a key backup defensive tackle as a sophomore in 2009. Overall in 2009 while appearing in 9 games (all but Ohio State, Washington, California, Boston College), he had 14 tackles, including 2 for losses (with 0.5 sack). He had 2 tackles against San Jose State (1 for a loss, with 0.5 sack) and Washington State, then 1 versus Notre Dame and Oregon State, 2 at Oregon, 1 each against Arizona State (1 for a loss) and Stanford and 4 against Arizona. 2008: Harris served as a reserve defensive tackle and tight end as a redshirt freshman in 2008. Overall in 2008 while appearing briefly in 6 games (Virginia, Ohio State, Oregon, Washington State, Washington and Notre Dame), he made 1 tackle (versus Oregon). He missed 4 late games (California, Stanford, Notre Dame and UCLA) to focus on his academics. 2007: Harris redshirted as a freshman defensive tackle in 2007, his first year at USC. High School: He had 64 tackles and 9 sacks as a defensive lineman, plus 19 receptions for 304 yards with 4 TDs primarily as a tight end on offense in 2006.

Marcus Forston Scouting Report

Marcus Forston – Miami (FL) (HT: 6-1¼ – WT: 301)

Positives -- Good size and bulk, thick build with the strength to play the nose and quick enough to play as a 3-technique... Quick first step off the line of scrimmage, is always one of the first linemen moving off the football, can eat up blockers and can push and pressure the pocket and disrupt the play, can slip through gaps and work his way into the backfield... Strong lower body; when he stays low, he has the ability to control blockers and keep them off his frame due to his power and hand placement... Reasonably good length, has shown some quick and violent hands, flashes good hand play and a powerful punch, he holds the point reasonably well... Former blue-chip recruit who can also be used on stunts and loops... Above average range with the ability to make plays off his frame, solid lateral mobility and does a reasonably good job redirecting... Good motor, plays with a lot of energy, hustles to make plays in pursuit... Has some natural athleticism and some untapped potential but hasn't put it all together yet.

Negatives -- Needs to play with better pad level in both the run and pass game, gets too upright and linemen can get underneath him, engages a little high and exposes his frame; can struggle to maintain balance and loses control in these situations... Needs to be more consistent with his hand usage, doesn't always extend his arms to engage the blocker... Can be overwhelmed versus bigger blockers in the run game, especially when blockers get underneath him, doesn't look very comfortable in stack and shed situations... Will sometimes over-pursue inside on running plays, can be slow to locate the ball... Major durability issues, missed almost all the 2009 season with an MCL injury, played in just three games in 2011 before a knee injury ended his season... Was one of eight players suspended for Miami's opening game at Maryland in 2011 due to taking extra benefits from a former booster... Looked out of shape at the beginning of this season... Is still very raw, his high pad level often negates his physical skill set and he doesn't play to his potential with any consistency; however, has had success in college because of pure athleticism and many of his flaws are due to unpolished technique which can get better with good coaching.

At Miami (FL) -- 2011: Played and started in three games before suffering a season-ending knee injury... Registered five tackles and one tackle for loss... Had his best game against Kansas State, registering two tackles, one sack and one forced fumble. 2010: Played in 13 games, starting 12... Recorded 37 tackles, including the second-most tackles for loss on the team (12)... Sacked the quarterback three times on the year and even picked off a pass. 2009: Played in three of the first four games including Florida State, Georgia Tech and Oklahoma before sitting out the remainder of the season with an injury... Named first-team freshman All-American by CollegeFootballNews.com, Football Writer's Association and Rivals.com... High School: One of the top-ranked defensive tackles... Played for the 2007 consensus national championship team as chosen by USA Today and Sports Illustrated... Three-year starter who played in the U.S. Army All-American game... As a senior in 2007, made 92 tackles, 20 sacks and forced seven fumbles while being double-and triple-teamed... ## Kheeston Randall Scouting Report

Kheeston Randall – Texas (HT: 6-4<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 293)

Positives -- Plays with good leverage and technique, good arm extension, strong hands, keeps blockers away from his frame, gets under the pads of opposing blockers, can walk back centers and hold his ground at the point, and push the pocket backwards and restrict running lanes... Can eat up blockers and collapse the pocket with power, does a nice job with hand usage and placement to get off blocks, good stack and shed type player... Can occupy blockers and free up others around him to make plays, tough to move, often disrupted plays with his leverage and strength; maintains gap responsibilities, knows his assignments and sticks with them... Plays with good balance, seldom on the ground... Wide base and low center of gravity, natural girth and thick trunk to anchor, is tough to move, can clog running lanes... Good character, active in community service, good locker room presence and on-field leader... Durability is not an issue, has not missed a game in the last three seasons... Looks like a two-down run stuffer at the next level... Versatile, could play 4-3 DT (3-technique) or 3-4 DE (5-technique), best fit would be as a run stopping 5-technique, often lined up over the center as a 1-technique at Texas and would also fit well in a two-gap system... Texas has been one of the best teams in the country for developing interior defensive line prospects... His skill set is intriguing and he has room to develop and improve in other facets of the game.

Negatives -- A bit of a straight-line athlete, lacks fluidity and doesn't change direction very well, can struggle to redirect to put himself in position to make a play... Not a great pass rusher, lacks explosiveness, sack numbers are disappointing, had just five career sacks, and just one in each of the past two seasons, bull rush is slow developing and he does not possess the quickness to shoot gaps inside... Is not a natural fit in a 4-3 defense, lacks the quickness to play as a 3-technique and the bulk to play the nose... Isn't going to dominate a box score and won't make many big plays, doesn't have the short-area burst to make plays away his frame... Instincts and awareness are just average, inconsistent get-off, can be slow to locate the ball... Loses stamina as the game moves on, wears down toward the end of games... Had a lot of positive momentum heading into his senior season, felt he had a chance to move into the end of the first round with a solid season, but that never materialized.

At Texas -- Finished his career having seen action in 47 games, including 35 starts... posted 98 tackles (49 solo), four sacks, 21 TFL, 25 pressures, six PBU, one forced fumble and two blocked kicks for his career... 2011 first team All-Big 12 selection (Houston Chronicle, San Antonio Express News) and second team (Coaches, AP, Kansas City Star, Fort Worth Star-Telegram)... recorded 34 tackles, five tackles for loss, one sack, eight pressures and one pass breakup in 2011... named honorable mention All-Big 12 in 2010... started all 12 games and posted 39 tackles (23 solo), one sack, 13 TFL, eight pressures, three PBU and two blocked kicks... appeared in 14 games, including 10 starts at defensive tackle, in 2009... compiled 23 tackles, two sacks, three TFL, nine pressures and a forced fumble... saw action in eight games as a true freshman in 2008... a two-time all-state and three-time all-district selection in high school... a three-sport letterman as a prepster... a member of UT's Athletics Director's Honor Roll (Spring 2009). 2011: Started in all 13 games at defensive tackle... 2011 first-team All-Big 12 selection (Houston Chronicle, San Antonio Express-News) and second team (Coaches, AP, Kansas City Star, Fort Worth Star-Telegram)... earned UT's Dr. Nasser Al-Rashid Strength & Conditioning Award... tallied 34 tackles, five tackles for loss, one sack, eight pressures and one pass breakup on the season... helped Texas lead the Big 12 and rank sixth in the nation in rushing defense (96.23 ypg) and 11th in total defense (306.08)... also ranked 10th in pass efficiency defense (111.0)... helped hold California to seven rushing yards and 195 total yards in the Holiday Bowl to close out his career... finished with a career-high seven tackles and one tackle for loss against Texas Tech.

Mike Daniels Scouting Report

Mike Daniels – Iowa (HT: 6-3 – WT: 301)

Positives -- A tremendous athlete; very tough to block because of some of the things he can do to get away from a blocker... One of the quickest defensive tackles in this year's class; has reportedly posted an astonishing 41" vertical leap at 291 pounds... Is obviously very light on his feet; has the balance of a player 60 pounds lighter and moves very well... Hands are something to behold; uses them with great force and packs a punch with the velocity that they fly down and chop others' hands... Very good at making plays behind the line of scrimmage; led the team with 13 tackles for loss as a senior and was second in 2010 with 11 TFL, playing on a defensive line with three 2011 draft picks... His height, or lack thereof, makes for a low center of gravity and is very tough to get a firm grasp on when blocking; almost like trying to push a bowling ball in sand... Great work ethic and leadership ability; some players would have left the program after not getting playing time for two years but Daniels persevered and made a name for himself during his final two seasons... Played the entire 2011 season with an injured ankle.

Negatives -- Wasn't a full time player until his senior year and even then there was some doubt to whether he was a product of playing with talented guys... Biggest knock is his size as he is smaller than most defensive tackles and not the gap filler and run stuffer that most defenses like to have in the middle... Bigger interior lineman really have their way with him, especially if they can get low and make it a fair fight in terms of center of gravity... Probably not an everyday player in the NFL, will take too much of a pounding inside to be out there for every play... Needs to add some weight and show that it won't hinder his athleticism.

At Iowa -- 2010: Played in all 13 games, with eight starts... recorded 17 solo tackles and 23 assists, including 11 tackles for loss and four QB sacks... started at defensive tackle in 37-7 opening win over Eastern Illinois as defense allowed just 157 yards total offense... recorded one solo tackle and four assists in opening win, including 1.5 tackles for loss and one QB sack... started at defensive tackle in 35-7 win over Iowa State, recording four assisted tackles... saw action in 34-27 loss at Arizona... recorded career-high three solo tackles vs. Arizona, including two tackles for loss and one QB sack... saw action in 45-0 win over Ball State as defense allowed just 112 yards total offense... recorded career-best six tackles, including four solo stops and two assists... had four tackles for loss and one QB sack... started at defensive tackle in 24-3 win over Penn State as defense allowed just 54 net rushing yards and 301 yards total offense... recorded one assisted tackle for loss and a QB pressure vs. Penn State... saw action at defensive tackle in 38-28 win at Michigan, recording three solo tackles and two assists... saw action in 31-30 loss to Wisconsin, recording one solo tackle and two assists... started at defensive tackle in 37-6 win over fifth-ranked Michigan State as defense allowed just 31 net rushing yards and 258 yards total offense... recorded two solo stops and three assists vs. MSU, including two tackles for loss.

Jaye Howard Scouting Report

Jaye Howard – Florida (HT: 6-3 – WT: 301)

Positives -- Very good first step off the line, good rip and swim moves, can knife through gaps and quickly work his way into the backfield, good short-area burst with a second gear to close... Reasonably good length for his size, has shown some quick and violent hands; when he stays low, he has the ability to control blockers and keep them off his frame in both the run and pass game... Plays with good balance; his quickness allows him to pursue down the line of scrimmage, good lateral movement and change of direction agility; does a nice job working down the line in backside support... Can penetrate into the backfield to disrupt running plays; also has above average range with the ability to make plays off his frame, does a nice job in pursuit... Has some potential as both a pass rusher and run stopper and should be part of a rotation right away... Versatile, could play 4-3 DT (3-technique) or 3-4 DE (5-technique), lined up at the 1-technique most often as a senior at Florida but projects best to a one-gap 3-4 defense... Ran an impressive 4.82-40 and looked very good in field drills at the combine.

Negatives -- Doesn't have the power to consistently get off blocks when engaged and make plays, needs to improve functional strength, can be handled when he doesn't win off the snap... Doesn't anchor very well, struggles to hold the point of attack, gets overpowered by larger blockers and struggles to disengage at times; the type of player that generally does fine in one-on-one situations but struggles to hold the point versus double teams... Has an inconsistent motor, looks like a guy that plays in spurts and runs out of steam rather quickly... Instincts and awareness are just average, can be slow to locate the ball... He could stand to get stronger in the lower body and add a little bulk to get more looks as a 4-3 DT... Minor durability concerns, missed two games in 2010 with an ankle injury that required off-season surgery and also forced him to miss spring practice.

At Florida -- 2011: Started all 13 games at defensive tackle in his senior season... Finished tied for second on the team with 10.0 tackles for loss, totaling a team-best 64 yards, and 5.5 sacks, for a team-high 50 yards... Recorded five tackles and 1.0 TFL for four yards against Furman, while adding a quarterback hurry... Had four solo tackles against South Carolina with one tackle for a loss of five yards... Had five tackles in the Gators win over Vanderbilt, four of them solo... He also recorded two tackles for a loss and one sack for a loss of 11 yards against the Commodores... Had eight tackles against Georgia... Had six total tackles with five solo tackles against Auburn... Teamed up for seven tackles against LSU... Contributes eight total tackles with four solo tackles against Alabama... ## Hebron Fangupo Scouting Report

Hebron Fangupo – BYU (HT: 6-0¾ – WT: 323)

Positives -- Southern California transfer with a year of experience in BYU's 3-4 defense... Ideal frame for a 3-4 nose tackle and has also played a lot of 5-technique for BYU... Gets good pop on his hand punch, has some natural power, stout player who uses his low center of gravity and squatty build to his advantage; solid anchor, is too strong to be moved around, space eater, can occupy multiple blockers, collapses running lanes, keeps linebackers clean and allows them to roam free into the backfield... Has some stack and shed potential, flashed good hand play and showed the ability to slip blocks... Gets skinny to split double teams, can fight his way into the backfield and can dominate versus the run... Mature, served a two-year mission in the Philippines prior to junior college; married, has overcome a lot of adversity in his football career... Plays with a lot of physicality and energy, has an unselfish attitude and is well-liked by teammates, good locker room guy.

Negatives -- Has a lot of potential but is still very raw, technique needs work, lacks polish, struggles with leverage despite his shorter frame... Is limited as a pass rusher, massive frame makes it difficult to split gaps and penetrate, has a decent bull rush to collapse the pocket but no other pass rushing moves in his arsenal... A linear athlete, a one-dimensional type of player with below average lateral agility... Needs to play with better pad level, gets too upright and linemen can get underneath him, engages a little high, needs to play lower off the snap... Allowed his pad level to get too high in head up situations, makes it easy for blocker to push him out of the play... Lacks balance, ends up on the ground too often, loses control at times and allows momentum to get the best of him... Doesn't have much FCS experience, was a highly rated recruit out of junior college and was enrolled at USC for just one year before transferring... Was a backup defensive tackle at USC but fractured his ankle in their fourth game.

At Brigham Young -- 2011: Earned letterman honors as a senior... Phil Steele All-Independent Second Team, FBS All-Independent Honorable Mention... part of BYU rushing defense that was ranked 19th nationally allowing 112.08 yards per game and No. 14 total defense (312.9 total yards allowed per game)... played in all 13 games and started 10... recorded 26 tackles, including six for a loss, three quarterback hurries and two pass breakups... had at least 0.5 tackles for loss in the first five games of the season... had six tackles and one for a loss vs. UCF while breaking up one pass... totaled five tackles and 1.5 for a loss with one quarterback hurry and one pass breakup vs. Utah State. Before BYU: Prepped at Santa Ana High... 2003 All-CIF Division IX first team as a senior... Attended USC in 2009 and 2010... Attended MT. SAC in 2007 and 2008: (2007) Made All-Mission Conference first team while making 24 tackles and 2 sacks as Mt. San Antonio played in the state championship game. (2008) Super Prep JUCO 100 and All-Central Conference second team... had 47 tackles, 15 tackles for a loss, 6 sacks, 1 deflection, 2 fumble recoveries and 2 forced fumbles helped school play in its second consecutive state championship game. Personal: served in the Philippines Manila Mission for the LDS Church.

Akiem Hicks Scouting Report

Akiem Hicks – Regina (HT: 6-4<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 318)

Positives -- Has a tremendous burst with his first step and combine that with his size and you have yourself a force in the middle... Has some of the longest arms in the draft at 35<sup>1</sup>/<sub>8</sub>" allows him to knock away blockers and make tackles that normal nose tackles couldn't make... Very similar to Kenrick Ellis, third round pick of the New York Jets a year ago; both possess elite athleticism for guys their size and if they put it together they can change games... Very strong and can anchor down an offensive lineman and allow linebackers to fly to the ball... Has a great rip move that could dominate at any level... Was a highly recruited player coming from the junior college ranks and originally committed to LSU... Has experience playing in both the 4-3 and 3-4, so there are no restrictions on which team could take him and where he would fit.

Negatives -- Played college ball in Canada so his level of competition isn't up to par or even comparable with any level of NCAA football... The lack of competition has led him into some bad habits including just relying on his size to get by; he was exposed during the Shrine game and it's something that he's really going to have eliminate... Needs to use his hands a lot more than he currently does; NFL guards and centers will be able to handle a guy of his size so he must learn how to disengage... Minor character concerns; he was investigated for receiving illegal transportation and it left him ineligible for LSU... Tendency to give up on plays that aren't run directly at him; needs to change this or he'll find himself riding the pine in the NFL... Struggles with his balance at times; needs to use his hands to keep himself up... The ultimate boom or bust prospect; he'll either be really good or be out of the league in three years.

At Regina -- 2011: Named a CIS first-team All-Canadian, Canada West's outstanding lineman, and a Canada West all-star in his second season with the Rams... set a University of Regina single-season record with 6<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> sacks during the conference schedule... led the Rams outright and all Canada West linemen with 35<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> tackles during the conference season... also had eight tackles for loss, three pass breakups, and forced two fumbles... had a team-high 10<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> tackles and two tackles for loss in the Rams' Canada West semifinal game at Calgary. 2010: Named a Canada West all-star in his first season with the Rams... recorded 12 solo tackles and 17 assisted tackles... had four tackles for loss and one pass knockdown... forced two fumbles and registered 1<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> sacks... had 3<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub> tackles in the team's conference semifinal game at Calgary (Nov. 6). Personal: Born Nov. 16, 1989... enrolled in the Faculty of Arts... played for the Sacramento City College Panthers in 2007 and 2008 before coming to the U of R... was a Mid-Empire Conference first-team all-star in 2008 with SCC... was ranked No. 4 among defensive tackles and No. 20 among all junior prospects in the 2009 junior college recruiting class by Rivals.com... drafted in the 10th round (48th overall) by the Omaha Nighthawks in the 2011 UFL Draft... represented Team East at the 2012 East-West Shrine Game in St. Petersburg, Fla... is thought to be the first CIS player ever to be invited to the NFL Combine.

Tydreke Powell Scouting Report

Tydreke Powell – North Carolina (HT: 6-2¼ – WT: 311)

Positives -- Has the combination of strength and initial quickness to overwhelm interior offensive linemen... Excellent size and bulk, thick build, carries his weight well, natural girth and thick trunk to anchor... Has a lot of potential at the next level as a run defender if he can be coached up on technique; when he stays low, he can fight his way into the backfield and can dominate versus the run, violent player who can knock linemen off balance... Very strong at the point of attack, is difficult to move in the trenches... Can occupy blockers and free up others around him to make plays, does a nice job plugging the middle...

Plays with good balance, seldom on the ground, solid lateral mobility and does a reasonably good job redirecting... Plays with a lot of physicality and energy and has a mean streak, has a good motor and gives 100 percent on every play... High character player, team captain as a junior; no durability concerns, hasn't missed a game in three seasons... North Carolina has been one of the best teams in the country for developing defensive prospects in recent seasons.

Negatives -- Lacks the suddenness to shoot and split gaps and isn't very disruptive as a pass rusher, had just 2.5 sacks as a junior and one as a senior, primarily a bull rusher who can push the pocket, but lacks much of an arsenal of pass rush moves... Needs to play with better pad level, gets too upright and linemen can get underneath him, gives up a ton of leverage impeding his pass rush and his ability to hold the point, will lose his power and burst... Will expose himself to blockers and can be washed out of the play when he plays upright... Shorter than ideal arms and inconsistent in his hand usage and placement to get off blocks... Lacks ideal awareness of the ball carrier, can be slow to locate the ball... Never played to his level of talent, his initial quickness doesn't match up with his lack of pass rushing potential, has a good skill set but needs to play lower to be effective.

At North Carolina -- 2010: Team captain... One of only two UNC defensive players to start all 13 games... Finished the regular season with 47 tackles, three tackles for losses, 2.5 sacks, one pass breakup and one forced fumble... Made two tackles in the Music City Bowl win over Tennessee... Posted two tackles in the win at Duke... Made four stops vs. North Carolina State and Virginia Tech... Had three tackles in the win at Florida State... Assisted on a tackle for loss and had three tackles against William & Mary... Registered a sack and had two tackles at Miami... Made two tackles at Virginia... Posted four tackles in the 21-16 win vs. Clemson... Had three tackles against East Carolina... Made a season-high seven stops and assisted on a sack in a 17-13 win at Rutgers... Posted six tackles against Georgia Tech... Recorded five tackles, including a 21-yard sack, and forced a fumble against LSU in the Chick-fil-A Kickoff Game in Atlanta. 2009: Played in all 13 games and was in Carolina's regular rotation at defensive end... Finished the season with 24 tackles, including four tackles for losses and two sacks... Had a 4-yard tackle for loss in the win at Boston College... Broke up a pass in Carolina's 19-6 win over Duke... Named the ACC Defensive Lineman of the Week for his performance at Virginia Tech... Forced a key fumble in the fourth quarter which Carolina recovered and eventually led to the game-winning field goal... Also had a sack on Tyrod Taylor in the first half, forcing the Hokies out of field goal position... Posted five tackles at Georgia Tech... Had three tackles and assisted on a tackle for loss in Carolina's win over East Carolina.

Brett Roy Scouting Report

Positives -- One of the hardest workers in this entire class; the total package in terms of intangibles, has a distinct quality that makes him a leader... Loves football; will keep playing until all 32 teams say no and then he'll probably head to the CFL... Great motor; will never give up on a play, a very sneaky guy in pursuit; will always track the play and is looking to knock the ball from a player's arms... Impact hitter; drives his entire body through guys on tackles and they'll need a second or two to regroup before they get up... Very versatile player; played some outside and inside linebacker, in addition to defensive end and defensive tackle at Nevada, could end up at fullback in the NFL; some may look at that as a player without a position but he can save you one or two roster spots for another position due to his versatility... Will be able to provide an impact immediately on special teams while he learns the playbook... Has good arm extension and can disengage with his strong hands... Good bend with playing on the edge; can also set the corner on running plays and make backs hesitate.

Negatives -- More stocky than long; doesn't have a prototypical frame for any of the positions he has played... Not an NFL level athlete; relies a lot on his work ethic and his motor... There are some questions about his overall intelligence; it may take him a little bit longer than normal to learn the playbook... Incredibly undersized for a defensive tackle; probably wouldn't last long there... Doesn't have a go to pass rush move; not really fast enough for an effective speed rush and his bull rush leaves a lot to be desired... His lateral quickness is lacking; does a good job attacking up the field but not really a sideline to sideline player... Not the strongest player; can struggle when engaged with a physical lineman who can match his motor and drive.

At Nevada -- 2010: Emerged as a pivotal member of the defense with a standout performance in his first year as a starter... Started all 14 games at one of the tackle spots... Was credited with 50 tackles on the year and was second on the team with 14.5 tackles for loss and 8.0 sacks... Total TFL yardage was 72 yards... Set career high with six tackles against UNLV and then matched that at Hawaii... Had a monster game against New Mexico State with 4.0 tackles for loss, including a pair of sacks... Recorded four stops including a sack in the Kraft Fight Hunger Bowl win over Boston College. 2009: Played in all 13 games and was a strong presence off the bench for Nevada's defensive front... Won the team's Blackout Award and named the Outstanding Special Teams Player... Recorded 21 tackles on the season, including a career-high four stops at New Mexico State... First career sack was for a 3-yard loss at Utah State... Notched a tackle in 10 of the 12 games during the regular season. 2008: Played in 11 games and was a valuable reserve on the defensive front... Recorded 11 tackles on the year including one for a loss at Missouri... Forced a fumble against New Mexico State... Career-high three tackles came against Utah State. 2007: Redshirted his first year at Nevada.

Armond Armstead Scouting Report

Armond Armstead – USC (HT: 6-5 – WT: 290)

Positives -- Excellent size; a legit 290 pounds with room to add more muscle without losing his top notch athleticism... Underrated pass rusher; has a good bull rush and is surprisingly quick and can get around the edge... Goes sideline to sideline as well as any defensive lineman in the draft; his speed is up there with some linebackers... Uses his hands very well; disengages with force and is just a tough guy to block... Very patient player; if the opportunity to make a huge play arises only once during a game it's certain that Armstead will make it... Good tackler, he is very good at wrapping and driving though; his arm length and overall size dislodges the football on a regular basis... Played all over the defensive line and was productive no matter where he was... Was projected prior to last season as an eventual late first or early second round pick so the talent is clearly there... Was very mature about not playing during the 2011 season and wasn't a distraction to the program; wanted to play for another school next season but Southern California said they would block any transfer request.

Negatives -- Can't stay healthy; has missed games during every season at Southern Cal... Missed the entire 2011 season are experiencing chest pains; was cleared by the doctors at the hospital but the team doctors decided that it was in the schools' best interest to not let him play... Can be lazy at times; should have been an unstoppable force in college but only showed flashes of his full ability... Can be overaggressive at times and overrun the ball carrier or the quarterback at times... Is sure to be dropped off of some teams boards entirely because of the medical risk... A boom or bust prospect; could develop into a Pro Bowler if he can stay healthy but could be out the league in a few years.

At Southern California -- 2010: Armstead started all of his 2010 junior season, 11 times at defensive end and once (against Virginia) at defensive tackle. Overall in 2010 while appearing in 12 games (he missed the Washington State game with a shoulder sprain suffered at Minnesota), he had 43 tackles, including 6.5 for losses (with 3 sacks), plus a fumble recovery and 2 deflections. He had 3 tackles at Hawaii, 1 against Virginia while playing both tackle and end, 4 at Minnesota (1.5 for losses) and versus Washington (with a sack) and 3 at Stanford and against California (1 for a loss). He then had 7 tackles (0.5 for a loss) and a fumble recovery against Oregon. He added 1 stop at Arizona, then had 8 tackles at Oregon State, 4 versus Notre Dame (0.5 for a loss) and 5 tackles, including 2 sacks, and 2 deflections at UCLA. 2009: Armstead was switched from defensive tackle to end in 2009 spring drills and the move turned out well as he earned the starting job there as a sophomore in 2009. But he broke his left foot in 2009 fall camp and missed USC's first 5 games. He returned to see limited action in the final 8 games in 2009, primarily at end. He started 5 games, 2 at tackle and the last 3 at end. Overall in 2009 while appearing in 8 games, he had 6 tackles, including 1 for a loss, and blocked a PAT.

Travian Robertson Scouting Report

Travian Robertson – South Carolina (HT: 6-4½ – WT: 302)

Positives -- Well put together for a defensive tackle, not a lot of fat on him and has a good build... Has a great base for a big guy, most have the tendency to rise up immediately but Robertson does a nice job of staying low and firing off the ball... Has a decent first step; it's good for nose tackle and will take the plodders inside off guard and will allow him to penetrate some gaps and make stops in the backfield or at least disrupt the play... Does a nice job of using his hands to disengage from lineman; makes it tough to get your hands to his chest... Very adept at getting down the line, can get off of blocks from guards and work his way down towards the ends to make plays... A hard worker in between the lines, will pursue the ball from his defensive tackle spot; you rarely see this with 300 pounders... Played in the SEC and went up against elite competition during every conference game.

Negatives -- Won't provide much as a pass rusher at this point; mainly just a run stuffer... Often takes himself out of plays, gets sealed to the outside way too easily... His build can fool some people as he isn't as athletic as he appears to be... Can get overwhelmed by contact at times; bigger interior lineman have little to no trouble blocking him on nearly every play... Technique is very sloppy, was called out multiple times for it during the Shrine game practices... Often ends up on the ground; this should absolutely not happen with a player of Robertson's size... Struggles against double teams, but was rarely doubled in 2011 with the talent of the other defensive lineman in South Carolina including Jadeveon Clowney and Melvin Ingram... Missed most of the 2009 season with injuries... Has a limited ceiling.

At South Carolina -- 2010: Returned from season-ending injury in 2009 to help anchor one of the top defensive fronts in the SEC... earned fourth-team All-SEC accolades from Phil Steele... started all 14 contests... had 42 tackles, including 10.0 for loss and 4.0 sacks... recovered two fumbles and forced one... posted his first two career sacks in win over Furman while finishing with five total tackles and 3.0 tackles for loss... logged four tackles at Auburn... had a sack and 2.0 tackles for loss and forced a fumble at Kentucky... named third-team Midseason All-SEC by Phil Steele... had a career-high seven tackles in win over Vanderbilt... posted four tackles, including a sack, and recovered a fumble in win over Clemson... had five stops in the Chick-fil-A Bowl against Florida State... named to the SEC Fall Academic Honor Roll. 2009: Junior defensive tackle who was a key contributor early in the season before suffering a season-ending right knee injury against Ole Miss in Week 4... started each of the first four games... logged eight tackles including three each against NC State and Florida Atlantic... had one tackle for loss... received a medical redshirt season to regain the year of eligibility. 2008: Played in all 13 games... collected 17 tackles, including a pair of tackles for loss... had a career-high six tackles, including a tackle for loss against Clemson... forced a fumble against Tennessee and had a fumble recovery against Clemson.

DeAngelo Tyson Scouting Report

DeAngelo Tyson – Georgia (HT: 6-2 – WT: 315)

Positives -- Has a nice first step and does a nice job of maintaining his center of gravity throughout... Excellent athlete; can make plays in pursuit and does a nice job of wrapping up from behind or even knocking the ball out when the opportunity arises... Decent pass rusher; doesn't have a dynamic move and it won't show up in the box score, but is a constant threat to shoot the gaps and flush the quarterback from the pocket... Does a good job on stunt moves; good fake move to the inside and does a nice job of allowing the defensive end time to get over to the inside to rush... Good frame; has long arms and is pretty muscular... Has experience at the nose in the 3-4 and played the 3-technique during passing situations... Always plays hard; this is more impressive considering that he was going after top notch competition in the SEC day in and day out.

Negatives -- Despite playing nose in the 3-4 he's still not a good fit for it as he isn't an anchor type of tackle that defenses are looking for... His 2011 production was way down; dropped from 36 to 20 tackles while only finishing with 1.5 sacks each season... His hand placement is all over the place; one play he'll show perfect technique and the next he'll end up on his back after just trying to run through someone... A non-factor against double teams; in fact, it gets so bad at times that he gives up on the play... Struggles to make plays that aren't directly in front of him; doesn't have the lateral quickness to go sideline to sideline and his pursuit comes after the guy has gotten by him... Struggles to locate the football; gets stood up easily when he gets fooled on the play call... Had a couple of nagging injuries in 2011 that caused him to miss two games.

At Georgia -- 2011: Selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game... Recipient of one of the team's Coaches Leadership Awards for defense... Started all 11 games in which he appeared making 20 tackles with 3.5 tackles for loss and 11 quarterback pressures; Missed games vs. Coastal Carolina and No. 1 LSU due to injury... Recorded a season-high four tackles vs. No. 5 Boise St... Had three tackle performances against New Mexico St, Florida, Miss. St., Ole Miss and No. 12 S. Carolina... Ted Hendricks Award watch list... Preseason All-SEC Second Team by Birmingham News, SEC Coaches and SEC Media and Third Team by Phil Steele... Recorded two tackles and defended a pass in spring G-Day game... Recipient of the Statesboro Bulldog Club Football Scholarship. 2010: Appeared in 13 games making 12 starts recording 36 tackles including 4.0 for loss and 1.5 sacks to go along with seven quarterback pressures... Recorded a career-high 16 tackles vs. Ga. Tech... Recorded a then career-high six tackles including a sack and forced a fumble at Kentucky... Had three tackles, including one for a loss, at Colorado... Earned one of team's Coffee County Hustle Awards for defense following spring drills... Recorded three tackles in spring game.

Nicolas Jean-Baptiste Scouting Report

Nicolas Jean-Baptiste – Baylor (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 335)

Positives -- Tremendous weight room strength, has squatted 600 pounds; natural girth and thick trunk... Strong lower body, holds the point reasonably well, occupies double teams; solid leg drive, keeps his legs moving, can generate a push on the pocket and disrupt the play... Does a good job versus the run, can be difficult to move and has the strength to anchor and hold his ground at the point inside when he keeps his pad level down; keeps linebackers clean and allows them to roam free into the backfield... Does a nice job restricting running lanes with surprising range and the ability to make plays off his frame... No durability issues, played in 50 of a possible 51 games in his collegiate career, missed only the 2010 Texas Bowl due to a knee injury suffered in practice... Former walk-on who earned a starting spot prior to his junior season, hard working type with a good motor, is not ready to contribute right away but will work hard to eventually crack a rotation.

Negatives -- A little stiff, not real nimble or agile; not a pass rusher, should be rotated out in passing situations, a one-dimensional type of player with below average lateral agility... Routinely gets upright off the ball, can be washed out of plays when he gets too upright, plays too high when fending off inside blockers and becomes a non-factor, engages a little high and is inconsistent in his hand usage and placement to get off blocks... Struggles to disengage once blocked, needs to play with better leverage to take on double teams in the NFL... Frustratingly inconsistent, flashes NFL caliber play at times but can also disappear for stretches at a time, has yet to put it all together with any consistency and needs significant development before he is even ready to be included as part of a rotation... Flashed at the East-West Shrine Game but is a notable combine snub who won't be able to further improve his stock prior to draft day.

At Baylor -- 2010: Played in 12 of 13 games as junior, missed Texas Bowl due to knee injury... Earned starting position in fourth game at Rice and started nine straight games before sitting out Texas Bowl... Totaled 31 tackles (20 solo), two QB hurries, an assisted sack, fumble forced and pass breakup... Made assisted sack (-2 yards) in win over Buffalo in second game... Tied then-career-high with four tackles at No. 4 TCU... Had two tackles and forced fumble in win over Kansas in fifth game... Made career-high seven tackles (four solo) in win at Colorado in seventh game... Had five tackles and hurry in 12th game vs. No. 16 Oklahoma. 2009: Played all 12 games as reserve interior defensive lineman as sophomore in 2009 to earn second letter... Finished season with 18 tackles and two tackles for loss, including one assisted sack for -3 yards and one QB hurry... Made season-high four tackles, including an assisted tackle-for-loss, in win over Northwestern State in third game... Had three tackles in back-to-back road games at No. 19 Oklahoma and Iowa State in fifth and sixth games, added two tackles for loss and an assisted sack at ISU... Made three stops in season finale vs. Texas Tech... Awarded scholarship prior to 2009 season. 2008: Walk-on played in all 12 games as reserve defensive lineman as redshirt freshman in 2008... Earned first letter... Finished season with nine tackles, four solo... Had two assisted tackles at Connecticut in fourth game, including an assisted tackle-for-loss... Made then-career-high three stops vs. No. 1 Oklahoma, all assisted... Selected to the spring 2009 Big 12 Commissioner's Honor Roll.

Dominique Hamilton Scouting Report

Dominique Hamilton – Missouri (HT: 6-4<sup>3</sup>/<sub>4</sub> – WT: 313)

Positives -- Very intriguing potential 3-4 nose tackle due to his strength and run-stopping ability; also flashes some burst off the line of scrimmage, can eat up blockers and push and penetrate the pocket... Big body with good power at the point of attack, long arms and can punch lineman back, can be difficult to engage, can deliver a jolt and establish hand position on contact, gets some push on the bull rush and can overpower blockers... Solid leg drive, keeps his legs moving, can generate a push on the pocket... Has the strength to anchor against double teams and holds his ground at the point inside, looks like a two-down run stuffer at the next level, does a great job as a run stopper in the middle of the line, can occupy blockers and free up others around him to make plays... Plays with a good motor and shows good awareness of the ball carrier, has plus instincts and can make some plays in pursuit... If he can add some weight and develop into a 3-4 nose tackle he could end up being a tremendous value pick late in day three... At this point, only has the potential to fill out and play at nose tackle in a 3-4 scheme, but still fits either scheme either at the nose in a four-man front or as a 3-4 defensive end (5-technique).

Negatives -- His lack of athleticism was exploited at the combine, 5.54-40 was the slowest among all defensive linemen... Routinely gets upright off the ball, doesn't use his hands well to shed through contact and is primarily a bull rusher who can push the pocket, but lacks much of an arsenal of pass rush moves... Doesn't look very comfortable in stack and shed situations, needs to be more consistent with his hand usage and placement... Can get upright when he tires and expose himself, loses stamina as the game moves on, tires too easily... Would need to add considerable weight to be considered full time as a 3-4 nose, weighed in seven pounds lighter than his listed weight at Missouri, value is minimized without the potential to play inside in a three-man front... Minor durability concerns, played in seven games during his junior season and missed spring practices this season following a broken ankle that required surgery.

At Missouri -- 2010: Was on his way to a strong season, until he sustained a season-ending injury in game #7 against Oklahoma... Made three tackles in Missouri's win over Illinois... Added two stops in the win over McNeese State... Had a season-high five tackles against San Diego State... Made four tackles against Miami (Ohio)... Made three tackles against Colorado, including 1.5 TFLs... Recorded his first sack of the season against the Buffaloes... Made three tackles against Texas A&M... Recorded a half of sack against the Aggies... Left the game against Oklahoma with a foot injury that ended his season. 2009: Came into his own as a run-stuffing tackle, as he started the final 12 games of the year at the tackle position... Was a key figure in helping Mizzou control the line of scrimmage enough to rank 26th in the NCAA against the run (118.62 avg.)... Finished with a career-high 46 tackles, 5.5 tackles for loss, one quarterback sack, and a safety... Began the season second on the depth chart, but started the rest of the way after notching two tackles in the opener against Illinois... ## Logan Harrell Scouting Report

Logan Harrell – Fresno State (HT: 6-2 – WT: 275)

Positives -- Good first step off the line of scrimmage and good short-area burst, can knife through gaps and quickly work his way into the backfield, plays best when he can operate with room to roam, good quickness and closing speed... Has the athleticism to run around blocks; does use his hands well to keeps blockers away from his frame at the collegiate level, but will struggle to face blocks head on in the NFL, lack of functional strength is an issue going forward... Agile with quick and nimble feet, changes direction well, has the athleticism to get up and down the line... His quickness allows him to pursue down the line of scrimmage, good lateral movement and slide... Plays with a lot of aggression and intensity, has a good motor, hustles to make plays in pursuit, can make plays outside the tackles... Has been very productive and made a lot of big plays for the Bulldogs defense, had a combined 16.5 sacks and 31 tackles for loss in the last two years... High football IQ, very instinctive with a lot of experience, has played both defensive end and defensive tackle at Fresno State.

Negatives -- Very undersized to play defensive tackle at the next level, lacks the size to lock down the inside, is a big-time tweener at his present weight; would need to add 10-12 pounds to fit the 3-4 DE (5-technique) prototype... Shorter than ideal arms struggles to disengage once blocked, can get stood up and pushed around... Doesn't anchor very well, struggles to hold the point of attack, can be washed right out of the play, gets overpowered by larger blockers... Can be a non-factor in the run game when he doesn't win with his first step, he often ends up out of position to prevent backs from crossing the line of scrimmage... The type of player that you love at the collegiate level but doesn't translate very well to the NFL; however, is an over-achiever and isn't someone you want to bet against due to his quickness and intensity... Lack of competition playing in the WAC and Mountain West.

At Fresno State -- 2011: Named first team All-WAC for the second consecutive season... selected to Phil Steele's All-WAC first team... played and started in all 13 games at defensive tackle... tied for second on the team with 71 tackles... was second in the WAC and tied for 16th in the FBS with 17.0 tackles for a loss, which also tied for the third-most in a year in school history... his 6.0 sacks led the team and ranked No. 7 in the WAC... registered 11 quarterback hurries, four pass breakups at the line of scrimmage and three forced fumbles, the second-most in the WAC... recorded a career-high 11 tackles, tied his career-high with 4.5 tackles for a loss and had 1.5 sacks in a win over North Dakota, Sept. 17... was named the WAC Defensive Player of the Week and the National Defensive Lineman of the Week by the CFPA for his performance against UND... had a tackle for a loss in 10-of-13 games on the season... posted seven or more tackles in five games... forced two fumbles at New Mexico State, Nov. 12, when he had seven tackles and one tackle for a loss of 16 yards... named the team's most valuable defensive lineman. 2010: First team All-WAC selection after starting 13 games at tackle... opened the season with breakout game vs. Cincinnati in which he made 3.5 sacks, had five tackles and forced a fumble en route to earning National Defensive Player of the Week honors... was second in the WAC and 10th in the NCAA with 10.5 sacks... fourth in the WAC in tackles for a loss with 14... had a season-high 10 tackles with 1.5 sacks vs. Cal Poly... had at least one half a sack in five straight games from Oct. 2 through Nov. 6... finished season with 46 tackles, batted down three passes and recovered and forced one fumble... selected by CBSSportline.com as one of the top junior defensive tackles in the nation.

Luke Kuechly Scouting Report

Luke Kuechly – Boston College (HT: 6-3¼ – WT: 242)

Positives -- Unbelievable production in three years at BC, made 532 total tackles, declaring for the draft a year early yet just 13 tackles short of the FBS record... At one point in his career, had recorded double digit tackles in 33 consecutive games; holds the Boston College and ACC single-season tackles record, which he set his sophomore year, then broke again his junior year, also broke the ACC career tackles record in just three years... Simply a ball hawk, always ends up near the play and finishes, has an incredible motor... Does not shy away from contact in any form, will take on blockers and wade through traffic at full speed to make a tackle... Has pretty good size for the position, looks like a good fit as a weak-side linebacker or on the inside in a 3-4... Is a cerebral linebacker, diagnoses plays very quickly and displays incredible instincts, shows great discipline and is rarely out of position... Wasn't perceived as the most athletic linebacker heading into the combine, but ran a 4.58-40 and ranked in the top five among linebackers in both the shuttle and three-cone drill; 38" vertical was third and 10'3" broad jump was fifth at the position... No durability issues to speak of, despite high motor and reckless abandon on the field... Has the potential to be a highly productive linebacker immediately in the NFL and his style of play would work best playing for a team with a very good defensive line... Winner of the Lombardi, Lott Impact, and Nagurski trophies as a junior.

Negatives -- Not a natural man-coverage backer, is not especially quick or agile with his back to the quarterback and isn't asked to cover a tight end or running back very often... Can get a little high at times when taking on blocks or forming up at the line of scrimmage, may have some difficulty taking down larger backs at the next level until he learns to play a little lower... On film, shows decent speed but is not a burner by any means, makes up for lack of elite straight line speed by always being in position... Not a natural pass rusher, rarely blitzes and lacks elite explosiveness when asked to rush the quarterback from the edge... Tackling numbers are out of this world but makes too many tackles after the runner has already picked up a good chunk of yardage... Isn't a downhill linebacker that will crash gaps and make plays at the line, his tackling numbers pile up by the amount of tackles he makes downfield... Kuechly is being touted by most as a first rounder because of his tackling numbers and incredible instincts but he doesn't appear to be anything more than an average athlete with below average strength on film.

At Boston College -- 2011: Made nine stops (6 solo), including one tackle for loss, in addition to breaking up one pass and returning one interception 45 yards for a touchdown at Miami... notched a game-high 14 stops (7 solo), including one tackle for loss, and broke up one pass at Notre Dame... posted a team-high 18 tackles (9 solo), including 1.5 tackles for loss, against NC State... served up a game-best 20 tackles (8 solo) versus Florida State... led all players with 12 tackles (7 solo), recording a tackle for a loss of six, returning an interception three yards and breaking up one pass at Maryland... made a team-high 19 tackles (3 solo) and hurried the quarterback twice against Virginia Tech... Tallied a team best 16 tackles at Clemson (11 solo), including 2.0 for a loss... tallied a team best 14 tackles (8 solo), including 2.0 tackles for loss... recorded 11 tackles against UMass, becoming the fifth Eagle and 32nd player from the ACC to register 400 career tackles... tallied a career-high 23 tackles (17 solo) against Duke... posted a team-high 17 tackles (12 solo) at Central Florida, including 0.5 tackles for loss (1 yard)... led BC with 18 tackles (9 solo) against Northwestern, including 1.5 tackles for loss (2 yards), and returned one interception for 23 yards. 2010: Became the 11th consensus All-America selection in Boston College football history when he was named to the Associated Press, Sporting News, Walter Camp, Football Writers Association of America (FWAA) and America Football Coaches Association (AFCA) All-America first teams... Bronko Nagurski Award finalist... runner-up for the Butkus Award... All-ACC first team honoree... as a sophomore, led the nation in tackles (183) and solo stops (110)... has registered 10 or more tackles in 22 consecutive games, the longest active streak in the nation... became the fastest Eagle to ever record 200 tackles, reaching the milestone in the 17th game of his career (avg. 12.3 tackles per game)... the only player in BC history to ever record 300 tackles in his first two seasons, doing so in his 23rd game (avg. of 13.2 tackles per game)... currently eighth on the BC all-time tackles list with 329... BC's all-time single-season leader in tackles with 183... started all 13 games at middle linebacker.

Bobby Wagner Scouting Report

Bobby Wagner – Utah State (HT: 6-0¼ – WT: 241)

Positives -- Plays much bigger than he is listed on paper... Great athleticism with the ability to play inside or outside linebacker... Excellent against the run with great vision and anticipation... A solid, reliable tackler who wraps up well... Great fundamentals and rarely if ever makes mental mistakes... A true field general that can understand complex defenses and get 10 other players in position... Scheme versatile, could play inside or outside in either an odd or even defensive scheme... High football intelligence and overall smart football player... Disciplined linebacker who is not easily fooled by play action and misdirection plays... Needs a little work dropping into coverage but has the tools to be successful given time... A consistent performer that will deliver leadership and solid numbers every game... Appears to have a reasonably high floor with the upside to be a starter for the next decade, deserves to be a second round pick... One of the biggest risers in terms of offseason stock... Was named Senior Bowl Defensive MVP; made a team-leading seven tackles and grabbed an interception in the North's 23-13 win.

Negatives -- Lacks elite size, will need to bulk up at the next level... Does not possess elite speed, more quick than fast... Not a pure pass rusher, much more suited to play middle linebacker... Not much experience with rushing the passer and too often opts to run around blockers... Did not play against elite competition in the WAC... Not a big play, bone crushing sack type of player; will not light up highlight reels... Missed the scouting combine due to pneumonia.

At Utah State -- 2010: Played in and started all 12 games during the 2010 season... Led the WAC and ranked tied for seventh in FBS with 11.1 tackles per game, ranking second in the WAC with 133 total tackles... Added eight tackles for loss with half a sack, as well as four pass breakups and one forced fumble... Had a WAC-best four 15+ tackle outings, including two 17-stop games, a 16-tackle game and a 15-tackle outing... Logged a total of seven double-digit tackle games, and had at least six stops in all 12 games... One of two career-best 17 tackles came against New Mexico State, earning WAC Defensive Player of the Week honors for first time of career... Added one catch for 11 yards on a fake punt play in Idaho game. 2009: Started all 12 games, one of four defensive players and one of eight players overall to do so... Led the WAC with 115 tackles (53 solo, 62 assists), for a 9.6 tackles per game average... In WAC only games, also led the league with 71 total stops (35 solo, 36 assists) for an 8.9 pg average which ranked 22nd in tackles in the NCAA Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS)... Added seven tackles for loss, two interceptions, two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery and one pass break-up... The 115 tackles ranks as the second-most by a USU sophomore, as Johndale Carty holds the top spot with 138 stops as a sophomore in 1996... Was the first sophomore to lead USU in tackles since David Gill's 89 stops led the 1994 Aggies... The 115 stops is the most by an Aggie defender since Robert Watts tallied 118 tackles in 2003... Posted six double-figure tackle outings, led by season-best 13 at Texas A&M and against Boise State... Added 12 stop each in Utah and BYU games, while logging 11 at New Mexico State and 10 against San Jose State... Tallied seven or more stops in 11 of the 12 games, with a season-low four stops coming at Fresno State.

Dont'a Hightower Scouting Report

Dont'a Hightower – Alabama (HT: 6-2¼ - WT: 265)

Positives -- Big body and strong build, is a very physical player with the frame to disrupt plays at the line of scrimmage, 4.68-40 at the combine was impressive for a thumping, 265 pound middle linebacker... Is not afraid of contact and is very intense on the field and at practice, can make explosive hits... Does not get out of position often, is rarely fooled by misdirection plays... Good at taking on blockers and not getting pushed away from plays, maintains hand control when being blocked, which allows him to get a hand on the ball carrier with a blocker in his face... Has experience blitzing off the edge, adequate at bull-rushing blockers into the backfield... Is good at using big frame to plug running lanes and take on blockers in the hole... Good leadership qualities, has the respect of his teammates for attitude both on and off the field... Diligent in the film room, knows where he is supposed to be and generally maintains responsibilities... Could also appeal to 4-3 teams looking for a strongside outside linebacker; has had a good offseason and should receive late first round consideration.

Negatives -- Durability a major concern, tore ACL in 2009, which is a worrisome injury for a player with his bulk... Can be slow to diagnose plays, but makes up for that flaw by knowing his assignments and sticking with them... Size and stiff hips a major drawback in pass coverage, decent in zone coverage, but not a man-to-man defender by any means... Doesn't play at the same speed on film as he ran at the combine, had drawn comparisons to former Florida and current New England Patriots linebacker Brandon Spikes who ran a 5.01-40 at his pro day prior to the 2010 Draft; does not go sideline to sideline very well, takes inconsistent pursuit angles that can take him out of plays... Not really a playmaker, and will most likely not make many game-changing plays in the NFL.

At Alabama -- Dont'a Hightower returns for his fourth season in Tuscaloosa after bypassing the NFL Draft for another season at the helm of the Tide defense in 2011... emerged as one of the stars of the 2008 freshman class, but a knee injury in the fourth game of the 2009 season ended his sophomore campaign... granted a medical redshirt after knee injury in 2009 will be a junior in 2011... a physically imposing linebacker with great speed and a nose for the football... has made 29 starts at linebacker while playing in 31 games... has 149 career tackles with 10.0 tackles for loss, one sack and 17 quarterback hurries... in 2008, earned first-team Freshman All-America honors by the Football Writers Association of America (FWAA) and was a second-team Freshman All-American by Sporting News... earned Freshman All-SEC recognition by Southeastern Conference coaches... selected for the team's Defensive Achievement Award, which goes to the underclassman who has played a critical role in the effectiveness of his unit... was one of 11 true freshmen to start a season opener since 1972 and one of 16 true freshmen on the 2008 team to see playing time... added the jack linebacker position to his arsenal in 2009 and provided the Tide with a more effective third down pass rush... won the Mal Moore Leadership Award following spring practice in 2010... in the spring of 2011, he won the Lee Roy Jordan Headhunter Award. 2010: Hightower returned to the field in 2010 after a season-ending knee injury against Arkansas in 2009... earned second-team All-SEC honors from the Associated Press and SEC coaches... finished second on the team with 69 tackles, including 30 solo stops... had nine quarterback hurries and three pass breakups... forced teams to be aware of his presence on every play... started the first three games at mike linebacker before sliding back over to his original will spot in the last 10 games and saw his production skyrocket.

Mychal Kendricks Scouting Report

Mychal Kendricks – California (HT: 5-11 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 239)

Positives -- Incredibly athletic football player who plays much bigger than his frame would suggest... Elite speed, ran a 4.47-40 at the combine, fastest of all linebackers... Excelled at the combine in every measureable category... Good initial burst and great straight-line speed; speed and athleticism make Kendricks the perfect type of linebacker to play the run... Very good in coverage despite his height; fluid hips to defend the pass and cover the new breed of tight ends in the NFL... Takes good angles to ball; solid tackler with the ability to lay a punishing crack at times... A disciplined linebacker who is not often fooled by play action... Great scheme and position versatility; fits in either an odd or even defense and started his career at California playing defensive end and outside linebacker... Competed against some of the nation's best on a weekly basis in the Pac-12... One of the clear winners of the offseason... Feels like a prototypical Pittsburgh Steelers pick in the second round.

Negatives -- Size is a concern, particularly the height... Is not an overpowering player and can get taken out of plays by above average offensive linemen... Needs to get stronger and bulk up, but this will likely result in a loss of speed... Not a pure pass rusher, is more of a one trick pony when playing outside... Would best fit at inside linebacker in the NFL and needs to seriously work on his pass rushing skills to play outside... Needs to learn to play more effectively with his hands when rushing the passer, gets caught up in the wash of blockers at times... Lacks elite instincts, can be overaggressive at times; leads to him playing out of position.

At California -- Played in all 51 games possible during his four campaigns at Cal from 2008-11 with 29 starts, with all of the starts coming in his final three seasons (2009-11)... earned several All-American honors as a senior, including second-team selections by Phil Steele and College Sports Madness... also a third-team All-American selection of Yahoo! Sports and an honorable mention pick of SI.com... named the Pac-12 Defensive Player of the Year and a first-team all-conference selection as a senior, after earning second-team all-league honors during his junior campaign... finished his career with 258 tackles to rank tied for ninth all-time at Cal, while adding 36.5 tackles for loss (-144 yards) to miss finishing among the school's all-time leaders by one-half of a tackle for loss... added 13.5 sacks (-98 yards), seven fumble recoveries, four interceptions that he returned for 130 yards and a touchdown, five pass breakups and a forced fumble... also had a punt return in which he was credited with 26 punt returns yards after he blocked a punt before teammate Bryant Nnabuife picked the ball up and ran 30 yards for a score vs. Colorado State in 2008, five pass breakups and a forced fumble... recorded at least 0.5 tackles for loss 24 times in his career, including in 19 of his final 25 games... played inside linebacker as a 2011 senior after spending most of his collegiate career as an outside linebacker. 2011: Played in all 13 games with 11 starts, leading the team in tackles with a career-high 106, while ranking fifth in the Pac-12 and tied for 76th nationally with his average of 8.15 stops per game... also led the team with 14.5 tackles for loss (-59 yards) for an average of 1.12 per game that was third in the Pac-12 and tied for 55th in the nation.

James-Michael Johnson Scouting Report

James-Michael Johnson – Nevada (HT: 6-1 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 241)

Positives -- Has good mix of size and speed, has prototypical frame and bulk for the inside linebacker position... Good production in two seasons as team captain at Nevada (188 tackles, four sacks, four forced fumbles, five pass break-ups)... No durability issues, did not miss any time due to injury in final four seasons... Does a good job reading the eyes of the quarterback in underneath coverage, shows surprisingly good change of direction ability when breaking on the ball in the air... Shows good pop with his hands at contact, uses hands well to disengage from blockers with longer arms... Can tackle with a lot of pop, is a good wrap-up tackler who has the ability to drag down larger backs or jar the ball loose at contact... Has experience at both inside and outside linebacker positions, versatility and experience could be big selling point in the draft... Has decent arsenal of pass-rushing moves from the inside, can shoot gaps effectively and mix in rip and swim moves when called for.

Negatives -- Has good upper-body strength but lacks elite fluidity and athleticism, appears inflexible and relies too heavily on trying to overpower blockers... Not an ideal cover-two linebacker, does not always get deep enough in middle-of-the-field zone coverage, range in pass coverage seems below average... Does not display very soft hands, ball skills are average at best for the position... Can get caught peeking in the backfield and get too easily blocked away from plays, allows blockers into his pads too often... Sometimes takes on blocks with the wrong shoulder giving up gap responsibility allowing for big plays... Gives up legs to blockers too easily, overly susceptible to cut blocks in the box... Takes inconsistent pursuit angle at times, seems to lack an elite motor, will sometimes give up on plays when away from the ball... Is not a unique player in any particular area of the game, has a relatively high floor but limited ceiling in the NFL.

At Nevada -- 2010: Was named a team captain in voting by his teammates and earned second-team All-WAC honors as a linebacker... Led the team and was among WAC leaders with 88 tackles on the year from his new middle linebacking spot after switching from the outside prior to the season... Set a career high with 10 tackles in a win at BYU... Eclipsed that with 11 tackles in a come-from-behind win at Fresno State... Notched 8.0 tackles for loss on the season, including 2.5 sacks for a loss of 17 yards... Forced three fumbles during the year and also recovered a fumble... Was credited with a pair of pass breakups... Had no fewer than four tackles in any game during the course of the season. 2009: Had a strong sophomore campaign, earning second-team All-WAC honors for the first time in his career... Started all 12 games at one of the outside linebacker spots and excelled with 57 tackles, including 11.5 for a loss... Started strong with 10 tackles at Notre Dame and had a TFL in half of the team's games... Notched second career interception with a pick against New Mexico State... Was credited with five pass breakups... Was a force in a victory over Fresno State, registering six tackles, including a career-high 4.0 for a loss... Named third-team Preseason All-WAC by Phil Steele's College Football Preview... Named second-team Preseason All-WAC by Athlon Sports. 2008: Recorded one of the best seasons among freshmen on the team... Was sixth on the team in tackles during the season with 49... Was third on the team in tackles for a loss with 12.5 for a loss of 32 yards... Had 1.5 sacks... Best game came at Louisiana Tech with nine tackles, including 2.5 for a loss... Notched first career interception at Hawaii... Forced a fumble against Idaho... Played in all 13 games with 10 starts.

Audie Cole Scouting Report

Audie Cole – North Carolina State (HT: 6-4½ – WT: 246)

Positives -- Very good production in last three years for the Wolfpack (267 tackles, 14 sacks, seven forced fumbles)... Is a smart, cerebral player, works hard and shows good instincts... Always makes a good second effort in pursuit, does not give up on plays until the whistle... Has good body control, rarely plays out of control and knows when to switch gears to close in on a quarterback or ball carrier... Is an above-average pass defender, can cover a lot of ground, keeps feet under him and looks relatively quick in his backpedal, could be an adequate deep-middle defender in a Tampa-2 defense... Toughness one of his greatest attributes, has never had any major injury issues, was a boxer in high school (also played basketball and baseball)... Has never had any off-the-field issues, no character concerns to speak of, talks and plays like a natural leader inherent of the middle linebacker position... Although explosiveness is below average, does show good athleticism in general.

Negatives -- Has just average speed and quickness, is a little lumbering in pursuit, will miss out on plays to the edge because of poor angles... Plays a little high at times, has good height, but needs to play with a lower center of gravity... Will get pushed around too often when getting blocked, needs to improve upper body strength, does not use a lot of leverage when taking on blockers, gets pushed away from too many plays... Overall body and hip flexibility is below average... Needs to do a better job of driving feet when tackling, more of a drag-down tackler... Will likely need to make a transition to SLB in the NFL, a year removed from playing the position in college... Played strictly 4-3 inside linebacker at N.C. State, will have to get past the learning curve if he is to play in a 3-4 at the next level.

At North Carolina State -- 2010: Tied for the team lead in tackles with 97, his 10.5 tackles for loss ranked third among Wolfpack players... Played the SAM linebacker spot, he moved to middle linebacker in the spring and will start there in 2011... Led the defense with 809 snaps from scrimmage... ## Travis Lewis Scouting Report

Travis Lewis – Oklahoma (HT: 6-1 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 246)

Positives -- Makes plays from sideline to sideline, almost always knows where to be during plays, has a nose for the football and finds ways to get to the ball carrier... Excellent in coverage, has fluidity and quickness to cover a lot of ground, and possesses good coverage instincts as well... Takes good angles both at the snap and in pursuit, will not give up on plays when away from the ball... Shoots gaps with a lot of explosiveness and will often pull blockers off their assignment to get a body on him... Just a generally disruptive player for opposing offenses, game translates well to solid production at next level... Diagnoses plays fairly quickly, is rarely fooled by misdirection or screens... Flashed some good athleticism playing at 230 lbs. at Oklahoma but bulked up prior to the combine which may have negatively impacted his speed... Excellent leader, plays with intensity and desire and sets a good example for his teammates... Extremely productive in his four seasons at Oklahoma, led the team in tackles each season and set freshman school records for most tackles in a season (144) and a game (19).

Negatives -- Can be a little overaggressive when taking on blocks, gets locked up by blockers and is often unable to disengage... Is not a big hitter, will wrap up and bring ball carriers down, but does not possess explosiveness to drive many back at contact... Not much of a pass rusher, although probably won't be expected to blitz much on passing downs in the NFL... Can get bottled up at the line of scrimmage fairly easily, too small to demand multiple blockers' attention... Is coming off the worst season of his collegiate career, finished with 84 tackles but reached double digits in only one game and recorded just one sack; missed one game due to a broken foot at the start of this season but the injury clearly plagued him all year and hurt his draft stock in the process... His disappointing season carried over to the combine, added nearly 15 pounds which might improve his inability to shed blockers, but ran just a 4.88-40 and might fall to day three.

At Oklahoma -- 2010: Starting weakside linebacker in all 14 games; team's leading tackler with 109 stops... All-Big 12 second team by AP and coaches... third on the team with three interceptions... produced three takeaways in the Big 12 Championship vs. Nebraska with one interception and two fumble recoveries... double-digit tackles in four games (14- Iowa State, 13- Air Force, 10-Texas, 10-UConn)... owns second-best career tackle total during the Stoops' era with 362... tied OU record for career interceptions by a linebacker with eight... Academic All-Big 12 (second team). 2009: All-Big 12 first team by the coaches, Kansas City Star, Oklahoman and Phil Steele and second team by AP, Dallas Morning News, Fort Worth Star-Telegram and Waco Tribune Herald... All-Big 12 Academic second team... team's leading tackler for the second consecutive year... Oklahoma's leading tackler in seven games... had double-digit tackles in five games to give him 11 for his career... led all linebackers with 9.5 tackles for loss... forced a fumble against Idaho State and picked off a pass vs. Tulsa... registered nine tackles and one interception in Sun Bowl win over Stanford. 2008: Big 12 Defensive Newcomer of the Year by the AP and Kansas City Star and Big 12 Defensive Freshman of the Year by the coaches... All-Big 12 first team by the AP, Dallas Morning News, Kansas City Star and San Antonio Express News and second team by the coaches... broke Brian Bosworth's freshman season tackles record of 144... tied Bosworth's record for tackles by a freshman in a game with 19 against Texas... hit double-digit tackles in six games... second on the team with four interceptions and led team with 108 interception return yards... also second on the team with 11.5 tackles for loss... picked off two passes against Kansas State.

Emmanuel Acho Scouting Report

Emmanuel Acho – Texas (HT: 6-1 $\frac{5}{8}$  – WT: 238)

Positives -- Very versatile; lined up all over for the Longhorns and made plays no matter where he was on the field... Gets to the ball with an absolute grace; it seems that he just glides to the ball and makes plays... Excellent open field tackler; can sit back in a zone defense, react to the play and then get the ball... High football IQ; a lot like a coach on the field, knows where everyone is supposed to be in the front seven and can adjust to whatever formation the offense comes out in... Takes good angles to the ball; very crisp, and hits like a truck... Has a long frame that suggests that he has room to get bigger and become more of a complete player... Arm length helps him fend off blockers and even reach out and make tackles when he's engaged... Very sound player; good fundamentals, shows good form in almost everything that he does... Solid blitzing; he won't be a 10 sack guy but he can get after the quarterback... Very tough player, played through injuries and knows the difference between injured and hurt.

Negatives -- If he wants to play middle linebacker he's going to need to gain 10-15 pounds... Has the ability to be really good but hasn't shown that in college; a lot like a NBA draft pick in terms of being drafted strictly on his measurements and what he could become... Struggles when running plays come right at him, but adding weight would help him with this... Relies too much on his arms when is being blocked; doesn't really know how to actually get completely free and won't be able to make some of the athletic plays that did in college... Does a lot of things well but doesn't excel in any specific area.

At Texas -- Ended his career having played in 48 games, including 26 starts... graduated in December, 2011 with a degree in sports management... posted 278 tackles (159 solo), 41 TFL, eight sacks, seven forced fumbles, three fumble recoveries, two INTs, 13 PBU and 26 pressures for his career... named a finalist for the 2011 Lott IMPACT Trophy, Lowe's Senior CLASS Award and Wuerffel Trophy... was also a William V. Campbell Trophy semifinalist and National Scholar-Athlete candidate... named to the 2011 AFCA Good Works Team and the Capital One Academic All-District 7 team... 2011 first-team All-Big 12 selection (Coaches, AP, Houston Chronicle, San Antonio Express-News, Fort Worth Star-Telegram) and second team All-Big 12 (Kansas City Star)... led the team with 131 tackles and 19 tackles for loss to go with three sacks, one caused fumble, 18 quarterback pressures and six pass breakups in 2011... earned All-Big 12 in 2009 and 2010... a three-time first-team Academic All-Big 12 selection... a second-team All-Big 12 selection in 2010 after registering 87 tackles (49 solo), three sacks, 12 TFL, two forced fumbles, one fumble recovery, one INT, six PBU and five pressures... an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection in 2009 after recording 49 tackles (36 solo), 10 TFL, two sacks, three forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries, an INT, a PBU and three pressures... saw action in 10 games as a true freshman with 11 tackles and a forced fumble... was ranked as one of ESPN's top 150 national prospects.

Jerry Franklin Scouting Report

Jerry Franklin – Arkansas (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 241)

Positives -- One of the better put together inside linebackers of the draft class... Plays better inside and is able to attack with a purpose between the tackles... Goes through blockers instead of avoiding them, can create piles when he gets downhill... A tackling machine; very productive four-year starter, led the Razorbacks in tackles in each of the previous four seasons, including 201 tackles combined over the past two years... Closes well on the football and can be physical when needed... Able to drop into coverage from his linebacker position and does a good job of finding players in his zone... Plays better in coverage at times and is able to plant and get to plays in front of him... Creates good depth in his drop and has a good feel for his job in a zone coverage scheme... Didn't receive an invite to the combine but ran a 4.63-40 at his pro day.

Negatives -- Despite playing on the inside, is more of a drag down tackler than a wrap up and drive to the ground player... Struggles in space and can be exposed by speed, does not change direction well especially in one-on-one situations... Not a great sideline to sideline type player; has to play in-between the tackles to be effective... Doesn't have the fast twitch ability that inside backers should have to put a big hit on ball carriers, lacks explosion... Needs to trust his reads and get to the football, can help himself out if he can get this part of his game refined... Needs to work on his overall strength, needs to be able hold up against lead blockers and setting the edge in the run game... On plays away, he has issues planting and redirecting when needed, looks stiff in the hips... Only plays with one speed, doesn't have enough of the extra gear needed for an NFL middle linebacker... Will have to be put into a system that keeps him between the tackles.

At Arkansas -- 2010: He was named to the Butkus Award Watch List and started all 13 games for the Razorbacks and was named second-team All-SEC by the conference's coaches. He led the team and ranked 10th in the SEC with a career-high 100 tackles, becoming just the second Razorback since 1960 to lead the team in tackles three straight seasons. He also led the team and tied for seventh in the SEC with a career-high 13.0 tackles for loss and tied for the team lead with five quarterback hurries. He ranked second on the team and eighth in the conference with 6.5 sacks, another career high, while adding two pass breakups and one forced fumble. He was named SEC Defensive Player of the Week on Nov. 22 following his 20-tackle performance, which included a career-high-tying 2.0 tackles for loss and 1.0 sack, in Arkansas' 38-31 double-overtime victory at No. 22 Mississippi State. His 20 tackles were the most in the SEC and tied for the fifth-most in the NCAA in 2010. The career-high total was the most at Arkansas since 2002, the second-highest against an SEC opponent and 10th-highest overall in school history, as well as the highest for any Coach Petrino-led team. He recorded eight tackles and added 0.5 sack in Arkansas' 31-24 win at Georgia. Franklin recorded 11 tackles vs. No. 1 Alabama. He made 10 stops, including 2.0 for loss and a career-high 1.5 sacks, at No. 7 Auburn. He had nine tackles, including 1.5 for loss, with one quarterback hurry and one pass breakup in the Razorbacks' 38-24 win vs. Ole Miss. He made seven tackles, including 1.0 sack, in UA's 58-21 win vs. UTEP. Franklin recorded seven tackles, 0.5 for loss, and one quarterback hurry in the Allstate Sugar Bowl vs. No. 6 Ohio State.

Tank Carder Scouting Report

Tank Carder – TCU (HT: 6-2 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 236)

Positives -- The kind of player that you would go to war for; can't say enough about the leadership that he provides... Was given the responsibility of calling some plays during his senior year... Non-stop motor; seems to never get tired and will always be around the football... Attacks the line of scrimmage like he's being asked to run through a brick wall; will stop at absolutely nothing to make a tackle for a loss... Very good short area quickness; is up there with any linebacker in his first two steps... Quality tackler; shows good form and hits very hard... A throwback type of player, a lot like the 1930s with the passion that he shows on the field... Really caught the eye of the nation when he was named defensive MVP of the 2011 Rose Bowl in TCU's victory over Wisconsin... Will be one of the hardest workers on any team as soon as he gets drafted.

Negatives -- He really needs to get into the weight room and get stronger if he wants to hold up for the grind that is the NFL season... His aggressiveness can be a problem because he has a tendency to overrun plays... Not an elite athlete; there are guys everywhere that are bigger, faster and stronger... Will provide very little in terms of rushing the passer, just not something that he should be asked to do... It's entirely possible that Carder has reached the pinnacle of his career and he has no room left to grow as a player... Injury concerns are a huge question mark; broke his back in college and suffered numerous nicks during his college career... Will not be able to cover tight ends down the field; in fact if anything the only position he could cover is fullback... Not a sideline to sideline type of player; needs to play strictly between the hash marks.

At Texas Christian -- 2011: A CBSSports.com second-team All-American... received third-team All-America honors from the Associated Press while being a fourth-team selection by Phil Steele Publications... Mountain West Defensive Player of the Year for the second straight season and a first-team All-MW selection... played in the East-West Shrine Game... invited to the NFL Combine... started all 13 games... totaled 70 tackles, including 4.5 for loss... the 70 stops were just two behind Kenny Cain for the team lead and gave him 228 career tackles, the most by a Horned Frog since former linebackers Jason Phillips (315, 2005-08) and Robert Henson (272, 2005-08)... both of his interceptions were returned for touchdowns, collecting a 69-yard effort against Colorado State and a 26-yard scamper versus Portland State... became TCU's career leader with three interception returns for touchdowns... his 69-yard return against Colorado State was TCU's longest pick for a score since 2004... led the Horned Frogs with nine tackles against the Rams to collect MW Defensive Player of the Week honors... tallied at least five stops in eight of the 13 games with a season-high nine tackles against BYU and Colorado State... closed his career with four stops and a pass breakup in the Poinsettia Bowl victory over Louisiana Tech. 2010: started all 13 games on the season... anchored a Horned Frog defense that led the nation in total defense (228.5 yards) for the third straight year... totaled 60 tackles, including 9.5 for loss and 3.5 sacks... the 60 tackles gave him 158 career stops and the lead among active Horned Frogs.

Vontaze Burfict Scouting Report

Vontaze Burfict – Arizona State (HT: 6-1 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 248)

Positives -- Pretty good production in three years at Arizona State (228 tackles, seven sacks, four forced fumbles, one interception)... Has very good size for the position, can hold up against bigger blockers and is strong enough to take down larger backs... Has good pre-snap instincts, likes to jump snap counts and explode into the backfield... Likes to hit, plays with good lower-body explosion, drives through tackles to finish off ball carriers... Very intense player, does not shy away from contact, plays with a very high motor... Scrapes pretty well through traffic, uses athleticism and quickness to get around blockers while keeping eyes on ball carrier... Is instinctive in most aspects of the position, maintains gap responsibilities and doesn't often bite on play action... Plays well in short zone coverage, but does not look as comfortable playing man-to-man, appears best fit to play the middle of the field in a Tampa-2 scheme... Is one of the more intimidating inside linebacker prospects in recent memory, plays with a mean streak and his intense playing style has drawn comparisons to Ray Lewis... Is versatile enough to play in multiple schemes in the NFL, has a reasonably high ceiling if he can keep his head on straight.

Negatives -- Does not always wrap up well when tackling, sometimes relies on lowering shoulder to deliver crushing blow, but will miss tackles by not breaking down and playing with more control... Lack of mental discipline can be apparent at times, maturity level has been questioned in the past, was in head coach Dennis Erickson's doghouse all season and didn't see the field for long periods of time due to lack of discipline and mental toughness... Plays a bit high, has a high center of gravity, which leaves him susceptible to cut blocks... Still a little raw in several areas, overall technique can be sloppy at times, needs to play with more control; his play coincides with his emotions and it gets him in trouble, committed 17 personal fouls in 35 games according to ESPN's Todd McShay... Tackles with his head down a little too often, will miss tackles in the open field when he doesn't keep his head up... Awareness in coverage can improve, pays a lot of attention the action in front of him but can miss receivers working the zone behind him... His combine workouts were terrible (5.09-40, 8'8" broad and 30" vertical) and he blamed college coaches for his poor junior season in interviews, a draft day slide to day three seems inevitable... Reportedly, teammate Brandon Magee had always made sure Burfict was properly positioned on the field and made him aware of assignments and Magee underwent surgery for a ruptured achilles in August and missed the entire season.

At Arizona State -- Three-year member of the Sun Devil football team... three-year letterman... made 228 career tackles, including 22.5 for loss (77 yards)... had seven career sacks (50 yards)... broke up 12 passes in his career, forced four fumbles and recovered three... earned the starting middle linebacker spot in the fourth game of his freshman season. 2011: Played in all 13 games, making 12 starts... tied for second on the team in tackles with 69, including 40 solo... added seven tackles-for-loss, including five sacks... collected his first career interception in a win over then-No. 23 USC on Sept. 24... also had a fumble recovery and three pass breakups on the season... recorded three sacks for a loss of 20 yards in the season opener vs. UC Davis on Sept. 1... had five solo tackles, including a 14-yard sack, and a pass breakup in a win over then-No. 19 Missouri on Sept. 9... tied his season-high with nine tackles, including four solo, at Illinois Sept. 17... made a team-leading nine tackles vs. Colorado Oct. 29... recorded six tackles, including five solo and a six-yard sack, at UCLA Nov. 5... collected seven tackles, including five solo, vs. Arizona Nov. 19... had five solo tackles and a fumble recovery at Washington State Nov. 12... had a pair of pass breakups vs. Oregon State on Oct. 1... had seven tackles at then-No. 9 Oregon on Oct. 15... made five tackles at Utah Oct. 8... totaled five tackles, including four solo, vs. Cal on Nov. 25... Butkus Award Semi-Finalist... named to a number of award watch lists, including Chuck Bednarik, Bronko Nagurski, Rotary Lombardi and Walter Camp... member of numerous preseason first-team All-American teams, including Phil Steele, Lindy's, Athlon and the Sporting News. 2010: Followed up freshman year with an equally impressive sophomore season... appeared in every game, starting all but one... led strong ASU defense with 90 tackles, including 54 solos... added 8.5 tackles for loss for minus 18 yards.

Shawn Loiseau Scouting Report

Shawn Loiseau – Merrimack (HT: 6-0½ – WT: 231)

Positives -- A dominating presence at the linebacker position; flies from sideline to sideline with impressive game speed... Diagnoses plays quickly and has a good first step to react... A punishing tackler that can jar the ball loose with a well placed hit... Plays well against the run and pass, possesses above average ability to penetrate into the backfield... Has the versatility to play middle linebacker in either a 4-3 or 3-4 defense... The true definition of a gym rat; will spend countless hours working to improve his game... Most likely a late round selection but will deliver steady special teams production and serve as a worthy developmental linebacker... Plays with the high motor coaches love, does not quit until the whistle is blown... Is a Brian Cushing type player, high motor and high impact player that a defense can rally around.

Negatives -- At just six feet, size will be a concern for some teams... Played Division II college football which produces very few NFL caliber talents... More concerning than the Division II may be the reason he was overlooked by Division I teams; had an off the field incident his junior year in high school where a boy ended up in a coma and Loiseau was charged with assault... Is a raw player that will need time to develop the finesse required in the NFL... Playing in Division II makes him much more of a projection at this point as no one is quite sure how he will fare against bigger and faster players... Does not appear to have much in the way of coverage skills, may end up only being a two down player.

At Merrimack -- 2010: Started in all ten games... Named Preseason All-American by Consensus Draft Services... Was named 2nd team All-American by Don Hansen and honorable mention All-American by D2 football... Northeast-10 defensive player of the year and 1st team All Conference performer... ## Najee Goode Scouting Report

Najee Goode – West Virginia (HT: 6-0 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 244)

Positives -- Good movement skills for his size; plays well against the run, fills gaps quickly and can flow from sideline to sideline... Good football instincts; can diagnose plays quickly and react... Very strong player; has no trouble disengaging from blockers... Solid in coverage, does a good job of staying with tight ends and gets good depth in zone coverage... Can disrupt tight ends at the line of scrimmage and throw off timing routes... Performed well at the combine, surprised many with a good 4.64-40 and a 35.5" vertical... Solid and consistent production the past two years from one of the better programs in the Big East... Fits as an inside linebacker in either a 3-4 or 4-3 defense... Good bloodlines, father John played in the NFL for the St. Louis Cardinals and Philadelphia Eagles... Good intangibles; leader of the West Virginia defense.

Negatives -- Speed doesn't translate on the field, doesn't appear to have great quickness or pass rush skills, only had eight career sacks at West Virginia... Struggles as a wrap up tackler and tries too often to go for the big hit rather than wrapping up... A run stuffer with little experience as a blitzing linebacker... Not an overly instinctual player... Hesitates upon ball being snapped, needs to develop a quicker first step... Allows blockers to set up play and then reacts, needs to work on disrupting plays before they fully form.

At West Virginia -- 2010: Played in 13 games and started 11... No. 26 in the Big East in tackles for loss per game... WVU Defensive Champion: USF, Louisville... ## Chris Galippo Scouting Report

Chris Galippo – USC (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 241)

Positives -- Started off and on for three seasons at Southern California; versatile player who can play inside and outside linebacker... Better playing between the tackles, and is best when he is asked to attack downhill... Has a good motor and is able to get to the ball carrier; will do everything to get to the football... Has good instincts and a high football IQ, is always in good position to make the play... Run thumper that excels getting downhill between the hashmarks to deliver a big hit to the back in the hole... Decent footwork for a linebacker, doesn't take unnecessary steps... Former blue-chip recruit who never really put it all together at USC, but at worst can contribute on special teams if healthy at the next level... Had one of the top short shuttle times amongst the linebacker grouping at the combine with a time of 4.10 seconds.

Negatives -- Not a prospect that really stands out on film, was underwhelming at times; injuries have slowed him in five seasons with the Trojans... Doesn't do well in pass coverage, can be taken advantage of because of lack of acceleration and redirection skills... Lacks the feel for what receivers are trying to do in the pass game, just doesn't possess what is needed to be efficient in coverage... Has issues in space and lacks true mobility to make plays... Average at best running down ball carriers in pursuit, lacks straight line speed... Needs to improve ability to shed blocks, gets blocked too easily; needs to improve his overall strength to be a factor at the next level... Was passed up by younger players at USC for playing time, mostly because of injury.

At Southern California -- 2010: Galippo started the second half of his 2010 junior season and also was a key special teams performer. Overall in 2010 while appearing in all 13 games, he had 29 tackles, including 2 for losses (with 1 sack), plus 2 interceptions and a team-high 3 forced fumbles. He started 7 games, including 2 (California, Oregon) at weakside linebacker and the final 5 (Arizona State, Arizona, Oregon State, Notre Dame, UCLA) at middle linebacker. ## Max Gruder Scouting Report

Max Gruder – Pittsburgh (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 235)

Positives -- Decent size for an inside linebacker and has some room to add more weight... Has played the Mike, Will and Sam positions in college... Does a good job of reading and reacting and puts himself into position to make plays... Is most successful when he plays in the middle of the field, can rack up the tackles in a hurry... A good tackler; solid wrap up tackler who uses his long arms to his advantage... Led the Panthers in tackles with 116 as a senior; had just three games in 2011 with less than eight tackles... Does well in zone coverage; is able to make plays when the action is in front of him... Uses his vision well to see plays develop in the run and pass game... Looks best in man coverage and does a good job of understanding what receivers are trying to do in their routes... A very good student who has been honored multiple times on the Big East All-Academic Football Team.

Negatives -- Lacks the strength to anchor when taking on lead blocks, needs to be more physical at the point of attack; lack of overall strength is apparent... Plays too high, leaves himself vulnerable to being blocked with ease... Has to learn to use his hands and play off blocks better... Doesn't possess the sideline to sideline speed needed to close on ball carriers consistently; lacks that second gear to run down the action... Ran just a 4.98-40 at his pro day... Lacks the pop that is needed from an inside linebacker... Has trouble planting, redirecting and flipping his hips; lacks ideal depth in his drops.

At Pittsburgh -- 2010: Started all 13 games, including the final 11 at middle linebacker... took over the MLB role full-time following the season-ending injury to Dan Mason in the Sept. 23 Miami game (Gruder started the initial two games at Sam LB)... had 84 tackles, one TFL assist, two fumble recoveries, one forced fumble and one interception... had career-high 13 tackles at Notre Dame... had 11 tackles at Connecticut... had a fumble recovery and an interception in the opening quarter at Cincinnati... the Panthers converted both turnovers into touchdowns and a 14-0 lead... recovered a fumble on Rutgers' opening drive of third quarter (forced by Jarred Holley) at the Scarlet Knights' 43 that Pitt parlayed into a TD and 21-14 lead it would not relinquish. 2009: Finished as the team's leading tackler with 91 stops in his first year as the starting Will linebacker... also had 4.5 TFLs, a sack assist, four PBUs, a fumble recovery and forced fumble... earned Pitt's Most Improved Defensive Player award for the 2009 season... for the Meineke Car Care Bowl against North Carolina, moved to Sam linebacker in place of ailing starter Greg Williams and had a game-high 11 tackles matching his season high... forced a fumble against the Tar Heels that was recovered by teammate Jarred Holley... Pitt parlayed the turnover into a field goal... named to Sporting News' All-Bowl Team... also had a season-high 11 stops against Notre Dame... had 10 stops with a TFL and two PBUs at Rutgers... had nine stops with a TFL at Louisville.

Courtney Upshaw Scouting Report

Courtney Upshaw – Alabama (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 272)

Positives -- Excellent production as a pass rusher in the last two seasons (104 tackles, 32.5 of those for loss, 16.5 sacks, six forced fumbles)... Has great size to play outside in a 3-4 scheme, and could also be capable of rushing off the edge in a 4-3 due to athleticism and quickness, versatility is a big plus... Is a smart player and hard worker, shows a willingness to be a team player and improve in a lot of areas... Has a pretty good repertoire of pass-rushing moves, can be seen making combination moves and setting up power/speed-rushing moves throughout the course of games... Hits with a lot of force, can wrap up and drive through most ball carriers with relative ease, drives feet at contact on most occasions... Shows good discipline and instincts, rarely gets out of position and is good at maintaining containment off the edge... Although base 3-4 teams will show interest in Upshaw due to his size and pass-rushing abilities (along with experience at the 3-4 OLB position), might be best suited with his hand in the dirt at the DE position, shows more explosion and a quicker first step from a three-point stance... High motor and versatility make him an intriguing prospect and will likely be one of the first pass rushers off the board in the 2012 Draft.

Negatives -- Has great bulk to play in a 3-4 behind a two-gap scheme, but height is a slight disadvantage, can lose sight of the ball carrier behind taller defensive linemen... Has decent speed for his size, but can look rather slow and lumbering at times, especially in pursuit... Has shorter arms than one would hope for in an edge rusher, will struggle against offensive linemen who can get into his pads at contact... Is not a quick-twitch athlete, lacks elite burst and agility, but does display a high motor and good second effort... Does not have a ton of experience in pass coverage, has good hip flexibility for his size, but is not well-suited for man-to-man coverage and can be a liability when asked to drop into coverage... Can be a little slow off the snap, is sometimes standing completely upright surveying the offense when the ball is snapped... Was arrested in 2009 for minor violent offense... Sat out Alabama's pro day due to knee tendinitis, according to CBS Sports' Rob Rang.

At Alabama -- 2011: Courtney Upshaw is one of the premier pass-rushing outside linebackers in college football... first-team All-American by the FWAA, Sporting News, CBSsports.com, SI.com and ESPN.com... second-team All-American by Walter Camp and the Associated Press... finalist for the Lombardi Award, which goes to the nation's best linebacker or interior lineman and the Butkus Award, which goes to the nation's best linebacker... semifinalist for the Chuck Bednarik Award... ranks second in the SEC and tied for 14th nationally with 17 tackles for loss (-85 yards)... has a team-best 8.5 sacks (-57) yards, which ranks tied for fourth in the SEC and tied for 18th nationally... has 16.5 career sacks and is a first-team midseason All-American by SI.com, Sporting News and ESPN.com while CBSsports.com and Phil Steele listed him as a second-team midseason All-American... was a preseason first-team All-SEC selection... has 45 tackles in 11 starts and a team-high 11 quarterback hurries... a forced fumble on a sack in back-to-back weeks vs. Mississippi and Tennessee... has multiple-sack games vs. Mississippi and Auburn... has posted at least one sack in five of his last seven games... five-time Defensive Player of the Week by the Alabama coaching staff. 2010: Upshaw developed into the Crimson Tide's most dangerous pass rusher as the season progressed after recovering from an early season high ankle sprain... started 11 games and saw action in all 13... started the opener against San Jose State and made one tackle before injuring an ankle... finished the season with 52 tackles, including 51 in the final 10 games... led the team with 14.5 tackles for a loss of 69 yards, including a team-high seven sacks (-40)... in the last two games of the season against Auburn and Michigan State, Upshaw recorded an astounding 15 tackles, including six tackles for loss (-48 yards) and five sacks (-36 yards) while forcing three fumbles... named SEC Defensive Player of the Week following the Florida game.

Lavonte David Scouting Report

Lavonte David – Nebraska (HT: 6-0<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 233)

Positives -- A rare linebacker who excels in coverage, very good at covering running backs that try and sneak out of the backfield... Size allows him to cover tight ends and some receivers over the middle while still being able to take guys out of the backfield... NFL ready, may take the field on week one with the starting job fully entrenched... Knows his role on the field, doesn't try to do too much; this allows him to thrive in whatever role is asked of him that week... Textbook tackler, shows good form and take good angles; rarely over pursues plays... Shows nice technique when sealing the edge on running plays despite being undersized; can hold his own on bigger blockers freeing up others to go to the ball... Work ethic is off the charts, will put in whatever time is needed to become a better player and it shows on the field... Can play in a zone defense, very good at reading and reacting to different situations... Very productive in college; named an All-American in 2010, where he set the Nebraska school record with 152 tackles and was also selected All-Big Ten in 2011... Finished career with 285 tackles in only two years at Nebraska.

Negatives -- Just average size for a linebacker, would get swallowed up as a 3-4 inside linebacker and isn't big enough to play on the edge in that scheme... Doesn't show much as a pass rusher, more of a coverage player who once in a while can get past lineman on passing plays... Can't break off of lineman while pass rushing, the bigger guys just thwart any move that he tries... Can be a little too aggressive on play fakes; tendency to get caught up on the fake and allow guys to get by him... Can be outmuscled by bigger tight ends during one on one situations... Strictly a 4-3 linebacker.

At Nebraska -- 2010: David posted 152 tackles in his first season to set a Cornhusker single-season record for tackles, surpassing Barrett Ruud's 149 tackles in 2003. David had eight games with double-figure tackle totals, including three games with 15 or more tackles. His 10.9 tackles per game ranked atop the Big 12 and 11th nationally. David was second on the team in sacks with six for 50 yards, tackles for loss (15-60) and pass breakups (10). David was a unanimous first-team All-Big 12 choice and Defensive Newcomer of the Year by nearly every outlet that chooses a team, while The Kansas City Star tabbed him as its Defensive Player of the Year. David also earned recognition at the national level as Rivals.com and CBSSports.com both named him a first-team All-American and the Associated Press and SI.com listed him as a second-team All-America pick. David stepped into the starting lineup in the opener against Western Kentucky and recorded a team-high 13 stops. He had seven tackles and a 13-yard sack a week later against Idaho, then had a tackle for loss, two hurries and a breakup at Washington. David had a career-high 19 stops against South Dakota State, the most tackles by a Husker since 2004, and the seventh-most in school history. He added two breakups in the contest. David eclipsed double figures for the third time in 2010 at Kansas State, finishing with a game-high 16 tackles. He earned Big 12 Defensive Player-of-the-Week honors for his performance, which included 10 solo tackles and two tackles for loss, including a seven-yard sack. He reached double figures in tackles for the third straight game against Texas, finishing with 10 stops, including a tackle for loss and a hurry. David had eight tackles each against Oklahoma State and Missouri, and added an 11-yard sack against the Tigers. He had 10 tackles and a tackle for loss at Iowa State, then collected a team-high 10 tackles, including two sacks for eight yards, as Nebraska limited Kansas to 87 total yards. David had a career-high four tackles for loss and a sack at Texas A&M, as part of 14 total tackles. After recording eight tackles against Colorado, David had a game-high 17 tackles in the Big 12 title game, including 11 solo stops.

Zach Brown Scouting Report

Zach Brown – North Carolina (HT: 6-1¼ - WT: 244)

Positives -- Adequate size as a 4-3 outside linebacker, has a solid frame and room to add some bulk... Has excellent speed for the position, ran a 4.50-40 at the combine... Maintains gap responsibilities fairly well, does not get out of position often, shows good discipline in run defense... Is quick to get to the football when dropping into short zone coverage, takes pretty good pursuit angles in open space... Keeps head up in pursuit, has good vision when scraping through traffic... Is not afraid to take on blockers, has the ability to run through receivers to get to the football... Has long arms and uses good leverage when taking on bigger blockers... Does a good job of keeping eyes in the backfield when getting blocked... Had a terrific 2011 campaign and showcased playmaking ability with 5.5 sacks, 13.5 tackles for loss, three forced fumbles and three interceptions... Set the UNC indoor 60-meter dash record at 6.72 seconds as part of the Tar Heels track team in 2009... Is an exceptional athlete, albeit a bit raw, but he's a workout warrior with upside and he might even sneak into the end of the first round.

Negatives -- Is a little undersized to play outside in a true 3-4 defense, needs to add a little bulk... Attempts to arm tackle too often, tends to lunge at times and not form up... Will over-pursue on stretch plays and screen passes... Needs to work on breaking down when tackling... Agility and footwork are not as solid as speed and explosiveness, will miss tackles in open space... Needs to work on hand control when taking on bigger blockers, does not get pushed around easily, but also struggles to disengage too often... Needs to get quicker at diagnosing plays and reacting, instincts have been compared to Aaron Curry's and that's no compliment... Needs to work on pass coverage skills, will bite on play-action passes regularly... Is still a very raw talent, may need some NFL coaching to become a consistent contributor at the next level... Is a better athlete than football player; has a high ceiling but might never reach it, a big risk but potentially high reward type, especially in the first round.

At North Carolina -- 2010: Despite starting just five games, Brown finished second on the team with 72 tackles... Also had three interceptions for 113 yards... Played in all 13 games and made starts against LSU, Clemson, ECU, Virginia and Tennessee... Earned enough points to be named a special teams captain... Carolina awards points throughout the year on special teams and the player(s) with the most points are named captains... Was pressed into the starting job after Quan Sturdivant injured his hamstring in the Rutgers game and started the Tennessee game after Bruce Carter went down with an injury... Posted four tackles, including one tackle for loss, and had one interception for 43 yards in Carolina's Music City Bowl win over the Volunteers... Had three tackles in Carolina's 24-19 win at Duke... Posted two stops against NC State... Assisted on two tackles against Virginia Tech... Posted four tackles in a 37-35 win at Florida State... Had five tackles, including three primary stops, in the win over William & Mary... Posted his third-straight double-digit tackle game by matching his career-high with 14 tackles at Miami... Had a career-best 11 primary stops against the Hurricanes and assisted on a tackle for loss... Recorded 10 tackles and returned an interception 70 yards to set up a UNC score in Carolina's first win at Virginia since 1981... Started and had 14 tackles, including 10 primary stops, in a big win over Clemson... Recorded three tackles in the win over East Carolina... Had five tackles in the win at Rutgers, playing significant minutes late in the game... Had two tackles vs. Georgia Tech... Started and had four tackles vs. LSU in the Chick-fil-A Kickoff Game.

Sean Spence Scouting Report

Sean Spence – Miami (FL) (HT: 5-11 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 231)

Positives -- One of the most athletic linebackers in this year's draft class, has fluidity, speed and quickness in nearly every facet of the game... Flies all over the field, plays with intensity and passion for the game, willingness to give effort not an issue... Excellent production in last two seasons at Miami (217 tackles including 31 for a loss, 5.5 sacks, three forced fumbles)... Is an elusive player in traffic, is shifty enough to avoid blockers and stay with the ball carrier... Is a very heady player, reads and diagnoses quickly, shows good awareness and the willingness to put in time studying opponents... Has not had any major character issues, is a hard worker and a good leader... Excels in short zone coverage, has good instincts and the ability to anticipate throws, reads the quarterback's eyes and gets to the football... Although not especially good at driving through tackles, has a good amount of pop at impact, shows the ability to knock the ball loose at impact... May find best fit as a cover linebacker on passing downs, NFL coaches should be intrigued by coverage ability, could see immediate playing time on passing downs and special teams.

Negatives -- Below average height for an NFL linebacker, is also very thin, definitely needs to bulk up to ensure durability and productivity as an every-down player at the next level... Does not fit the mold of durable NFL linebackers, is more of a tweener prospect, fit and versatility a bit of a question mark, there were some rumblings prior to this season that he may project better as a strong safety at the next level... Has good coverage skills but only picked off one pass in his four-year career at Miami... Will likely have issues with tackling in the NFL, is not a drive-through tackler, wraps up too high at times and will struggle to bring down larger backs in open space... Gets blocked away from plays far too easily at times, simply lacks the upper-body strength to out-muscle blockers, can get sucked up at the line of scrimmage and taken out of plays... Not a versatile pass rusher, is very quick off the snap and can beat some slower tackles on the edge, but does not display a very versatile array of pass-rushing moves.

At Miami (FL) -- 2011: Played and started in eleven games on the season after missing the season opener... Led the team and tied for fifth in the ACC with 106 tackles... Finished his career with 47 tackles for loss, which ranked second among active NCAA players, including 14.0 in 2011... Earned ACC Linebacker of the Week honors three times during the season... Named a semifinalist for the Butkus Award, given to the nation's top linebacker... Recorded a season-high 14 tackles three times - against Kansas State, North Carolina and Boston College... Led the team with 10 tackles against then-No. 20 Georgia Tech... Recorded 13 tackles and two tackles for loss against then-No. 21 Virginia Tech... Named to the All-ACC First Team... Four-year letterman. 2010: One of seven Hurricanes to start all 13 games... Second on the team and fifth in the ACC with 111 tackles... Had a team leading 16 tackles for loss, fourth most in the conference... Recorded a season-high 14 tackles against Clemson, with a fumble forced and 1.5 tackles for loss... Recorded a season-high three tackles for loss against Georgia Tech... Named the team's co-MVP at the Canes annual awards banquet... Named second team All-ACC. 2009: Missed three games late in the season with an injury... Despite playing in only 10 games on defense, ranked fifth on the team with 6.5 tackles for a loss... Recorded 36 total tackles (19 solo, 17 assists) on the year... Tallied a team-high 10 total tackles (five solo, five assists) in win over then-No. 8 Oklahoma.

Ronnell Lewis Scouting Report

Ronnell Lewis – Oklahoma (HT: 6-1¾ – WT: 253)

Positives -- Has an excellent frame for the linebacker position, has good bulk and very impressive upper body strength, put up 36 reps of 225 lbs. at the combine... Is an extremely violent hitter, makes contact with a lot of explosiveness, can deliver the knockout blow and jar the football loose... Shows the potential to be a very good pass rusher at the next level, is quick off the snap and shows good explosiveness off the edge, displays a decent variety of pass-rushing moves... Has a very high motor, flies around the field to get to the ball carrier, scrapes through traffic well at the line of scrimmage... Is a hard worker and good character guy, plays with a lot of heart and intensity... Can be a valuable special teams performer in the NFL, played a lot of special teams at Oklahoma, very good on kick coverage... Has experience at both defensive end and outside linebacker, versatility will be a big plus for a lot of teams employing hybrid systems, although Lewis seems more adept at the OLB position.

Negatives -- Injuries have plagued Lewis throughout his career, including a knee injury two seasons ago... Tends to lead with his helmet when hitting head-on, needs to work on tackling technique or injuries will continue to hurt him... Production has not been all that great in three years at Oklahoma, best season was 2011 during which he recorded only 60 tackles; did record 5.5 sacks, however... Is still a very raw player, needs some experience under his belt to refine his game, instincts are a little below average... Plays out of control at times, has a lot of speed and athleticism, but needs to learn when to dial it back to secure the ball carrier or keep contain... Not much of a pass defender, lacks hip flexibility and fluidity in coverage, will not be able to hold up to most tight ends and backs in man-to-man coverage... Status before 2011 season was in question because of academic issues.

At Oklahoma -- 2010: Shifted to a defensive end/linebacker hybrid position... started the final four games... collected career-high eight tackles at Oklahoma State... followed up that performance with seven tackles vs. Nebraska... returned first career interception 12 yards for a touchdown at Baylor... had sacks vs. Utah State, Nebraska, Cincinnati and UConn... recovered a fumble vs. Utah State. 2009: Enrolled in the spring of 2009... tied for team lead (with Austin Box) with 11 special teams tackles... made start in Sun Bowl against Stanford and finished with with six tackles, 0.5 for loss, one fumble forced and one pass deflection... recorded a safety with a sack in the end zone against Idaho State... finished the game with a career-high four tackles, two of which went for loss... recovered a fumble against Texas A&M as a member of the kick cover squad... also forced a fumble vs. Baylor... led the team with three special teams tackles against Kansas. High School: SuperPrep All-American... PrepStar All-American top 250 nationally... first-team Tulsa World All-State... unanimous first team Oklahoma all-state on both sides of the ball... selected to Participate in the ESPN Under Armor All-Star game... first annual small school Mr. Football Oklahoma... rushed for 2,219 yards on 150 rushes with 33 touchdowns in 2008 along with 156 tackles... picked off 11 passes on defense and added 2,000 yards and 40 rushing touchdowns as a junior. Personal: Made the transition from eight-man football in high school to 11-man on the collegiate level... multidisciplinary studies major.

Bruce Irvin Scouting Report

Bruce Irvin – West Virginia (HT: 6-3 – WT: 245)

Positives -- Exactly what you look for in terms of size and speed for a 3-4 outside linebacker... His first step is fantastic and any wasted motion by an offensive tackle means that Irvin will be right around him... Has the strength to bull rush also, catches some tackles off guard when he goes right for them instead of around like most scouting reports and film lead them to believe... Uses leverage very well, knows he's outweighed by players and his superior athleticism allows him to be the low man... Once he puts it all together 12-13 sacks a year isn't out of the question; just oozes of potential... Has had to earn every opportunity that he has received and is a better person for it... Immediate impact as a situational pass rusher... If a defensive coordinator can tap into his potential then he could be one of the better pass rushers in the league... Ran a 4.50-40 at the combine, was part of the defensive line grouping but only California's Mychal Kendricks ran faster than Irvin among linebackers.

Negatives -- Doesn't have experience in the 3-4 defense; played defensive end in the 4-3 at West Virginia but is undersized for that position in the NFL... Tries to jump the snap too often; falls for a hard count way too often, a good quarterback will recognize this and use it all day... Doesn't have the bulk to be in during running situations, gets taken out of plays by lineman and sometimes doesn't show an interest in making a play... May be resorted to only being a pass rusher like Aaron Maybin; lacks the lower body strength to be an every down linebacker... Very raw, will either make or a break his position coach and defensive coordinator; could be a star or out of the league in four years... Recently arrested for destruction of property and could see his draft stock drop as a result... Didn't face the best competition and may struggle facing guys that have been around the block.

Demario Davis Scouting Report

Demario Davis – Arkansas State (HT: 6-2 – WT: 235)

Positives -- Scouts will fall in love with him on game tape, just seems to make plays all the time... Plays fast, always seems to be on the attack; plays with great explosion and has a first step that rivals any outside linebacker in this crop... Always seems to be near the ball; it sometimes feels like it has a tracking device in it and Davis always knows where it is... Takes solid angles when going after a ball carrier, can run down faster guys because of this... Very good at tackling; shows good form and drives through the opposition... Can also deliver big hits over the middle, shows good pop and can knock balls loose that aren't secured completely... Shows good versatility, can play either linebacker position in the 4-3 without a drop off in production... Excellent at filling in gaps and plugging the run, uses his hands to disengage blockers and his size-speed combination to make the plays... Very good at using his hands to shed blockers, seems to have violent arm action that is unstoppable... Good instincts; excellent reactions to his surroundings... Is rising up the charts because of his film and production... Tons of upside, can be groomed to be any type of player the coach wants.

Negatives -- Tends to be too aggressive, needs to show better patience and not get caught up by his first instinct... Struggles with pass coverage, needs to learn the basic fundamentals and how to play the ball without going through the man... Since his pass coverage is suspect he won't get too many interceptions... Level of competition could impact how much immediate playing time he gets once he steps on the practice field... Not going to get too many sacks; much more a read and react player than a blitzer.

At Arkansas State -- 2010: First Team All-Sun Belt Conference... Named Sun Belt Conference Defensive Player of the Week on Nov 2 ... Named a College Football Performance Awards Honorable Mention Linebacker of the Week... ## Terrell Manning Scouting Report

Terrell Manning – North Carolina State (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 237)

Positives -- Great first step, begins with plenty of explosion; good overall athlete with impressive agility, above average sideline to sideline speed, ran a 4.71-40 at the North Carolina State pro day... Very fluid hips, especially for 237 pounds; has the ability to turn to and cover the new breed of hybrid tight ends... Plays well in coverage and has the versatility to also rush the passer... Not just a one trick pony, has multiple moves to use against blockers... Can play right now as an outside linebacker in a 4-3 or a smaller inside 'backer in a three man front... With some added bulk, Manning could be a dangerous pass rusher from the outside in a 3-4... He could go earlier than most are projecting him due to his outstanding overall athleticism... Can be a solid contributor on special teams as he works his way up the defensive depth chart.

Negatives -- Needs to bulk up and get stronger at the next level... Needs to take better angles at the line of scrimmage... Not a punishing tackler, struggles to wrap smaller players up at times; will often be the first guy to reach the ball carrier but will end up not making the tackle... Gets taken out plays too easily by average blockers... Is not an elite prospect, possesses limited upside... Inconsistent production, dominated games with double digit tackles, yet had games where he is completely irrelevant against lower competition... Is being labeled as just a 4-3 weak side linebacker, which will hurt his draft stock... Missed two games early in the season with a knee injury; also suffered a knee injury in the final game of his high school career, forcing him to redshirt the 2008 season with the Wolfpack... He has the physical tools to succeed but durability could be a question mark.

At North Carolina State -- 2010: Hard-hitting linebacker who ranked fourth on the team in tackles with 76 for the season, tied for second in sacks and had two caused and two recovered fumbles... Led the team in tackles in the season opener with 10 against Western Carolina... Tallied 11 tackles for loss in his first year as a starter, he manned the weak side... Sacked the quarterback in the endzone for a safety to preserve the win over North Carolina... Forced a fumble and picked off a pass at Clemson. 2009: Started the Duke and Florida State contests... In for a season-high 48 snaps at Wake Forest, his eight tackles at Florida State was his high in that category... Also caused a fumble against the Seminoles. 2008: Redshirted the season as he rehabbed from knee surgery suffered in the last game of his prep career. Prep: A preseason All-American who recorded an impressive 219 tackles, five sacks, three interceptions, four forced fumbles, two fumble recoveries, three quarterback pressures, three passes broken up and one blocked kick as a senior for Coach Mark Barnes... Named conference defensive player of the year, all-conference and all-region after his senior year... A four-star prospect and the No. 6 weakside linebacker by Scout.com... Rivals.com ranked him as a four-star recruit, the No. 15 outside linebacker in the nation and the No. 3 player in North Carolina... Two-time most outstanding defensive player at Scotland HS... Earned all-conference and all-region honors after collecting 130 tackles, three interceptions and three fumble recoveries as a junior... Named second-team junior All-American after his junior season... Also named all-conference after his sophomore season... An Africana studies major.

Nigel Bradham Scouting Report

Nigel Bradham – Florida State (HT: 6-1 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 241)

Positives -- A solidly built, well put-together player; a 4-3 weakside linebacker who is not afraid of contact... Has good sideline to sideline speed and it shows in pursuit, can get to the action in a hurry... When he gets a chance to put a hit on a ball carrier he makes it count; possesses the ability to inflict pain when he attacks downhill... Wraps up ball carriers with a purpose and takes them down to the ground consistently... Plays low when he is attack mode and is able to sift through blockers... Quick enough to go around blockers... Does a good job of getting inside-out on run plays and get to ball carriers... Good in zone coverage, is able to find his spot and feel receivers' routes... Still a very raw football player but has the skill set to be a contributor at the next level... Led the Seminoles' in tackles for three consecutive seasons.

Negatives -- Has a tendency to play out of control and take unnecessary penalties, and has a bad habit of leading with the crown of his helmet... Despite a good first step, has trouble diagnosing plays; has slow read time when watching plays develop... Will have to play tougher when taking on blocks, needs to learn to go through blockers instead of running around them... Takes too many false steps rather than getting downhill with his first step... Has issues in the open field covering faster backs, tight hips slow him down when he has to redirect in the open field... Always seems a step behind in coverage and can be exposed in one-on-one situations... Needs to improve his awareness on the field in regards to reading and reacting to the play.

At Florida State -- 2011: Anchor of the defense who earned All-ACC honorable mention in helping FSU rank as the No. 4 defense nationally - second-best defense against the run and No. 20 in pass defense... named a team captain, one of three defensive Most Valuable Players and the recipient of the Bill McGrotha Humanitarian Award at the team's annual banquet... closed final season with 86 tackles while also leading FSU in tackles in 2009 (93) and 2010 (98)... led the Seminoles with nine tackles in their 18-14 Champs Sports Bowl win over Notre Dame, including his second interception of the season, which led to FSU's go-ahead TD in the fourth quarter... had a career-best 13 tackles against Virginia... made 10 tackles, forced a fumble, recovered a fumble and had a half-tackle for loss against Miami... had a career-best two tackles for loss at Wake Forest... led FSU in tackles versus Boston College (seven) and at Duke (eight) and tied for team-lead versus Maryland (seven)... had eight tackles at Clemson... tied for team-lead with nine stops versus Oklahoma and added an interception... finished with 39 career starts, including his final 37 games... participated in December 2011 graduation commencement... was a preseason candidate for the Bednarik, Nagurski and Butkus awards... one of six Seminoles to earn community service awards at the conclusion of spring practice. 2010: Weakside linebacker who led the team in tackles for a second consecutive season... a 14-game starter, who totaled 98 tackles (54 solos), including 5.5 tackles for loss... ranked 11th overall in the ACC in tackles... established a new single-season high with five sacks on the season, which ranked third on FSU's nation-leading sack unit... recorded a season-high 10 tackles twice, against Boston College and North Carolina, with six solo stops in each game... also recorded nine-tackle games against NC State and Maryland... returned a blocked PAT for a two-point conversion against Virginia Tech in the fourth quarter of the ACC Championship game.

Keenan Robinson Scouting Report

Keenan Robinson – Texas (HT: 6-3 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 242)

Positives -- Has ideal size for the outside linebacker position playing behind a gap-control three-man front, has the height to see over linemen and follow the ball carrier behind his blockers... Has good speed and above-average quickness for his size, possesses a good mix of athleticism and strength... No character concerns to speak of, has had no off-the-field issues, works hard and shows dedication to the game... Very good production in last two years at Texas (204 tackles, three sacks, four forced fumbles, two interceptions, eight passes broken up)... Coverage skills are more than adequate, plays well in short zone coverage, has the size and fluidity to run with most tight ends... Shows ability to move laterally with ease, has fluid footwork and natural instincts to avoid traffic, scrapes well across the line of scrimmage, has the potential to be a complete sideline-to-sideline defender... Looks to be an ideal fit at the SLB position, is at his best when he is free to roam a little, can cover a lot of ground in coverage and pursuit... Has the potential to make an immediate impact at the next level given the right fit.

Negatives -- Is a little thin for his height, has the frame to bulk up a little... Not especially explosive in any area of the game, has good athleticism but does not drive through tackles or overpower blockers... Is not a natural pass rusher, is more comfortable reading and reacting to plays than being cut loose to get after the quarterback... Not great at shedding blocks when engaged, has long arms and shows good hand control, but doesn't play to his weight room strength to disengage when blocker gets into his pads... Plays a little high at times, has a high center of gravity and will lose leverage to blockers with better technique... Is an inconsistent tackler, will get too high at times and fail to wrap up in space.

At Texas -- Played in 51 games, including 39 starts, at outside linebacker over his five-year career... graduated in December, 2011 with a degree in applied learning and development... posted 317 tackles (172 solo), 5.5 sacks, 25 TFL, 14 pressures, two INTs, two fumble recoveries, three forced fumbles and 14 PBU for his career... 2011 second-team All-Big 12 (Coaches, San Antonio Express-News, Fort Worth Star-Telegram) and honorable mention (AP)... 2011 Holiday Bowl Defensive MVP... 2011 Butkus Award semifinalist... named to the watch lists for the 2011 Bednarik Award, Nagurski Trophy, Lombardi Award and Butkus Award... started all 13 games in 2011, recording 106 tackles, 10 tackles for loss, one sack, one safety, 13 pressures, seven pass breakups and two caused fumbles... started all 12 games at linebacker and appeared on special teams in 2010... a second-team All-Big 12 selection... posted 113 tackles (61 solo), eight TFL, two sacks, two INTs, two fumble recoveries, one forced fumble, two PBU and one TD... started 14 games at outside linebacker in 2009... an honorable mention All-Big 12 selection in 2009... compiled 74 tackles (42 solo), 1.5 sacks, five TFL, a pressure and four PBU... appeared in 12 games at outside linebacker in 2008... notched 24 tackles (16 solo), a sack, two TFL, a pressure and a PBU... graduated with a degree in physical culture and sport with a minor in business.

Josh Kaddu Scouting Report

Josh Kaddu – Oregon (HT: 6-2¾ – WT: 239)

Positives -- An athletic player with good quickness and power; attacks downhill with good initial burst and a good first step... Plays best in space with his ability to make plays in the open field... Consistent player in pass coverage where he can utilize his athleticism... Also very fluid in pursuit, can make it look easy at times; good burst and closing speed to put himself around the football... Uses his length well to control blocks, can keep himself clean and play off blocks... Very versatile player, can play on the line of scrimmage, rush the passer and cover tight ends... Plays with a high motor, doesn't give up on plays... Was a two year starter for the Ducks at Sam linebacker; recorded a combined 16 tackles for loss and nine sacks over the previous two seasons... Might be over-drafted due to his athletic ability.

Negatives -- Has the athletic ability to develop into an adequate pass rusher, but isn't quite there yet... Needs to improve his pass rushing techniques at the next level, is unpolished compared to most pass rushers at this point in their careers... Is overly dependent on his athletic ability, but needs to develop better instincts to take that next step as a NFL player... Doesn't always see the play as it develops; can be slow to locate the football and has some trouble setting the edge... Inconsistent hand usage and placement to get off blocks... Plays too high at times, can be washed out of the play; overall strength is lacking... Looks like a fit in a 4-3 only; is scheme limited and will need to play on special teams early in his career.

At Oregon -- 2011: All-Pac-12 first team (Pac-12 coaches, Phil Steele)... Started all 14 games at Sam linebacker... Second on the squad with 6.5 sacks... One tackle in win over Wisconsin in the Rose Bowl... Had six tackles in win vs. UCLA in the Pac-12 Championship Game... ## Kyle Wilber Scouting Report

Kyle Wilber – Wake Forest (HT: 6-3¾ – WT: 249)

Positives -- Good physical prospect with a decent amount of upside... Great size and arm length (33¾"); plays well with long arms, is able to wrap up well... Good instincts and explosion, has a quick first step for a player of his size... Good closing speed on ball carriers and can deliver a memorable pop... Great effort player, is not taking plays off or quitting once the play looks beyond his reach, plays to the whistle... Versatile player, Wake Forest moved from a 4-3 to a 3-4 defense prior to his junior season; Wilber played on the line in both three and four man fronts, and also played OLB in a 3-4... Has the measurables and physical tools to play as a 3-4 defensive end... Reminds me of Paul Kruger (Ravens DE-LB); not asked to play the traditional 3-4 DE role but can mix and match in different scheme... Overall not a tremendously flashy player, but a worthy addition in the middle rounds.

Negatives -- Was asked to play OLB in a 3-4, but is clearly not a successful conversion prospect... Ran a disappointing 4.86-40 at the combine... Very stiff hips; turn and run/coverage skills are poor to the point that he struggles greatly even in drills (see combine footage)... Has no business being a coverage linebacker in the NFL... Not an elite production player, coaches will need to rely on Wilber creating opportunities for other players... Needs to develop more as a defensive line player; plays too high and needs to develop a stronger and more consistent punch against blockers... Will need to learn to set and hold the point to create lanes for other pass rushers.

At Wake Forest -- 2010: Started all 12 games...

Was the starter at defensive end and then moved to outside linebacker when Wake moved to a 3-4 defense... Finished third on the team with 65 total tackles... Led the Deacons with 14.5 tackles for loss and 6.0 sacks... Ranked second on the team with four pass breakups... Ranked tied for second in the ACC in fumbles forced (0.25/gm), tied for fifth in tackles for loss (1.21/gm), 10th in sacks (0.5/gm) and 35th in tackles (5.4/gm)... Tied for 33rd nationally in tackles for loss and tied for 76th in sacks... Led Wake Forest with three forced fumbles... ## Brandon Lindsey Scouting Report

Positives -- Good quickness, plays much faster than the 4.93-40 he ran at the combine... Very quick first step and has effective speed to get around the edge on blockers... Above average range and lateral agility, allows him to make plays from sideline to sideline... Knows how to effectively play with his large hands, both in pass rush and pass defense... Smart football player with good recognition skills for the play action and screens... Good motor, plays hard through the whistle... Versatile player, has been asked to play defensive end and outside linebacker both as a pass rusher and coverage linebacker... Playmaker with a nose for the football; hard to quantify ability but makes a lot of plays being in the right place at the right time... Not an overly flashy player but should deliver consistent production if given the opportunity.

Negatives -- Needs to get stronger right away if he is going to have any success in the NFL... Too often is taken out of plays by blockers, needs to learn to shed blocks better... Not strong enough to play defensive end in the NFL, will need to develop into a rush linebacker... Undersized frame allows blockers to take Lindsey out of the play with one powerful push... Has quickness but needs to develop better reaction time, specifically with the ball snap... Is waiting to see the ball being snapped before begins his pass rush, needs to learn to anticipate the snap in order to win the edge against NFL blockers... A good athlete that will be labeled a tweener by many teams, and may struggle to find a position in the NFL, didn't look very good at 4-3 OLB during Shrine practices and might be considered as a 3-4 OLB only.

At Pittsburgh -- 2010: Earned second team All-Big East... led the Big East in tackles for loss (1.38 TFLs/game) and ranked second in sacks (0.77 sacks/game)... nationally, Lindsey ranked 16th in sacks (tied) and 16th in tackles for loss... on the season he totaled 51 tackles, 17.5 TFLs, 10 sacks and three forced fumbles... stepped into prominent role at DE with the injured status of Greg Romeus... had six tackles (matching his career high) in three separate games... had five tackles with a career-high three sacks vs. Rutgers... had four total TFLs and a forced fumble vs. the Scarlet Knights... had six tackles and two TFLs vs. West Virginia... had six tackles at Connecticut, including a four-yard sack and forced fumble vs. the Huskies... had five tackles and two TFLs vs. Louisville... had a seven-yard sack vs. FIU, forcing a fumble to set up Pitt's final TD... had six tackles in the regular-season finale at Cincinnati. 2009: Played in all 13 games as a top reserve at defensive end... compiled 18 tackles, 5.5 TFLs and four sacks... had a career-high six tackles and two sacks vs. Syracuse... also had sacks against USF and Buffalo. 2008: Played in seven games as a reserve linebacker and special teams contributor to letter. 2007: Redshirted as a true freshman.

Tyler Nielsen Scouting Report

Tyler Nielsen – Iowa (HT: 6-3 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 237)

Positives -- Does surprisingly well in pass coverage, was used to cover slot receivers and did a very nice job for the Hawkeyes... Uses his hands well on bump and run coverage, his size causes problems for the smaller receivers and he has little trouble knocking them off balance when he makes contact... Does very well at locating the ball in the air and can makes plays on it... Is physical on coverage, but not enough to where it draws flags... Does a very nice job in a zone defense, very good at reading the quarterbacks eyes and getting to the receiver... Takes good angles when pursuing a ball carrier down the field, can chase faster players down... Sound tackler, shows good form while wrapping the player up and driving him to the ground... Can play on special teams, has the straight line speed that could have a nice impact on kick and punt coverage... Very smart player, knows where he is supposed to be at all times... Was a three down linebacker in college.

Negatives -- Does not play the run well, not very good at attacking the ball downhill and has the tendency to run himself out of plays... Doesn't have the lateral agility to go sideline to sideline; his hips get tight which cause his tackling form to become sloppy and he's unable to finish plays... Not physical when it comes to taking on offensive lineman, totally overmatched when trying to shoot gaps and is met by a guard... Really needs to toughen up; sometimes it feels like he doesn't like to hit and that's a big problem, especially for a linebacker... Not a good pass rusher, shows no aggressive arm movement to get a blocker off of him... Suffered a broken vertebra in his neck in 2010, needs to show teams that the injury is behind him and it won't hamper his career down the line.

At Iowa -- 2011: Started all 12 games in which he played... recorded 34 solo tackles and 39 assists, including four tackles for loss and one QB sack... also had two recovered fumbles, one one forced fumble, one pass break-up and one QB pressure... started at outside linebacker in triple-overtime loss at Iowa State, recording four solo tackles, one assist and a recovered fumble... started at outside linebacker in 31-27 win over Pittsburgh, but saw limited action recording one solo tackle... started at outside linebacker in 45-17 win over Louisiana-Monroe, recording two solo tackles, one assist and a pass break-up as defense allowed just 59 net rushing yards... started at outside linebacker in 13-3 loss at Penn State, recording two solo tackles and one assist... started at middle linebacker in 41-31 win over Northwestern, moving inside from normal OLB position... recorded career-high 12 tackles vs. Northwestern, including five solo stops and seven assists... started at middle linebacker in 22-21 loss at Minnesota, recording two solo tackles and four assists... started at middle linebacker in 24-16 win over 13th-ranked Michigan as defense allowed just 323 yards total offense... recorded career-high 13 tackles vs. Wolverines, including seven solo stops... also had two tackles for loss and a QB sack, causing and recovering a Wolverine fumble that led to an Iowa field goal... started at middle linebacker in 37-21 loss to Michigan State... recorded five tackles vs. MSU, including one tackle for loss... started at middle linebacker in 20-7 loss at Nebraska, recording one solo tackle and career-best 10 assists... started at middle linebacker in Insight Bowl loss to Oklahoma, recording four solo tackles and four assists as defense allowed just 275 yards total offense.

Miles Burris Scouting Report

Miles Burris – San Diego State (HT: 6-1 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 246)

Positives -- Has impressive straight-line speed for a player of his size; uses a good first step to gain the edge on left tackles... Impressive ability to diagnose plays, very disciplined defender that recognizes reverses and screens at an above average rate... Great instincts and exceptional motor, flies around the field and does not stop before the whistle... A very reliable tackler, uses solid fundamentals and wraps up any ball carrier in his path... Has a matured nastiness, not afraid to put a hard hit on players and instill some intimidation, but is smart enough to know when to unleash this side and not receive penalties...

Displayed the scheme versatility to play defensive end or outside linebacker in a 4-3 in college and has the skills to play both positions in a 3-4... Will compete for a starting job depending on which team takes him; regardless, will be a solid special teamer at a minimum... Resembles Ryan Kerrigan as a player on film, not the greatest physical tools but uses his motor and intelligence to make tons of plays.

Negatives -- Lacks elite size for the position(s), will need to bulk up for the NFL... Not a pure pass rusher, more in the tweener position and body type... Struggles in coverage against tight ends which he will be asked to do in the NFL... Did not play against NFL caliber players at San Diego State, makes his ability to compete at the next level more of a projection... Is being projected by some as a 3-4 inside linebacker which he has never played before; may need to learn an entirely new position... Ability to diagnose plays does not transfer well into the passing game, will need to put in some serious film room time to develop coverage instincts.

At San Diego State -- 2010: Named a first-team all-Mountain West Conference selection by the coaches and by Phil Steele Magazine... Team co-defensive player of the year... Led the MWC in sacks (t-22nd nationally) and tackles for a loss (t-11th) and was second in fumbles forced (t-15th)... In league-only outings, had four more tackles for loss and two more sacks than any other MWC player... His 9.5 sacks tied for seventh in Aztec season history and are the most by an SDSU player since 1999... Ranked No. 1 on the team in tackles with 80... Made his 13th consecutive start at linebacker in the opener, coming away with four tackles, including one for a loss of seven yards... Tied for team game high in tackles with eight at New Mexico State... Forced his first career fumble in the fourth quarter at No. 25 Missouri, while also adding 1.5 tackles for loss... Tallied a sack in the win over Utah State... Standout effort in the MWC opener with BYU recording a pair of sacks, forcing a fumble and ending up with six tackles overall... Reached the 100-career tackle mark against the Cougars... Four stops in the win over No. 23 Air Force... SDSU's leading tackler at New Mexico, posting eight with two TFLs and a sack... Another sack at Wyoming, logging four solo tackles overall... Had a monster game vs. CSU, posting career-high marks in tackles (10), sacks (2.0, tied), tackles for loss (4.0) and forced fumbles (2) to earn MWC defensive player-of-the-week honors... Recorded nine tackles, including two for a loss and a sack at TCU... Had a game-high eight tackles vs. Utah... Recorded a team-best seven tackles, including 3.5 for a loss and 1.5 sacks, against UNLV... Made six total tackles with one TFL in the Poinsettia Bowl win over Navy.

Darius Fleming Scouting Report

Darius Fleming – Notre Dame (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 245)

Positives -- Good size and body frame with some natural pass rush ability; has the bend to routinely turn the corner as a pass rusher, and also shows good closing speed to finish plays... Plays with good pad level, stays low when he is on the attack... Has some good strength and has the ability to bull rush offensive tackles... Displays good pursuit on ball carriers, and shows the ability to move laterally down the line of scrimmage... Scheme versatile, played with his hand in the dirt and stood up at times at Notre Dame... Looks best suited for a 3-4 outside linebacker; best fits his size and skill set... Works hard when he is on the football field to create pressure and collapse the pocket with his tenacious play... Had cramped up and ran unimpressive 40-times at the combine, but responded with a 4.52 and 4.57 on two attempts at his pro day.

Negatives -- Doesn't look suited to play outside linebacker in a 4-3 scheme, has that tweener label after playing both DE and OLB for Notre Dame... A liability in pass coverage and struggles playing in space; gets lost in coverage, has a hard time figuring out routes... Doesn't have much of an arsenal of pass rushing moves, can be neutralized by NFL offensive linemen... Has trouble getting off blocks, needs to improve shed ability when engaged with blockers... At the point of attack, loses more often than he wins; plays soft, plays too high and can easily be pushed past the action... Run defense needs work, has some trouble setting the edge, not the type of guy you want playing regularly in running situations... No part of his game really stands out, he has flashed some potential as a pass rusher but the other parts of his game are below average.

At Notre Dame -- 2010: Saw action in all 13 games of the season... one of 11 players to start all 13 games for the Irish this season... collected 49 total tackles, including 27 solo and 22 assisted stops... led the Irish in tackles for loss with 11.0 (50 yards) and sacks with six (40 yards)... collected one solo tackle against Purdue... tallied six tackles, including a pair of solo stops, and two pass breakups against Michigan... added six more tackles, including four solo stops, and two for loss (both sacks) versus Michigan State... recorded four tackles, including one for loss against Stanford... registered six tackles, three solo, and one and a half for loss (both sacks) in the victory over Pittsburgh... recorded his first career interception against Western Michigan; also added a pass breakup... also added a half sack versus the Broncos for a loss of six yards... contributed five tackles against Navy... recorded two sacks for a loss of 12 yards and four tackles against Tulsa... posted three solo stops, including one for loss, in the victory over Army at Yankee Stadium... recorded a career-high tying seven tackles, including a career-best five solo stops, in the regular season-ending victory at USC... added one tackle for loss against the Trojans... helped the Irish defense allow just two offensive touchdowns over its last four games of the regular season (Tulsa, Utah, Army and USC)... the Irish rush defense was dominant over its last three games of the regular season (victories over Utah, Army and USC), limiting the Utes, Black Knights and Trojans to an average of 93.3 yards on the ground... recorded three tackles, including two solo stops, with a tackle for loss and one pass breakup in the victory over Miami (Fla.) in the Hyundai Sun Bowl... totaled 728 snaps on defense.

Danny Trevathan Scouting Report

Danny Trevathan – Kentucky (HT: 5-11 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 237)

Positives -- Good speed and quickness from the inside, does a nice job in pursuit from sideline to sideline, has a high motor and relentless attitude; was a defensive leader for the Wildcats... When asked to attack downhill, has some good explosion and can close on the run... Not afraid of contact, very active between the tackles... Takes good angles to the football... Has a good feel in traffic to find the ball carrier, can slip blocks and sift through traffic... A sure tackler, though not a thumper, but he gets the job done with good technique... Has shown he can make plays in the open field and does so consistently... Does a decent job in his drops, gets to his zone effectively... Also has a little pass rush ability off the edge and up the middle, can get off the snap well and can close on the quarterback in a hurry... Led the SEC in tackles for two straight seasons, including 143 in 2011.

Negatives -- A little undersized for an inside linebacker, has to prove this will not be an issue at the next level... Is easily knocked off balance and exposed when he needs to move laterally, also can get moved with relative ease if he gets locked up with an offensive lineman... Has to improve hand placement and do a better job of keeping blockers off his body... Gets in trouble when he doesn't work downhill, gets caught flat footed at times... Needs to trust his game, shows flashes but has to be more consistent with reads, reaction and pursuit... Awareness in coverage is lacking, has a bad habit of turning his head away from the line of scrimmage and losing sight of the football or receivers in his zone.

At Kentucky -- 2010: Earned first-team All-America honors from College Football News and was a first-team All-SEC choice by multiple selectors... Led the SEC in tackles with 144, an average of 11.1 tackles per game... Averaged 11.5 tackles in SEC games... Second in the SEC in fumbles caused with four... Also led UK with 16 tackles for loss and was third in the SEC in that category... Tied for the team lead with three sacks... Had double-digit tackles in 10 games, including the last nine games... Led UK in tackles in 10 games, including a career-high 17 tackles vs. Auburn... SEC Defensive Player of the Week in the season opener when he had 11 tackles and 3.5 for loss vs. Louisville. 2009: Played in all 13 games, starting six... Named UK's Most Improved Defensive Player as chosen by the coaches... Team's second-leading tackler with 82 stops... Made a career-high 14 tackles in the win at Auburn... Also hit double figures with 10 vs. Alabama... Recovered a Georgia fumble at the 1-yard line in the fourth quarter of UK's upset of the Bulldogs... Notched eight tackles, one for loss, and caused a fumble vs. Clemson in the Music City Bowl... 2008: Saw action in all 13 games... Was a mainstay on special teams... Totaled five tackles... Blocked a kick against Georgia that set up a Wildcat touchdown. High School: High School: Athletic linebacker whose speed and playing intensity have drawn comparisons to UK All-SEC linebacker Wesley Woodyard... Three-year starter for Leesburg (Fla.) HS, helping the team go to the state playoffs all three seasons... Third-team all-state, covering all classifications, by the Florida Sportswriters Association... Named first-team All-Central Florida by the Orlando Sentinel... Senior statistics included 117 tackles, seven tackles for loss, 5.5 quarterback sacks, two fumble recoveries (one returned for a touchdown), and three caused fumbles.

Adrian Robinson Scouting Report

Adrian Robinson – Temple (HT: 6-0½ – WT: 237)

Positives -- A pass rusher; finished with 12 sacks in 2009, fell way down to 3.5 in 2010 but responded with 6.5 in 2011 to go along with 13.5 tackles for a loss... One of the best spin moves in all of the draft class; uses his plant foot to drive past the blocker and a violent arm move to swat the opponents arm away... Is aggressive but not to the point where it puts him out of position, is very good at picking and choosing when to put it into top gear... Shows good fundamentals; gets in a good stance and fires off the ball... Pursues the quarterback well if he escapes from the pocket, has a strong motor that just keeps him going...

Very versatile, can play OLB in either the 4-3 or the 3-4... Reminds me a lot of a pitbull, the best word to describe him is tenacious; just keeps attacking until he gets what he wants... Was just a pass rusher early in his career but is developing into an all around player.

Negatives -- Relies too much on his spin move at times, not strong enough to have much of a bull rush and is very predictable if you scout him for an extended period... Strictly a linebacker, not big enough to even be considered a possibility to play defensive end... Has a tendency to get suckered in by fakes, needs to make sure he locates the ball before he attacks... Has a lot to learn in terms of disengaging a blocker, needs to learn how to use his hands to get blockers off of him... Needs to get stronger or he'll be a situational pass rusher only at the next level... Can get too far up field on running plays, opening up room for draw plays into his area.

At Temple -- 2011: Team captain... started all 13 games at defensive end... one of nine Owls to start every game... also played on the punt return unit... finished fourth in team tackling with 52 tackles, including a team-best 13.5 TFL, an interception, and a blocked kick on the season... had five tackles, 2.5 TFL and a sack in the bowl win over Wyoming... had three tackles in the win over Kent State... had two tackles in the win over Army... had seven tackles, two sacks for a loss of nine yards, and a 14-yard interception return in the win over Miami... had seven tackles at Ohio... had eight tackles, including two TFL, and a hurry at Bowling Green... had two tackles in the shutout of Ball State... made six solo stops, including a 10-yard sack, against Toledo... added four tackles and a seven-yard sack in the win at Maryland... had four tackles and a blocked field goal against Penn State... had two solo tackle and two sacks for a loss of 15 yards in the win at Akron. 2010: Started all 12 games at right end... one of just seven Owls to start every game... also played on the punt return and field goal defense units... on the season, had 38 tackles, 4.5 TFL, and 3.5 sacks... had three tackles, a six-yard sack, and a forced fumble in the win at Kent State... had two tackles and a shared sack in the win at Buffalo... had two solo tackles, a 14-yard sack, and a PAT block in the win over Bowling Green... blocked the PAT on the Falcons' first TD, forcing BGSU to go for two on the game's final play en route to MAC s and coaches' specialist of the week honors... had five tackles and a blocked punt at Northern Illinois... had a solo tackle and a fumble recovery at No. 23/20 Penn State... had four tackles, two forced fumbles, and a 24-yard fumble return for a touchdown in the win over Connecticut... the TD was his first... named the Walter Camp National Defensive Player of the Week... made three solo stops, including a TFL, in the win over Central Michigan... had five solo tackles and a sack in the win over Villanova in the season opener.

Sammy Brown Scouting Report

Sammy Brown – Houston (HT: 6-3 – WT: 240)

Positives -- Good size and game speed at the outside linebacker position... An instinctive pass rusher, good timing skills for anticipating the snap count, has a good initial step and can bend the edge against blockers... Plays well with his hands and can fool blockers with an impressive swim move; also has the size to develop a good bull rush... Knows when to get his hands up and bat the ball down... A solid tackler, good fundamentals with wrapping up the ball carrier... Will be asked to play outside in a 3-4 scheme at the NFL level and has experience playing the position as opposed to being a hybrid projection... Led the FBS with 30 tackles for loss in 2011, 7.5 TFL more than his closest competitor, Whitney Mercilus of Illinois... Has the upside to develop into a poor man's Lamar Woodley in the NFL, worth a late round flyer pick.

Negatives -- Is not a finished product and will require significant coaching at the next level... A bit of a one trick pony at this point, will need to develop a power/bull rush in order to succeed in the NFL... Does not play well against the run, crashes down too often and gives up the outside... Plays flat footed against the run, appears to not trust his instincts in the run game... Gets blocked out of plays by below average tackles and tight ends; needs to get stronger all around at the next level... Does not have any significant coverage skills to speak of, will need to develop them in the NFL... Has good stats but makes a lot of plays when unblocked or uncontested (artificial inflation).

At Houston -- 2010: Played in all 12 games and started 11... Led Conference USA and ranked fifth in the NCAA in tackles for loss with 20... The 20 TFL rank tied for sixth in the Houston record books... Ranked tied for fourth in Conference USA in quarterback sacks... Made his collegiate debut against Texas State during the season opener... Finished with six tackles, including an assist on a 4-yard sack against the Bobcats... Recorded six tackles, including four solo stops, with a tackle for a 1-yard loss... Also added a forced fumble, pass breakup and three quarterback hurries against the Miners.. recorded four tackles, including at 4-yard sack, at UCLA... Posted three tackles, including one for a 3-yard loss, and added a quarterback pressure against Tulane... Made eight tackles, all solo, against Rice... also had five tackles for loss (31 yards) and two sacks (22 yards) bringing the Owls back 53 yards in total... Delieverd a performance that earned him co-Defensive Player of the Week against SMU... Led the team with eight tackles, including seven solo stops... Also had two sacks totaling five yards, four tackles for loss totaling 10 yards, and a forced fumble against the Mustangs... Had four tackles, including one solo and an assisted sack for a 2-yard loss against Memphis... Led the team with 11 tackles including four solo stops, of which two were for a total of four yards lost against UCF... Made seven tackles, including an assisted sack for a 2-yard loss and a tackle for a 4-yard loss against Tulsa... Posted 12 tackles, two for loss and a sack at USM.

Tahir Whitehead Scouting Report

Tahir Whitehead – Temple (HT: 6-1¼ – WT: 233)

Positives -- Plays well against the run, crashes down and fills gaps quickly... Can give tight ends problems at the line, good at jamming pass catchers on the line scrimmage... Good physical tools with the upside to emerge into something at the next level; performed well at the combine with a 4.63-40 and 37" vertical... Consistently gets into the backfield, had 13.5 tackles for loss as a senior... Solid wrap up tackler, plays with good technique... A solid all around player that can be relied upon for consistent production... A good motor that does not stop until the whistle is blown... Good intangibles, was a team captain at Temple... Can be a solid special teams' contributor while earning defensive playing time... Has played in every game during in his collegiate career and improved each season for the Owls.

Negatives -- Nothing overly special or elite about Whitehead... Pass rush skills are limited to a speed rush which is not elite... Not skilled in coverage and borders on a liability... Has no power/bull rush move to speak of and struggles to disengage from blockers; needs to get significantly stronger at the next level... Undersized and gets overpowered by larger blockers... A borderline late-round prospect, possibly undrafted... Is not ready to play in the NFL, will need time to adjust to speed and talent level of the NFL... Unclear at this point whether he would fit better in a 4-3 or 3-4, a tweener without a defined position... Lack of competition playing in the MAC.

At Temple -- 2010: Played in all 12 games with eight starts at outside linebacker... also played on the punt and kickoff return units... finished sixth on defense with 56 tackles, including 7.5 TFL... had five tackles and a six-yard interception return at Miami... had four tackles and a break-up against Ohio... had three tackles and a break-up in the win at Kent State ... had three solo stops, two TFL, and a forced fumble in the shutout of Akron... had four solo tackles and a hurry in the win at Buffalo... had five tackles in the win over Bowling Green... had six tackles at Northern Illinois... had three tackles in the win at Army... had nine tackles, a sack, and a forced fumble at No. 23/20 Penn State... had five tackles, 3.5 TFL, and a 10-yard sack in the win over Connecticut en route to Honorable Mention national player of the week honors... had four tackles in the win over Central Michigan... had five tackles, including a TFL, in the win over Villanova in the season opener. 2009: Played in all 13 games... also played on the punt, punt return, and kickoff return units... finished the season with 30 tackles, 4.5 TFL, and two break-ups... had an assisted tackle and a hurry against UCLA in the EagleBank Bowl... had two solo takedowns at Ohio .. made three solo tackles, a TFL, and a break-up in the win at Akron... had four tackles in the win over Miami... made two stops in the win at Navy... had a tackle and a break-up in the win at Toledo... made a solo stop in the win over Army... had an assist for a TFL in the win over Ball State... made six stops, including five solos and two TFL, in the win at Eastern Michigan... made two solo stops in the win over Buffalo... had a solo tackle at No. 5 Penn State.

Morris Claiborne Scouting Report

Morris Claiborne – LSU (HT: 5-11½ – WT: 188)

Positives -- The clear top corner in this draft, there is no debate about it... Good size at just over 5'11" yet plays much bigger... Extremely physical at the line of scrimmage with both his body and hands... Is a true cover corner and has been touted as a better corner than former teammate and 2011 #5 overall pick Patrick Peterson... Good speed and fluid hips allows Claiborne to keep up with elite receivers... Starting number one corner for the number two total and scoring defense in the country... Faced some of the toughest receiving talent in the country on a weekly basis in the SEC... Possesses the ability to be an elite lockdown corner at the next level against elite NFL receivers... Excellent ability to recover and defend against tight throws... Can handle elite talent without safety help over the top... Takes great angles to the ball and maintains leverage against bigger receivers... A sound tackler and willing to play inside the box to bring down running backs... Maintains extremely close coverage forcing quarterbacks to throw to other receivers... Consistent producer at the highest level of college football... Has the speed and intelligence to bait quarterbacks into making throws he can make plays on... Has great big play ability that will translate to the professional level.

Negatives -- A bit overly reliant on his natural physical tools and still needs to be coached up some on technique, gets too high in his backpedal... Can be overaggressive at times and will get beat over the top... Has adequate size but can be taken out of plays by above average blockers... Does not have the special teams return ability showcased by Patrick Peterson or Tyron Mathieu... Can be caught staring into the backfield at times or looking to make the big play... Does not always display consistent hands... Ran a bit slower than expected at the combine with a 4.50-40; however, not detrimental to his draft stock, remains a top ten lock.

At Louisiana State -- Capped his career as one of the top cornerbacks in school history... Named the recipient of the prestigious Jim Thorpe Award in 2011 as the nation's top defensive back... Became the second straight LSU player to earn the award, following Patrick Peterson who claimed the honor in 2010... Consensus All-America in 2011 after leading Tigers to 13-1 record, the SEC title and a spot in the national championship game... Played in 33 games, starting 26 times... Finished career with 95 tackles, 12 pass breakups and 11 interceptions... Led the nation in interception return yardage in 2011 with 173... Tied for sixth in school history in career interceptions (11) and is second in interception return yards (274)... Opted to forgo his senior season and made himself eligible for the 2012 NFL Draft following his junior season. 2011: Started all 14 games for the Tigers... Registered 51 tackles, six pass breakups and six interceptions... Led the nation in interception return yardage with 173... Ranked fifth in the SEC in kickoff returns with a 25.1 average... Scored two TDs in 2011... Returned a kickoff 99 yards for a score against West Virginia and then returned an interception 45 yards for a touchdown against Georgia in the SEC Championship Game... Returned an interception 89 yards against Tennessee, which ranked as the third-longest in school history... The 89-yard return was the longest non-scoring return in school history... Named the Walter Camp National Defensive Player of the Week following a 2-interception, 1-pass breakup game in win over Mississippi State... Had six tackles in season-opening win over Oregon in the Cowboys Classic in Arlington, Texas... Had six tackles, including a tackle for a 1-yard loss, in week 2 against Northwestern State... Picked off a pass against Arkansas.

Dre Kirkpatrick Scouting Report

Dre Kirkpatrick – North Alabama (HT: 6-1<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 186)

Positives -- Elite size at nearly 6'2" and the hardest hitting corner available in this draft... One of the strongest and most aggressive corners available, will jam receivers at the line, great ability to disrupt receivers and force them to reroute... Excellent instincts and ability to diagnose plays, plays faster than his timed 40-speed, possesses real talent when it comes to locating the ball... Skilled in both zone and man coverage, plays off coverage at times to bait quarterbacks into underneath throws and then exploding through the receiver... Extremely strong tackler; in fact, Kirkpatrick looks like a safety roaming around at times... Has the ability to play safety and corner in the NFL, depending on a team's need... Experienced starter on one of the nation's best college defenses... Can contribute on special teams as a hard hitting gunner.

Negatives -- Has good height but short arms and questionable ball skills... Can be overaggressive at times and can get caught staring in the backfield... Lacks proper footwork at times and compensates by getting overly physical... Over physicality can at times lead to many penalties being called... Does not have the best hands and is not a big play threat, will catch the occasional interception but cannot be counted on as a consistent turnover machine... Has very good but not elite top end speed (4.51-40), can be burned deep by speedy receivers and will require safety help over the top... Looks for the big hit over strong man coverage which can lead quarterbacks taking advantage of Kirkpatrick... Potential off the field problems, was recently charged with possession of marijuana (charges were eventually dropped).

At Alabama -- 2011: Dre Kirkpatrick developed into a shut-down corner and a leader in the Crimson Tide secondary... a first-team All-American by the FWAA, CBSsports.com and Pro Football Weekly... second-team Associated Press All-American... second-team All-SEC by both the AP and the league coaches... has 26 tackles with 23 solo stops while defenses continue to throw away from him... also has a nine pass breakups... returned a blocked field goal 55 yards for a touchdown... has two forced fumbles and two tackles for loss (-4 yards)... part of a defense that leads the nation in pass defense (116.3 ypg) and pass efficiency defense (83.9)... two-time Defensive Player of the Week by the UA coaching staff. Kent State: Did not have a pass completed in his direction and broke up three passes as the Golden Flashes could only manage 98 passing yards on while completing only 42.5 percent of their passes. Penn State: Forced two Nittany Lions' fumbles while making two solo tackles and breaking up one pass in the 27-11 road win over No. 23 Penn State... Defensive Player of the Week by the UA coaching staff. Arkansas: Matched his season and career best with three pass breakups... had a season-high six tackles -- all solo... had two devastating hits that upended Arkansas receivers... recorded his first tackle for loss of the season (-3 yards)... helped limit the Hogs to over 150 yards below their season average throwing the football and 291 yards below their total offense average. Auburn: Broke up and deflected the only ball thrown in his direction.

Janoris Jenkins Scouting Report

Janoris Jenkins – North Alabama (HT: 5-10 – WT: 193)

Positives -- Is a very fluid player in most aspects, has good speed, quick feet and hips and changes direction fairly easily... Is more physical than size would indicate, does a good job staying on the hip of most receivers, is pretty good at disrupting routes of receivers in man coverage... Is a solid wrap-up tackler, breaks down well and forms up, even in open field... Quick with recognizing and diagnosing routes and run plays, has good instincts... Is very similar to 2010 first-round corner Kyle Wilson, plays bigger than his size, has an aggressive and competitive streak... Has a lot of upside, has the potential to be a true lockdown corner at the next level... Good production in three years at Florida, and shut down Alabama's Julio Jones (#6 overall pick in 2011) in 2009 and 2010 (Jones combined for six receptions and 47 yards in those two games)... Jenkins has top ten talent and performed well during Senior Bowl practices but will probably slip due to off the field issues.

Negatives -- Has slightly below-average height for the position... Will be too aggressive in coverage and run support, goes after the ball and not the player at times, leading to missed tackles... Is adequate in jump ball situations, but will get beat by bigger receivers, leaping ability just average at best... Needs to show the ability to catch up and recover after getting beat on double moves and speed routes... Transferred to North Alabama after being dismissed by Florida head coach Will Muschamp following two arrests for marijuana possession within the span of a couple months... Some character concerns regarding off-field incident in 2009, was involved in a fight and was tasered and arrested for resisting... Was suspended by the Gulf South Conference for the first half against West Alabama after being ejected for throwing a punch in the October 13 game against Delta State.

At Florida -- Enrolled at Florida in January of 2008... appeared in 39 games with 36 career starts... totaled 121 tackles, eight interceptions and 25 pass breakups his three years in Gainesville... Honors: Named 2010 first-team All-SEC by the Associated Press and second-team All-SEC by the coaches and Phil Steele... A 2010 third-team All-American by Rivals.com... Earned a spot on the 2008 College Football News All-Freshman team. 2010: Appeared in 12 games with 11 starts (did not start vs. Kentucky)... missed the Outback Bowl vs. Penn State after having shoulder surgery... named third-team All-America by Rivals.com... first-team All-SEC pick by the AP and second-team All-SEC selection by the coaches' and Phil Steele... held the trio of South Carolina's Alshon Jeffery, Georgia's A.J. Green and Alabama's Julio Jones to an average of 4.7 receptions for 38 yards per game and allowed just one touchdown between the three... in their other regular-season games, that trio averaged 97.2 yards per game on 6.2 receptions and combined for 25 receiving touchdowns... third in the SEC in passes defended (0.92 per game)... A starter on the kickoff and punt coverage teams... his 67-yard interception return for a touchdown vs. Miami University is the fourth-longest in the SEC in 2010... Thirty-two of his 44 tackles were solo and he had one sack and six tackles for loss... Returned a team-high 18 punts for 150 yards (8.3 avg.), which was sixth in the SEC. 2009: Started all 13 games he appeared in and totaled 38 tackles on the season, including 33 solo... Had three tackles-for-loss, two interceptions and six pass breakups.

Stephon Gilmore Scouting Report

Stephon Gilmore – South Carolina (HT: 6-0½ - WT: 190)

Positives -- Great combination of size, speed and strength; his 4.40-40 at the combine was third best among defensive backs... Uses his physical tools to be able to jam receivers at the line of scrimmage and stay tight in man coverage... Plays very comfortably in zone coverage... Good instincts and route reading ability, diagnoses plays extremely fast and puts himself in a position to make a play... Probably the second best tackling corner in this draft behind Dre Kirkpatrick... Willing and sometimes prefers to play in the box where he can bring down the running back... Can be a very effective special teams gunner with his size and tackling ability... Has experience as a punt returner... Has the ability to be a very successful number two or nickel corner, can be a solid starter in the NFL for the foreseeable future but might be better as a free safety with his in the box play ability... Is still new to the position but faced tough competition every week in the SEC and should continue to improve.

Negatives -- Seems to lack that elite speed and athleticism in pass coverage on tape; slow hips, high backpedal and poor footwork make it difficult for Gilmore to recover once he is beaten... Has the ability to anticipate routes but is not always there to make it on time... Can be overaggressive at times and play his way out of position... Not a consistent interception or big play producer... Will require safety or extra coverage help at times... Is a bit of a tweener as a player, has great size and bulk and seems to make plays but cannot truly play as a traditional corner... Is not a true number one corner and will struggle against elite NFL receivers... A former high school quarterback and doesn't have much experience as a cornerback, technique is still raw and developing.

At South Carolina -- 2010: Named third-team All-American by the Associated Press... selected first-team All-SEC by the league's coaches and by Phil Steele, and was a second-team All-SEC pick by the AP... named second-team All-Sophomore by CollegeFootballNews.com... named Midseason All-America Second Team and Midseason All-SEC First Team by Phil Steele... named preseason first-team All-SEC by both the league coaches and the media... preseason watch list candidate for the Thorpe and the Bednarik awards... named to the inaugural Paul Hornung Watch List, recognizing the nation's most versatile player... led the team with 79 tackles, including 6.0 for loss and 3.0 sacks... responsible for four opponent turnovers including three interceptions... took a pair of snaps at quarterback in the opener vs. Southern Miss... ran once for 14 yards and missed on his only pass attempt... recovered a Georgia fumble inside the Carolina 5-yard-line and returned it 13 yards to keep the Bulldogs out of the end zone... intercepted a pass and returned it 80 yards for a touchdown vs. Furman, his first career score... registered nine tackles including eight solo stops at Auburn with 1.0 tackle for loss... shared the team lead with nine tackles vs. Alabama, including a career-best 2.0 sacks... forced a fumble with a sack on the Arkansas goal line, which was recovered by Byron McKnight and returned for a touchdown... had an interception against Florida with a nine-yard return... led the team with seven tackles vs. Clemson... had his third interception of the season in the Chick-fil-A Bowl against Florida State... began the season as the primary punt returner... had nine returns for 47 yards (5.2 avg) with a long return of 19 yards... was one of only six players to earn first-team All-SEC honors by either the Associated Press or coaches and also be named to the Fall Academic Honor Roll.

Brandon Boykin Scouting Report

Brandon Boykin – Georgia (HT: 5-9¼ – WT: 182)

Positives -- Athleticism is above-average, has pretty good speed, fluid hips and quick feet, change-of-direction skills are also above-average... Will be a very good slot defender, lines up against slot receivers regularly, off-man coverage skills are very good... A fiesty player who loves to compete, is tough to separate from, explosive closing ability and natural ball skills to break up passes, recorded nine interceptions over the previous three seasons combined... Has excellent leaping ability, is able to cover larger receivers in most situations despite his size... Is a good wrap-up tackler, does not miss a lot of opportunities in open space... Has good return skills, ran four kickoffs back for touchdowns in 2009 and 2010 combined and added a punt return TD in 2011... Durability does not seem to be an issue, has not missed substantial time due to injury... Also played a little offense for Georgia as a senior, scored one rushing and two receiving touchdowns; had one of the best bowl performances in recent memory, scoring three different ways (safety, punt return TD, receiving TD) in a triple overtime loss to Michigan State in the Outback Bowl... Was recognized as the nation's most versatile player, winning the 2011 Paul Hornung Award from the Louisville Sports Commission.

Negatives -- About an inch or two shorter than ideal height... Gives too much cushion on out routes, protects himself against double moves, but allows receivers too much space to catch the ball underneath... Often looks into the backfield for too long, which makes him susceptible to picks on crossing patterns over the middle... Does not get off blocks well, not the most physical corner... Leaves feet too often when tackling, needs to do a better job of driving through tackles with his legs... Is not the most versatile corner due to below-average strength, may be relegated to covering slot receivers in the NFL.

At Georgia -- UGA's leader in career kickoff returns yards with 2,663 (110 ret.), which ranks second in SEC history... Only player in SEC history with three 100-yard plays (of any kind). 2011: Selected to play in the Senior Bowl... Paul Hornung Award Winner and semifinalist for the Jim Thorpe Award... All-SEC Second Team by Phil Steele and SEC Coaches... Elected as one of the team's defensive captains... Started all 14 games recording 55 tackles including 11.0 TFL, three INTs, nine PBUs and two forced fumbles while returning 38 kickoffs for 850 yards and 14 punts for 180 yards and a TD; Also rushed seven times for 103 yards and a TD and caught five passes for 71 yards and a two TDs... In the SEC ranked, fourth in punt return average (12.9) and 15th in tackles for loss (0.79 per game)... Named Outback Bowl MVP after he set Bulldog bowl record and Outback Bowl record with a 92-yard kickoff return vs. No. 12 Michigan St. while also making seven tackles including one for a safety and caught a 13-yard TD pass... Recorded a season-high six tackles three times: vs. New Mexico St., vs. Miss. St. and vs. No. 5 Boise St... Notched interceptions vs. UK, at Vanderbilt and vs. No. 12 S. Carolina... Scored first receiving TD of his career on a 42-yard catch vs. New Mexico St... Returned a school-record seven kickoffs for 184 yards vs. No. 12 S. Carolina... As a kick returner, named preseason All-SEC First Team by Lindy's, SEC Coaches and SEC Media... Defensively, named All-SEC Second Team by Lindy's, SEC Coaches and SEC Media and Third Team by Athlon Sports and Phil Steele.

Josh Robinson Scouting Report

Josh Robinson – Central Florida (HT: 5-10 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 199)

Positives -- Tremendous speed, turned some heads at the combine with a 4.33-40, fastest of any player regardless of position... Excellent athletic ability with great tracking to the ball... Fluid hips with good ability to recover once beaten... Good extension on the ball allows him to make up for smaller frame and wingspan... Good and willing tackler in run support for his size... Hard working and experienced corner, started all three seasons at UCF, played in all 38 games prior to declaring as an early entry... Has become one of the popular "sleeper" picks among draft analysts, has received a good amount of press as a mid-round pick with some upside... Made a name for himself as a sophomore lining up against A.J. Green in the Liberty Bowl against Georgia, then went on to break up a career high 15 passes in 2011... Also at the combine, ranked first among defensive backs in broad jump, vertical jump and shuttle and fifth in cone, has all the physical tools to be successful... Has a lot of postseason momentum with the potential to be coached up to a long time, solid starter at the next level.

Negatives -- Lacks elite size and unlike some other corners, Robinson plays like the small corner he is... Needs to work on press coverage with a better punch at the line of scrimmage... Can be heavy footed at times and gets caught playing on his heels... Likely a nickel corner at the next level, not necessarily someone to build your defense around... Will likely require safety help over the top as Robinson will be beat by physical NFL receivers... A solid tackler but nothing to be feared for bigger backs... Has been labeled as reactive, not instinctive... Did not face elite talent on a week to week basis at Central Florida... Tape does not match his performance at the combine... Not a starter from day one in the NFL, so he will need to play well on special teams.

At Central Florida -- 2011: Voted onto the All-C-USA First Team... Earned a spot on Phil Steele's All-C-USA First Team... Started all 12 games at CB and recorded 48 tackles (34 solo), 15 passes broken up, and two interceptions with one returned for a touchdown... UTEP 11/25: Amassed three break-ups with seven tackles. 2010: All-Conference USA First Team on defense and honorable mention on special teams... Started 13 games at CB and recorded 59 tackles (45 solo), 0.5 sacks, two interceptions, 13 pass break-ups and a fumble recovery returned for a touchdown... ## Jamell Fleming Scouting Report

Jamell Fleming – Oklahoma (HT: 5-10½ – WT: 206)

Positives -- Shows good instincts when he is in zone coverage, but is better than average in both man and zone coverages... Looks comfortable playing press, gets his hands on receivers when needed... Nice acceleration to close in on plays, especially on crossing routes... Does a good job of reading and reacting on the football... Has good hips and is able to get out of breaks... Plays the ball well in the air and has the ability to make adjustments on the run... Gets a high number of pass break-ups, 24 total in 24 starts over the past two seasons... Can play in the box, is able to handle bigger ball carriers and tackle when needed... Shows he can blitz from his corner position aggressively... Played well against big time receivers and held them at bay... Had a breakout junior season at Oklahoma that put him on scouts' radars.

Negatives -- Good but not great top end speed and can be slow to recover... Peaks too much in the backfield, loses sight of his man... Gets turned around too much while covering, makes complete 360 degree turns in coverage... Plays lazy, doesn't possess the want-to attitude on the field 100 percent of the time... His footwork is average at best; when he tries to jam at the line of scrimmage, will do it flat footed... Hops at times instead of back pedaling... Bails immediately in off coverage so he doesn't get beat over the top... Lacks explosion in coverage and tackling, needs to improve consistency... Due to academic misconduct, missed spring practices in 2009 and 2011.

At Oklahoma -- 2010: First season as a starter... first career interception and first career double-digit tackle game (10) against Utah State... had back-to-back games with interceptions with a pick against Florida State... career high 11 tackles against Air Force... did not suit up against Texas after incurring an injury vs. Cincinnati... returned to starting position vs. Iowa State and had three tackles... first career sack and broke up a career-high three passes against Colorado... had career-high two interceptions against Texas A&M... had third double-digit tackle game of career with 10 tackles vs. the Aggies. 2009: Appeared in all 12 games as one of the top performers on special teams... second on the team in special teams tackles with nine... had a season-high four tackles against Idaho State... also had three stops each vs. Baylor and Texas A&M. 2008: Appeared in all 14 games as one of the top performers on special teams... leads all Sooners with 18 special teams tackles... also saw time as a reserve defensive back... collected a career-high six tackles against Texas A&M. 2007: Redshirted. APSE Class 4A first-team all-state... played in All-American Offense-Defense Bowl in Florida... bench presses 320 and squats 375 pounds... runs a 4.56 40-yard dash... coached by Ricky Albus... No. 47 cornerback in the nation (Scout.com)... No. 12 cornerback in the nation (Rivals.com)... No. 35 player overall in Texas Top 100 of 2007 (Rivals.com). Personal: Born May 5, 1989.

Jayron Hosley Scouting Report

Jayron Hosley – Virginia Tech (HT: 5-11 – WT: 178)

Positives -- A ball hawk with the ability to find the ball in traffic, has big play ability and led the nation as an All-American corner with nine interceptions in 2010... Excellent hands and athleticism, which enables him to overcome his small stature... Opted against it at the combine, but has a reported 37-38" vertical jump which allows Hosley to play like a taller corner... Good back pedal and fluid hips give him great change of direction speed... Excellent body control and catches the ball at its highest point, enabling him to beat taller but less sound receivers; aggressive and unafraid to take on big receivers...

Intelligent player with excellent ball vision, makes few if any mental mistakes... Has the ability and experience to be a special teams return man... Exceptional in off and zone coverage, has proven to be one of the best in the nation... Willing to play close to the line and make tackles inside the box.

Negatives -- Lacks elite measurements in height and weight... Above average top end speed yet struggles to recover once he gets beat by receivers... Like many smaller corners, he struggles against bigger receivers in press coverage... Can be overaggressive at times and receivers will set him up for that with double moves... Concussion and hamstring injuries this season may scare teams away from drafting him early... Likely needs a minimum of two years to develop in a pro system before becoming a full time starter... His limitations inhibit his upside at the pro level, likely never a true number one corner... Not a great tackler in any sense of the word, lacks strength to bring down bigger players once they are wrapped up... Has a tendency to throw his body rather than wrapping up for a tackle.

At Virginia Tech -- 2011: A second-team All-ACC selection at corner... Started all 13 games he played in... Played over 660 snaps on defense and 84 on special teams... Had 59 tackles, three interceptions and 12 pass breakups on the season... Also has a tackle for loss, two forced fumbles and a fumble recovery... Returned for the Duke game and had four tackles with a breakup... Contributed six tackles at Georgia Tech... Had nine tackles and two pass breakups against UNC... Tied for the team lead with 10 tackles (seven solo) at Virginia... Also assisted on a TFL, forced a fumble and returned a punt 38 yards... ## Chase Minnifield Scouting Report

Chase Minnifield – Virginia (HT: 5-10¼ – WT: 183)

Positives -- Great athleticism, body control, and play recognition... Excellent zone corner with ability to read the quarterback and anticipate ball placement... Intelligent athlete that takes good angles to the ball, rarely makes any mental mistakes... Plays much bigger than his weight, unafraid to play in the box and make difficult tackles... Above average speed and is not afraid to get physical with receivers... Excellent motion and fluid hips allows him to turn or redirect quickly... Great explosion in both coverage and blitzing... Versatile player who can return kicks and punts, had over 1,000 return yards in college...

Experienced starter with NFL bloodlines (father was Pro Bowl defensive back for the Browns)... Good footwork, hands, and fundamentals; very high development floor, may not have the upside of the top five corners, but will be a solid starter for several years... Team leader in the secondary for the Cavaliers... Is compared by many to Asante Samuel (arguably the best zone corner in the NFL).

Negatives -- Has slightly below-average height and lacks ideal size at only 183 lbs., plays off coverage to compensate at times... Lacks the consistency of an elite corner and struggles in press coverage at times... Despite above average speed, has a tendency to give up the deep ball... Limited upside if he is unable to bulk up and play better man coverage... Numbers dropped in senior season after Ras-I Dowling left and Minnifield was asked to be the number one corner... Will get eaten up by blockers at times and struggles to disengage... Was forced to sit out final game to have minor knee surgery, the injury does not appear to have long term ramifications but may impact his draft stock, didn't run at the combine... Plays too high and upright at times, which makes him easy to block or box out... His seven reps of 225 lbs. at the combine were the fewest by any player at any position... May need to move to safety at the next level... Did not face much elite receiving talent in college... Has stated he prefers to play man coverage but his success in the NFL will come from his zone game.

At Virginia -- 2010: Started all 12 games... finished year No. 2 in the ACC and No. 5 nationally with six INTs... twice during season was named honorable mention for the Jim Thorpe Defensive Back of the Week honor... shared ACC Defensive Back of the Week honors on Nov. 1 with teammate Corey Mosley after snaring two INTs in UVa's 24-19 upset of No. 22 Miami... finished No. 8 on the team with 48 tackles... broke up four passes and recorded 0.5 sacks... slowed the final four games of the season with an ankle injury... recorded seven tackles in games against Richmond, USC and Maryland... returned 13 punts for 84 yards... selected by the UVa coaches as the team's defensive player of the week for the VMI and Miami games. 2009: Appeared in all 12 games, starting one... returned team-high 20 punts for 88 yards... returned team-high 22 kickoffs for 513 yards... had career high 134 kickoff return yards vs. Duke... collected two interceptions (North Carolina & Duke)... made 29 tackles, 21 of which were of the solo variety... had career-high 10 tackles at Southern Miss... ranked third on the team in all-purpose yards with 601 total for the 2009 season... selected by the UVa coaches as a defensive player of the game against North Carolina and Southern Miss. 2008: Played in every game to earn his first letter... started the USC game because of an injury to Ras-I Dowling... started Virginia Tech contest when Vic Hall opened the game at quarterback... a regular on UVa special teams... posted 25 tackles including 21 solo stops... broke up four passes and intercepted passes against Richmond and Miami... had four tackles against USC, North Carolina and Virginia Tech... led the team with 21 kickoff returns, averaging 23.3 yards per runback... his longest kickoff return was 56 yards at Connecticut.

Dwight Bentley Scouting Report

Dwight Bentley – Louisiana Lafayette (HT: 5-10 – WT: 182)

Positives -- Above average speed, very quick and explosive player who is able to transfer and redirect smoothly... Great athleticism and route recognition... Has good instincts and hands... Has displayed above average ability in both zone and man coverage schemes... His willingness and ability to play in man coverage will push him up many draft boards, as this is the a skill that most young corners struggle with... Displays good footwork and body control... Consistent production throughout college with a steady rise in tackles, first team all-Sun Belt in 2011... Was one of the most impressive and talked about players at the Senior Bowl... While not an initial invite to the Senior Bowl, Bentley's production in Mobile will go a long way to securing his draft position as he outplayed many corners rated higher... If drafted in the third round or later represents a potential steal with low risk.

Negatives -- Lacks elite height and weight... Played for a smaller school program, where he did not face elite receiving talent... A late riser in the process and will need to continue to flash in the offseason in order to keep attention... Will be a bit of a project when a team drafts him... Needs coaching and polish to develop into a consistent starter in the NFL... Needs to bulk up in order to compete with elite NFL receivers... Has not flashed enough big plays to justify a high draft selection... Does not project with any ability as a return man... May struggle to disengage from blocks and bring down bigger backs at the next level... Coaches will investigate why a player who displays NFL type talent ended up at such a small school.

At Louisiana-Lafayette -- 2010: Started 11 games at cornerback, missing the ASU game (ankle injury)... Ranked fourth overall, second among defensive backs, in tackles... ## Trumaine Johnson Scouting Report

Trumaine Johnson – Montana (HT: 6-1 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 204)

Positives -- Ideal size for a cornerback, very strong and athletic... Has plenty of experience, started as a true freshman for the Grizzlies... At his best when he can get his hands on the wide receiver, has long arms and looks most comfortable in press coverage... Can get to underneath routes quickly, has the ability to plant and flip his hips to cover some ground, looks very fluid... Has good ball skills, has the ability to make plays with everything in front of him... Rarely see him out of position in coverage, has a good understanding of assignments and takes care of his business... Quarterbacks often threw away from him, but he took advantage of his opportunities when they threw to his side, recorded 14 career picks and 34 pass breakups for Montana... Can play on the line of scrimmage and does a good job in pursuit of run plays away... Can also contribute on special teams and in the return game... Played with a broken bone in his forearm during his sophomore season.

Negatives -- Although great in press coverage, he has questionable deep speed and quicker wide receivers give him problems... Played little zone in college, will be a test for him at the next level... Awareness needs to improve when he turns his head away from the ball... Shows his hand on blitz packages, doesn't disguise his coverage well... Ducks his head on tackles and needs to wrap up, shoulder tackles too much... Shies away from contact at times... When blitzing or filling in run support, is prone to taking himself out of the play by running up field... Doesn't fight hard enough to get off blocks... His level of competition will be questioned... Missed nine games combined in his first two seasons, mostly due to injuries but one game due to an alleged off the field incident that involved a fight at a campus fraternity house. brings some major future injury concerns.

At Montana -- 2010: He was tabbed a first team All-American by every entity, including American Football Coaches Association, Associated Press, The Sports Network, Phil Steele, and Walter Camp. He was named first team All-Big Sky Conference for the second season in a row. He was co-recipient of the Terry Dillon Award (Outstanding Back or Receiver), sharing it with fellow cornerback Brandon Dodson. He was ninth on the team in tackles with 44 stops. He was second at UM with four interceptions, and returned two of those picks (18 yards vs. Western State and 53 yards at Eastern Washington) for touchdowns. He tied for 40th in the FCS with .36 picks a game. He also had eight kickoff returns for a 22.2-yard average, and rushed twice for nine yards. 2009: He had team-highs of five interceptions and 12 pass deflections in 11 games (he missed four contests due to injury). He would be ranked first (tie) in the league in pass deflections (1.09 pg) and second in interceptions (0.45 pg). "Tru" was fourth on the team with 31 solo tackles, and was the team's fourth leading returning tackler with 54 stops. He was a first team All-Big Sky pick. He was named the Sports Network's co-National Player of the Week on defense on Sept. 12th because of his outstanding play (six tackles and two interceptions) in a 17-10 victory at UC Davis. He was also named the Big Sky's "Player of the Week" on defense that week.

Leonard Johnson Scouting Report

Leonard Johnson – Iowa State (HT: 5-9 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 196)

Positives -- Looks comfortable playing in both zone or man coverage, is scheme diverse but could flourish in a zone system... Shows the ability to stay balanced with his footwork into his drops, has some good bend in his back pedal and can transition to turn and run quickly, is always under control in coverage... Can be physical when needed during press coverage situations... Always covered the opponents' best wide receiver, plays up to his competition, has good anticipation on routes and is able to cover bigger receivers despite his size; Justin Blackmon and Kendall Wright have both praised Johnson's physical play... Pesteters opposing wide receivers, can get underneath and has the instincts to play over the top in zone coverage... High number of deflected passes (26 in his career at Iowa State), has the knack for being around the football... Controls the secondary with leadership and hard-nosed play... Started 43 of 50 career games at Iowa State, including 39 in a row to end his career.

Negatives -- Poor deep speed, ran just an illness-affected 4.71-40 at the combine, rehabilitated his stock some with a 4.54-40 at his pro day, but matches up best with possession type receivers... His height will be an issue versus bigger NFL wide outs... Needs to work using his hands better in bump and run coverage, gives to many free releases on routes... Can get pushed around by bigger receivers, has extremely short arms and struggles getting off blocks down field... Can get too aggressive at times, has to control his emotions during the game... Despite a high number of pass deflections, had just two interceptions over the last two seasons... Needs to improve his ball awareness and adjust to the ball better... Arm tackles and doesn't always wrap up, is prone to missed tackles... Shows flashes of being a top cornerback, but needs to improve his consistency... Ejected from a game for a late hit during his freshman year against UNLV.

At Iowa State -- 2011: Earned second-team All-Big 12 honors from both the coaches and media... started all 13 games for the Cyclones... ended his career with 43 career games started, including a streak of 39 in a row... played in 50 career games for Iowa State... completed his Iowa State career with 247 tackles, eight for loss... also posted 26 pass breakups, eight fumble recoveries, six forced fumbles and six interceptions during his time in Ames... finished the season with 72 tackles, two for loss... led the Iowa State defense with eight pass breakups and three fumble recoveries... also posted an interception and a forced fumble... in the Cyclones' upset win over No. 2 Oklahoma State, Johnson had the daunting task of covering two-time Biletnikoff Award winner Justin Blackmon... restricted Blackmon to 99 yards receiving and posted a third-quarter interception against the Cowboys... in dramatic win over Iowa, Johnson forced a fumble on Hawkeye running back Marcus Coker which led to Iowa State's opening score... recorded career-high 12 tackles against Baylor... posted nine tackles against Texas A&M, Missouri and Oklahoma. 2010: An All-Big 12 corner and the best cover man Iowa State has fielded in recent memory... has started since his freshman season, accruing 175 career tackles with five interceptions and 18 pass breakups... is additionally proficient against the run, having forced and recovered five fumbles... had six tackles and an interception at Texas... collected career-high 11 tackles at Oklahoma... made seven tackles against Utah... fourth on the all-time ISU kickoff return charts, averaging 24.62 yards on 58 returns.

Josh Norman Scouting Report

Josh Norman – Coastal Carolina (HT: 6-0 $\frac{1}{4}$  – WT: 197)

Positives -- Good size and frame at over 6'0" and is not afraid to get physical with receivers... A rare corner that prefers and excels in press-man coverage... Great hands with good ball hawking ability... Has bating ability, likes to play man coverage behind the receiver and jump the route after the throw... Shows good football intelligence with understanding of route concepts... Good tackler, willing to stick his head in the box and bring down running backs... Started seven of 12 games as a true freshman, has a lot of experience... Was probably the hottest player coming out of the Shrine Game and into the rest of the offseason workouts... Was a late addition to the Senior Bowl roster as an injury replacement for Alfonzo Dennard; grabbed attention quickly in practice bringing in seven interceptions in just two days... Has the potential to be a steal if he's still on the board following day two.

Negatives -- Struggles in off and zone coverage, needs to have his hands close or on receivers to stay with them... Poor deep speed, can be caught staring in the backfield at times and get beaten over the top... Needs to bulk up and fill out the rest of his frame... Is riding the small school talent and potential steal hype right now, likely to cool off... There are some reports of potential character concerns which may be nothing more than an arrest for unpaid traffic tickets; NFL scouts and executives will dig deeper and get the answers in pre-draft interviews... Questions about whether the years of tape really match this offseason production... Scouts will question this surge in the offseason with the lack of production at a lower level of competition in college... If Norman is producing with the best athletes in the country now, why wasn't he producing this way for the past few years?

At Coastal Carolina -- 2010: Tabbed first team All-Big South... Norman ranked fifth on the team in tackles (56) and was third in the Big South in passes broken up with nine, marking the third straight year Norman has produced at least seven PBU in a season... Blocked a field goal in the Delaware State game, which was returned by a teammate 94 yards for a TD -- the longest scoring play in CCU history... Late in the year, had a huge game in the Liberty win, getting 12 tackles, one for a loss, and two key PBU (one on fourth-and-one in the endzone and both covering All-American Chris Summers)... Led the team with eight tackles versus Charleston Southern, adding a 34-yard punt return... Started the season with a big game at West Virginia, getting six tackles, including a TFL and forcing a fumble near the goal line to give CCU the ball... In the NCAA FCS playoff versus Western Illinois, had four stops with two PBU. 2009: Named third team All-American by the Associated Press and made the College Sporting News' "Fabulous Fifty" All-American team... Earned first team All-Big South... Shattered the league record and tied for second in the nation in interceptions with eight... Ranked third in interceptions per game nationally at 0.73 per game... Also led the league with 15 pass breakups and tied for eighth nationally at 1.36 per contest... Ranked sixth on the team with 35 tackles, leading the team with two blocked kicks... Tied for 18th in the league among defensive backs and 40th overall in the Big South in tackles... Earned Big South Defensive Player of the Week and National Defensive Player of the Week from two publications after tying a Big South record with three interceptions in a game, a win over Gardner-Webb... Also had a PBU versus the Runnin' Bulldogs... Had a season-high six tackles on three separate occasions (at Kent State, at Stony Brook, at Clemson), while also having a pair of interceptions to go with five tackles at Towson... Added two PBU versus Stony Brook, duplicating the feat versus Presbyterian... Blocked kicks versus Kent State and VMI.

Casey Hayward Scouting Report

Casey Hayward – Vanderbilt (HT: 5-11 $\frac{3}{8}$  – WT: 185)

Positives -- Fine size and plays much bigger than he reads on paper... Skilled player with good hand placement; strong punch at the line of scrimmage and fluid hips allow him to stay with bigger receivers... Faced and excelled against elite talent that he will see at the professional level; for example, limited South Carolina's Alshon Jeffrey to two catches... Well rounded corner that is strong in coverage and excellent against the run... Great route recognition, is a smart student of the game... A consistent player at a position that struggles to find regular contributors year in, year out... Compiles large numbers of tackles... Good return man that may be able to play special teams on the next level... Coachable player who has a very low floor... Experienced three year starter who faced off against elite talent in the SEC, started 37 consecutive games for Vanderbilt.

Negatives -- Like many mid-round corners, lacks truly elite speed, ran a 4.57-40 at the combine, will get burned by elite straight-line speed receivers in the NFL... Good but not great hands, leaves a few interceptions on the field every year... Will get beaten by stronger receivers in press coverage, needs to learn to play better in man coverage... May need to switch to safety at the next level to compensate for his lack of speed and give him more time to read the quarterback... Has a lower ceiling than others because lack of elite physical tools... Has a tendency to get too physical with receivers after five yards and draw flags... May be overlooked because he played for one of the most irrelevant teams in the SEC.

At Vanderbilt -- 2011: Hayward put together one of the finest seasons ever by a Commodore defensive back en route to becoming the first Vanderbilt All-America in four years... Recognized as second team All-America by the Walter Camp Foundation, Rivals.com and Yahoo! Sports... Earned second team All-SEC honors by coaches and writers... 15 career interceptions tied Leonard Coleman (1980-83) for most in team history... Hayward's career interception is most among active SEC players...

Also concluded career with 46 defended passes, 148 solo tackles and 198 total tackles... As senior, started all 13 games at cornerback, making 62 total tackles... Posted seven picks, third highest single-season total ever by Commodore... Made 26 tackles over the final four games of the year... Topped team with 10 pass break ups, including a career-best six against Arkansas... Finished career with pair of interceptions and eight tackles vs. Cincinnati in AutoZone Liberty Bowl... Hayward's interception return for a TD against UConn tied the game in the fourth quarter and helped set the stage for the Dore's comeback win... Also posted two interceptions at South Carolina... Has seen action on offense carrying the ball five times for 60 yards... Also tabbed as midseason All-American by SI.com and CBSSports.com. 2010: Started every game at cornerback... Put together his finest year in Commodore uniform, setting single-season highs in interceptions (6), solo tackles (59), total tackles (70) and passes defended (17).

Alfonzo Dennard Scouting Report

Alfonzo Dennard – Nebraska (HT: 5-10 – WT: 204)

Positives -- Has average straight line speed with adequate bulk for his size, shows solid upper-body strength; is a good fit in press coverage, will knock smaller receivers off their routes at the line of scrimmage... Does a good job blanketing and staying with receivers when they come into his zone and breaks well on the ball... Does not allow much separation on short and intermediate routes, man and zone coverage skills are both slightly above average... Pretty good at staying with receivers at the break... Has good recovery speed when he gets beat on deeper routes, makes up for mistakes... Has some pop in his pads, shows good toughness, can make the big hit and will fit in well on a team lacking physicality in the secondary... Is a solid athlete, flashes the ability to make big plays and has all the physical tools to be a good performer at the next level... Was a bit overrated in 2010 but got better at the end of that season and impressed me the more I watched him as a senior.

Negatives -- Has slightly below-average height for the position... Questionable ball skills, only four picks in his collegiate career... Looks a little awkward in the backpedal, slow out of his transitions, struggles to turn and run... Needs to get better at locating the ball in the air, is sometimes slow to get head around when covering deep routes... Will get blocked away from the ball carrier with relative ease, does not utilize good leverage at times, gets stuck watching the ball carrier instead of focusing on disengaging to make a play... Needs to get better in run support, is much better in pass coverage than playing the run... Tackling technique needs to improve, does not form up well on bigger ball carriers... Aggressive corner but a bit undisciplined, tends to gamble a lot and can give up some big plays to his side, will bite on double moves in man coverage... Has the build of a free safety and there are some rumblings he may have to move to safety, struggled in Senior Bowl practices in a scheme not best fit to his abilities... Has some durability concerns, including a minor shoulder injury in 2009 and a concussion in 2010, also missed three games with a pulled muscle in his leg in 2011... Threw a punch at Alshon Jeffery and was ejected in Nebraska's bowl game vs. South Carolina... Was arrested after allegedly punching a police officer in the head following a bar fight on April 21, less than a week prior to the draft; could fall to the fourth round or lower.

At Nebraska -- Dennard was overshadowed in the Husker secondary the past two years by 2010 Thorpe Award finalist Prince Amukamara, but opposing coaches and quarterbacks can attest to Dennard's ability. Dennard earned plenty of honors on his own in 2010, being named a second-team All-Big 12 choice by most sources, and helping Nebraska rank in the top five nationally in pass efficiency defense and passing yards allowed. Dennard first moved into the starting lineup midway through his sophomore year. 2010: Dennard started 13 of 14 games, while missing the majority of the Missouri game and the following contest at Iowa State with a concussion. Dennard was second on the team and fifth in the Big 12 with four interceptions and also finished with seven pass breakups and made 30 tackles, including 12 solo stops. His play helped the Nebraska defense allow opposing passers to complete less than 49 percent of their pass attempts. Dennard had a season-high six tackles and a hurry in the season opener against Western Kentucky. A week later he had his first career interception against Idaho, as the Blackshirts had six takeaways, including five interceptions. At Washington, Dennard picked off a third-quarter Jake Locker pass and returned it 31 yards for a touchdown, as the NU defense limited the Huskies to a 4-of-20 passing effort. Dennard had a pick for the third straight week against South Dakota State and also broke up a pair of passes. He had two pass breakups against Texas, as the Huskers held UT to just 62 passing yards. After missing time with an injury, Dennard returned against Kansas and had three tackles and picked off his fourth pass. Against Colorado, Dennard had four tackles and forced a fumble that led to a score in a 45-17 win. He finished the season with three tackles and a breakup in the Holiday Bowl against Washington.

Coryell Judie Scouting Report

Coryell Judie – Texas A&M (HT: 5-11¾ – WT: 194)

Positives -- Adequate size but not elite measureables... Aggressive corner with good first punch on receivers, not afraid to get physical despite his size... Incredible ball skills and has a nose for the big play, great athleticism allows him to snatch the ball at its highest point... Strong zone corner with good play recognition and has shown great closing ability on screens... Plays well against the run, and has the strength to disengage from sloppy blocking... Real talent and potential as a return man, many corners play special teams in college but Judie has the explosiveness that translates to the next level... Raw ability with a higher ceiling than some others... Many question marks exist but he is most definitely an intriguing prospect and if a team feels they can coach him up he could end up being a mid-round steal.

Negatives -- Has struggled with injuries and has gone through several surgeries which may scare teams off... Overaggressive at times and can be beaten with pump fakes and double moves... Playing with raw ability and not necessarily football intelligence, needs to improve as a student of the game... Good speed but does not have elite change of direction speed... Poor footwork at times forces him to take an extra step or two before closing on the ball... Played in junior college before transferring to Texas A&M which gives him less experience at the FCS level... Junior college career may give teams pause and question what was wrong coming out of high school... Has a higher ceiling but at the same time is much less sure of a prospect and could be out of the league in under five years... Saw a real drop in production in 2011, possibly with teams throwing away from him but will have teams wondering if he's one year standout.

At Texas A&M -- 2010: Earned honorable mention All-Big 12 status... recovered after missing all of 2009 to become a key component of the Aggie defensive backfield and special teams... played in all 13 games, starting ten contests... finished with 57 tackles, four pass break-ups, four interceptions and two tackles for loss... made his Texas A&M debut against Stephen F. Austin, making two tackles... picked off a pass to go along with four stops against Louisiana Tech... recorded back-to-back eight-tackle performances against Arkansas and Missouri... notched his second interception of the season against Texas Tech... moved into the kickoff return role against No. 9 Oklahoma and enjoyed one of his best games of the season with six tackles, a pick and a 100-yard kickoff return for a touchdown... following the win over the Sooners, was named one of seven National KOR Performers of the Week by College Football Performance Awards and Big 12 Special Team Player of the Week... returned a kickoff for a touchdown for the second consecutive week on the road at Baylor, taking a kick back 84 yards for the score... posted seven tackles in a win over No. 8 Nebraska. 2009: Redshirted after suffering an injury in fall camp. Fort Scott Community College: In 2008 was named a Junior College All-American... as a freshman notched 44 tackles, intercepted six passes and broke up seven more... as a sophomore recorded 38 tackles, intercepted a pass and recovered a fumble... averaged 26.8 yards per kickoff return and 15.1 yards per punt return, including a touchdown... coached by Jeff Sims.

Trevin Wade Scouting Report

Trevin Wade – Arizona (HT: 5-10<sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 192)

Positives -- Quick feet, is fluid in his backpedal, can be an NFL contributor immediately due to his footwork... Good at getting his hands on the wide receiver and changing their path, his man skills are a plus... Not known as a speed burner, but gets on top of receivers' routes in straight line situations; is able to flip his hips and close quickly on the action... Good ball skills, displays a burst to the action out of his plant... A finesse cover corner who uses technique to get the job done, but his physical tools give him a relatively high ceiling at the next level... Can play the slot and possibly make a living in the NFL at a nickel corner... Good mental toughness, didn't have a very good junior season while hampered by left thigh bruise, but bounced back well the following year; in four seasons, had 12 career interceptions and 28 pass breakups... Was labeled as a playmaker for the Wildcats defense and considered an on-field leader... Garnered All Pac-12 second team honors in 2011 after falling off a bit his junior season.

Negatives -- Below average deep speed and about an inch shorter than ideal height... Can be pushed around by bigger opponents, has to show he can hold his own against bigger receivers, both in coverage and getting off blocks... Tackling is below average, dives at ball carriers' feet too much... Shows the lack of want-to at times, has been labeled inconsistent, admitted to playing "lazy" defense as a junior... Injuries seem to have slowed him and have been a cause for his struggles... His ability to handle success came into question following a poor junior season, had played well as a freshman and sophomore... He needs to maintain a quality work ethic and prove he can handle the pressure of being a NFL player by taking care of business at the next level... Seems like the mental aspect of the game is a bigger question mark than on-field potential.

At Arizona -- 3L... Expected to anchor secondary as one of two senior leaders in 2011... Two-year starter and 38-game veteran... 11 starts in 2010 in 12 games played, finishing with 47 tackles, an interception and three passes defended... Returned the pick 85 yards for a key score against Iowa... 20 career PBUs are within seven of UA all-time Top 10, interceptions are within two... Second-team All-Pac-10 honors in 2009 with a breakout performance... Led the team and was 32nd nationally in interceptions per game (5, .38) and 28th in passes defended (14)... Had two picks against NAU and one each at Iowa, at Oregon State and at USC... Team honors for defensive player of the week against NAU and Iowa... Took one back 38 yards for a score against the Hawkeyes... Takeaway at USC set up UA's first score against Trojans... Career-high 11 tackles against Stanford... Had 10 hits at Oregon State... Broke up three passes at Iowa... 26 games played with 13 starts... First-team all-league by Phil Steele publications... Tied for sixth in the Pac-10 with four interceptions in 2008, all accomplished as a reserve... Had two picks in the opener, returning them for 69 yards combined... Also intercepted passes in victories against California and WSU... Broke up three passes including one in bowl game... Season-high three tackles in Washington game to earn coaches' special teams player of the week honor ... Six hits on kickoff coverage... Redshirted his freshman season in 2007.

Shaun Prater Scouting Report

Shaun Prater – Iowa (HT: 5-10<sup>1</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 190)

Positives -- Has the potential to excel in both man and zone coverage... Good foot speed to keep up with receivers deep, recovers well... Is quick in his backpedal, above average footwork, is seemingly always in good position... Displays a burst to the action out of his plant, and quickly closes on the action... Shows good awareness of players around him in zone coverage... Makes the sure interceptions and has the speed to make something happen with the ball in his hands... Sure tackler despite his size, will get to the ball carrier and make the tackle, prevents extra yards after the catch... Displays good range in pursuit, breaks down well and has some surprising power on contact... Tough minded player, doesn't shy away from competition, never made any excuses for himself even after recovering from a serious illness which almost put his football career in jeopardy.

Negatives -- Has to get better in press coverage, feet sometimes stop in press and also needs to improve using his hands... Tends to peak too much in the backfield and can be prone to mistakes, is susceptible to double moves... Gives up the inside in man coverage on slant routes... Needs to refine his ball skills, has a hard time adjusting to balls in the air and get after the football at its highest point... Needs to show that he is not just a product of an active front seven for the Iowa defense... Missed two games and was limited in others with a lingering hamstring injury as a junior... Was one of 13 Hawkeye players afflicted with rhabdomyolysis (rapid destruction of skeletal muscle) prior to the 2011 season.

At Iowa -- 2011: Started all 13 games at cornerback, recording 33 solo tackles and 18 assists... also recorded four forced fumbles, one interception, three pass break-ups and one QB sack... started at cornerback in 34-7 opening win over Tennessee Tech... 89-yard interception return for a touchdown is his second career score... started at cornerback in triple-overtime loss at Iowa State, recording five solo tackles and two assists... started at cornerback in 31-27 win over Pittsburgh, recording two solo tackles, one assist and two forced fumbles... started at cornerback in 45-17 win over Louisiana-Monroe as defense allowed just 59 net rushing yards... recorded three solo tackles and three assists vs. ULM... started at cornerback in 22-21 loss at Minnesota... recorded four solo tackles vs. Gophers, along with third forced fumble of the season that led to Iowa's initial touchdown... started at cornerback in 24-16 win over 13th-ranked Michigan as defense allowed just 323 yards total offense... recorded three assisted tackles vs. Wolverines... started at cornerback in 37-21 loss to Michigan State... recorded five solo tackles and three assists vs. MSU... started at cornerback in 31-21 win at Purdue as defense allowed just 282 yards total offense... recorded six solo tackles at Purdue, including a QB sack and fourth caused fumble of the season... also had two pass break-ups vs. Boilermakers... started at cornerback in 20-7 loss at Nebraska, recording one solo tackle, career-best four assists and one pass break-up... started at cornerback in Insight Bowl loss to Oklahoma, recording four solo tackles and one assisted tackle... Ron Brooks – LSU (HT: 5-10 – WT: 190)

Positives -- Very good straight line speed, ran a 4.37-40 at the combine, second among cornerbacks only to UCF's Josh Robinson... Most of his collegiate experience comes from nickel and dime formations; makes plays from the inside and does a nice job covering slot receivers... Fluid hips with quick feet and to turn and run with wide receivers and stay in the hip pocket of receivers in man coverage... Despite limited snaps, Brooks knows how to many plays and contribute in all facets of the game; has a knack for making big plays when he is on the field, both of his interceptions as a senior went for touchdowns... Very aggressive despite his size, not afraid of contact; effective blitz, combined for 12.5 tackles for loss and 5.5 sacks over the last two seasons... Does a terrific job on special teams, played the gunner position and has the ability to return kicks when needed... Played at the highest level of college football and faced some tough receiving talent on a weekly basis in the SEC... NFL bloodlines, father Anthony played wide receiver for the Bears, Eagles and Chargers.

Negatives -- Lacks starter experience, only started three of 52 games for LSU; however, played behind elite collegiate corners in Patrick Peterson, Morris Claiborne and Tyrann Mathieu... Lack of size and strength is a concern moving forward... The majority of his struggles of come from playing outside; has only spot-started on the outside, looks very out of place not playing the slot... Average instincts, needs to improve ability to diagnose plays, both in the run and pass game... Will have to prove early in the NFL that he can contribute on the defensive side of the ball and not just on special teams.

At Louisiana State -- 2011: Played in 13 games and made three starts... One of LSU's most experienced players having played in every game since 2008 (52 games)... A top reserve in the secondary who often played in LSU's nickel and dime packages... Made two interceptions this season and returned both for touchdowns... Has three career INTs and has returned all three for TDs... Set a career high with six tackles and also added one sack and a fumble recovery against Arkansas... Serves as a gunner on punt coverage after downing several punts inside the 20 last year. 2010: Played in all 13 games with no starts... Very productive season as he finished with 33 total tackles, 6.0 tackles for loss, two sacks, three pass breakups, one forced fumble and one interception... Had his best game as a Tiger against Louisiana-Monroe when he made his first career interception and returned it 32 yards for a touchdown... Added his first career sack to go along with a career-high five tackles and one pass breakup in win over Louisiana-Monroe... ## Omar Bolden Scouting Report

Omar Bolden – Arizona State (HT: 5-10<sup>3</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 202)

Positives -- Speed is the name of his game... Also has some quick feet with good short area burst, can plant his foot and make plays... Has the top end speed to run with wide receivers and the ability to recover in coverage... Physical for his size and will mix it up and get off of blocks... Is able to get off blocks when necessary to make plays... Rallies to the football... Decent ball skills, recorded seven interceptions and 21 pass breakups in 41 career games, including 35 starts... Will wrap up ball carriers with sure tackling... A multi talented weapon as a defensive back or returner... Shows ability in the return game, is able to use quickness to get north and south... Quality teammate and hard worker, definitely puts the team in front of his personal goals... A tough player and leader on the field, was named team captain of the Sun Devils despite not playing in the 2011 season... Was one of the top defensive back prospects in the Pac-12 prior to his injury... Led all defensive backs with 24 reps of 225 lbs. at the combine.

Negatives -- Injuries have slowed him down, missed the entire 2011 season with a ACL injury... Had previously been granted a medical hardship waiver after missing eight games in 2009 with a knee injury... Bigger wide receivers seem to give him problems, will have to prove his height will not be an issue at the next level, otherwise needs to show that he has the skill set to be more than just a slot cornerback in the NFL... Will need to show at his pro day that he is fully recovered from the ACL injury suffered during a scrimmage April 3, 2011.

At Arizona State -- Highly recruited cornerback who was a five-year member of the Sun Devil football team... a four-year starter in the Sun Devil defensive backfield... appeared in 41 games in his career, including all 25 played during his first two seasons at ASU... made 22 consecutive starts from the fifth game of his freshman season in 2007 to Sept. 19, 2009... recorded seven interceptions and 21 pass break-ups in four seasons... also had 138 career tackles (100 solo)... in March of 2010, was granted an additional year of eligibility for the Sun Devil football team, as his medical hardship petition was approved by the Pac-10 due to missing almost the entire 2009 season because of injury... ## Donnie Fletcher Scouting Report

Donnie Fletcher – Boston College (HT: 6-0¼ – WT: 201)

Positives -- Good size and build, especially in class with many other corners below 6'... Experienced starter who uses his size to be very physical... Aggressive at the line of scrimmage and talented gunner on special teams... Long wingspan allows him to get his hands on passes... Good tackling form and power... Good instincts and play recognition... Above average ball tracking skills and plays the deep ball well... Adequate speed to keep up with receivers, can use his size to hold position, can excel in a Cover-2 scheme... Could present real problems physically for smaller receivers if he is able to bulk up even further... Coaches at the Senior Bowl praised his football IQ, competitive nature and physical play... Fletcher has the skillset to make the transition to safety if he can't stick as a cornerback at the next level.

Negatives -- Lacks pro level explosion, has only adequate deep speed... Played on a subpar defense and did not face elite talent at the receiver position... Needs lots of coaching in man coverage as he played primarily zone at Boston College... Needs to improve footwork and body positioning, too often plays high with poor hip movement... Will require significant coaching in order to be a starter at the next level... Is more likely a nickel corner and career backup, this will hurt his draft stock... Alma mater has little to no history producing NFL caliber corners... Missed games at the beginning of his senior season due to a back injury... Saw dramatic drop in production in 2011 after a good 2010 season... Possibly one of the biggest knocks against Fletcher is that he was not invited to the NFL combine this year; this was obviously out of his control but it's one less opportunity to answer questions about his deep speed and show he warranted a late second or early third round pick.

At Boston College -- 2011: Made one interception, one pass breakup and two tackles (1 solo) at Miami... tallied six tackles (3 solo) and broke up two passes at Notre Dame... snagged his first interception of the season and tallied four takedowns (1 solo) against NC State... made four solo tackles at Maryland... registered three tackles at Virginia Tech... recorded one solo tackle and one broken up pass against Clemson... tallied four tackles (3 solo) versus Wake Forest... broke up a pass in addition to making four stops (2 solo) against UMass... notched three tackles (2 solo) against Duke... made four solo tackles at UCF. 2010: Started all 13 games at field corner... fourth on the team with 58 tackles and 43 solo stops... led the squad with five interceptions and also had three pass breakups... tied for 11th nationally in interceptions... tallied seven tackles, a fumble recovery, and a pass breakup versus Nevada in the Kraft Fight Hunger Bowl... recorded four tackles with one for a loss at Duke... tallied four tackles and picked off a pass at Wake Forest... had another interception against Clemson... notched four tackles against Maryland... made seven tackles, two for a loss, while intercepting and breaking up a pass at Florida State... recorded seven tackles and had an interception at NC State... had an interception, seven tackles and a pass breakup against Notre Dame... tallied four tackles against Virginia Tech and had five vs. Kent State.

Justin Bethel Scouting Report

Justin Bethel – Presbyterian (HT: 5-11<sup>5</sup>/<sub>8</sub> – WT: 200)

Positives -- Has good size, a stout build; versatile player who can play both cornerback and safety... A great athlete, had a 39.5" vertical jump at the combine, and a video circulated a week before the draft of Bethel jumping onto a 60 inch box... Has good long speed if playing safety, ran a 4.58-40 at the combine... Great tackler, wraps up and drives players into the ground... A special teams ace, blocked nine kicks, a Big South Conference record, in four years at Presbyterian; also has special teams experience as a gunner and has added value as a punt return specialist, can contribute right away on special teams units as a rookie... Good intangibles, a leader and a hard worker; was always overlooked and plays with a chip on his shoulder... A postseason riser with a lot of momentum; has steadily risen up draft boards all year.

Negatives -- Although he can fit on almost any team due to his versatility, his lack of a true position may hurt him... Lacks deep speed if playing cornerback, may not be fast enough to keep up with wide receivers there... More of an athlete than football player at this point, needs coaching... Played at FCS Presbyterian and hasn't faced top level competition, there's a big difference between... Lacks instincts in coverage, doesn't react well to the ball and doesn't play with good technique.

At Presbyterian -- 2010: Big South Second-Team Defensive All-Conference... Started 10 games, missing one with an injury... Recorded a team-best 47 unassisted tackles... Was in on 59 total stops... 15th in the Big South in tackles per game with 5.9... Finished the year averaging 6.6 tackles per game in league play, which was third most... ## Ryan Steed Scouting Report

Ryan Steed – Furman (HT: 5-10½ – WT: 195)

Positives -- Good length (78" wingspan) and athleticism to compete in the NFL... Good transition speed and quick hips to turn and run with receivers... Good zone corner with big play ability... Long wingspan allows Steed to make up for his less than elite size... Fluid athlete with good ball hawking instincts... Good vertical jump with excellent timing allows Steed to compete with taller receivers for the ball... Takes good angles to the ball and/or ball carrier... Solid tackler and willing to play inside the box... Catching some of the offseason/small school talent hype that we see every offseason, Steed's value will continue to rise with publicity... Played well against other NFL caliber small school talent... Steed's best game was against Appalachian State's Brian Quick... Played well and was able to hold his own in the Senior Bowl with some of the top talent in the country.

Negatives -- About an inch shorter than ideal height... Questionable speed and ability to keep up with elite NFL receivers... Ran a disappointing 4.68-40 at the combine... Was not asked to play press or man coverage at Furman... Opens his hips early at times to compensate for lack of speed... Will be exposed by technical receivers with good double moves... May struggle outside of a Cover-2 system... Can be overaggressive at times and will need to realize that this will kill him in the NFL; Steed needs to recognize that professional receivers are gone if you give up more than two steps... Hype may not match the talent as teams potentially reach too early for a very raw player... Needs plenty of coaching to become an NFL starter... Did not face elite receivers on a consistent basis (Quick was probably the toughest competition).

At Furman -- Highly regarded young player who is set to take over the starting job at field cornerback... possesses good size and impressive ability... established playmaker... will help form a trio of new starters in the Paladin secondary this fall. 2008: Quickly emerged as key contributor and playmaker in his first season in the Paladin program... joined fellow cornerback Jordan Griffin and wide receiver David Hendrix in being named to the SoCon Coaches All-Freshman Team... saw action in all 12 games, including quality, productive work on special teams... compiled 10 tackles and two interceptions... blocked two punts... had a season high three tackles versus The Citadel (34-20 win)... had an interception return for 15 yards against Mars Hill (62-14 win) in his collegiate debut... also picked off a pass, which he returned 33 yards against sixth-ranked Delaware (23-21 win)... first blocked punt was recovered in the end zone for a touchdown by teammate Masharn Austin in a 35-10 win over Chattanooga... second blocked punt came against Western Carolina (28-21 win)... recipient of Furman's Whitey Kendall Specialist Award. Positives -- Good athletic ability, can return kicks in addition to playing corner... Is quick and has decent hips, can flip his hips and can get to a spot in a hurry... Shows good backpedal in man coverage... Can make plays on the football in the air... Shows promise in both man or zone coverage, does a good job of understanding his responsibilities; looks better in zone coverage, does a good job of making reads high to the underneath route, this shows when he breaks off the deep route to make a play underneath... Does show promise in man coverage, and should continue to get better... Has the knack of getting to the football in the air, also seems to be always be around the football... Will give up his body to make a play, attacks the ball carrier with a purpose... Talks a lot of trash on the field, but has the skillset to back it up... Has the quickness to make people miss in the return game.

Negatives -- About an inch or two shorter than ideal height, looks even smaller on the field... Gets single blocked too easily, overall strength is an issue but he showed some promise at the NFL combine with 19 reps of 225 lbs... Is prone to taking some false steps in coverage which slows him down on breaking to the football... Makes too much unnecessary movement, expends too much energy... In zone coverage, has a habit of shuffling side to side... In man coverage, allows wide receivers to cross his face... Allows for the opponent to get a free release with little resistance... Peeks in the backfield too much... Tackles with his head down, goes for the ankles which leads to some below average tackling... Takes too many chances, especially in the return game, needs to know when there's no chance for a return and call for the fair catch... His small school competition will come into question.

At Cal Poly -- 2010: Earned first-team All-Great West Conference honors for third straight and also was a third-team Sports Network All-American after recording 55 tackles (40 solo), one sack, two interceptions and nine pass breakups as a junior... sack was against Southern Utah... set new career high with eight tackles in season opener against Humboldt State... also had seven tackles in three other contests... returned an interception 47 yards against Fresno State and another 15 yards against Montana... enters final college season with six career interceptions, two in each of his first three seasons with Mustangs... career-high three pass breakups against Montana... returned 17 punts an average of 12.6 yards, 14th-best in the nation and second in the Great West... longest punt return was 37 yards against North Dakota... career punt return average of 13.83 yards per game is a school record... expected to handle punt returns again in 2011 and also could return kickoffs with Mark Rodgers. 2009: A first-team All-Great West Conference defensive back after finishing fourth for the Mustangs with 48 total tackles (31 solo)... 3.0 tackles for lost yardage, intercepted a pair of passes (South Dakota State and Montana) and broke up six other pass plays... returned theft against South Dakota State 47 yards for a touchdown, tying the game at 14-14 just before halftime... matched his career high with seven tackles in both the Dixie State and UC Davis contests... returned 13 punts an average of 15.5 yards, a school record... longest return was 59 yards against Dixie State and also had a 54-yarder against San Jose State... missed 2010 Spring Game with a fractured wrist. 2008: Notched 42 total tackles (35 solo), forced three fumbles, intercepted two passes (one in first career game as a Mustang at San Diego State, returning it 46 yards) and 10 pass breakups... other interception was against Southern Utah.

Looks fluid in man coverage and is able to cover longer developing routes; has fluid hips to move and break in coverage... Has good ball skills, awareness is a plus and possesses good range to make plays on the ball... Plays smart and understands what he can do on the football field, stays within his boundary... Understands his run fits and angles, physical yet reliable tackler when he gets to the football... Can play in both man and zone schemes, but his true value is his slot coverage skills; looks like he can help an NFL team from day one and has the tools to develop into an NFL starter in the future... A junior college transfer to Florida State who improved the Seminoles secondary upon his arrival; was part of a three-man starting rotation at cornerback and also saw plenty of snaps as a nickel corner.

Negatives -- Has just average height and build, needs to continue filling up his frame... Poor straight line speed, ran just a 4.68-40 at the combine... Unpolished footwork, has the tendency to overextend when routes are broken off in coverage, which leads to separation... Gets too high in his backpedal, stays upright, gets too off balance and can get turned around in coverage... Needs to be more physical with his hands in press coverage and work on re-routing wide receivers... Was somewhat unheralded at Florida State playing behind Xavier Rhodes and Greg Reid.

At Florida State -- 2011: Senior cornerback who was part of a three-man starting rotation at cornerback in helping FSU rank as the No. 4 defense nationally - second-best defense against the run and No. 20 in pass defense... also served as the nickelback but started seven games at either field or boundary corner... recipient of the Don Powell Award at the team's annual banquet which is given to the unsung Hero... finished as Florida State's second-leading tackler with 58 stops (43 unassisted, 15 assisted) while also adding six tackles for loss, a team-best nine pass break-ups, one sack and an interception... earned first career start vs. ULM, registering two tackles and a half-tackle for a loss... tied for team lead with nine tackles against then No. 1 Oklahoma... made a season-best 11 stops at Clemson... intercepted first pass of the season at Florida and returned it 89 yards, which was the seventh longest INT in FSU history and second-longest not resulting in a TD. 2010: Junior college transfer who made an immediate impact in 2010, jumping into the lineup as the primary nickelback in the season opener and pushing for a starting job at field corner down the stretch... recorded 41 tackles (33 solos), despite no starts... repeatedly showed a penchant for making a big play in key moments... collected the first of four interceptions - which tied for the team lead - against Samford... also intercepted passes in wins over Clemson, Florida and South Carolina... named one of the top newcomers on defense at the annual Florida State football banquet.

Positives -- Has good size and a nice frame for a cornerback, is one of the bigger corners in this draft class, has the size to succeed at the next level covering NFL wide receivers... Very athletic for his size and shows explosion on plays in front of him... Excels in coverage and can function in a man or zone scheme, is best and most comfortable in off man coverage... A technician in coverage, has a good understanding of the game, has a smooth backpedal and knows how to play low... Does a good job of turning and running vertically with opposing wide outs... Recovery speed helps him when beaten, has the ability to get back into the hip pocket... Shows some promising ability when the ball is in the air... Confident on the field and has the mental makeup not to back down from competition, has three years of starting experience after transferring from Southern Mississippi... Negatives -- Is behind the learning curve and will need to find a team that will help him develop his game... Had issues with false steps in coverage, which gets him in trouble... His overall footwork needs improvement, especially in press coverage, gets off balance when he tries to punch at the line... Needs to improve getting off blocks, overall strength is below average; allows receivers to out-muscle him on running plays, needs to be more physical... The small school tag will be placed on him, and he'll need to prove he can perform above his level of competition in college.

Plays well when his eyes are scanning the field... Flows to the football well, and will stick his nose in the pile... Is a hustle guy, takes good angles and runs hard in pursuit... Will tackle and get in on the play, not afraid of contact... Has the uncanny ability to make impact plays that change the game... Can play safety or cornerback and also shows the ability to play the inside as well as the outside; his hybrid playing style can make him a viable player on any defense... Menzie looks better playing closer to the line of scrimmage, has good short area quickness and could excel covering the slot... A confident and smart player, helped solidify the secondary for one of the best college football defensive units in 2011, was named first team All-American by the American Football Coaches Association.

Negatives -- Has just slightly below-average height for the position... His 4.74-40 at the combine was second worst among cornerbacks... Relies too much on his natural ability, too aggressive at times, rather than using proper technique... Gives up the inside in man coverage, NFL quarterbacks and wide receivers will make him pay... Needs to bring his body with him when he tackles, can lose his eyes at times by ducking his head on tackles... Must break down better when tackling, gets a little out of control at times... Plays with his hands too much down the field, a point of emphasis for NFL officials... Despite good ball skills, had just one interception in two years with the Crimson Tide... Has just two years of FBS experience, played at Copiah-Lincoln (Miss.) Community College prior to Alabama.

At Alabama -- 2011: DeQuan Menzie is the Tide's starting cornerback opposite Dre Kirkpatrick... very versatile and physical corner with outstanding cover skills while showing the ability to blitz off the corner and bring a toughness to the run support... has 12 starts this year and 37 total tackles... made 3.0 tackles for loss (-15 yards) with 1.5 sacks and a team-high 11 pass breakups... recorded his first-career interception against Arkansas and returned it for a touchdown... ranks tied for 42nd nationally and tied for fifth in the SEC with 1.0 passes defended per game... part of a defense that leads the nation in pass defense (116.3 ypg) and pass efficiency defense (83.9)... earned Defensive Player of the Week honors from the UA coaching staff following the season opener and was the coaches' Special Teams Player of the Week after Vanderbilt. Kent State: Made six tackles and was a regular presence in the Golden Flashes' backfield with 1.5 tackles for loss (-9 yards) and half of a sack (-4 yards). Penn State: Recovered a fumble and logged five tackles in the Tide's 27-11 win at the No. 23 Nittany Lions. North Texas: Broke up a career-best three passes while making two solo tackles and an assisted stop in the UA's 41-0 shutout of UNT. Arkansas: Intercepted his first career pass and returned it 25 yards for a game-changing touchdown in the Tide's 38-14 win over No. 14 Arkansas... helped limit the Hogs to just 226 yards of total offense, 291 yards below their season average... had one solo tackle and one pass breakup.

Cliff Harris Scouting Report

Cliff Harris – Oregon (HT: 5-11½ – WT: 175)

Positives -- Explosive player with plenty of big play aggression and ability... Has the physical tools and instincts to be an elite player at cornerback with the proper coaching... Fluid hips and ball hawking ability, looks like a young Asante Samuel on tape... Great cover corner with the talent to develop into a good all-around corner given time... Experienced starter against elite talent in Pac-12 on a week to week basis... Entered the year as one of the top corners in country coming off a sophomore year as a second team All-American... Broke up 23 passes and averaged 18.8 yards per punt return as a sophomore, and set an Oregon record with four punt return touchdowns... A projection pick with the potential to be a steal looking back a few years from now... Has the upside of a late first or early second round pick, just needs to stay on the field.

Negatives -- Good height but bulk is a big concern at just 175 pounds, will need to seriously bulk up in the offseason if he intends to compete against elite receivers in the NFL... Requires safety help over the top to compensate for his lack of speed, ran just a 4.64-40 at the combine... Receivers will take advantage of Harris's size by getting physical early... Harris will compensate for his size by playing off coverage at times and trying to bait throws... Overaggressive at times, and like many other aggressive corners is prone to biting on double moves and pump fakes... Legitimate off the field concerns that eventually led to his dismissal from Oregon... Was cited in June for driving a rental car 118 mph with a suspended license and suspended for the 2011 season opener, then missed the final five games of the regular season and Pac-12 championship game following a subsequent citation in late October for driving with a suspended license, without a seatbelt and without valid insurance... The final straw was a citation for possession of less than an ounce of marijuana on November 25... Despite his on-field ability he won't be considered until day three at the earliest due to character concerns.

At Oregon -- 2010: The most decorated return man in a single season in Oregon history was named All-America by the Football Writers Association of America, Sporting News, SI.com and ESPN.com, and earned second-team All-America status as a cornerback according to the Associated Press and SI.com... One of just four consensus All-America picks in school history and first as a returner/all-purpose player... College Football Performance Awards punt returner performer of the year trophy recipient... Garnered all-Pac-10 accolades as a punt returner (Coaches, Phil Steele, Rivals.com, Scout.com) and cornerback (Phil Steele), as well as second team honors at his defensive position (Coaches, Rivals.com, Scout.com)... One of 10 semifinalists for the Jim Thorpe Award, presented to the nation's top defensive back, and on the watch list for the Chuck Bednarik Award, given to the top defensive player in the country... Named midseason first-team All-America at cornerback and second-team at punt returner by SI.com...

Led the NCAA with 23 passes defended (1.77 per game) and 17 pass breakups while ranking second in punt returns, averaging 18.8 yards... Also the FBS leader with four touchdowns on punt returns and six all-purpose plays of 60 yards or more... Pac-10 leader in interceptions with six (tied for No. 10 in NCAA at 0.46 per game)... Set the UO single-season mark and tied the career record with four punt returns for touchdowns... Also established Oregon season records for punt return yards (546) and average... Five total non-offensive TDs (including one interception return) - all this season - are tied for most in a career at Oregon.

Keith Tandy Scouting Report

Keith Tandy – West Virginia (HT: 5-10 – WT: 202)

Positives -- A bone crushing hitter who can scare receivers like a fierce middle linebacker... Not elite height, but great build, nicely filled out... Great tackler on defense and special teams... A poor man's Dre Kirkpatrick, a corner who is solid in coverage and an excellent tackler... Raw coverage ability that can be improved with coaching at the next level... Good instincts on when to break to the ball... Has fluid hips and good recovery speed... Enjoys getting physical with receivers and making catches difficult... Possesses good upside and the versatile ability to play multiple positions... Has similar qualities to Kevin Barnes (third round pick of the Washington Redskins in 2009), good physical nature but needs to develop in coverage... Worth a day three pick as a contributor on special teams and a developmental corner.

Negatives -- Very raw player who is not technically sound... Not a natural corner, may need to play safety at the next level... Does not possess elite speed to keep up with vertical receivers... Lacks great height or arm length to fight with taller receivers... Struggles with mirroring receivers and will typically allow balls to be caught and then make the tackle... Appears to hesitate in coverage when the ball is thrown which prevents him from breaking up passes... Prefers to play in off or zone coverage, feels the need to read the quarterback rather than the receiver... Can be beat with double moves, or pump fakes as he is often staring in the backfield... Does not always take the best angles... Needs to play smarter to compensate for his lack of speed if he is going to succeed at the next level.

At West Virginia -- 2010: Started all 13 games...

Earned second-team All-America honors from SI.com and third-team All-America honors from rivals.com... Named first team all-Big East by the Big East coaches, rivals.com and Phil Steele... ## Coty Sensabaugh Scouting Report

Coty Sensabaugh – Clemson (HT: 5-11¼ – WT: 189)

Positives -- Outstanding athletic ability; really helped himself at the combine and might now receive mid-round consideration, his 4.42-40 and 6.60 sec. in the three-cone drill were both top five among cornerbacks... Was often called up to cover the opponent's fastest wide receiver and never backed away from that challenge... Can play zone if needed, but is better suited as a man cover corner than zone player due to his skill set... Excels in deep coverage, can stay in the hip pocket of receivers; has a good feel for routes and is usually in good position to make the play... Despite getting beat at times, has outstanding recovery speed which really helps him in man coverage... Very fluid when turning his hips to run with receivers; accelerates quickly and covers a lot of ground on the field... Very smart player with good pre-snap recognition skills... Had a standout senior season, was very consistent for the Tigers, which put him on the map... NFL bloodlines, his cousin Gerald is a safety for the Dallas Cowboys.

Negatives -- Has very little starting experience, only had three starts prior to his senior season... Has a bit of a pop coming out of his backpedal and will play too high on the snap... Allows too many free releases off the line of scrimmage, needs to improve using his hands and getting them on the receiver at the line; bigger receivers tend to give him problems as he's not physical enough off the snap... Needs to improve his overall strength at the next level... Ball skills and awareness could both improve; Sensabaugh has a bad habit of not turning his head when the ball is in the air and could be prone to illegal contact or pass interference penalties in the NFL.

At Clemson -- 2010: Had 28 tackles, a tackle for loss, an interception, and two pass breakups in 352 snaps over 13 games (three starts)... started early in the season against Presbyterian College and Auburn... had two tackles in each of the first four games... had an interception in 42 snaps against North Texas... had four tackles in 24 snaps against Maryland... had three tackles, a tackle for loss, and a pass breakup in 60 snaps against #23 N.C. State... had four tackles in 31 snaps against South Florida. 2009: Had an interception in the win over Florida State... played 23 snaps in that game and helped the Tigers contain Florida State's standout quarterback Christian Ponder... had career-high three tackles against TCU when he played 26 snaps... played 25 snaps in opener against Middle Tennessee... played on defense in 10 games and in 13 games overall... had two pass breakups for the year and both were in the game against Coastal Carolina. 2008: Second-team cornerback most of the year... did not play in the season-opener, but played in each of the last 12 contests... played special teams in 12 games and defense in nine games... played on defense in each of the last eight games... had his first career interception against Duke when he played a season-high 21 snaps... had two tackles against The Citadel in his first career game... had his first career pass breakup at Boston College.

Charles Brown Scouting Report

Charles Brown – North Carolina (HT: 5-9 – WT: 202)

Positives -- A former high school running back and wide receiver, well put together athlete... Fluid hip action, able to plant and get to his spot... Changes direction well with plays in front of him... Is best suited for a zone scheme, but has also shown flashes in man coverage... Physical corner, can control wide receivers with his jam at the line of scrimmage... Does a nice job in run support, plays with a lot of physicality; good tackler from the secondary and can deliver some big hits... Plays with a lot of confidence... Experienced in the return game, has the ability to return kicks and punts and make people miss... Despite the 2010 suspension, is by all accounts a good teammate and locker room guy, was the leader of an inexperienced Tar Heels secondary last season... An underrated collegiate player who unfortunately doesn't have the skillset to stand out at the next level.

Negatives -- Undersized and lacks the foot speed to be a quality NFL corner... Lack of quality footwork creates issues for him, a big reason for his man coverage struggles, his technique needs to be refined... Big plays against are far too frequent, fails to prevent them on a consistent basis... Can cover in man, but longer routes are where he struggles... Needs everything close to him to be successful, can make some plays in short areas... Faster wide receivers can beat him deep consistently... Plays too far off in coverage, lets receivers get too much separation and struggles to close on plays... His ball skills and awareness are below average, has some issues making consistent plays on the ball when it is in the air... He'll get overaggressive and get off balance, his aggressiveness can get him in trouble in coverage, needs to play more under control... Would have to improve significantly to play on the outside in the NFL... Missed the entire 2010 season due to being a part of the North Carolina scandal that involved players receiving benefits, also missed some time in 2008 with an ankle injury.

At North Carolina -- 2009: Played well in his first year as the starter at cornerback... Started all 13 games... Finished the season second on the team with 66 tackles... Ranked fifth in the ACC in passes defended with nine breakups and three interceptions... Led the team with nine PBUs... Broke up a pass and posted five tackles, including one for a loss, in the Meineke Car Care Bowl vs. Pittsburgh... Recorded four tackles and broke up a pass at NC State... Had two tackles in the win over Boston College... Led the team with eight tackles and broke up a pass in Carolina's win over No. 12 Miami... Recorded his third interception of the season vs. Duke and returned it 54 yards to set up a Carolina field goal... The interception came after UNC had turned the ball over in its own territory... Added four tackles and broke up a pass vs. the Blue Devils in a 19-6 win... Forced a fumble, broke up a pass and added six tackles in the win at Virginia Tech... Had four tackles vs. Florida State... Credited with two tackles and one pass breakup vs. Georgia Southern... Posted a team-high eight stops vs. Virginia, including a 2-yard tackle for loss... Registered four tackles at Georgia Tech... Posted a team-high nine tackles, broke up two passes and had a fumble recovery in a win over East Carolina... Had an outstanding game at Connecticut with an interception, a fumble caused and recovered, one pass breakup and five tackles... Posted five tackles, including a tackle for loss, and picked off a pass in the end zone in the season opener vs. The Citadel. 2008: Carolina's starting nickel defensive back... Played in 10 games, including the Meineke Car Care Bowl.

Robert Blanton Scouting Report

Robert Blanton – Notre Dame (HT: 6-0¾ – WT: 208)

Positives -- Tall, athletic and physical corner who looks good in zone coverage... Uses his hands well, doesn't shy away from contact when needed, can be physical with bigger receivers, would be a good fit in press coverage... Shows good ability to make plays on the football, recorded eight career interceptions, two in all four seasons... Will come up and fill the run fits, can make plays near the line of scrimmage, is a decent open field tackler... Doesn't give up on plays, always competing and gives 100 percent... Has the tools to be a cornerback at the next level but could also undergo a transition to safety, has the mindset to fit there as well... Bounced back well in 2011 after starting just one game as a junior compared to eight as a sophomore the previous season; in total, made 26 starts in four seasons in South Bend.

Negatives -- Takes too many false steps, hops instead of backpedaling at the start of his coverage... Needs to improve upon his technique, can also be victimized by good route runners; poor deep speed, has some issues with faster wide receivers, ran just a 4.70-40 at the combine... Gives too much of a cushion at the line pre-snap... Doesn't sit into his backpedal, stays upright, gets too off balance and can get turned around in coverage... Looks like he thinks too much on the field, just needs to trust his read and react skill... Wasn't asked to play in man very much at Notre Dame.

At Notre Dame -- 2010: Saw action in all 13 games and started against Army... totaled career-best 52 tackles on the season, including seven tackles for loss (third on team)... the seven tackles for loss were the most by an Irish defensive back since A'Jani Sanders had 10.0 during the 1999 season... added one sack and two interceptions... tallied four tackles against Purdue, Michigan, Michigan State and Stanford including two solo stops in each of those games... recorded two solo stops, one of which was a sack, against Boston College... registered an interception against the Eagles... totaled three solo tackles against Pittsburgh... added six tackles against Western Michigan... helped the Irish against Tulsa with five stops, including three solo tackles... blocked a punt against Utah and dashed six yards for a touchdown... first Irish player to block a punt since Sergio Brown on Dec. 24, 2008, against Hawai'i in the Hawai'i Bowl... also first Notre Dame player to return a blocked punt for a touchdown since Toryan Smith (14 yards) on Nov. 15, 2008, vs. Navy... the touchdown was the second of Blanton's career... he registered a 47-yard interception return for touchdown vs. Purdue on Sept. 27, 2008... registered four tackles, including one unassisted take-down during the matchup with Army... recorded a season-high against USC with four solo tackles to limit the Trojans... led Notre Dame with career-high nine tackles vs. Miami in Hyundai Sun Bowl... added one interception against the Hurricanes... played 483 snaps on defense.

Robert Golden Scouting Report

Robert Golden – Arizona (HT: 5-11 – WT: 200)

Positives -- Former five-star recruit has an NFL-ability skillset with experience playing multiple positions in the defensive backfield... Has good athleticism and decent feet, plants well to attack the football... Good foot speed and overall quickness, can run with most receivers... When he is able to get his hands on wide receivers, he can redirect their routes with force... Can play in man, but seems to excel in zone coverage... Has made some plays on the football, including 26 pass breakups and four picks in his career, returned two of the four interceptions for touchdowns... Sure tackler from the second level... Ideally, skillset seems best suited to play strong safety... Vocal on-field leader who made 38 straight starts over the last three years to finish his career... An intriguing prospect because of his foot speed and versatility.

Negatives -- Needs to keep his emotions in check, sometimes lets his emotions take over... Plays in chase mode too often in coverage, has the speed to recover but gets beaten too often by faster wide receivers... Can be too aggressive in certain situations, forgets assignments and is susceptible to double moves, will take false steps and get beat, overall football awareness needs to improve... Has a frail looking frame, if moved to safety will need to add some weight... Can be single blocked too easily... Takes poor angles on run fits, forcing him out of position... Needs to be a more reliable wrap up tackler rather than going for the big hit all the time... Position changes have seemed to set him back, has never really looked comfortable... Needs to improve ball skills and finish with interceptions.

At Arizona -- 3L... Should factor at safety or corner in 2011, and his 26-game starting experience backs it up... Third on club with 60 tackles in 2010 at CB, with a team-high 12 PBUs, an interception and 2.5 TFL... Season high 11 hits against Stanford... Had interception at UCLA to earn coaches POW citation... 13-game starter at strong safety in 2009 after switching to the position from cornerback in spring ball... Career highs: 11 tackles vs. Stanford '10, one interception three times, 4 PBU against OkState '10... Date of birth Sept. 13, 1990.

Emanuel Davis – East Carolina (HT: 5-10 – WT: 186)

Positives -- Has a lengthy frame that can carry some additional bulk... Good foot quickness, is able to create some burst and cut down space in coverage... Works well in short areas, and when needed he can flip his hips and turn and run with receivers... In press man coverage, is physical with receivers and has the ability to adjust on the run... He shows some decent ball skills at times, and has the ability to make things happen when he has the ball in his hands... Capable of working in a man or zone scheme... Tough and aggressive for his size, is not afraid to make plays on ball carriers... Does well in run support and works to get off of blocks... Competes on every play, will chase plays from the back side... Good production at East Carolina (230 tackles, nine picks and four forced fumbles)... Has plenty of starter experience against some quality competition.

Negatives -- Slightly undersized, height is an issue especially exposed in jump ball situations... Has a tendency to peek into the backfield, he loses his receiver which gets him in trouble... Getting off of blocks is an issue, allows wide receivers to lock him up to easily and steer him from making plays... Needs to close the cushion in coverage, susceptible in the quick passing game... Has a bad habit of hopping at the start of his coverage... His back pedal is an issue, gets flat footed in coverage and he has a tough time in changing direction, needs to improve his footwork in coverage... Lacks quick twitch explosion, shows flashes time to time but deep speed and recovery speed is an issue... Was arrested in 2011 for public intoxication and suspended for the season opener.

At East Carolina -- 2010: Turned in another strong campaign and earned Second Team All-Conference USA honors from the league coaches and Rivals.com to go along with a First-Team All-C-USA selection by Phil Steele Magazine... State and tallied first quarterback hurry of the season during the third quarter... Credited with three-of-four tackles versus the Wolfpack in the third quarter... Made six tackles and one TFL at North Carolina and Virginia Tech... During second and third quarters against the Hokies, tallied four of six tackles, pass breakup and fumble recovery.

Cameron Chism – Maryland (HT: 5-10 – WT: 190)

Positives -- Has all the physical tools to have a good career at the next level... Is a natural athlete, fluid on the field; is able to turn and run and get vertically in an instant... His straight line speed is a plus, can stay with the faster wide receivers with ease... Can flip his hips in coverage, and put himself in good position to make plays... Does a good job of keeping separation to a minimum, his speed keeps him in the hip pocket of receivers... Looks good in zone coverage, shows the ability to come off his initial coverage to make plays underneath... Tackles well from his spot in the secondary, and goes for the knockout hit when given the opportunity... Enjoys rallying to the football, looks good in pursuit... He has the ability to get good return yardage when he gets the football in his hands... Three year starter for the Terps, started 32 of 44 career collegiate games.

Negatives -- About an inch or two shorter than ideal height... Struggles in press coverage, loses leverage with poor technique... Hops backwards instead of back pedaling and staying low... Plays high in coverage, leaving him susceptible to the quick game... Can be out-muscled at times, needs to rely more on technique to help correct this issue... His awareness in man coverage when the ball is in the air is below average, is prone to allowing easy completions... Had a low number of pass breakups and interceptions due to below average ball skills... Despite his speed, has issues planting and changing directions, needs to gather himself and then go... Likes contact, but needs to wrap up more consistently rather than shoulder tackling... Needs to show his game is not all about speed and that he has the football skills to succeed at the next level.

At Maryland -- 2011: Started the first nine games at cornerback and played in 10... one of only three players in school history with two interception returns for touchdowns (vs. Miami and Clemson) in a single season (also Curome Cox, 2002, and Bob Haley, 1966)... ranked 6th in the ACC and 58th nationally in interceptions (0.30 pg) and 18th in the conference in passes defended (0.70 pg)... a preseason All-ACC selection, fourth-team choice by Phil Steele... made six tackles, one tackle for loss and had a big hand in two defensive scoring plays against Miami (9/5), first forcing a fumble that Joe Vellano scooped up and ran in 30 yards for a TD, then intercepting a pass late in the fourth quarter and returning it 54 yards for a TD to seal the game... named ACC Defensive Back of the Week for his performance against the Hurricanes... recorded seven tackles against West Virginia (9/17), including a half tackle for loss, a pass break up and a fumble recovery... made six stops, four of them solo, against Temple (9/24)... had five solo stops and six total tackles against Towson (10/1)... recorded three tackles against Georgia Tech (10/8)... had a season-high nine tackles, including a half tackle for loss, two pass breakups and an interception that he returned 46 yards for a touchdown against Clemson (10/15)... made three solo tackles against Florida State (10/22)... recorded three solo tackles, an interception, fumble recovery and a pass breakup against Boston College (10/29)... had three tackles against Virginia (11/5)... came off the bench against Notre Dame (11/12) and had one tackle... had a streak of 32 straight starts snapped vs. the Irish... didn't see action against Wake Forest (11/19) and NC State (11/26).

Mark Barron Scouting Report

Mark Barron – Alabama (HT: 6-1 $\frac{1}{8}$  – WT: 213)

Positives -- Very good size and adequate speed... Is very physical, an especially good run stopper with good pop when tackling... Does a good job reading quarterbacks' eyes, especially effective underneath when he can mirror receivers and keeps plays in front of him... Durability not a huge issue, has not missed substantial time due to injury, played with torn pectoral muscle in 2010 before missing bowl game following surgery... A smart player, understands multiple roles and generally keeps to his assignments, knows where to be on almost every play... Shows good hand pop when in press coverage on slot receivers, jams well at the line, although probably won't be playing on the line much in the NFL... Ball skills are slightly above average, at his best when he locates the ball early in deep zone coverage, interception totals (12 in the last three years) evidence of ability to get to the ball in the air... Tough and durable, physicality will make him a valuable contributor in the NFL.

Negatives -- Has stiffness in hips and lack of fluidity in deep coverage, projects best as a strong safety in the NFL... Coverage skills are average at best, does not have elite range in zone coverage, not fluid enough to run with a lot of slot receivers in the NFL... Change of direction ability is questionable, does not have the quickest feet, can play high at times... Will bite on play action at times when playing in the box, definitely a run-first defender, may be relegated to two-down run stopping early in career... Can be too aggressive at times, tends to take bad angles when flying around the field, will miss tackles in the open field... Lacks elite explosiveness, lack of quickness may be the biggest factor, needs to work on changing directions with more leverage and fluidity... In March, 2011, arrested on a misdemeanor charge of second-degree hindering prosecution... Was kept out of the Senior Bowl and did not participate at the combine after undergoing double hernia surgery.

At Alabama -- Mark Barron is one of the leaders of the Crimson Tide defense and a veteran of 26 starts at safety... a first-team All-American by the FWAA in 2010 and a third-team Associated Press All-American in 2009... a two-time first-team All-SEC pick... hard hitting defender blessed with excellent size and speed... has 169 career tackles after making 76 stops as a sophomore in 2009 and 75 tackles in 12 games last season... a top candidate for the Jim Thorpe Award who will contend for All-America honors again in 2011... earned valuable playing time on special teams and as a reserve safety as a true freshman in 2008... developed as a defensive leader during spring practice in 2009... won the Lee Roy Jordan Headhunter Award following 2010 spring drills and was honored with the Mal Moore Leadership Award following 2011 spring practice. 2010: Barron led a talented but young secondary that matured under his tutelage each week... a semifinalist for the Thorpe Award and a quarterfinalist for the Lott Trophy... a first-team FWAA All-American... first-team All-SEC by the league coaches and the Associated Press (AP)... the Lott Trophy Impact Player of the Week following the Florida game... made 12 starts at safety in 2010... led the team in tackles with 75 tackles... had three interceptions on the season and 10 for his career... had six pass breakups and two quarterback hurries... also had two sacks from his position at strong safety and tied for the team lead with a forced fumble... a six-time Defensive Player of the Week by the coaching staff... missed the Capital One Bowl after suffering a torn pectoral muscle in the second quarter of the Auburn game.

Harrison Smith Scouting Report

Harrison Smith – Notre Dame (HT: 6-1 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 213)

Positives -- Big frame with deceptive speed, very athletic and shows it when he is on the move... Hybrid player who could play multiple positions, played both safety and linebacker at Notre Dame, can play in the box, on the line of scrimmage and in coverage; is at his best when the field is in front of him... Good feet in his backpedal in zone coverage, looks fluid when playing the middle of the field; changes direction well, 6.63 seconds in the three-cone drill led safeties at the combine... Has some good react and react ability, has some natural instincts and is able to make quick decisions... Attacks the ball in the air and is able to snatch passes with his hands, recorded seven interceptions his junior season... Attacks with a purpose from the secondary, a sideline to sideline type player; tackling machine, has the ability to separate players from the football... Sticks his nose into ball carriers, not afraid of contact... His linebacker ability shows when he has to blitz off the edge... Looks very capable of coming in and starting as a rookie... Aggressive and competitive, on-field leader, never see any let up from him while he is on the field.

Negatives -- Doesn't wrap up all the time on tackle attempts, has the tendency to duck his head on tackles, and needs to be a more reliable tackler in the open field... Goes for too many knockout hits, needs to take the sure tackle... Has a tendency to overrun the play and takes his fair share of false steps, will shuffle sideways instead of getting downhill to ball carriers... His natural athleticism gets lost at times, will play a bit stiff and lacks natural bend, footwork and technique are not really suited for coverage... Didn't have an interception as a senior.

At Notre Dame -- 2010: Saw action in all 13 games in 2010... one of 11 players to start all 13 games for the Irish... joined LB Darius Fleming, CB Gary Gray, DE Kapron Lewis-Moore, DE Ethan Johnson, ILB Manti Te'o and CB Darrin Walls as the only players on the defensive side of the ball to start all 13 games... totaled 93 tackles, including one-half tackle for loss (1 yard), seven interceptions (54 yards) and seven pass breakups... ranked second on the team in total tackles, second in solo stops and third in assisted tackles... led the team in interceptions and pass breakups... ranked fourth in the FBS in interceptions per game (0.54) and total interceptions (seven)... eclipsed 10 or more tackles in four different games (Michigan State, Stanford, Pittsburgh and Navy)... registered three interceptions in the first half alone in the Hyundai Sun Bowl victory over Miami (Fla.)... the three interceptions not only equaled a school record, but also equaled the Sun Bowl record... became the 14th Notre Dame player to accomplish that, the last being Shane Walton versus Maryland in 2002... the three interceptions was an Irish bowl game record... bested Elmer Layden's school bowl record of two picks set against Stanford in the 1925 Rose Bowl... only two other players intercepted three passes in a single-game in 2010 - Jayron Hosley from Virginia Tech and Marco Nelson of Tulsa... the seven interceptions not only ranked tied for the sixth-most in school history, but were the most for an Irish player since Walton had seven in 2002... recorded 820 snaps on defense, the most of any defensive back.

Markelle Martin Scouting Report

Markelle Martin – Oklahoma State (HT: 6-0¾ - WT: 207)

Positives -- Looks the part of an NFL player, a physical specimen... A jack of all trades, played everywhere for the Cowboys last season... An absolute ballhawk, when the ball was in the air, you just knew that Martin would be tracking it... Ferocious tackler, hits like a ton of bricks; broke up numerous completions just from laying the body... All of the physical tools are there, most of his mistakes are mental, which can be sorted out with good coaching... Very aggressive defender, plays very fast and with a purpose... Played special teams as a freshman, and should be able to play there immediately... Great in zone coverage, covers a lot of ground quickly and uses his ball skills to make plays... Good at coming up for run support, is a big hitter but will still show good form and make tackles... Uses his strength very well to get off blockers, just sticking his arm out seems to loosen the grip of the blocker... Won Oklahoma State's Nate Fleming award for his academic performance in 2010... Finished his career with 178 tackles, 36 pass breakups, three interceptions and two forced fumbles.

Negatives -- Injury prone, missed some time in 2009 with a hip injury and missed spring practice in 2011 after shoulder surgery; also, he had to sit out the combine after getting knee surgery... Like most safeties, you don't want him in man coverage, and has the tendency to get beat over the top... Despite being a ballhawk, he's dropped a countless number of interceptions over his career... Does not attack the line of scrimmage as well as you'd like but that should come with more experience... Is very consistent but doesn't make big plays, which is surprising for a player of his skill set... Needs to get better at open field tackling, tends to rely on the big hits when he should go for the wrap up.

At Oklahoma State -- 2010: Closed the season with a bang in San Antonio... Had just four tackles, but also returned an interception 62 yards for a touchdown and broke up two more passes on his way to player of the game honors... Finished the year with 55 tackles and led the team with 10 pass break-ups and tied for second on the team with three interceptions... Season high in tackles was eight vs. Texas A&M, when he was also credited with a pass break-up, a quarterback hurry and an interception... Had seven stops vs. Baylor and Nebraska... Broke up three passes against the Cornhuskers... Picked off a pass to go with four tackles (one for loss) at Kansas State... Had pass break-ups against Louisiana and Texas Tech... Had three stops and a PBU at Texas. 2009: Saw action in 11 games, all starts... Finished fifth on the team with 45 tackles, despite missing two games... Had 39 solo tackles... Finished second on the team with 11 pass break-ups... Had his most productive game of the season at the Cotton Bowl with nine tackles and a pass break-up in the defense's impressive outing against Ole Miss... Had six tackles against Oklahoma and Texas Tech and added five stops against Rice and Texas A&M... Lone tackle for loss came at OU... Broke up three passes against Rice and had two against Iowa State, Texas Tech and OU. 2008: Saw action in 11 of OSU's games... Picked up solo tackles against Missouri State, Troy, Colorado and Oklahoma... Also broke up a pass and blocked a punt against Missouri State... Broke up a pass vs. Troy as well... His other pass break-ups came against Baylor and Texas A&M.

Brandon Taylor Scouting Report

Brandon Taylor – LSU (HT: 5-11¼ – WT: 209)

Positives -- Recruited as a cornerback so he has some natural cover ability... Good footwork in tight spaces, seems to shoot through gaps that nobody else sees... Flexibility is good, which leads to him being able to drop his hips and run... Closes as well as anybody when it comes to plays on the sideline... Good in run support, seems very comfortable playing close to the line of scrimmage and rushing the passer... If he's there the hit will be made... Could become a starting player with some fine tuning and good coaching... Finished his career with 160 tackles, 11.5 for a loss, 15 pass breakups and four interceptions... Was a three-year starter at the strong safety position, was named one of five permanent team captains in 2011... Wore #18 because of the LSU tradition where Les Miles picks the player who overcomes adversity and represents what it means to be a Tiger football player... Off the chart intangibles, a proven leader on and off the field, will do great things for the community no matter where he gets drafted.

Negatives -- Doesn't have good instincts, often reacts late which results in him being out of position... Lacks the range and speed to make plays from sideline to sideline... Despite being recruited as a corner, doesn't show consistent ball skills... Can stand up a little on his backpedal... Not a consistent tackler, can show up a little out of control which causes him to miss plays that he should make... Doesn't have much experience covering receivers due to the strength of the LSU cornerbacks during his time in Baton Rouge... Missed the final four games of his junior season and spring practices in 2011 after suffering a broken foot in a freak injury; his tackling seemed to regress in 2011 compared to his pre-injury play.

At Louisiana State -- A three-year starter at strong safety... Voted one of five permanent team captains for LSU's SEC Championship and national runner-up team in 2011... Played in 49 games with 33 starts during his career with the Tigers... Capped career with 160 tackles, 11.5 tackles for loss, 15 pass breakups and four interceptions... One of the newest traditions at LSU is for the player that best represents what it means to be a Tiger - on and off the field - to wear No. 18... He was selected by Coach Miles and former No. 18s - Matt Mauck, Jacob Hester, Richard Dickson and Richard Murphy - to inherit that number as a senior in 2011... One of three members of his family to earn a football scholarship to LSU... His brother Curtis played on LSU's national title team in 2007 and was drafted in the 2008 NFL Draft by the San Francisco 49ers... Another brother Jhyryn spent two years at LSU before transferring to a junior college in the spring of 2010. 2011: Played and started in all 14 games as safety... Ranked third on team in tackles with 71... Recorded two interceptions - at West Virginia and vs. Florida... Earned four tackles, his first career sack and a career high tying two tackles for a loss at Ole Miss... Posted five tackles, one tackle for loss and a pass breakup in road win over No. 2 Alabama... Led the team with a career-high 10 tackles and one tackle for a loss at Tennessee... Had one of the best games of his career as he led the team with seven tackles, posted two pass breakups and an interception in home win over Florida... Recorded his third career interception and finished with five tackles and one pass breakup at West Virginia... Tallied a then career-high nine tackles against Oregon in the season opener.

George Iloka Scouting Report

George Iloka – Boise State (HT: 6-3½ – WT: 225)

Positives -- Good combination of size and speed for a safety; has no problem matching up with tight ends, which is critical in today's NFL... Good technique on bump and run coverage, can really disrupt the receiver when he tries to get off the line... Has the surprising ability for his size to get low on his backpedal... Measured in at the combine with 34½ inch arms, making him that much more of a threat in defending passes... Great feel for the game, knows where to sit in the zones and when to break on the football... Is one of the best safeties in this class at reading the quarterbacks eyes; need to stare him off before you can feel comfortable making a throw in his direction... Uses his length well when tackling, very tough to break out of his grasp... Strong football IQ, excellent at executing his assignment and disrupting the offense... Has enough athleticism to start at free safety but has the prototypical size you look for in a strong safety... Can play in the box and should be able to rush the passer when needed, although wasn't asked to do that much in college... Very experienced, started 40 games in college.

Negatives -- Struggles with tackling in one on one situations, tends to leave his feet and dive at opponents' legs instead of using his size to wrap and drive... When he does wrap, he has the tendency to not finish the tackle... Not quick enough to guard a receiver one on one; would get eaten up against smaller guys who can avoid his bump and run move... Doesn't change direction well when already at full speed when attacking the line of scrimmage... Can take poor angles to the football, is susceptible to being side stepped in space... Will really need to work on his coverage to be a three down safety... His 4.66-40 at the combine was a big letdown but he plays faster on film and his size-speed ratio is still intriguing... Competition is a question mark as Boise State didn't have one of the more challenging schedules.

At Boise State -- 2010: Started each of the Broncos' 13 games at safety, giving him 27-consecutive starts since the beginning of his sophomore season... named first-team All-Western Athletic Conference... was the Broncos' third-leading tackler with 63 (49 solo), including 3.0 tackles-for-loss... season-high nine tackles (six solo) against Louisiana Tech (Oct. 26)... recorded 2.0 TFLs against Utah in MAACO Bowl Las Vegas (Dec. 22)... had at least five tackles in six games...

interceptions in back-to-back games against Fresno State (Nov. 19) and at No. 19 Nevada (Nov. 26)... forced a fumble against Toledo (Oct. 9)... recorded five pass break-ups. 2009: Started all 14 games for the Broncos at safety... finished the regular season with 48 tackles (32 solo), 2.5 tackles-for-loss and one interception... had at least one tackle in 12 games, and multiple tackles in 11 games... recorded his only interception of the season against Miami (Ohio). 2008: Named Sporting News All-Freshman Second Team... played in all 13 games for the Broncos as a true freshman...

team's fourth-leading tackler with 63 (45 solo)... had 6.5 tackles-for-loss (minus-14 yards)... four interceptions tied for second on the team, tied for fifth in the WAC and tied for 53rd nationally... had two picks, one tackle and one pass break-up against Utah State... season-high eight tackles against Idaho and seven against both Hawaii and Nevada... finished regular season with six pass break-ups.

Antonio Allen Scouting Report

Antonio Allen – South Carolina (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 210)

Positives -- Tremendous frame for a safety, just a well put together individual and one of the best safeties in this class in run support... Shows great form when making tackles and rarely lets the ball carrier gain extra yards... Surprised many people at the Senior Bowl with his ability to cover, many thought he would struggle there... Excellent backpedal with no wasted motion, which leaves him with the ability to stop on a dime and be a split second faster than other safeties... Runs to the ball with a force that is tough to stop; big time hitter, delivers the kind of pop that you can hear through your television set... An old school strong safety that is going to make a defense even tougher physically... Had three interceptions for the Gamecocks last season, including a 25 yard touchdown against Georgia; finished his career with 197 tackles and eight pass breakups to go along with four career interceptions... Played in the SEC, no doubting his competition and whether he can make plays against elite players.

Negatives -- While he possesses average speed, he lacks the jump to provide a team with a consistent pass rush from the safety spot... Played the Spur in college, a hybrid safety-outside linebacker combination that has some scouts questioning his natural position... Questionable hips, not very fluid when he turns and runs, he doesn't have enough over the top speed to recover when beat deep... Can take bad angles when chasing a ball carrier, has a tendency to outrun the ball because of the angles... Never was really asked to cover the slot, so it will be questioned whether he can do it successfully at the next level.

At South Carolina -- 2010: Earned a spot on Phil Steele's fourth-team All-SEC squad... played in 12 contests, starting 11 games at Spur position... despite missing the first two games with hamstring injury, still finished second on the squad with 70 tackles... logged 10.5 tackles for loss, second on the squad, and 2.5 sacks... totaled just four tackles combined through the first four games, then did not have fewer than five tackles in any of the final 10 contests... forced a fumble on his first career sack vs. Alabama... had seven stops in win over Tennessee, including 4.0 tackles for loss and 1.5 sacks... also forced a fumble on a sack that led to a Carolina touchdown... had a career-high eight tackles vs. Arkansas... had seven stops including 2.5 tackles for loss at Florida... intercepted his first career pass and returned it 37 yards for a touchdown in win over Clemson... also had six tackles, a pass breakup and a quarterback hurry vs. Tigers... his efforts earned him the Ernest Brooks MVP Award for the defense... led team and matched his career best with eight tackles in the SEC Championship Game vs. Auburn... also credited with four quarterback hurries in the game. 2009: Moved to the Spur position during fall camp... played in 12 games, starting eight... had three tackles and a pass break up in the season opener at NC State... made his first career start against Florida Atlantic, responding with a season-high seven tackles... collected 35 tackles including 22 solo stops... had six tackles including five solo stops in the bowl loss to UConn.

Christian Thompson Scouting Report

Christian Thompson – So. Carolina St. (HT: 6-1¼ – WT: 211)

Positives -- Good size at 211 pounds and great speed for that size; 4.50-4.0 at the combine was the fastest of participating safeties; not just a track runner, has playing speed to keep up with vertical receivers... Fluid hips and lateral movement to turn and keep up with receivers... Has ball-hawking qualities with good hands... Can be a good role player and contribute on special teams while coaches develop him into a depth safety... Physical downhill safety who loves contact; good player in the box, and loves to bring punishing hits in the run game... Benefits from a weak safety class as a whole... Was the first South Carolina State player to be invited to the combine since 2001 and is an intriguing prospect due to his combination of size and speed... Has the physical tools to play in the NFL and is worth a day three selection.

Negatives -- Average to below average at route recognition; hesitates at times, appears to lack professional level instincts... Needs to improve pre-snap reads and route recognition; pure physical talent but needs to be more of a student of the game... Can get lost in the wash of blockers if he does not make initial penetration... Frustratingly inconsistent player who goes from hot to cold in a hurry... Did not compete against high level of competition and was unable to dominate at the FCS level, will make scouts question his ability to produce at all against the elite talent in the NFL... Not an immediate starter in the NFL, will take several years to develop, may need to spend time on a practice squad and work his way up... There are conflicting reports stating Thompson was either kicked off the Auburn team prior to the 2009 for undisclosed reasons or left on his own accord; if the former, there may be character red flags that NFL teams will investigate.

At South Carolina State -- Made the switch from strong safety to the "Bandit" position this spring and is in a tight battle with redshirt senior La'Taris Douglas for the starting duties at that position... Is very talented and has a rare combination of size, power, and speed... Will have a chance to be an impact player on the SC State defense and in the MEAC... A candidate for postseason accolades... Finished the season with 66 tackles (41 solo, 25 assisted), one tackle for loss, two interceptions and one fumble recovery in 11 games... Thompson intercepted a Bethune-Cookman pass in his own end zone early in the game and then sealed it by picking off a pass with 25 seconds remaining when the Wildcats were 40 yards from a potential game-tying touchdown... was named Sports Network National FCS co-defensive player of the week for his efforts in South Carolina State's 26-18 win against Bethune-Cookman. 2010: Started every game at strong safety and was an outstanding contributor... Finished the year with 46 total tackles, 30 of them unassisted with one tackle for loss, one interception and seven pass breakups, most on the squad. 2009: Was a welcomed addition to the South Carolina State defense after transferring from Auburn of the powerful Southeastern Conference... Was one of the top reserves in the South Carolina State secondary... Played in eleven of the team's twelve contests and finished ninth on the squad in total tackles with 29, including six for losses and one sack. 2008: Was a backup safety for the Auburn Tigers... transferred following the 2008 season. High School: Was a multiple letter winner and the recipient of several postseason honors. Personal: A sport communication major... Born June 14, 1990... the son of Deandra Cooper.

Janzen Jackson Scouting Report

Janzen Jackson – McNeese State (HT: 5-11¼ – WT: 188)

Positives -- Came into college as one of the most highly touted players in all of the country... Has a nose for the football that you just can't teach, always around the ball and always doing positive things for the defense... Uses his body to its full effect when he gets a chance to lay a big hit on a receiver, 188 pounds of fury just flying into players... Still shows good form on tackles, uses his arms and shoulders about as well as you can... Very athletic, has the physical ability you look for in a top safety with his rare blend of speed and athleticism... Good hands for a defensive back, sometimes it just feels that the ball is attracted to his gloves... Not afraid to come upfield and help in run support... Not the biggest dog in the fight, but will take on anybody who steps in his path including offensive lineman... Surprising how durable he is, especially given the physicality that he plays with... Can provide some big plays in the return game, good vision on kick returns... Will play with a chip on his shoulder to prove that he belongs... Returned an interception 84 yards for a touchdown in McNeese State's final game of the season against Lamar... Played two seasons at Tennessee and performed well, including second-team All-SEC by the league coaches as a sophomore.

Negatives -- Character concerns may scare some teams off; left Tennessee after his sophomore season for personal reasons, but was reinstated, eventually dismissed from the team with reported substance abuse issues... Tends to go for the big hit too often, which is a problem when he does it in open field situations... Needs to be careful with his physicality to make sure he keeps himself healthy and on the field... A little wiry in his build, could stand to add about 10-12 pounds, just to get his body used to the everyday wear and tear of NFL life... Ran slower than expected, wasn't very impressive in drills and managed just nine reps of 225 lbs... However, looked more impressive on film than he showed in Indianapolis... The substance abuse questions will drop him off some teams boards entirely.

At McNeese State -- He returned home to enroll at McNeese State and had 23 tackles, including one tackle for loss, two interceptions, four pass breakups and one forced fumble in seven games with the Southland Conference program this past season. He was one of a record-setting 65 underclassmen who have been ruled eligible for the draft, which will take place on April 26-28 in New York. ## Trenton Robinson Scouting Report

Trenton Robinson – Michigan State (HT: 5-9¾ – WT: 195)

Positives -- Overshadowed on a defense that included William Gholston and Jerel Worthy, but was a key playmaker for one of the top defenses in the Big Ten during all four years of college... Very compact, not a lot of body fat on him and impressed during the "shirt-off test" at the combine, 4.52-40 was second fastest among safeties... Can do it all from his safety spot, including rush the passer and cover smaller tight ends and slot receivers... He almost has a sixth sense when it comes to tracking the football, always seems to be around the pile and making something happen... Plays like a cornerback due to his tremendous ball skills... Very feisty, doesn't let his lack of size come into play when taking on blocker... Uses good hand placement to get guys off of him... No injury concerns, played in 46 career games, including 32 starts at safety... Played some special teams and could make a faster impact there than in the defensive backfield... Finished his Michigan State career with 229 tackles, nine interceptions and 12 pass breakups... Two time All-Big 10 selection, including first team in 2011... Very impressive in Senior Bowl practices, and recovered a fumble for the North team on the opening possession during the game.

Negatives -- The biggest issue is his size; not sure of his true position, might be too small to play free safety and his coverage ability might not be up to par with an NFL cornerback... His lack of size causes him to dive at bigger ball carriers, which results in him missing some routine tackles... Inconsistent hips and can get out of position easily, struggles to recover at any point on the field when beaten by a receiver... Will struggle if matched up against a bigger tight end that can use his size and box him out of jump balls... Can fall victim to good head fakes... Has good coverage ability but still can't be trusted on an island.

At Michigan State -- Four-year letterwinner had 229 tackles, nine interceptions and 12 pass break-ups in 46 career games, including 32 starts at safety... his nine interceptions rank tied for 12th in MSU history... two-time All-Big Ten honoree (2010: second team-coaches; 2011: first team-media). 2011: First-team All-Big Ten selection by the media; honorable mention pick by the coaches... named to ESPN.com All-Big Ten first team... elected captain by his teammates... started 13 games at free safety... ranked third on the team with 80 tackles (5.7 avg.)... ranked second in the Big Ten and tied for 22nd in the FBS with four interceptions... tied for third on the team with six passes defended (4 INTs, 2 PBUs)... had six tackles in the win over No. 18 Georgia in the 2012 Outback Bowl... collected a season-high 12 tackles against Wisconsin in the Big Ten Championship Game... recorded eight tackles in win at Northwestern... named Spartan Defensive Player of the Week after recording a career-best two interceptions, a pass break-up, and six tackles in win over Minnesota; his first interception led to a Spartan field goal in the fourth quarter, and his second interception came with 10 seconds left in the game and sealed the 31-24 comeback victory for MSU... had eight tackles, including one for a 7-yard loss, at No. 13 Nebraska... excellent all-around game in win over No. 4 Wisconsin, recording eight tackles, including a 1-yard tackle for loss, to go along with an interception... compiled six tackles and a pass break-up in MSU's fourth straight win over Michigan... recorded his first interception of the season vs. Central Mich. and returned it 34 yards; also had five tackles against the Chippewas... was featured on the watch list for the Jim Thorpe Award (nation's top defensive back).

Aaron Henry Scouting Report

Aaron Henry – Wisconsin (HT: 5-11¾ – WT: 208)

Positives -- Natural cover ability, started his career as a cornerback before making the switch to free safety in 2009... Isn't afraid to play in the slot, just really knows how to play it with confidence and has good size to cover the smaller guys... Very good in the bump and run setting, can knock receivers off balance and disrupt the quarterback-receiver timing... Very good hips, has good natural motion with no wasted energy... Flows to the ball, very consistent speed in getting there... Excellent range, covers a lot of ground... Safeties who can cover as well as Henry coming out of college are hard to come by and that may drive his stock up... Sound tackler, especially for someone who is relatively new to the free safety position... Great special teams ability, should make a solid career in the NFL as a gunner because of his ability to flow to the ball... Improved his ability to make big plays, had four interceptions in 2011 after just three in his first three seasons combined.

Negatives -- Is still new to playing free safety, it's tough to grasp his full safety potential when evaluating him, is still developing at the position... Can give up some big plays; feels like sometimes he thinks he's still playing corner which gets him in trouble, especially on play action passes... Doesn't play fast on film, average straight line speed, can get torched by smaller, faster receivers... Isn't as aggressive as you would like a safety to be... Lets the plays come to him and can get swallowed up as a result... Can tackle too low at times, leaves himself open to getting juiced or even hurdled at times... Very inconsistent, which can probably be traced back to his lack of experience at safety... Tore his ACL and missed the 2009 season, will turn 24 years old during his rookie season.

At Wisconsin -- 2011: Tied season high with nine tackles and broke up a pass against Michigan State in the Big Ten Championship game on Dec. 3... recorded two tackles against Penn State on Nov. 26... intercepted a pass and tied season high with nine tackles at Illinois on Nov. 19... made one tackle at Minnesota on Nov. 12... broke up one pass and finished with two tackles against Purdue on Nov. 5... season-high nine tackles with 2.0 TFLs and one sack at Ohio State on Oct. 29... posted seven tackles along with one pass breakup and a tackle for loss at Michigan State on Oct. 22... intercepted a pass and had two tackles against Indiana on Oct. 15... recorded five tackles, intercepted a pass and broke up another pass against Nebraska on Oct. 1... tallied five tackles against South Dakota on Sept. 24... recorded four tackles against Northern Illinois on Sept. 17... made three tackles against Oregon State on Sept. 10... posted four tackles against UNLV on Sept. 1... first-team All-Big Ten by the coaches and honorable mention All-Big Ten by the media... Academic All-Big Ten. 2010: Earned third letter... started all 13 games... made the transition from cornerback to safety... led team in fumbles recovered, second in interceptions and passes defended and third in pass breakups... posted five tackles and broke up one pass against TCU in the Rose Bowl on Jan. 1... returned an interception for a touchdown, recovered a fumble, broke up a pass and made three tackles against Northwestern on Nov. 27... career-high 10 tackles at Michigan on Nov. 20... named UW's co-defensive player of the week after returning an interception for a touchdown and making three tackles against Indiana on Nov. 13... nine tackles, forced one fumble and returned one punt for one yard at Purdue on Nov. 6... made two tackles at Iowa on Oct. 23... finished with three tackles in win over No. 1 Ohio State on Oct. 16.

Brandon Hardin Scouting Report

Brandon Hardin – Oregon State (HT: 6-2 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 222)

Positives -- Great size and build, will have no problem with bigger tight ends and receivers in the NFL... Elite speed, ran a 4.38-40 at his pro day... Good at reading the quarterback's eyes and diagnosing plays... Great in the box safety with impressive tackling skills; an absolutely punishing tackler, just YouTube his name and you will see some incredible hits... Great against the run and excels in blitzing... A beast on special teams, if for whatever reason Hardin does not pan out on defense he can be a consistent and impact player on special teams coverage... A great physical specimen with exceptional upside if he can stay healthy and make the transition to safety successfully... Has the potential to be part of a new breed of tall, speedy defensive backs... Despite missing the entire season, was invited to the East-West Shrine Game.

Negatives -- Played at Oregon State as a cornerback but will need to make his money at the next level playing safety... Has good speed but not enough to play tight man coverage against top end receivers... Needs more work on his fundamentals in coverage... Suffered a season ending shoulder injury, which teams will need to examine and keep their eyes on going forward... Sitting out the year will decrease his draft stock with the lack of recent game film... Is really a projection at safety, which will lower his stock come draft day... Was a combine snub which is concerning because the combine is great for teams to evaluate injuries and see players with less game film.

At Oregon State -- Brandon's promising career at cornerback was cut short at Oregon State midway through fall camp 2011 by a broken shoulder requiring season-ending surgery... he was expected to start at cornerback for the Beavers in 2011 but still finished his career with 15 starts including all 12 games in 2010... despite the injury, he was able to return to play in the East-West Shrine Game following his senior season... registered 63 tackles in 2010, the fourth-most on the team... tied for the team lead with 12 special teams tackles as a junior and led the team outright with 11 as a sophomore in 2009... set career-high with 11 tackles in OSU's win over No. 20 USC in 2010... blocked an extra point and forced a fumble on special teams all in the first quarter of the 2010 Civil War vs. Oregon... forced three fumbles in 2010... played in a three-player rotation at cornerback in 2009 making three starts... recorded one interception in his career with it coming in his first start at Arizona State in 2009... struggled with injuries throughout his career at OSU, playing most of 2008 with a broken hand and a sprained wrist on the other arm... two-time Pac-10 All-Academic selection... graduated with a degree in business administration in June.

Kelcie McCray Scouting Report

Kelcie McCray – Arkansas State (HT: 6-1 $\frac{3}{4}$  – WT: 202)

Positives -- Great height and size for the position... Fluid hips and the ability to stay with receivers in man coverage... Ten career interceptions with good break on the ball... Great run after the catch ability when returning interceptions... Good in the box safety, particularly against the run game, solid and willing tackler... Good natural ability and has some versatility... Has upside with the potential to be coached up into a solid depth player... Three year starter with plenty of experience at the position... Worth a late round flyer pick... No significant injury history or off the field problems to be concerned with... Can be a solid special teams contributor in the NFL... Showed impressive straight line speed and likely improved his stock at the NFL scouting combine, his 4.54-40 was fourth among participating safeties.

Negatives -- Gets caught looking in the backfield too often, can be easily manipulated by quarterbacks with vision and play action... Struggles in zone coverage and too often lets receivers get behind him... Good hands but not elite... Not an overly instinctual player... Will sacrifice coverage assignments in attempt to be aggressive against the run game... Not an overly punishing tackler, has been described as a "passive" tackler and player at times... Bit of a tweener who needs to bulk up at the next level... Did not face elite talent on a week to week basis in college... Inconsistent player, will play like a ball hawk at times and then gets lost in the secondary on other plays.

At Arkansas State -- 2010: Started every game at his safety position... One of four defensive players to start every game... Recorded a career-high 79 tackles (47 solo, 32 assist) that ranked third on the team and 12th in the Sun Belt Conference... Posted two interceptions, matching the second most on the team, and two pass break-ups on the year... Named to Phil Steele's All-Sun Belt Conference Team... Posted a team-high four interceptions, all over the last seven games of the season... ## Duke Ihenacho Scouting Report

Duke Ihenacho – San Jose State (HT: 6-0½ – WT: 213)

Positives -- Good size and physical tools for a strong safety, has some raw physical talent and could develop into a solid producer with some coaching... Good in the box safety, has plus instincts, takes good angles and runs hard in pursuit, very physical in the run game, has a nose for making or assisting on most tackles... Even following his move to safety, recorded 170 tackles (91 solo) in 26 games; 98 tackles (52 solo) as a linebacker in his first two seasons with the Spartans... Shows the ability to penetrate into the backfield... Good feel for the game, knows where to sit in the zones and when to break on the football... Has also played linebacker in college, possesses the versatility to play multiple positions, had been named All-WAC first team as both a linebacker (2008) and safety (2009, 2011)... Has the ability to be a solid producer on special teams.

Negatives -- A classic tweener without an NFL position; good size but not enough speed for a safety, and good speed but not enough size or tackling power for a linebacker... Inconsistent production, will have 10+ tackles one game but two tackles the next... Hesitates against more powerful competition, which leads to poor tackling; tucks his head and throws his body rather than trying to wrap up bigger players... Not a true ball hawk; poor deep speed, can be caught staring in the backfield at times and get beaten over the top... A late round selection at best, more likely an undrafted free agent trying to make a camp... Needs to develop more confidence taking on elite competition or he will be out of the NFL in less than three years... Another good college player who lacks the talent needed to succeed in the NFL... Received a medical redshirt after missing most of the 2010 season with a broken foot.

At San Jose State -- 2010: Played only in the Alabama (9/4) and Southern Utah (9/18) games before a season-ending injury forced him to the sidelines... Credited with a forced fumble that prevented a touchdown in the opener at Alabama (9/4)... Was in on 8 tackles for the season... One tackle for loss came in the Alabama contest... A pass break-up and four tackles in the Southern Utah victory. 2009: First-team All-WAC defensive back... One of six conference players named first-team All-WAC in 2008 and 2009... Second on the team in total tackles with 89... Season high 12 tackles against Idaho (10/10) and Hawai'i (11/21)... 10 assisted tackles in the Idaho game were the most by a Spartan in 2009... Only interception of the season was in the Idaho game... Began the season on the Jim Thorpe Award Watch List. 2008: First-team All-WAC pick as a linebacker... Became the first known brother tandem in NCAA history to lead the Football Bowl Subdivision (FBS) or Division I-A in separate major statistical categories in the same week... Following the games played on October 18, Duke shared the national lead with four interceptions in seven games and Carl tied for the top spot in tackles for loss with 14.0... Finished 2008 as the WAC leader in interceptions at 0.42 per game and was 19th nationally... Was the first of 12 FBS players among the top 100 to return two interceptions for touchdowns in 2008... One of only two defensive players to score touchdowns via interceptions in back-to-back games... 43-yard touchdown return in the Utah State win (10/11) and 43-yard score in the New Mexico State victory (10/18)... His two interceptions in the Utah State win were the only time in 2008 a Spartan had two thefts in a game... Fifth on the Spartans with 66 tackles... Had a pair of double-digit tackle games... Season-high 13 stops (6 solo, 7 assisted) with 2.0 tackles for loss and a fumble recovery against Boise State (10/24)... 11 tackles (3 solo, 8 assisted) against Louisiana Tech (11/8)... ## Phillip Thomas Scouting Report

Phillip Thomas – Syracuse (HT: 5-10½ – WT: 198)

Positives -- Good size for a free safety; should be able to contend with any receiver under 6'1" on passes thrown down the field... Excellent ball skills; has a great nose for the football and has solid hands for a defensive back... Plays faster than his 4.74-40 combine speed, uses his instincts to track the football and then his athleticism to go up and get it before the receiver can make an adjustment... Great blitzzer; has a great ability to find a sliver in between offensive lineman and just burst through... Improved each season with the Orange at attacking the line of scrimmage... Plays with a chip on his shoulder; seems to want to prove to everybody that he's a really good player... Made major contributions on defense during all three of his years with Cuse, was one of the most consistent players on a Syracuse defense that struggled for most of this season... Didn't put up the best numbers during a combine type setting but really gets after in when he puts the pads on.

Negatives -- Left the team toward the end of the 2011 season after being suspended for one year for violating athletic department rules... Character issues will raise a red flag because the talent is all there; was leading the team in tackles and interceptions at the time of his dismissal, lack of maturity may be called an issue... Doesn't use his body well enough when he tackles; can sometimes get lazy and just try and arm tackle, which won't fly in the league... Has gotten better in run support but may be better at just focusing on the passing game and special teams... Suffered a broken jaw in the 2011 preseason... Tough to get a feel for his stock because of the poor workouts and the suspension; must have a great showing at his pro day especially in the agility and ball skill drills to prove to scouts that he could be worth the potential headache.

At Syracuse -- 2011: Started all 10 games he played... Against Wake Forest, made five tackles, including three solo and 0.5 for a loss of yards... Against Rhode Island, had a career- high two interceptions and made four solo tackles... At USC, posted 11 tackles, including six solo, and a forced fumble... Against Toledo, had 10 tackles, including eight solo and one for a loss of yards... Against Rutgers, had three solo tackles, one interception and two pass break-ups... At Tulane, made a career-high 13 tackles, including eight solo... Against West Virginia, recorded seven tackles and had one interception... At Louisville, made five tackles, including three solo... At Connecticut, posted 10 tackles, including five solo and one for a loss of yards, and had two interceptions... Against South Florida, made 14 tackles, including 10 solo and one for a loss. 2010: Started all 13 games... Ranked ninth among Big East defenders with 7.1 tackles per game... At Akron, tallied three tackles, including two solo... At Washington, posted a career-best 12 tackles, including 10 solo and one for a loss... Against Maine, had seven tackles and a pass breakup... Against Colgate, had 10 tackles, including an assisted stop for a loss of yards... At South Florida, had four tackles and had a pass breakup on the Bulls final drive... Against Pittsburgh, made six tackles... At West Virginia, had eight tackles... At Cincinnati, had six solo tackles, recovered a fumble and had a pass breakup... Against Boston College, had 11 tackles, including one for a loss of yards... Against Kansas State in the Pinstripe Bowl, recorded seven tackles, including four solo.

Winston Guy Scouting Report

Winston Guy – Kentucky (HT: 6-0 $\frac{7}{8}$  – WT: 218)

Positives -- Great size for a strong safety, exactly what the prototype should look like... Has speed that allows him to get sideline to sideline and make plays that others can't... Fantastic instincts, seems to know where the ball is going to be once the offense snaps the ball... Uses his size and speed to attack the line of scrimmage and get tackles for losses... Really drives through ball carriers when he makes tackles... Along with the power, he shows great form when he makes tackles and is very consistent on wrapping up... Can give a team a special teams presence on either the coverage or the return teams... Plays with a swagger that you notice whenever you watch him... If used correctly, has a chance to be a nice sleeper pick later in the draft... Had no injuries of significance during college... Had 120 tackles, good for second on the team, his senior season... Three year starter at the University of Kentucky... Played in the SEC so he faced a high level of competition on a consistent basis... Named 2nd team All-SEC in 2011... Finished his collegiate career with 296 tackles, nine pass breakups and five interceptions.

Negatives -- Aggravated a groin injury at the combine, 4.70-40 isn't a true measure of his ability but he won't be able to run at Kentucky's pro day... Has a tendency to over-pursue, which leaves him out of position and his recovery speed when beaten over the top is lacking... Ball skills aren't what you would expect from a player with his athleticism, started for three years and only had a handful of interceptions... Plays better with the ball in front of him, very limited in what he can do in terms of pass coverage... May be a liability on the field during passing situations unless asked to blitz... Could be exploited early in his career if used incorrectly, is a one-dimensional player at this point.

At Kentucky -- Moved into the new hybrid safety/linebacker position during the spring... Quickly adapted to the new post, which showcased his athletic ability as he made plays all over the field... Two-year starter at safety... Went through the National Football League evaluation process before deciding to return for his senior season... Has played cornerback, free safety and strong safety during his career... Has good size and speed... Also a hard hitter... Also sees extensive action in kick coverage and has returned kickoffs. 2010: Second on the team in tackles with 106... Third in tackles per game among the SEC's defensive backs... Led the team with three interceptions, vs. Auburn, South Carolina and Tennessee... Had back-to-back career highs with 16 tackles in the win over Charleston Southern and 18 stops in the victory over Vanderbilt... Also scored 2.5 tackles for loss against the Commodores... His 18-tackle performance against Vanderbilt was the highest by a UK player since Wesley Woodyard in 2005... Also hit double figures with 10 tackles, plus the pickoff, in the upset of South Carolina. 2009: Played in all 13 games, starting 11... Totaled 60 tackles, with a career-high 11 in the win over Louisville... Broke up five passes... Snared a quarterback sack vs. Miami (Ohio)... Returned four kickoffs for a 14.5-yard average. 2008: Played in all 13 games... Became the team's primary kickoff returner following the injury to Derrick Locke... Had 10 returns for a 29.1-yard average, including a 96-yard runback against Georgia that is the longest non-scoring kickoff return in school history.

Tavon Wilson Scouting Report

Tavon Wilson – Illinois (HT: 6-1 – WT: 205)

Positives -- Good size and build for safety at the NFL level with good top-end speed... He ran a 4.50-40 at the Illinois pro day, would have tied him for first among all safeties at the combine... Excels in the run game from the secondary, attacks the action with a purpose; shows better explosion versus the run than pass, not afraid to stick his nose in the pile to make plays... Not afraid to lay his shoulder into ball carriers and is a hard hitter, can separate his opponent from the football and make some big plays for the defense... Played two seasons for the Illini at cornerback, but lacked the athleticism and speed to stick there in the NFL; the move to safety was good for him, his speed is average for a corner but excellent for a free safety... Great special teams player, can serve as a gunner on special teams units as well... Was named the team's most outstanding defensive back at the annual postseason banquet... Has started all 25 consecutive games for the Illini over the past two seasons.

Negatives -- Needs to improve his footwork, looks slow in and out of his breaks; lacks suddenness and explosion when he plants and goes, has trouble closing down tight spaces... Plays stiff and has a difficult time turning and getting on top of routes, doesn't look like a 4.50-40 guy on film; doesn't possess that quick first step you would like to see from an NFL free safety, range is limited, has trouble covering from sideline to sideline... Needs to work on hand placement in coverage, has the tendency to grab rather than punching and redirecting receivers... Play recognition skills also need to improve, doesn't always read the play correctly; instincts are below average... Doesn't break down particularly well and can be taken advantage of in one on one situations in the open field... Throws his shoulder too much rather than wrapping up and is prone to missed tackles... Overall game needs improvement, had good numbers at the Illinois pro day but looks like more of an undrafted free agent on tape.

At Illinois -- 2010: All-Big Ten honorable mention (coaches and media)... Named team's Outstanding Defensive Back at annual postseason banquet... Illinois' honoree for Big Ten Sportsmanship Award... Started all 13 games at safety... Had 48 tackles on the season along with 2.0 TFL, a team-high eight PBUs, one interception and two fumble recoveries... Secured seven tackles and one PBU in Texas Bowl win over Baylor... Recorded five tackles, 1.5 TFLs and one PBU against Minnesota... Recorded first interception of 2010 and two tackles in win over Indiana... Posted four tackles and one PBU in win at Penn State... Tallied seven tackles against Ohio State... Had two tackles, a PBU and a fumble recovery against Northern Illinois... Had a career-best three PBUs and recorded five tackles in win over Southern Illinois... Tallied first career fumble recovery, along with four tackles in season-opener against Missouri... Moved to safety before 2010 season after playing his first two seasons at cornerback... Preseason fourth-team All-Big Ten by Phil Steele's College Football Preview. 2009: Started all 12 games, finishing third on the team with 74 tackles and leading the team with seven passes broken up... Recorded seven solo tackles, including one for loss, in the season finale against Fresno State... Posted five tackles, including one for loss, and a pass break up against No. 5 Cincinnati... Was second on the team with 11 tackles, including a career-best 10 solo stops, against Northwestern.

Sean Richardson Scouting Report

Sean Richardson – Vanderbilt (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 216)

Positives -- Big, physical presence from the secondary, not afraid of contact; also ran a 4.52-40 at the combine, very impressive for his size, was the second fastest time among safeties behind South Carolina State's Christian Thompson... A tackling machine from the safety position, although 63 total tackles as a senior was a bit of a letdown after 99 and 84 in the two years prior... A good fit as an in the box safety; can play with bigger bodies in the box, understands his run fits, stays low on contact and will run through his target, can knock the football loose upon contact... Sheds blocks like a linebacker and sifts through blockers to make plays, takes good angles and is a solid wrap-up tackler as well... Richardson is always around the football and in pursuit, plays with a good motor and has the straight line speed to run down ball carriers... Shows some good blitzing skills and does a decent job disguising his intentions... Was a three year starter for the Commodores along with teammate Casey Hayward.

Negatives -- Can be exposed in space and will struggle some in one on one situations; needs to play with better technique, is slow flipping his hips and doesn't change direction quickly enough... Lacks great closing speed and doesn't always take proper angles to the action when the ball is in the air... Overall, he doesn't look very comfortable in either man or zone coverage but he might be drafted late due to his ability to stop the run.

At Vanderbilt -- 2011: Richardson is a three-year starter in Commodore secondary... Dependable leader who started all 13 games at safety, anchoring Vanderbilt secondary along with senior defensive back Casey Hayward... Finished the year second among Commodores with 63 total tackles... Posted 41 solo tackles, 6.5 tackles for loss, an interception and a pair of quarterback sacks... First interception of his career in victory over Ole Miss... Sacks came against Georgia and Florida... Tied career high with 10 tackles, including nine of the solo variety, against Florida... Had six stops against Wake Forest, Tennessee and Georgia... In AutoZone Liberty Bowl, contributed five solo tackles, including one resulting in 3-yard loss. 2010: Ran consecutive starts streak to 18 games as third-year contributor in defensive secondary... Key leader in Commodore defensive backfield... Regarded as one of top safeties in Southeastern Conference, Richardson started every game at free safety... Set single-season career highs in virtually every statistical category as junior, including solo tackles (67), total tackles (98), tackles for loss (7), QB hurries (3) and passes defended (7)... Finished the season as the Commodores' leader in all tackle categories, and ranked fourth in the SEC in solo tackles (5.2 per game)... Posted four or more tackles in every game, topped by 11-tackle efforts vs. Ole Miss and South Carolina... Earned team's Defensive Player of the Week honors after nine-tackle effort against Tennessee.

Tony Dye Scouting Report

Tony Dye – UCLA (HT: 5-11 – WT: 205)

Positives -- Physical and willing tackler, is not scared away by bigger players and has good bulk at 215 pounds, led the Bruins with 96 tackles 2010 and earned team co-Defensive MVP honors with Akeem Ayers... Has the ability to read elite quarterbacks and jump routes; picked off Matt Barkley in 2010 for his only career interception... Looked better than 2011 second round pick Rahim Moore in 12 starts at strong safety as a junior... Team leader on the defensive side of the ball... Started 26 games at strong safety in his first three seasons with UCLA before moving to free safety following Moore declaring a year early for the draft; was recruited as a cornerback, has played every position in the defensive backfield... Played against elite talent in the Pac-12... Can be a good player on special teams in the NFL if he can stay healthy.

Negatives -- Not an instinctive player, gets fooled by play action often... Very stiff hips and slow recovery speed; combined with his poor instincts, Dye finds himself out of position often... Does not possess elite size and speed, may need to try and bulk up into a linebacker, does not have an NFL career at the safety position... Leads with his shoulder too often, needs to be more confident wrapping players up... Inconsistent with angles taken to the ball carrier, likely a product of poor speed... Gets taken out of plays too easily by blockers... Inconsistent production due in part to his play and in part to injury problems... Injury history will push down his draft stock, which is already low to begin with; at best a late round pick who risks being an undrafted free agent... Does not have much upside; lack of pure physical tools and injury history will likely limit any NFL career Dye has.

At UCLA -- 2011: Appeared in seven games with five starts in an injury-filled season... On the watch lists for the Lott Trophy (top defensive player), Nagurski (most outstanding defensive player), Bednarik (top defender) and Thorpe (top defensive back) Awards... Recorded 10 tackles in the opener at Houston but developed neck soreness which hindered his play over the next couple of contests against San Jose State and Texas... He sat out seven games and returned to start against Colorado (two tackles) and at USC where he recorded two tackles, before leaving the game with an ankle injury... He sat out the Pac-12 Championship game due to the ankle injury... Was ruled academically ineligible for the bowl game against Illinois. 2010: Defensive co-winner of UCLA's Henry R. "Red" Sanders Award for Most Valuable Player... Also earned Pac-10 honorable mention acclaim... Started all 12 games at strong safety... Led team with 96 tackles and his 8.00 average was ranked fourth (tied) in Pac-10... Also led team with nine pass break ups... Made a career-high 15 tackles in opener at Kansas State... Had seven stops and broke up a pass against Stanford... Six tackles, one for loss, and broke up one pass at Texas... Made a team-high seven tackles in win against WSU... Second on squad with 10 tackles at Cal... Seven stops at Oregon... Led team with 11 tackles against Arizona... Topped team at Arizona State with seven tackles, all solos, including 2.0 for loss and broke up one pass... Led team with 13 stops against USC, 0.5 for loss, and made his first career interception.

Cyhl Quarles Scouting Report

Cyhl Quarles – Wake Forest (HT: 6-1½ – WT: 213)

Positives -- Looks the part of an NFL player; possesses a tall and strong-looking frame from the strong safety position... Understands his role in defensive schemes, put himself in good position to make plays; knows his run fits from the secondary and gets to his spot... Gets the job done with drag-down tackling, but wraps up when needed, can be effective as a downhill safety moving toward the line of scrimmage... Led the Demon Deacons with 101 tackles (52 solo, 49 assisted) as a senior; eclipsed double digits on four different occasions last year... Quarles is at his best when he's on the move; plays well close to the line and can blitz effectively off the edge... Very cognizant defender who consistently positions himself to make plays on the ball; does well with the ball in front of him, quickly breaks to the throw out of his plant and fights hard to defend passes.

Negatives -- Despite usually being in a good position to make plays, he seems to give up at times and not focus on finishing plays... Tackles too high and can be pushed around on contact; doesn't stay low when he goes to tackle... Often plays out of control at times trying to fill from the second level and will over-run plays... Seems to have below average instincts when deciphering between run and pass which slows him down a bit... His man coverage skills need work; can be run by with relative ease, has troubling flipping his hips and getting on top of routes... Footwork needs improvement and would help compensate for other flaws in his coverage game... His poor footwork knocks him off balance and he'll be caught flat-footed in space... Takes false steps that will create space for wide receivers... Ball skills are only average... Too inconsistent, doesn't always attack downhill with purpose; on one play, he'll stick his nose into a pile, but other times seems like he's waiting for his teammate to make the play... Has shown he can succeed at the collegiate level but plays with questionable desire and the lack of want-to at times.

At Wake Forest -- 2011: Defensive leader finished the season first on the team in tackles (101)... led the Deacs and tied a career-high with 10 tackles in the season opener at Syracuse (9.1)... set a new career-high with 12 tackles and broke up a pass against NC State (9.10)... Tied for a team-high with five tackles against Gardner-Webb (9.17)... second on the squad with seven tackles and picked up 11 yards after a fumble recovery at Boston College (10.1)... tied for second on the Deacs with seven tackles (10.8)... tied a career-high with 12 tackles versus Virginia Tech (10.15)... tied for the team-high with 10 stops at Duke (10.22)... was second on the team, recording eight stops at No. 9 Clemson (11.12)... led the team with eight tackles and picked up a fumble recovery vs. Maryland (11.19)... made nine stops, including 0.5 for loss to wrap up the regular season vs. Vanderbilt (11.26). 2010: Played in all 12 games with seven starts at strong safety... Finished second on the team in total tackles (71) while leading the squad in solo stops (45)... Tied for the team lead with eight tackles, including a tackle for loss vs. Presbyterian (Sept. 2)... Made five tackles vs. Duke (Sept. 11)... Had a team-high eight tackles at Stanford (Sept. 18)... Recorded five tackles at Florida State (Sept. 25)... Picked off first pass of the season and made five tackles vs. Navy (Oct. 9)... The interception vs. Navy led to a Wake Forest touchdown... Tied for the team lead with nine tackles at Virginia Tech (Oct. 16)... Forced and recovered a fumble, while also making seven tackles vs. Clemson (Nov. 20)... Tallied season-high 10 stops at Vanderbilt (Nov. 27).

Sean Cattouse Scouting Report

Sean Cattouse – California (HT: 6-2½ – WT: 211)

Positives -- Former cornerback who made the transition to safety for the Golden Bears, has some natural cover ability, can play both free and strong safety... His height and frame will make him attractive to scouts, has the ability to matchup with bigger players on the inside of formations... Shows enough physical ability to shadow tight ends and cover them well... Prototypical in the box safety, plays better close to the line of scrimmage and in close quarters... Is able to make plays with hustle and good angles from his safety spot... Has good pop in his pads, is big enough to jar the ball loose and punish opposing ball carriers...

Could fit as a situational nickel corner to match up with the bigger tight ends... As a former corner, looks good in press man coverage; change of direction and fluidity in coverage are reasonably good, has good hips and quick feet... Was one of the more consistent players for California on defense; an honorable mention All-Pac-12 choice of the league's coaches.

Negatives -- Lacks the top end speed to play center field and run from sideline to sideline, 4.74-40 at the combine was among the slowest of participating defensive backs... Plays catch-up in coverage too much and struggles to recover when beat deep, doesn't possess a second gear to run down opponents... Backpedal will turn into shuffles, so his hips are turned and he gives up the inside... Can be slow to read and react, doesn't make enough impact plays from the safety position... Need to become a better form tackler, struggles bringing his hips through and wrapping up upon contact... Plays the majority of time in the box because he struggles in zone coverage, can be exposed by quicker players.

At California -- 2010: Picked up honorable mention All-Pac-10 honors for the second consecutive season, playing in all 12 games with six starts and posting a career-high 59 tackles that was second among the team's defensive backs and sixth overall... added 1.0 tackle for loss (-1 yard), 1.0 sack (-1 yard), one interception, one quarterback hurry and a team-high-tying seven pass breakups... among the Pac-10's per-game leaders in tackles (No. 43, 4.9)... picked up the Berkeley Breakfast Club Award for the Most Outstanding Player in the Big Game on defense after recording a career-high 15 tackles and a pass breakup against Stanford... also had eight tackles on a pair of occasions vs. Arizona State and at Oregon State, adding his lone interception of the season and a career-high-tying two pass breakups vs. the Sun Devils and one pass breakup against the Beavers... credited for the first sack of his career for a one-yard loss at Washington State... first-team preseason All-Pac-10 choice according to both Lindy's and Sporting News, while checking on third-team preseason All-Pac-10 squads of Athlon and Phil Steele... listed by Steele as the nation's No. 20 draft-eligible strong safety and as one of Cal's "Players to Watch" by Lindy's. 2009: An All-Pac-10 honorable mention selection... earned the Stub Allison Award given to Cal's Most Inspirational Player... played in all 13 games and started the final six contests, recording 37 tackles, 2.0 tackles for loss (-2 yards) one interception and three pass breakups... had identical totals of a season-high-tying eight tackles and a career-high-tying 1.0 tackle for loss for a one-yard loss vs. both Utah in the Poinsettia Bowl and against Oregon State... also had an interception against the Beavers.

Jerrell Young Scouting Report

Jerrell Young – South Florida (HT: 6-0½ – WT: 207)

Positives -- Good frame and length for a safety, nice build and has the bulk to play at the NFL level... Known more for his tackling from the secondary than his coverage skills, excels attacking downhill and can lay some big hits on ball carriers and force some turnovers when given the opportunity... Will run through opponents when he tackles, controls the middle of the field with his physical play... Plays well in the box, is able to sift through and make plays on ball carriers... Best fits in a zone scheme, needs to play with the action in front of him... Started 30 of a possible 46 career games at South Florida... The cousin of former Florida State and Cincinnati Bengals wide receiver Peter Warrick... Hard working, confident player who chose to stay close to home at USF over more lucrative scholarship offers; has an incredible off-field story involving his brother Mario, who passed away in 2000.

Negatives -- Plays stiff and lacks the athleticism to make plays in space... Not very fluid in and out of his breaks, struggles changing direction; has decent speed, but acceleration is below average... Plays high off the snap and struggles to make plays from sideline to sideline... Has good upper body bulk but lacks strength in the lower half to match... Not a man coverage player and doesn't make many impact plays from the secondary, is very limited in this area... Will have to impress on special teams to have a shot at a NFL roster... Missed three games following a dislocated elbow in 2009 and one game with an ankle injury in 2010.

At South Florida -- 2011: Started all 12 games at safety... a second-team All-Big East selection... posted 51 tackles, three TFL, two INTs, two PBU and a forced fumble... tallied seven tackles, a TFL, an INT and forced a fumble that was returned 96 yards for a TD at Notre Dame... added five tackles at Pittsburgh... registered eight tackles and a TFL at UConn... posted four tackles and an INT against Cincinnati... notched six tackles, a TFL and a PBU at Rutgers... added five tackles and a PBU at Syracuse... tallied four tackles against both Miami and Louisville... added five tackles against West Virginia. 2010: Played in 12 games, starting 11, at safety... tallied 41 tackles, 1.5 TFL, three INTs and three PBU... posted a tackle against Stony Brook... notched two tackles and a PBU at Florida... added three tackles versus WKU... posted a tackle, a half TFL, an INT and a PBU against FAU... missed the Syracuse game with an ankle injury... returned to post seven tackles at WVU... tallied six tackles, an INT and a PBU at Louisville... made a career-high eight tackles versus Pitt... posted four tackles at Miami and intercepted a pass with five seconds left in regulation to deny the Hurricanes an opportunity at a game-winning field goal... posted five tackles and a TFL against Connecticut... added three tackles in the Meineke Car Care Bowl victory over Clemson. 2009: Played in nine games, starting six times... missed three games after dislocating his elbow in season opener against Wofford... tallied 21 tackles and two PBU. 2008: Played in 13 games and started at strong safety in the magicJack St. Petersburg Bowl against Memphis... finished season with 25 tackles, including 12 in the final two games, a TFL and a PBU... posted a single-game best seven tackles against Memphis... led team with 11 special-teams tackles, including eight on kickoff coverage.

Eddie Whitley Scouting Report

Eddie Whitley – Virginia Tech (HT: 6-1 – WT: 195)

Positives -- Good athlete, can get up to full speed pretty quickly, can turn and run with most wide receivers... Has experience covering in the slot and underneath, closes to the football very well... Not afraid to come up into the box... Is a good tackler behind the line of scrimmage, wraps up running backs and quarterbacks with little problem... Experienced on special teams, as Hokies head coach Frank Beamer loves to play starters there... Named to the All-ACC 2nd team in 2011; finished the year with 83 tackles, including four for a loss and two interceptions... Started 27 of a possible 28 games over the previous two seasons, missed only the Duke game in 2010 due to a foot injury... Showed good intangibles by being the leader of a young Hokies defense that finished 12th in total defense... Was part of a senior class that went to three BCS bowl games.

Negatives -- Plays off of his reactions but won't be able to get away with that in the NFL... Seems fine with using his body to make tackles in the open field, and it caused multiple players to break for long gains when they should have been stopped after the reception... Will sometimes take poor angles to the football... Easily fooled by play fakes, the smallest of pump fakes can put him out of position... Ball skills are below average for a free safety, often mistimed his jumps when trying to get in front of a receiver for an interception... Needs to put on some weight before seeing significant playing time, his current weight won't be able to hold up to the grind of professional football... His lack of strength prevents him from hitting guys with much force, bigger players seem to just bounce off of him even when he tries to wrap up... His brain and legs seem to be on different pages most of the time, he'll want to do something but he gets his legs caught up under him; that half second of recovery time prevents him from being in the right position.

At Virginia Tech -- 2011: A second-team All-ACC selection at safety... Started all 14 games, including 11 at rover and three at free safety... Played over 800 snaps on defense and 96 on special teams... Had 83 tackles, including a tackle for loss, along with two interceptions, a forced fumble, a hurry and four pass breakups on the season... Had four tackles and returned an interception 43 yards against Appalachian State... Registered three tackles at ECU... Was in on four tackles in the win over Arkansas State... Had two solo tackles, including one for seven lost yards in the win at Marshall... Posted a team-high 12 tackles, including six solo stops in the Clemson game... Recorded six tackles and a breakup in the win over Miami... Had four tackles and a breakup at Wake Forest... Contributed five tackles against BC... Registered seven tackles and an interception on the opening series at Duke... Added four tackles at Georgia Tech... Had a big game against UNC with 12 tackles and a breakup... Tallied three tackles at Virginia... Led the defense with 12 tackles, a quarterback hurry and a forced fumble in the ACC Championship Game against Clemson... Had five tackles and a pass breakup in his final game of his career, coming in the Sugar Bowl against Michigan. 2010: Started 13 games, including 10 at free safety... Was third on the team in tackles with 80... Intercepted two passes and broke up six... Forced a pair of fumbles.
