We use your IP address to diagnose problems with our server. Your IP address is used to help identify you and gather broad demographic information. We will not provide or sell user-specific demographic information to any other person or business. This information will only be shared on a collective basis. For our records, information of what pages are accessed or visited are collected and used for internal review, and then discarded, to improve the content of our web site.

Our site uses cookies to deliver content specific advertisements to your interests, to save your password on our message boards, and for other purposes. We use third-party advertising companies to serve ads when you visit our web site. In serving advertisements to this site, our third-party advertiser may place or recognize a unique cookie on your browser. These companies may use information about your visits to provide advertisements about goods and services that may be of interest to you. Your name, address, email address or telephone number is not collected by these third-party advertising companies. You may opt out of a network advertising initiative member's behavioral advertising program at http://www.networkadvertising.org/managing/opt_out.asp. Opting out of a network does not mean you will no longer receive online advertising. It does mean that the network from which you opted out will no longer deliver ads tailored to your web preferences and usage patterns.

This site makes message forums available. This site also gives all of its users the ability to read and to post in public forums. We will not give out your name or contact information when you sign up for our message board or enter a contest. This site collects personally identifiable, online and offline contact information from all users interested in participating in contests and other specific activities on this web site. This information will never be sold to another party and is merely kept on record for archival purposes of site contests. The information that you disclose about yourself on our message board becomes public information. You should exercise caution when deciding to disclose any personal information as it automatically becomes your responsibility. This site does not condone heavy censorship and there may be instances of profanity on the forums. The site does not have a filter in place to exclude children from these activities without prior parental consent. Sideline Scouting uses its best efforts to make the content of its web site acceptable for family viewing although younger children should be supervised. We encourage parents and guardians to spend time online with their children and to browse the content made available on the site. No information should be submitted to or posted at Sideline Scouting by children under 13 years of age without the consent of their parent or guardian.
